Jack Piggott, the noted pickpocket, used to tell a funny story about the difficulty he had in picking the pocket of a fashionably dressed woman who was looking in at the window of Shreve's jewelry store. It illustrates the hardships that the light fingered gentry are forced to endure in the pursuit of their profession and when first related was considered amusing not only by Piggott, but by the many to whom he confided his experience.

It was a cold winter evening, and the lady on whose purse Piggott had designs stood looking at the holiday finery so temptingly displayed. Piggott said that he tried all the arts known to his craft for the extraction of the wallet, but all in vain, until, as a last resort, he fished a toothpick from his pocket and, reaching around, tickled the lady's ear. Instinctively she raised her hand to brush away the invading insect or whatever it might be and in so doing let go of her pocketbook that she was carrying in the pocket of her coat.

It was only an instant, but it was long enough for the expert pickpocket to get in his work, and when she put her hand back her money was gone, and in the crowd around her she could not identify the pale faced, fashionably dressed young man at her side as the person who had robbed her, and if she had accused him there would have been no proof against him, as the swag was at once passed to a pal who stood ready to receive it and run. Piggott was not even arrested for that crime, and the lady's ludicrous contortions furnished material for mirth long after.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Worth Reading.

"You will find enclosed thirty-one one-cent stamps for one of Dr. Pierce's Medical Advisers, cloth bound," writes James E. Crampton, Esq., of Sharpsburg, Washington Co., Md. "This book is for a friend of mine who is using your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I cannot praise your medicine too highly. I was in business in Baltimore and had rheumatism for three months; couldn't walk at all. I tried the best doctors I could get, but they did me no good. I took three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it cured me sound. I came home to Sharpsburg, and there were three cases of different diseases. I advised the patients to use Dr. Pierce's medicines, which they did, and all were cured."

Nobody Knows But Mother.

(A poem asked for.)

How many buttons are missing to-day?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many playthings are strewn in her way?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many thimbles and spools has she missed?
How many burns on each fat little fist?
How many bumps to be cuddled and kissed?
Nobody knows but mother.

How many cares does a mother's heart know?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many joys from her mother-love flow?
Nobody knows but mother.
How many prayers by each little white bed?
How many tears for her babies has she shed?
How many kisses for each curly head?
Nobody knows but mother.

THE BEEHIVE.

Contract the space in the hive to the size of the colony.

A good and fertile queen keeps the hive full of bees during the season.

Do not offer to feed liquid food to bees in winter; it is almost sure death to a colony.

Bees abhor being molested at night, and no work can then be done with them with any satisfaction.

In every case where comb is to be built furnish the bees with foundation, using full sheets in the frames.

Clipping the wings of the queen prevents losing first swarms by absconding, but does not always prevent losing the queen.

Bees seem to seek naturally a span between two combs, and the queen seldom goes to the outside comb of a hive unless she is compelled to for want of room; so that a nucleus of two or three combs is better than one.

Prepolis is the gum or varnish that bees collect for varnishing over the inside of their hives, filling cracks and crevices, cementing loose pieces of the hive together and for making things fast and close generally. It collects in time in old hives and combs.

Art Treasures in Japan.

The Japanese idea in regard to art treasures is quite different from the American idea, as seen in the home. The American method is to keep all the good pictures or beautiful bronzes or unique vases in evidence all the time. The Japanese way is to store the artistic belongings, bringing different ones to light for a time, and thereby avoiding the too abundant appearance that is often the rule

Short Story of the Day

The Way of Fate.

They had met in the usual way. Mutual friends had introduced them at an afternoon studio reception, and the few words exchanged over their cups of tea did not make as much of an impression upon either Jack Carruthers or Elsa Champlin as might have been expected. He had just returned from a three years' tour of Europe, after completing a course at Harvard College, while she had been abroad with her aunt ever since graduating from Wellesley over two years before. As they stood chatting they made a handsome couple, and were the objects of much comment among the many guests present.

This was in December, and in August of the following summer the acquaintance was renewed at Newport, where each was the guest of some friends, and where, under the progressive influence of musicales, receptions, hops and golf, they had become great friends and most congenial companions.

It was the last evening of Miss Champlin's visit, prior to her departure to Lenox on the morrow, and after a jolly dinner at the house of a friend they found themselves enjoying an uninterrupted promenade on the broad piazza. Jack had asked for 15 minutes, as this was their last evening together for some time.

Both felt the beauty of the night as the soft waves of the ocean could be heard, musical in their rhythm; and as the capricious moon, for which so many broken hearts are held responsible, sailed out from the depths of a friendly cloud, revealing the beauty of his companion's face and figure, Jack was struck afresh by her beauty, and the knowledge that tomorrow would be without the sunshine of her presence made him feel a longing to take her in his arms, and not only tell her how dear she had become to him but ask her to share his name and fortune.

"Do you know this is our last evening, Miss Elsa?" he said, "that is, for some time to come." "Yes," was her low reply, "I was thinking of that myself, but trust you will give aunt and myself the pleasure of a call soon after our return to New York this winter." Jack's heart beat rapidly. "May I ask for something more than that?" he stammered, stumbling over his first proposal like a youth of 16; "may I have your promise to—" "O, you runaways, we have been looking for you everywhere and are waiting for you to come and give us some music," suddenly interrupted Miss Vanderfelt, and taking Jack's arm, while her escort offered his to Elsa, they were both in the drawing room before either realized how it had been done, Jack muttering over the turn affairs had taken, and she wondering what he had meant to say, while her heart told her the story that was upon his lips.

In the morning, amid the good-bys, Jack had only a chance to say, "Remember, I shall come, and have a question to ask which concerns my whole future happiness," and in reply she had pulled a rose from her lovely bouquet and had given it to him with a blush and a smile, while her eyes wore a dreamy look of tender happiness.

"Don't forget," were his last words while she waved her handkerchief, then buried her face in the roses he had sent her, as the carriage drove rapidly away toward the station.

The coming month, September, found Jack summoned to Paris by the death of his father, and as his mother had died when he was but a child, and he had neither brother nor sister, he found himself heir to a large and scattered property, most of it in England investments, as his father had lived abroad for over ten years.

Nearly a year passed before he could complete the transaction of all necessary business, and in the meantime he had been hunting up old friends and thinking less and less of home, although two long letters had, soon after his arrival, found their way across the Atlantic, but, much to his chagrin and disappointment, remained unanswered for several months, and then found their way back to him, marked "address unknown." This was a shock to his bright dreams of future happiness, when he should be able to return and put his fate to the test. Nothing remained now but to make the final arrangements with his agents regarding the management of his business and then return to New York, where he would lose no time in finding her address and seeing her.

Had he only known that the object of his affections was so near him, for she had been for several months at the German baths with her aunt, who was becoming more and more of an invalid, and with whom Elsa had lived since losing both parents when she was but a child.

Five years had swiftly passed, and Jack was again in New York, and strange to say, again the guest of the the artist friend who had first introduced him to Elsa. As he strolled about among the guests he could not help looking for the face, which came back so vividly today amid the old familiar surroundings, and turned suddenly to hear a voice say. "Why, Mr. Carruthers, how strange we should meet again after so long a time, and here of all places. Are you not going to remember me?"

It was Elsa, changed, but only as the bud blossoms into the rose of more mature beauty; she had the same laughing eyes, the same bewitching smile, and the same air of good breeding. Life was indeed changed to them both, and each realized that the broken threads could not be resumed as might have been thought.

"Why, Miss Champlin, you do not give me a chance to express the pleasure I feel at this renewal of our old friendship. I really had begun to think you were not among the living, as both my letters were returned to me and I failed completely to find your address."

"Of course, for I never received them; aunt and I went abroad that winter, traveled several months, then located in Germany, where we remained until her death, two years later. Our constant change of residence at first made it almost impossible for friends to locate us."

As they moved along chatting on various topics, the new pictures, the latest books, and mutual friends of the past, Jack spied, following in the train of a familiar face and coming directly toward them, a distinguished-looking man, evidently, by the attention he was receiving, one of the lions of the afternoon. "Here is a celebrity," said Jack, looking toward the gentleman in question. "he is the most distinguished-looking man here, it seems to me."

"Do you think so?" said Elsa, with a smile of pride and pleasure. "He is my husband, and I want you to know him; but who is the handsome woman with him, I wonder? Do you know?"

"That," said Carruthers, with a fond look of recognition, "is Mr. Carruthers; may I have the great pleasure of presenting my wife?"—Boston Post.

SCAVENGER OF THE OCEAN.

The Useful Purpose Which the Shark Serves in Nature's Economy

The shark is undoubtedly a "dog with a bad name." He is called opprobriously "The Tiger of the Seas," or "The Sailor's Foe," or any other scurrilous name that happens to be handy. Much mud is thrown at him, and, as he seldom finds a defender, much of it sticks. Hard lines this! Because in reality this blue water bogey is a humble and useful public servant, who performs uncomplainingly the duties connected with the sanitation of the seas.

The shark is the common scavenger and general undertaker of the ocean. He is not, and, for reasons connected with his very moderate speed limit, never can be, primarily, a fish of prey. Open any captured shark and you will find clear proof that this is so. A few tangled bits of rope yarn, a battered corn-beef tin, a corked bottle containing an insulting message to the finder (thrown overboard by some nautical wag), or a sailor's cap which has been lost in a gale, all tend to show that the shark is a fish of business-like habits, with a keen eye to chance windfalls that may come his way; but the most digestible contents of his stomach, consisting mainly of carrion of every kind, all give the clearest olfactory evidence that the original owners of them were not alive when this marine sanitary inspector came along, and, condemning them as nuisances, removed them into his own internal bin.

A large accumulation of carefully collected evidence on this point proves conclusively that there are, as a matter of fact, only two articles of his ordinary menu which the shark is able to capture alive—an occasional unwary sea fowl, which he may happen to surprise asleep on the surface of the water, and the ugly octopus-like squid, whose limited powers of locomotion give a chance to our hungry four-knot growler. The shark, then, so far from being the gore-eyed pirate which the novelist paints him, is a mere hard-working, commonplace drudge, and as such deserves, if not kindness, at any rate toleration.

But this, much understood fish that he is, is just what he never gets. The sailor looks upon him as a hereditary foe, against whom he has a death feud, and upon whose carcass, when it sprawls and flaps defenceless on the deck, any cruelty, no matter how revolting, is lawful. And Jack—untaught child of nature as he is—can be fiendishly cruel when he is in the vein, and, with thoughtless good humor, will practice the most atrocious barbarities on the captured shark and no more realize that he is being cruel than a child who pulls the leg off a fly.

Mr. John Craig, of Lakefield, was in town Saturday, and dropped into the Times office. He says the guests of his house want the Times—in fact the children cry for it. It is the great moulder of public opinion in Lakefield as it is elsewhere, and as John is a thoughtful and prudent landlord, with a full knowledge of his responsibilities as head of a large and ever increasing family, he naturally desires to place the proper kind of literature before them. This g.f.) fills the bill exactly.

Off the Track

This means disaster and death when applied to a fast express train. It is equally serious when it refers to people whose blood is disordered and who consequently have pimples and sores, bad stomachs, deranged kidneys, weak nerves and that tired feeling. Hood's Sarsaparilla puts the wheels back on the track by making pure, rich blood and curing these troubles.

Constipation is cured by Hood's Pills. 25 cents.

The Glove and the Lions

(A poem asked for.)

King Francis was a hearty king, and loved a royal sport,
And one day as his lions fought, sat
 looking on the court;
The nobles filled the benches, with the ladies in their pride,
And 'mongst them sat the Count de
 Lorge, with one for whom he sighed—
And truly 'twas a gallant thing to see that crowning show, Valor and love, and a king above, and the

Ramped and raged the lions, with horrid laughing jaws;
They bit, they glared, gave blows like beams, a wind went with their paws;
With wallowing might and stifled roar
 they rolled on one another;
The bloody foam above the bars came whisking through the air;
Said Francis, then—"Faith, gentlemen, we're better here than there."

De Lorge's love o'erheard the king, a beautious lively dame,
With smiling lips and sharp bright eyes,
 which always seemed the same;
She thought, "The count, my lover, is brave, as brave can be;
He surely would do woundrous things to show his love for me;
King, ladies, lovers, all look on; the occasion is divine;
I'll drop my glove, to prove his love, great glory will be mine."

She dropped her glove to prove his love,
 then looked at him and smiled;
He bowed, and then in a moment leaped
 among the lions wild;
The leap was quick, return was quick, he had regained his place,
Then threw the glove, but not with love,
 right in the lady's face.
"By heaven!" said Francis, "rightly done!" and he rose from where he sat—
"No love," quoth he, "but vanity, sets love a task like that.

SCAVENGER OF THE VELDT.

The Aasvogel, Which Keeps the Wide Plains Clean.

Although the term "vulture" has been used for all time as a term of the vilest opprobrium, no one who knows the bird, its appearance and its habits could doubt for a moment that it expresses a depth of degradation which is barely conceivable.

And yet the vulture does a great deal of good in acting as the scavenger of the veldt. But for his quick eye, carrion taste and love of dead meat the disease germs in the carcasses of dead oxen would be far more prolific and dangerous.

Throughout South Africa is found the aasvogel. Go anywhere you like on the veldt, and sooner or later—and in all probability the former—you will find the remains of his ghastly meal. There are hundreds of thousands of oxen used in the transport and trekking service. Many of them die from exhaustion, want of water or cruelty from their Boer masters. Or they may eat of the poisonous tulp, a bulbous plant growing in marshy places.

A kurneyer, or teamster, soon knows if any one or more of his oxen have been eating tulp. The neck of the ox swells, his eyes close up, he gives short, sharp coughs, and his case is generally hopeless. Sometimes, however, he may be saved, and this by a peculiar, homeopathic sort of remedy. If the bulb of the tulp plant is crushed into pulp, mashed with hot water and forced boiling hot down the throat of the ox he may recover.

The quickness of the eye of the aasvogel is simply astounding. An ox falls out of the team, evidently ill. He is outspanned from his yoke fellow, and he goes down to the spruit, or stream. The sky above and away to the horizon on all sides is absolutely clear and cloudless.

Hardly has the breath left the body of the poor ox than you may observe far, far away up in the sky a tiny black speck, then another and another and another, until there are 20 of them. Gradually they get larger and larger, circling round in ever diminishing circles all the while they descend. The dead ox forms the center of the circumference of their flight. Within a few minutes the grisly horde swoop down upon the still warm beast and commence their ghoulish task.

An hour afterward there is nothing in the spruit but a bundle of bleached white bones that might have been there for months. The sky is clear and speckless again. The aasvogel has scavenged the veldt.

Whittier's Predicament.

Whittier held "Gail Hamilton" (Abigail Dodge) in the highest esteem, and the letters that passed between them are really most delightful. Here is one of the series in The Ladies' Home Journal that is truly characteristic of Whittier. It was written in 1868:

"I must tell thee something droll. Last week the Amoskeag veterans from New Hampshire and a Massachusetts company, with military bands, came and paraded before our house, and Governor Smyth of New Hampshire and one or two officers called on me. When they left and I stepped out to see them civilly off, the men in epaulets got up a grand military salute, with music and three cheers to wind up with! Was ever a Quaker in such a predicament? I did, I fear, somewhat compromise myself by lifting, almost involuntarily, my hand to my hat. But I resisted the temptation and only pulled my hat lower down over my brows by way of testimony."

THE PARIS SHOW.

The Paris exposition catalogue will contain 100,000 names.

The parks of Milwaukee will be part of the exhibit of that city at the Paris exposition. A series of photographic views of the public parks of that city will be shown.

It took a bid of 275,000 francs to secure the privilege of letting out seats for the Paris exposition of 1900. For the 1889 exhibition the successful bid for the monopoly was 39,000 francs.

Governor Mount of Indiana is personally supervising an elaborate exhibit for his state at the Paris exposition. One of the features of this will be a series of large photographs to show the progress of the "good roads" movement in Indiana, where there are now 50,000 miles of graded and graveled highway.

Some Reasons Why...

Scottish-Canadian Stock (Rob Roy Mines) is a good investment.

1—The Specially liability, (none beyond the amount originally subscribed for stock.)
2—The large area of rich mineral lands owned by the Company.
3—The abnormal richness of the ores of the district (ours assays over $100.00 to the ton.)
4—The enormous amount of ore we can show on the properties, and which we are now working to get at by tunneling.
5—The comparative ease of working and good transportation facilities.
6—The great improvement as work progresses.
7—The safe conservative management and administration of investors' money.
8—The likelihood of an early advance in price of shares.

The above is a combination hard to beat! It eliminates all undue risk and renders an investment infinitely safer than mining share investments usually are, and makes the outlook for large profits soon, very encouraging. Not much more stock will be available at Fifteen cents per share. Send or call for particulars.

Burglarly at Lakefield.

THE BONUS VOTE TO-DAY.

Lakefield Will say Whether or not She is to Advance.

The ratepayers of Lakefield will say today through the ballot box, whether or not they are to advance or recede—whether the village will become a manufacturing centre or remain a passive hamlet. The conditions attached to the cement works, is such that the interests of the corporation are thoroughly safeguarded.

There is no loophole through which the cement people can escape fulfillin their part of the contract. The letter of Dr. J. R. Frazer, published in yesterday's issue, deals with the whole matter in a way that leaves no room for possible doubt as to the corporation's position. The addition to the population which will take place will lighten the tax which the people will be called upon to pay.

The Times is in favor of the by-law solely because we believe it will be greatly to the interest of the village to have the work established within the corporation. Should the works be built at the creek, (Buckley's Lake) as it is proposed, should the by-law be defeated, there will be a village grow up at this point, with schools, churches, shops, &c., of its own, which would be disasterous to the trade of the village.

It must not be forgotten that every vote not polled, is a vote recorded against the by-law. So that every ratepayer, who has regard for the progress and advancement of Lakefield, should not only vote himself, but get every one of his friends to do likewise.

A DEEP WATER CANAL.

Port Hope Wants a Deep Water Canal to Rice Lake.

Ex-Alderman Samuel Purser, of Port Hope, was in town on Saturday, and dropped into the Times office. He is a staunch advocate of a deep water canal between Rice Lake and Lake Ontario, via Port Hope, and thinks that if Peterborough only realized the advantages that would accrue to the town through such a waterway, we would be more active in promoting the construction.

It is claimed that the Trenton route will cost about $5,000,000 and that by way of Port Hope, the cost would be less than half that sum, which would give a canal sufficiently deep to allow large vessels to pass through to Rice Lake. This would place Peterborough on an equality with towns on Lake Ontario as regards freight rates, &c., Coal, for instance, would come through in unbroken shipments, to Peterborough, making a difference of about 50c per ton in price, as compared with what it now sells for here.

The great objection urged to Port Hope as an outlet to the canal, is in the fact that cargoes would have to be transhipped from the canal boats to the larger lake vessels. This is imperative on account of the fact that the smaller vessels are not of sufficient size or strength to withstand the storms of the great lake, Mr. Purser says that as a matter of economy, it would be cheaper to transfer cargoes from the smaller canal boats into larger ones, than to tow a lot of small barges to Montreal. Even if Trenton route is adopted, this transhipping process will continue.

Lake Ontario is nearly 400 feet lower than Rice Lake, and the cost of digging a canal by way of Port Hope, would not be great. There is little or no rock excavation, and a cheap right of way can easily be secured.

By the construction of the canal Port Hope would possess a water power almost unrivalled, which, on account of the town's shipping advantages, would make it, in course of time, an important manufacturing centre.

REPORTERS ROUNDS.

Local Happenings Picked Up Here and There by the Times.

Otonabee Lodge I.O.O.F. met last night.

The exodus for Stony Lake has already set in.

The George Street Choir will picnic down the river to-day.

The Retail Grocers Association of Toronto are going to excurt to Cobourg today.

Why does a mudhole possess such an attraction for the wheel of an amateur cyclist?

The Board of Health had a meeting yesterday afternoon, when some minor matters were disposed of.

Does fishing make men liars, or do only liars fish? An answer to that problem would fill a long-felt wish.

If you don't feel quite well, try a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is a wonderful tonic and invigorator. It will help you.

The Board of Works and the Finance and Fire, Water and Light Committees of the Council met in secret session last night.

"You are quite right," said a jocular gentleman this morning, "some of the tree around town need their whiskers trimmed."

The Arlington hotel, Cobourg has every room engaged for the season, and scores of applications for accommodation had to be refused.

A representative of the C.P.R. was in town yesterday conferring with the town authorities regarding the settlement of Mr. John Green's claim for damages to his lot near the Company's freight sheds.

It the police are not to busy they might make an effort to make the small boys behave in Victoria Park the next time there is a band concert there. Citizens who go to Victoria Park to listen to the band do not go there to be jostled by small boys whose din drowns the noise the band attempts to make.

Peterboroughers who use gas for and gas ranges for their summer cooking and pay for both will be interested to know that in Buffalo the Buffalo Gas Co., furnishes the ranges free and puts in the connections at cost. The idea doubtless is to popularize gas as fuel and, it is safe to surmise that the end aimed at is attained.

Married in Campbellford

Mr. Thomas McDonough, the popular clerk of the Oriental Hotel left yesterday afternoon for Campbellford, where he was married. Mr. McDonough was accompanied by Mr. George Moore, who acted as best man. The staff of the Oriental extend hearty congratulations to the new Benedict.

Ill With Smallpox.

The many friends of Mr. Bert Roberts will learn with regret and anxiety that word was received of his illness with small pox, at Liverpool, Eng. Mr. Roberts, who is a well-known young man of town and whose family reside here, left a few weeks ago for the Old Country to take a position with an electric company. The letter states that he contracted the disease at Liverpool. The Medical Health Officer communicated with Otonabee Lodge I.O.O.F., of which Mr. Roberts was a member. He stated that it was a case of unmodified smallpox and would take six weeks to run its course.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. James Lynch left on a vacation, which he will spent up the lakes.

Mr. E J. Toker, who has been in town for a few days, left for Ottawa yesterday.

Rev. J. E. Moore, Ashburnham, will leave for his new home in Newburg, tomorrow.

Mrs. H Moffatt and daughter, Miss Isabell, Walton street, left yesterday morning for two months visit to Ottawa and Almonte.

Lindsay Post;—Messrs. W. Cluxton and W. H. Cluxton, of Peterboro, were in town to-day attending the funeral of their old friend Wm. McDonnell.

Examinations in Midsummer

Why are school examinations held at mid-summer, when human nature is crying out for rest and recreation rather than strain and worry, and when climatic conditions are least favorable to mental activity? We believe if exams. were held at Christmas time they would be far less exhausting to the energies of the young people, and that results of a more satisfactory character than those now obtained would be secured.

An Enquiry.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would be glad to know the cause of the delay in publishing the auditor's report for 1899 for this village. According to law it should be out promptly on time. I cannot understand why the municipal auditors hold it back. Perhaps our village fathers do not care to have their business too carefully scrutinized? The ratepayers are not saying much, but they will do some hard thinking between now and election day.

Ashburnham, June 20.

A VILLAGER.

Annexing Canada.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Taking my usual hurried glance through the Times, looking for any news from our brave boys at the front in South Africa, I was greatly amused to read the account of the proposed doings of the New York committee, re "They Would Annex Us."

I must confess after I read it, I had to make a break for a glass of water on the breakfast table, or it would have surely choked me. Ye Gods and little fishes! what immaculate gall! How very considerate of our dear Yankee friends, in the height of our prosperity, when everybody is working that is not afflicted with that terrible parasite of humanity, pride, they would like to take us under their wing and guide us to a haven where we would have such fatherly affection and guidance, both moral and spiritual.

We have all heard of that grand old adage, "Charity begins at home," and our Yankee friends would do well to both read, mark and learn, and if necessary, inwardly digest it. I think it could be more appropriately applied to their own people than we Canadians.

I see the meeting is to be held in New York, and in that city there is ample field to commence operations among the tenement houses and poor quarters generally.

Some two years ago I had the pleasure of accompaning a Salvation Army Slum Brigade in the city of New York, and there I saw sights I never want to see again. Poor, semi starved wretches, eking out a miserable existence in sweat shops, and other consumption-breeding dens, reeking with filth and vermin, seven in one room, making shirts and vests for a mere pittance—this is the place for the so-called Benevolent Committee to begin work.

There is also another splendid field for them in Pennsylvania, in the coal and iron regions. They will find ample study among the thousands of poor unfortunates who are compelled to work for a few dollars a week by the great iron magnates, who treat their horses and cattle with far more consideration than they do their fellow beings.

When we want any advice from the Sabbath desecrating gang who control the politics of the States, as to how we shall run our country, we shall ask them for it, and not till then.

Special Meetings of County Council.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Under what authority does the warden of a county call a special meeting of the county councillors? 2, Can such a meeting be called to pass a by-law making a grant of money to a fat stock show?

By giving me the above information you will greatly oblige.

J. F. R.

Ans.—The warden is the head of the County Council, and the chief executive officer of the corporation. It is his duty to be vigilant and active vat all times in causing the laws for the government of the municipality to be duly executed, and put in force. It is also his duty to recommend such measures within the powers of the Council as may tend to the improvement of the finances, health, security etc. of the municipality. Sec 270 of the Municipal Act says;—"The head of every Council shall preside at the meetings of the council, and may at any time summons a special meeting thereof. And it shall be his duty to summon a special meeting whenever requested in writing by a majority of the members of the Council so to do." 2, By sec. 38 of the Municipal Amendment Act of 1899 Councils of counties empowered to pass by-laws for granting or loaning money, or granting land in aid of any association, formed for the holding of a "fat stock or live stock show," or for any exhibition for the promotion otr improvement of farming.

Woman's Welfare

Paine's Celery Compound

Gives and Maintains a Perfect Condition of Bodily Health.

The great susceptibility of women to nervousness and worry is heightened by the fact that, in the majority of cases they lead confined and monotonous lives, narrowed down to the four walls of home the greater part of the day.

Paine's Celery Compound is just what such nervous and depressed women need to restore their nerves to energy and to lift them out of their constipated, dyspeptic habit of body.

No other remedy known to medical men is so rich in flesh forming and energy-producing constituents for women as Paine's Celery Compound. It is also true and unfailing regulator, keeps the blood pure and rich, and maintains an even condition of good health that makes a woman contented and happy. Mrs. Wilcox, of Cresmore, Ont., writes as follows;

"For years I have suffered from constant, sick headache and nervousness. At times I have been so bad that I have been unable to sleep two hours a night for weeks. I have tried many medicines and doctored a great deal, but never received a hundredth part of the value from them that I obtained from Paine's Celery Compound. After using three bottles I can sleep well, my headaches have ceased, and I feel healthier and fresher than I have been for years."

BRITISH AND AMERICANS FIRST TO ENTER TIEN TSIN

Anglo-Saxons Silenced Guns on the Arsenal and Broke Through Chinese Lines.

THE RUSSIANS LOST 4 KILLED AND 30 WOUNDED

It is Reported That All Foreigners Were Sent From Pekin Under a Weak Chinese Guard and It is Assumed That They Are Now With Admiral Seymour.

Chee Foo, June 26. The Americans and British entered Tien Tsin, first, silencing the guns of the arsenal and breaking through the Chinese lines. The foreigners were close behind. The Russians lost four killed and thirty wounded. The losses of the other nationalities were small.

Admiral Seymour's force is about ten miles from Tien Tsin. It is surrounded by Chinese troops and Boxers, and hampered by the presence of sick and wounded. It is reported that all foreigners were sent from Pekin with a weak Chinese guard, and it is assumed that they are with Admiral Seymour..

One thousand Japanese are landing at Taku, and two thousand more are expected to-morrow, and a battalion of French will arrive. The foreign admirals have appointed Captain Wise, Commander of the Monocity, to be commandant at Tong Ku. The Netherlands cruiser Holland has left Java for Che Foo.

GONE TO HELP OTHERS.

Relief Force Lost no Time After Reaching Tien Tsin.

Washington, June 26.—The Navy Department has received the following cablegram from Admiral Kempff..

Taku, June 25.

"Secretary of the Navy, Washington.,

"Relief force reached Tien Tsin on 23rd; loss very small; Pekin relief force which left Tien Tsin June 10 reported ten miles from Tien Tsin, surrounded; force left Tien Tsin 24th, to render assistance.

"(Signed) KEMPFF."

Washington, June 26.—The War Department has received the following cablegram—

Manila, June26.

"Adjutant-General, Washington.

"Ninth Infantry sails 27th, thoroughly equipped and well supplied with everything.

"(Signed) MACARTHUR."

DISUNION CREEPS IN.

Russians Cannot Agree With The Anglo-Saxons in China.

Che Foo, June 26.—The officers of the British first-class cruiser Terrible assert that discord exists between the Russian and Anglo-Americans, and say they believe the Russians are planning to break the concert and take possession of Pekin independently. They assert that Vice-Admiral Seymour's command lacked unison, the foreigners sulking because they were uunder British leadership. They bitterly denounce the general conduct of the Russians as uncivilized and barbarous, and charge that the slaughter of peaceful Chinamen at Taku has arouused the otherwise passive natives against the foreigners.

THE VICEROYS PLEAD.

To Have Foreign Troops Kept Out Until Li Hung Chang Reaches Pekin.

Washington, June 26.—The six great Viceroys of China, acting through the Chinese Minister here, to-day renewed their efforts to have foreign troops kept out of China until Li Huung Chang shall reach Pekin. The request was a formal documet signed by the six Viceroys, including Li Hung Chang.

The answer of the United States Government was the same as that to the iformal request of Minister Wu yesterday, and amounted to a declination.

QUIET IN THE SOUTH.

The French Consul so Reports—Eleven Chinese Warships are Lying Off Shanghai.

Paris, June 26.—M. Delcasse, Minister of Foreig naffairs, informed a Cabinet Council to-day that the French Consul at Shanghai has telegraphed, under date of June 24, that all was quiet in the southern provinces, in the Yang Tse Kiang valley and in Szechuen province. The Minister added that no news had been received from Pekin, and that 11 Chinese warships were lying off Shanghai.

AN ARMY NECESSARY.

If China is to be Rescued From Anarchy—Chinese Troops well Armed.

London, June 26.—Two facts stand out in the mass of uncertainties suurrounding the Chinese situation. One is the necessity of an army of from 50,000 to 100,000 men, if China is to be rescued from anarchy; the second is the fact that the Chinese rtoops are well armed, and in better condition for warfare, under modern conditions than they were in the campaign with Japan.

There are signs of activity in the military preparations of all the great powers. Russia is calling in reserves for a campaign in China; England is sending two brigades of native troops from India, and there are 6,000 French, German and Jamanese troops ready for work at Taku.

AN ARMISTICE ASKED.

But McKinley Refuses to Cease Sending out Troops.

Washington, June 25.—The Chinese Minister has asked an armistice in the sending of American troops to China, based on the assurances of Chinese Viceroys that they can maintain order. President McKinley, while acknowledging his gratification at the assurances, has made known to the Chinese Minister that the United Sattes cannot relax its efforts to get troops to points where its officials are considered in danger.

The War Department took an important step to-day bearing on the Eastern question, when it ordered Gen. Wood to prepare two regiments for withdrawal from Cuba. These are the 2nd Infanntry, which has a home battalion at East Thomas and two battalions in Santa Clara, and the 8th Infantry, of which the home battalion is at Fort Snelling, and the other two battalions are in Havana. They will leave San Francisco accordinng to present arrangements about the 1st of August, and if not needed in China will go to Manila to take the place of volunteers.

THE CZAR HAS REFUSED.

He Will Not Agree to Act in Concert With Britain.

St. Petersburg, June 22, via Paris, June 25.—The Czar has given his approval to a categorical refusal to agree to Great Britain's proposal looking to special co-operative action on the part of Russia and Great Britain in China.

Her Majesty has received from Vice-Admiral Miltebrand, commanding the Russian Pacific fleet, the following despatch—

"My fleet in the Pacific now numbers 19 men-of-war, of 523 guns, with 306 officers and 6,042 men. My vessels are in fine condition, and the health and morale of officers and men are good.."

Admiral Hiltebrand is cruising under sealed orders, which are not to be opened until St. Petersburg gives the word by cable. It is believed in well-informed circles here that the fleet will soon be at Taku, with orders to undertake drastic action against China.

Among the minor military preparations the Portuguese Governor of the Island of Macao, at the southwest entrance of Canton River, is sending arms to the Portuguese in Canton.

MARINES FROM MANILA.

Washington, June 26.—The Navy Department announces that the armored cruiser Brooklyn, with Admiral Remey aboard, will take 300 marines from Manila to Taku, stopping at Nagasaki en route. The gunboat Princeton has been ordered to Swatow, Amoy and Foo Crow, thence to Shanghai, to install an electric plant, keeping ever ready for immediate active service.

IMPORTANCE OF THE C. P. R.

Troops could be Poured Into China Within a Month.

Montreal, June 26.—The value of the C.P.R. as an Imperial highway to China and the East is shown by the fact that 10,000 troops could be carried from Britain to Shanghai within a month. The Atlantic voyage would not occupy more than seven days, to Halifax, St. John or Quebec; in four orf ive days more the North American contingent would be crossed by the Canadian Pacific Railway to Vancouver, thence by the Company's three steamships, each carrying 1,500 troops, it is only twelve days to Shanghai. This gives liberal time allowance for embarking and debarking en route.

The company has two auxiliary steamers, which would be put into service, with a capacity for 2,000 men, and three steamers of the Canadian-Australian line could also be requistioned. The Empress steamships can be transformed into army cruisers within 24 hours, as mountings are already fitted, and the Admiralty has guns both at Esquimalt and Hong Kong. This morning President Shaughnessy said that the scheme was quite practicable, but of course it would be well to have ample warning, so that the steamers could be on this side of the water. At the present time there was, he said, only one steamer here, but if a fair notice was given the company there would be no difficulty in carrying out such a plan as that above mentioned.

SAYING GOOD-BYE.

Farewell to Rev Mr Moore and Family at the Mark St Church

On Monday evening a large number of the adherents and members of Mark street church met at Miss Hamilton's, Elizabeth street, to bid adieu to Mr. Moore and his family, and to wish them success in their new field of labor.

During the evening refreshments were served, games were played, music was furnished, and altogether a pleasant evening was spent, the only unpleasant feature being the nearness of Mr. Moore's departure to Newburg.

During the evening two presentations were made to Mrs. Moore, one on behalf of the Sunday school and Epworth League, and the other on behalf of the W.M.S.

Miss M. Hamilton read the address from the school and League, while Miss Carton made the presentation.

The address from the W.M.S. was read by Mrs. Wand, Miss A. Smith making the presentation.

The gifts consisted of several beautiful pieces of glassware.

During the evening Mr. C. Noyes referred to the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Moore and their boys were held by the entire congregation, and their regret at parting with them. The addresses were as follows—

Ashburnham, June 25, 1900.

To Mrs. (Rev.) J. R. Moore.—

Dear Mrs. Moore,—It is with mingled feelings of regret and pleasure that we meet to-night, pleased to spend a social evening with yourself, Mr. Moore, and family, but regretting that these close relationships which have existed for the past three years between us are so soon to be interrupted by your removal from us to another field of labor.

[illegible] on your [illegible] stay among us, you have all endeared yourselves to us by your readiness to assist in all good work, your willingness to further the spiritual and temporal interests of the church by unselfish devotion to duty, and in the various organizations connected with the Master's work here we have found your counsel and help of great assistance to us.

We could ot allow you to depart without expressing to you all the high esteem in which you are held amongst us, and praying that God may bless you in all your future labor.

As a slight token of our regard we ask you, Mrs. Moore, to accept the accompanying gift, not or its intrinsic merit, but as a reminder of the many warm friends you leave behind you at Mark street.

Signed on behalf of the Sabbath school and Epworth League,—M. W. Matchett, Superitendent of Sunday school; M. Carton, Assistant-Superintendent; John Speer, President of Epworth League; Sara Hamilton, Kathleen Carton.

Ashburnham, June 25, 1900.

Dear Mrs. Moore,—The members of Mark street Auxiliary of the W.M.S., remembering the great help you have been to them inn their work in the great cause of missions, and realizing the loss they will sustain by your removal from them to other spheres of usefulness, wish, before bidding you adieu, to place on record their appreciation of your helpfulness, and ask you to accept this slight token of their good-will towards you, hoping it will remind you, when many miles away from us, of your fellow-workers here.

LAST APPEAL OF ENVOYS.

They Thank People of United States for the Deep Sympathy Shown by Them for Cause of the Two Struggling Republics—Renew Request for Intervention by Americans.

New York, June 26.—The Boer envoys, who have been in this country for the past two months, to-day issued an address to the people of the United States, who are thanked for "the deep sympathy they have shown for the cause of the two struggling Republics."

The address characterizes the history of the relation between Great Britain and the Boers as "one of violated faith and broken pledges cloaked under the display of magnanimous and irreproachable principles."

"Mr Chamberlain, Sir Alfred Milner and Mr. Cecil Rhodes are the terrible diabolical trinity which brooded over and shaped the destiny of South Africa. These gentlemen combined forces so as to achieve by subtley and craft and mis representation which Dr. Jameson and the raiders failed to obtain ob open violence."

The address declares that the capitalists control the press of South Africa, and that the editors of these subsidized journals were appointed special correspondents of the principal London dailies. The broad charge is made that Mr. Chamberlain's revival of the suzerainty claim in 1897, his public utterances, Sir Alfred Milner's speeches and inflammatory despatches and the efforts of the South African League under the presidency of Cecil Rhodes were all directed towards the ultimate destruction of the Dutch Republics.

The address declares that at the Bloemfontein conference both President Steyn and President Kruger endeavored to avert the catastrophes by conceding even more than original demands on the franchise question, but their efforts were fruitless. It is asserted that the policy of Great Britain was designedly shaped so as to compel the Boers to send on the 9th of October what is commonly known as the ultimatum

Taking up the campaign to date the address says—

"The Boers may be in the end defeated, but the conduct of the present war as well as the history of the past 100 years justifies me in saying that they will never be conquered."

Continuing the address says—

"All we ask is a convincing indication that the people of the United States do not acquiesce in what Vattel has termed the monstrous doctrine that the independence of a nation defeacted in wars is completely at the mercy of the conqueror."

"We feel convinced that if an official expression of your moral support had been delivered before hostilities broke out this war would have been averted, and that such a pronouncement at any time during the campaign would have stopped, and even now would be strong enough to stop the continuance of hostilities."

The address is signed by Abraham Fischer, C. H. Wessels, and A. D. Wolmarans.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY.

George Foy Arrested Yesterday in North Monaghan

George Foy was arrested yesterday by Chief Rouzel, charged with forging and uttering two cheques—one for $10.40, which he cashed at Mr. Thomas Barrie's, and another for $11.75, cashed by Mr. Robert Neill. The cheques were made payable to Will Payne and Harry Lefts, respectively, and bore the name of George Stevens, as maker.

Foy was working for a farmer in North Monaghan when arrested. He was lodged in the cells, and will have a hearing this morning. He has a bad record, having served a term of 18 months in Central Prison for stealing a horse and rig from the late Tobias Fitzgerald.

Mr O'Brien Remembered

The staff of the Collegiate Institute approached Mr. Michael O'Brien in a body yesterday morning, and in view of his severing his connection with the Institute, presented him with a handsome travelling companion. The presentation was made by Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, who voiced the hopes of the other teachers that Mr. O'Brien would attain the same success as Inspector of Separate Schools as he has done in his career as instructor. Mr. O'Brien suitably acknowledged the gift.

COUNTY POLICE COURT.

Two Men Were Sent Down for Three Month at Lakefield

County Police Magistrate Edminson held Court in Lakefield Monday.

Eugene Hetene and Frederick Holland were charged with stealing $30 from a gentleman named Deyell.

They were found guilty and sentenced to three months is jail at hard labor.

Court was also held during the day at the Court House. Mrs. Munchin of Ashburnham, who has figured in police court circles before, was charged with being a vagrant. The case was enlarged until Tuesday next.

A small boy named Airris was charged with stealing 30 cents from a little girl. He pleaded guilty, and was remanded until Tuesday, when he will appear and receive the sentence the court sees fit to impose.

Albert Valois was charged with cohabiting with an imbecile woman. A number of witnesses were examined and the case was enlarged until Thursday.

Large Operations.

Yesterday Mr. Thomas Callaghan, walking boss of the Rathbun Company was in town, and dropped in to see The Times. Mr. Callaghan says his company have a nimmense amount of logs afloat this season, not only on the waters tributory to the Trent, but also on the Moira waters. A large quantity of logs will pass down our river this summer Mr. Callaghan has chartered the steamer Stranger, of Port Perry, to tow on the back waters, and has spoken for the City of Peterborough for the Rice Lake work.

SEYMOUR HARD BESET.

Relief Force on the Way to Rescue the Admiral and His Men Who Are Surrounded by Chinese Soldiers Twelve Miles from Tien Tsin.

London, June 26.—The despatch giving Rear-Admiral Kempff's authoritive announcement of the relief of Tien Tsin June 23 remained for hours the sole news of this occurance of world wide importance. At about 1 o'clock the Hong Kong and London Bank's London branch received confirmation of the news and about the same time Mr. Dawson, a delegate from Singapore to the congress of the Association of Chambers of Commerce of the United Kingdom now in session here, informed his fellow-delegates amid loud cheers that he had just received a despatch from his son announcing the relief of Tien Tsin.

The news reached Berlin later from the German Consul at Che Foo, who announced that the relief column entered Tien Tsin during the afternoon of June 23, and started again June 24 to rescue Vice-Admiral Seymour, who with the Foreign Ministers, is said to be occupying a position 12 1-2 miles from Tien Tsin, surrounded and pressed by a great force of Boxers and Chinese regulars. Possibly the Japanese report that Seymour was a prisoner and that the Ministers had left Pekin guarded by Chinese soldiers is merely a distorted version of the Berlin story. But in any event definite news may be expected speedily, and it is confidently believed here Seymour and his companions will be safely delivered from their plight.

According to the report of a Chinaman refugee who has arrived at Shanghai, the condition of Tien Tsin was horrible. Everywhere in the streets were the bodies of massacred men and women, Americans as well as other nationalities. The Hong Kong and German Banks, he adds, were both destroyed early during the bombardment.

Shanghai also reports that the Americo-Russian relief force was so badly ambuscaded that the forces were obliged to abandon several field guns and much ammunition. Abouut 180 Russians and 11 Americans were killed

The German gunboat Iltis and a Russian torpedo boat destrioyer are patrolling the Pei Ho river and raking with machine guns the native villages on the river banks, which were filled with concealed "snipers."

A despatch to the Associated Press from Canton says that city remains quiet, but the female missionaries from the outlying districts are coming in owing to the warnings of native Christians. The missionary hospitals are being deserted by the students and servants.

Although it is officially said at Canton that Li Hung Chang will not go to Pekin he continues his preparations for departure.

A telegram from the Governor of Kiao Chou, dated June 25, which has reached Berlin, announces that according to reports from Chinese sources Vice-Admiral Seymour's force has reached Pekin.

Gen. Baden-Powell Reports Pacification Going on Satisfactory in Rustenburg.

CANADIANS ARE DOING SPLENDID OUTPOST WORK

Lord Roberts Tells the Story of a Boer Raid on a Convoy and the Taking of its Highland Escort—Gen. Botha Uncommonly Active East of Pretoria.

London, June 26, 11.26 p.m. The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts—"Pretoria Residency, June 26.—Sir Charles Warren reports that the rebellion in Cape Colony, north of the Orange River, is now over. The last formidable body, with Commandant De Villiers, surrendered on June 20, consisting of about 220 men, 280 horses and waggons, 230 rifles and 100,000 rounds of ammunition. General Baden-Powell reports that pacification is going on satisfactorly in the Rustenburg district.

London, June 27, 3.20 a.m. The Boer commandoes in the eastern part of the Orange River Colony, appear to be broken up by their leaders for the time into small parties that harrass large columns of the British incessantly, cutting off scouts, sniping outposts, and making a show of forces here and there. Commandant Christian De Wet, Gen. Steyn's principal commander is the genius of these guerilla operations. He is the hero on the Boer side, in these last days of hostilities.

Lord Roberts' columns are steadily controlling the circle of their advance. Transvaal officials who were intervelwed yesterday at Machadodorp by a correspondent of the Daily Express asserted their intention to hold out to the last.

President Kruger will probably retire to Watervalender or Nelspruit. His physician thinks his condition of health will not allow him to go to the high valdt. The British prisoners at Nooit Gedacht are now more comfortable. Large quantities of food and blankets have been forwarded to them, and their enclosure is lighted by electricity.

Pretoria telegrams say that supplies of warm clothing are reaching Lord Roberts' infantry, who had been ragged and had suffered from the cold. Commandant General Botha is uncommonly active east of Pretoria. The Canadian are doing splendid outpost work.

HIGHLANDERS CAPTURED.

Official Report of Capture of Convoy of Fifty Waggons.

London, June 26.—The official report of the capture of a convoy of 56 waggons escorted by Highlanders, between Rhenoster and Heilbron, in the Orange River Colony, June 4, was only received to-day. Lord Roberts reports that the convoy was surrounded and sent messengers to the nearest points asking for assistance. But reinforcements were unable to reach the convoy, and 150 Highlanders, in reply to a flag of truce from General Christian De Wet, surrendered during the morning of June 4.

MUCH WORK TO BE DONE.

Roberts Reported to Have Refused Troops for China.

London, June 26.—As Lord Roberts is apparently carrying out important combined operations, the slackness of news from South Africa will probably continue until they shall have been completed. The fact that the foreign military attaches are homeward bound indicates that in their opinion the main portion of the war is over. But the reported refusal of Lord Roberts to spare troops for service in China, seems, if true, to show the field marshal considers much work remains to be done.

Large quantities of bar gold received by merchants in the western part of the Transvaal from President Kruger, ostensibly in payment of requistioned goods, have been seized by the British. In the genuineness of the accounts can be proved the gold will probably be repaid.

The Boers sharply attacked General Rundle's transport near Senekal June 23, but were repulsed.

CLEMENTS DEFEATS THE BOERS.

Hutton's Mounted Infantry Shirmishes with Boers Near Pretoria.

London, June 26.—The following despatch has been received at the War Office from Lord Roberts—

"Pretoria, Residency, June 26.—Clements successfully engaged a body of Boers yesterday near Wynberg, where he had gone to pick up supplies and some heavy guns preparatory to acting in combination with columns from Lindley, Heilbron and Heildelberg. He drove the enemy north of Sand Spruit withl oss. No casualties are reported.

"Ian Hamilton reports that Heildeberg is the most English town he has yet seen. The inhabitants gave him a great reception. The streets were crowded and decorated with bunting. Captain Valentine hoisted the Union Jack in the market square amidst the cheers of the populace and of the British, Australian and other colonial troops.

"God Save the Queen was sung, the crowds heartily joining in. The poor royalists have had a rough time lately.

"Hutton's mounted infantry, including the Canadian second contingent, skirmished with the Boers yesterday a few mished with the Boers yesterday a few miles southeast of Pretoria. Captain Anley is reported to have managed the little business very well. Lieut. Crispin and one of the Northumberland Fusiliers were wounded."

CANADIANS CAPTURE ALL.

Interesting Letters From our Soldiers in South Africa.

Ottawa, June 26.—Private letters from Canadian soldiers in South Africa contain the following interesting items—

Capt. S. M. Rogers, of "D" Company, first Canadian contingent, was personally complimented by Lord Roberts, Commander-in-Chief of Her Majesty's South African troops, while a review was being held at Kroonstad. Lord Roberts was passing along the line when he stopped at "D" Company, and shaking hands with Captain Rogers, he asked what ribbon was it that he wore on his breast. When Captain Rogers replied that it was the North-west rebellion ribbon, the Commander-in-Chief warmly complimented him on his loyalty and devotion to the Crown.

A letter received from Lieut. G. W. B. Morrison, "B" Battery, under date De Aar, May 28, gives an account of a celebration of the Queen's birthday, when the troops held rifle matches. He says—"You have heard a great deal about the Boer shooting. Well, some forty of them from the surrounding country entered in the rifle matches, but they were not one, two sixteen, with the Canadians and British. The Ottawa section of "D" Battery entered five or six men, and they cleaned out everything in sight. Corp. Whitton won the 200 yard shoot, and Brigade Sergeant-Major Long won at five hundred yeards, and also the aggregate. A Royal Army Medical Corps man and a Royal Engineer got some of the money, but our boys scooped $40 out a total of $50."

Major Hurdman writes from De Aar on May 27 that he refused several offers of staff appointments in order to stay with is battery. The men celebrated on the Queen's birthday, and also the next day. The Royal Canadian Artillery men took three first prizes in the rifle matches, and the Major says—"The Canadians can hold their own with any of the others at anything they like to bring along."

LIEUT. INGLIS WOUNDED.

Col. Otter Cables Another List of Casualties Among Canadians.

Ottawa, Ont., June 25.—The Militia Department to-day received cables which announce the severe wounding of Lieut. Inglis, of the 4th troop C Squadron, 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, and formerly of Her Majesty's Berkshire Regiment; also of the convalescence of Private H. Ham, of the Montreal Company of the first contingent, who was reported dangerously ill on the 28th of last month. A third cable, from Lieut.-Col. Otter, is dated Pretoria, June 25th, and intimates that there have been no further casualties since the 29th. The later figure is, however, a mistake, and what Colonel Otter probably intends to say was no casualties since the 19th the date of his last message to the Militia Department.

A SON'S AWFUL PLOT.

HE PLANS TO KILL HIS AGED FATHER IN COLD BLOOD

One of the most Sensational Criminal Cases on Record—A Human Devil

(Special to The Times)

Scranton, June 26.—Charged by his father, Dr. I. E. Everhart, with plotting his murder, Edwin E. Everhart, 34 years old, was this faternoon committed to the County Jail to await trial. The story of the plot reveals a diabolical scheme and only for the faltering of one of the alleged conspirators, Frank Lewis, who is said to have been hired to execute the son's purpose, the deed might have been accomplished.

Dr. Everhart, who is 60 years old, is a man of wealth, having an estate worth perhaps a half million. He is a widower and up two months ago his son, an only child, who is unmarried, mad his home with him. Then a quarrel arose over the son's actions, which, his father says, became unbearable, and the young man left home and lived at hotels. His name was associated with that of the divorced wife of City Assessor Philip Rinsland.

Rinsland also has an action against young Everhart for damages, claiming $50,000 as a balm for the alienation of his wife's affections. The case was on trial to-day before arbitrators, sensational evidence being given by Rinsland's sister, who, it appears, accompanied young Everhart and Mrs. Rinsland to Carbondale, New York city and other places.

Frank Lewis was to receive $5,000 for his part in the crime, and to secure him Everhart gave him a judgment note of one day for that amount. The assassination was to take place last Saturday night, and Lewis, it is said, was piloted to the house by young Everhart and shown how to gain entrance and to leave after his desperate deed was accomplished. Everhart armed him with a revolver and a sharp-bladed butcher knife, taking the latter from a hotel in Green Ridge, where he had been stopping recently.

Lewis went to the doctor's residence and pulled the bell three times last Saturday night. The doctor was out then, and he intended calling again, but before he did remorse seized him and he went to his home in North Scranton. Next morning he was full of penitence, revolted at the crime he had in mind, and told all about it to Pulaski P. Carter, a neighbor, who was friendly with Dr. Everhart. The latter was informed. Detectives were called in to secure corroborative evidence. This they had no trouble in doing, and early this morning young Everhart was arrested on a warrant sworn out by his parent. This afternoon he was given a hearing, refused to make any statement, and was committed to jail in default of bail. The whole town is stirred by the sensation.

When Lord Roberts seizes that strate-point on the Delagoa Bay railway there'll be nothing for it but for Oom Paul to take that capital of his off its wheels and drag it around on a stone boat.

In the meantime it must be a bitter disappointment for the average about-to-be conquered Chinaman that there's no chance of his being skinned by a Yankee official.

Mr. O'Brien's Appointment.

There is quite a rumpus being kicked up over the appointment of Mr. Michael O'Brien of Peterborough, to the position of provincial inspector of separate schools. Mr. O'Brien may not possess the degree of a B. A., but he has which is infinitely better—and that is a thorough practical knowledge of what is required of him. He has been a very successful teacher, and possesses other qualifications that fit him for the job. He is popular, is not afraid of work, and has his whole heart in his profession.

In order to show the opposition that is being worked up over this very popular appointment, and the argument used, we reproduce the following from the Ottawa Citizen;

The Hon. Frank Latchford should have passed by an Eastern Ontario man in favor of a resident of Peterboro for the third provincial inspectorship of separate schools has not so greatly surprised his friends as that he should have aided in breaking down the safeguards that his co-religionists, particularly of the laity, regarded as of such serious moment to the thorough education of Catholic children in the separate schools. What many are asking is, Why did Mr. Latchford consent to the appointment of a man who was rejected by Hon. G. W. Ross five years ago, when Mr. Prendergast was appointed an inspector of separate schools, for the reason that he did not possess the qualifications required by statute? And why should he have done so when he could have found in Eastern Ontario a man possessing the legal qualification? If he has chosen to support the claims of an unqualified middle Ontario man in preference to a qualified man from Eastern Ontario, he will have only himself to blame if his constituents seek a man who considers their interests rather than those of Hon. Mr. Stratton.

The law requires that an inspector shall first have secured the B. A. degree, and so faithfully is this rule observed that men lacking this degree do not even think of applying for the office of public school inspector. Why, then, should an exception have been made in favor of Mr. O'Brien? He holds, we believe, a first class C certificate, which would give him a one year's standing in the university. If our information is correct, he would require to take a three year's course before he would be entitled to the B.A. degree. What end has Mr. Latchford sought to serve by doing this great wrong to the cause of separate schools?

Were we writing as an enemy to separate schools we would rejoice in this victory won by Hon. Mr. Latchford in favor of public schools, for the fact has been made plain that a lower standard ; We writing as an enemy to separate school inspectorship.

A Step Forward.

The passenger locomotives of the Grand Trunk Railway system are about to be equipped with electric head-lights has now been adopted as an illuminating power on most of the American railways, where it has proved a great success. In view of this success the Grand Trunk people decided to apply the system to their line. The system embodies a simple, independent and complete equipment, each locomotive having its own separate and distinct steam engine and dynamo for generating the light. All of the lights can, at the will of the engineer by suitable switches, be turned on together, or individually, as may be desired.

Postal Convenience.

The new two-cent stamp book lately issued by the postal department of the Government, can now be purchased at any post office. Each book consists of two pages, each bearing six stamps which are interleaved with waxed paper to prevent them sticking together. They are convenient for the pocket, and the price charged for them is 25 cents each.

Those Skeletons in India.

Written for the Times by Miss M. H. Windsor.

They have nothing to eat, nothing to eat.
There is dearth in the land, no rice, no wheat.
Gaunt Famine is stalking all thro' their street—
Pity those skeletons in India.

No happy childrens' voices heard in play.
They're hungry, hungry, hungry all the day.
Their rounded forms to spectral sights give way—
Ah, me! those skeletons in India.

Weak men and women, helpless in their woe,
Weaker, weaker, and still e'en weaker grow;
Hungry! dying! the weary hours drag slow,
Hunger's victims moaning life away.

Our land knows naught of famine's dreadful hold,
Our fields at harvest time rich stores unfold,
And orchards bend with wealth of fruit untold,
Our fair land where milk and honey flow.

Children of one Father! O, manhood true!
And women of the gentle heart, to you
They turn their eyes appealingly and sue
For help—those stricken ones in India.

"Ye do it to these, ye do it to me,"
'Twas thus He spake who walked in Galilee,
And fed the hungry, who came far to see
His great works, and hear his gracious words.

"Thy brother's Keeper!" gleamed on pages old,
Haste with thy gifts, do not from him withold,
Bring forth thy silver, keep not back thy gold,
God who sees, will bless thee hundredfold.
Mission House, Hiawatha.

PARIS

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Daily at the Exposition

[From the New York Times March 16]

The New York Times will be published daily on the grounds of the Universal Exposition to be held at Paris.

The interest of the people of the United States in the Exposition, the very large attendance from this country already assured, and the cordial relations existing between the two Governments have seemed to us to justify this undertaking as a recognition by the American press of the world-wide influence and importance of the great French Fair to all interests of the United States; and we have sought to avail ourselves of this extraordinary opportunity for cultivating feelings of amity between the people of the two great republics.

The concession for the publication of an American newspaper on the grounds of the Exposition has been granted to THE TIMES by the French Commissioners. The paper will appear daily in its usual from—from eight to thirty-two pages—issued from a Goss four-deck, patented, straight-line newspaper printing press, capable of printing at a speed of fifty thousand newspapers per hour, printed on both sides, folded and counted. The press will be installed in the centre of the American to the Annex to the Building of Liberal Arts and Chemical Industries. The exhibit will give a complete demonstration of the manner of issuing an American newspaper, including the operation of a battery of typesetting machines, stereotyping, and the most approved modern American appliances, an exhibit which will be entirely novel to Europeans.

The Paris Exposition Edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES will be gratuitously distributed at the place of production by many thousands each day, and will besides be procurable at newspaper kiosks all over Paris, and generally distributed throughout Europe.

THE NEW YORK TIMES will be the only newspaper of the world published on the Exposition grounds, and will endeavor to maintain in its international character the ideal it has sought to attain in America.

Although THE NEW YORK TIMES enjoys exclusively the privilege of publication on the grounds, it will offer to the newspapers of the country the opportunity to exhibit the merits and quality of their own publications and to set forth the commerical importance and attractions of their localities.

BURDENED WOMEN.

We look in amazement at the burdens some women carry upon their heads. Yet how light they are compared with the burdens some women carry upon their hearts. There are childless women whose hearts ache ceaselessly because of the childless home. That burden of childlessness has been lifted from the heart of many a woman by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Many of the obstacles to maternity are removable. Such obstacles are entirely removed by "Favorite Prescription." It contains no alcohol nor narcotic.

Married Six Years and Childless.

"I have never written you how grateful I am to you for your help in securing good health and one of the sweetest, dearest, thirteen pound girls that ever came into a home," writes Mrs. M. Vastine, of 647 South Liberty Street, Galesburg, Ill. "I took six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, four of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and four vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Before I had taken four bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' I was a new woman, I cannot make pen describe my heartfelt gratitude, so will close by saying if any one disputes the value of Dr. Pierce's medicines I will be pleased to confirm the truth of all I say if they will enclose stamped envelope for reply."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a ladies' laxative. No medicine equals them for gentleness and thoroughness.

No answer at the jump,
For Peter recently has set
A place that makes us hump.

"Hello, old Pete—is that you?
Is the morning Times right there?
Don't talk, you say? Too much to do?
You haven't time to spare.

No epigrams, no phrazes terse,
From them are falling pat?

Shall no remark be heard?

A REMARKABLE POKER GAME.

Grim Death Claimed Both Players Before It Was Ended.

An assemblage of southern gentlemen in New Orleans hotel were entertained the other evening by the reminiscences of a Louisville sporting man who told of some remarkable games of chance he had been in and others of which he had heard. One of the most interesting was the following.

"While I was in Louisville last week,' he said, "I had my attention called to a massive, old-fashioned poker table which stands in one corner of a lounging room at a club much frequented by horsemen. On the green baize cloth, at opposite sides, are a number of curious little stains, in which minute fragments of sealing wax can be seen on close inspection. The table is never used for card playing at present, and the story told in connection with it is really remarkable. One afternoon some eight or nine years ago a party of four turfmen, all at that time pretty well known, in sporting circles, started a game of poker in one of the little back rooms of the club. They rocked along for several hours without doing much damage one way or the other, when suddenly an exciting tussle began over a jackpot. In a few moments the man who opened it dropped out, followed by one of the others, leaving the remaining two players to fight for the spoils. One of them was a bookmaker from Chicago and the other was a man from Syracuse, N. Y. The Chicago man began the trouble by betting $100, which the New Yorker saw and raised $250. The bookmaker came back with a thousand, and when he counted out the money he noticed that he had about exhausted his roll. "That oversizes me,' said the Syracuse man. "I haven't got a thousand or a quarter of it in my leather, but if you'll give me half an hour to get out and hustle I'll stay with you till the cows come home.' Well, the proposition, as the story goes, was accepted, and the question then arose as to what should be done in the meantime with the two hands. It was finally decided to lay them face down on the table and fasten them there with a sealing wax. The idea seemed good and was adopted. A dab of melted wax was dropped at the corners of each of the pasteboards, and both players stamped the seals with private marks. The New Yorker used a cameo ring, and the other simply made an impression with his thumb. The money on the table was locked in the safe, and both men thereupon rushed out to replenish, agreeing on an hour's limit.

DEATH TAKES A HAND

"Now comes the queer part of the story. The bookmaker went straight to a personal friend, who was proprietor of a certain big gambling house, and borrowed $2,5000. He started back on a dead run with the money in his hand, and while crossing the street was knocked down by a cab. One of the front wheels passed over his shoulder and he was picked up unconscious and taken to a hospital. Meanwhile the other player had hunted up a wealthy distiller of his acquaintance, told him in strict confidence what he had, and was on the point of securing a loan when a constable walked up and arrested him on a charge of swindling. The case had grown out of some race track transaction, and there was really nothing to it, but it was enough to give him considerable annoyance, it was late at night before he succeeded in fixing up a bond. Next day the condition of the bookmaker was still very serious, and, as neither man had returned within the hour, his friends insisted that that poker affair should stand just as it was until he got better. The Syracuse man wanted the stakes taken down, but the others wouldn't agree, and a week or so later he was obliged to go home on some business. Meanwhile the table was locked in the card-room and nobody was allowed to go near it. When the bookmaker was able to talk he protested vehemently against any division of the money.

"Let the game stand until I can go and play my hand out,' he said, but he was never able to do it, and after lingering nearly half a year he suddenly got pneumonia and died. Less than a week afterward the Syracuse man was accidentally drowned while out bathing with some friends off Long Island. That left things in a very peculiar situation. The manager of the club wanted to devide the money in the safe between the two estates, but the bookmaker's brother, who was his executor, objected vigorously, insisting that the last bet had never been called and consequently the New Yorker had lost. Then the distiller, who had agreed to back his Syracuse friend, offered to make the call good, and the two original players who had dropped out and who were still in the city began to clamor for the return of their money, amounting to about $50 apiece, on the ground that everything should be declared off on general principles. Altogether it was the worst mixed up affair that ever happened.

BURNED TO SAVE ARGUMENT

"Finally the matter was left by agreement to a prominent Louisville business man who knew nothing about cards, but had a high reputation for honesty and common sense. He declared that the two players who had dropped out had no claim on the pot, and as nobody could remember how the preliminary betting had stood that two-thirds of the lump sum should go to the representatives of the bookmaker and one-third to the estate of the New Yorker. To prevent endless debates and squabbles in future he also directed that the cards should be removed from the cloth, face down, and destroyed without exposure. These instructions were carried out to the letter, although it nearly broke the hearts of numerous friends of both parties not to get a look at the two hands. The cards were carefully detached, one by one, and burned in the grate without being turned over."

The Health Problem

Is much simpler than is sometimes supposed. Health depends chiefly upon perfect digestion and pure blood, and the problem is solved very readily by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Timber Rafts for Japan Vancouver, B.C., June 26.—James Robertson, proprietor of the patent timber rafts that have several times been towed from Puget Sound to San Francisco, intends to send a big raft to Japan. Robertson is now in China, having been there for a couple of months, and writes to Captain Gates, a ship man of this city, that there will be a fairly good market in several Oriental ports for shipments of several Oriental ports for shipments of timber that can be sent cheaply across the Pacific. Although the tow is a very long one, he is entirely satisfied that the proposal of sending across in a tow of a steamer a raft containing from twelve to twenty-five million feet is a feasible one. A sawmill will probably be built near Yokohama to cut up the logs.

Battleship Tested

Newport, R.I., June 26.—The new first class battleship Kentucky left here today for her first official trial trip which will occupy forty-eight hours. Upon finishing the vesse lwill return here. "Syndicate" Miller Case Again.

New York, June 26.—William F. Miller, the former manager of the Franklin Syndicate, was brought from Sing Sing to this city to-day by Detective Jackson for a further hearing in his bankruptcy case. Miller's attorneys say he will follow the same methods previously pursued, by refusing to state anything regarding himself on the ground that it might tend to incriminate him under the indictments still pending against him. Refree Robert J. Tilney will report the matter to United States Judge Thomas and request that Miller be punished for contempt of court.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

Showing How Completely One Habit May Supplant Another.

"Habit is a curious thing," said Mr. Joggleton, "but the completeness with which one habit can be supplanted by another seems more curious still.

"I had a chair that I had used for years and which, as I was firmly convinced, was by long odds the most comfortable chair ever made. After breakfast, when I read the paper, I used to sit in that chair, and after dinner at night I settled down into it, with a cigar, in peace and happiness and thought there never was a chair that combined so many good points as to height and pitch of seat and slope of back and all that. I had never seen a chair that suited me so well.

"But one day this chair was tipped over or something or other happened to it, I don't know what, but something so serious that it was put out of commission. With our usual conservative slowness we put off from day to day and from week to week getting that chair repaired, and, as a matter of fact, it was two or three years before we had it fixed up and brought into use again. Meanwhile I had singled out another chair which I came commonly to occupy. This didn't begin to be at first so comfortable as the old one had been, but gradually its objectionable points disappeared, and I'm blessed if it didn't begin to develop good points that I had never suspected in it, and I came at last to look upon it as a very comfortable sort of chair indeed. But at last the old chair—the good old chair—was fixed up again and brought back into use, and the day it appeared I looked forward to settling down in it at night with all the old time comfort.

"But when, with all those pleasant anticipations, I came to sit in it again I did not find the pleasure that I had expected. It was too high or too low or the seat sloped too much or something, I don't know what. It wasn't as it used to be—to me. I tried it once or twice more after that and then gave it up and went back to the new chair. My new habit had become firmly fixed. I liked the new chair better, and now as I settled down in it its good points were at once emphasized and softened and rounded into completeness, and I accepted it in full as the chair of satisfying comfort and wondered as I looked across at the other what I ever could have seen in it to make me like it so much.

"Such is the force of habit."—New York Sun.

THE HEIGHT OF POLITENESS.

As Exemplified by an Officer on a British Man-of-war.

This is a story of the height of politeness. It is told by Angus Evan Abbott, the author, and it is, I believe, absolutely true. Mr. Abbott is a Canadian by birth and education, and on first coming to England he was, as most Americans and Canadians are, eager to catch a glimpse of the queen. But as her majesty did not live in his suburbs, Mr. Abbott's wish remained ungratified for some time. However, one day he found himself in Portsmouth and learned that the royal yacht, with the queen and Princess Beatrice aboard, was to cross from the Isle of Wight to Portsmouth.

Hastening down to the landing place, he discovered that there was not the ghost of a chance of catching sight of her majesty on land, so he went to the waterside, hired a small boat and rowed out into the great harbor. Pushing out from the inner port, wherein rode a mighty fleet of battleships and cruisers all aflutter with bunting in honor of the queen, the writer found himself on the broad outer bay, alone except for a dotted line of men-of-war's boats indicating the route to be taken by the queen's yacht.

Pulling in his oars and allowing the boat to float at will, Mr. Abbott got his glasses focused ready for the queen's yacht and put in his time reading a book. All at once he heard a voice sounding as though it came from the clouds. It was gentle, aristocratic of accent and apologetic in diction. It said, "I beg your pardon, but would you mind letting us pass?"

Glancing quickly up, Mr. Abbott beheld the bow of the mighty battleship Minotaur towering over his little rowboat like a precipice, and peering over the brow of the cliff of iron was the calm face of a naval officer. The ship was swinging slowly into harbor and was but a few yards away, coming directly toward the tiny rowboat.

In the words of the novel, "To seize the oars and pull for his life was the work of an instant." When Mr. Abbott was clear of the battleship, the naval officer, not a ghost of a smile on his face, said, "Thank you very much," and the ship crept past. Mr. Abbott claims that naval officer to be the politest man living.—London Cor. Saturday Evening Post.

A Curious Lake.

A curious phenomenon is that metal never rusts in the waters of Lake Titicaca. You can throw in a chain or an anchor or any article of ordinary iron and let it lie for weeks, and when you haul it up it will be as clean and bright as when it came from the foundry. And, what is stranger still, rust that has been formed upon metallic objects elsewhere will peel off when immersed in its waters. This is frequently noticed by railway and steamship men. Rusty car wheels and rails and even machinery can be brightened by soaking them in the waters of Lake Titicaca.—Chicago Record.

Just where the large crowds that suddenly fill the galleries of the senate and house when a notable speech is being made come from is a puzzle. They spring up, however, and as strangely disappear into nothingness.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

Mrs. (Rev.) Last January Mr. E. A. Peck, Chairman of the Ashburnham School Board, generously donated several interesting books to be competed for by pupils of the Ashburnham Public school.

The teachers and pupils are grateful to Mr. Peck for his interest thus manifested and take this means of publicly thanking him.

The winners were as follows in order of merit in each division.—

Third Classes—Elsie Pollock and Jennie Gillespie.

Second Classes—Fred Wyatt and Fred Hickey.

"GROWN UPS."

Join With the Children

"The doctor said to my husband, 'You must stop both coffee and tea, as your nerves and kidneys are in a very bad state. You can use Postum Food Coffee, for there is nothing healthier as a drink.'

"I bought a package of Postum, made it according to directions, and it was splendid. Husband quickly got well and cannot say enough in praise of Postum. We have used neither tea nor coffee, since. One day a short time ago a friend took dinner with me and asked for a second cup of 'that delicious coffee.' She was surprised to hear it was Postum, as she had tried Postum before and it was weak and tasteless, but when she found out that it must be boiled quite a long time in order to bring out the food value and the taste, she adopted it and is now using it entirely. Her children as well as the 'grown-ups' are delighted with it.

"I was formerly troubled with kidney complaint myself, but that has all disappeared since I have been using Postum and quit coffee. Please do not make my name public." ——, Pittsburg, Pa.

VICTORIA CO. CHEESE BOARD.

2,006 Boxes Boarded by 17 Factories—9 7-8 cents the Top Price—Four Buyers Present.

Victoria County Cheese Board met this morning in the council chamber, as according to adjournment, President Thos. Robertson in the chair. The buyers present were Messrs. J. Whitton, Fitzgerald Rollins and Flavelle.

The Factories Boarding

The following factories boarding the number of boxes placed opposite.

Star	100
Cameron	80
Dunsford	100
Mariposa	93
Cambray	60
Janetville	75
Omemee	150
Fenelon Falls	85
North Verulam	150
North Ops	70
Pine Grove	50
Reaboro	105
Bobcaygeon	140
Maple Leaf	130
Palestine	56
Red Rock	150
Oakwood	82

The Ruling Prices

When President Robertson called for bids for the first selection Mr. Fitzgerald opened with an offer of 9 1-4c; Mr. Whitton advanced to 9 3-8c, Mr. Flavelle 9 1-2c, and Messrs. Whitton and Rollins called 9 3-4c, in the same breath. Mr. Flavelle broke the tie by offering 9 13-16c, ...and Mr. Whitton promptly responded to the challenge by increasing his bid to 9 7-8c. This was not bettered, and he called out Cameron, Mariposa, Omemee and Maple Leaf, all accepting. Total, 480 boxes.

Mr. Rollins offered 9 3-4c, for the second selection, and Star, Dunsford, North Ops, Pine Grove and Reaboro accepted. Total, 435 boxes.

Mr. Flavelle opened with a bid of 9 3-4c, for the third selection, and Mr. Whitton bid 9 13-16c. He called two factories, Oakwood refusing and Red Rock accepting. He then offered Bobcaygeon, Cambray and Palestine 9 13-16c, but met with refusals. Oakwood and Cambray were given a chance to sell at the same figure, and Cambray accepted.

Mr. Whitton next offered 9 13-16c, for Palestine, subject to Belleville inspection, but failed.

Mr. Flavelle offered 9 3-4c, for Fenelon Falls and North Verulam, and the same for Janetville and Palestine if they would allow for expense of inspection. Palestine accepted, the salesman stated that he would fetch the cheese to Lindsay.

Mr. Sandford, salesman for Fenelon Falls and North Verulam, objected to taking less for the cheese than was obtained by the factories named in the first selection, as his cheese was just as good as any.

Mr. Flavelle—"That's not right; on Peterborough board the factories do not all get the same price. A buyer may need a certain number of cheese to fill an order and to get it he may offer a high price than the state of the market warrants. The price given to-day is too high—it is better than has been paid during the last three days."

Mr. Fitzgerald — "Yes, the cheese should have been bought at 9 1-2c; it will fall lower inside of a few days, as the outlook is not bright."

After some further discussion, the remaining factories were granted permission to sell off the board.

The next sale will be held on Monday, July 9th, at 10,30 a.m.

THE BY-LAW CARRIED.

Lakefield Votes for the Establishment of the Cement Works

Yesterday the freehold ratepayers of Lakefield voted on the by-law to aid the Cement Works to the extent of $10,000, and exemption from taxation. The villagers realized the importance of the matter, and gave a practically unanimous vote in favor of the by-law. Here is the result.

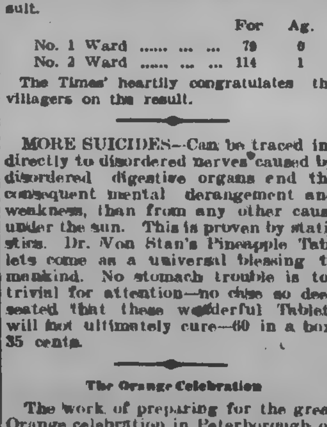
MORE SUICIDES—Can be traced indirectly to disordered nerves caused by disordered digestive organs and the consequent mental derangement and weakness, than from any other cause under the sun. This is proven by statistics. Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets come as a universal blessing to mankind. No stomach trouble is too trivial for attention—no case so deep seated that these wonderful Tablets will not ultimately cure—60 in a box, 35 cents.

The Orange Celebration

The work of preparing for the great Orange celebration in Peterborough on the 12th of July is progressing apace. The committee is leaving nothing undone to make the event one of the greatest that has ever taken place here. Replies are coming in from every direction, and the chances are that the number of visiting Orangemen and their friends will even exceed the estimate made. The committee are issuing 20,000 copies of the official programme for distributing throughout the district.



Stand and Admire

If you admire a neat hat, why wouldn't others? You're certainly not impervious to the opinions of your friends? You are willing to have them think well of you? Why not assist them by improving your appearance with one of our new spring hats? Besides neatness it has comfort and economy to recommend it.

The Port Hope Route.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I read with considerable interest the article in the Times of yesterday in regard to a deep waterway between Rice Lake and Lake Ontario, and am persuaded that it is the proper outlet for the canal. Although a new-comer to Peterborough, have for years watched the progress of the canal agitation, and am familiar with the scheme. If it is as Mr. Purser says—that no matter which route is finally chosen, the cargoes will to be transhipped on reaching Lake Ontario—if this is true, I say, there can be no question as to advantages the Port Hope route offers over the Trenton route.

I hope Peterborough will take the matter up, for it is of immense importance to her.

Carles, the British Consul at Tien Tsin, undated, but probably sent June 24th, and forwarded June 27—A note has been received by the Commissioner of Customs here from Inspector General Hart, "Sir Robert Hart at Pekin," dated June 19, stating that the foreign legations had been desired to leave Pekin within 24 hours.

Rome, June 27. The Italian armoured cruiser Vittor Pizani, and the protected cruisers Stromtols and Vesuvius have been ordered to Chinese waters.

London, June 28, 3.20 a.m. The composite Brigade of 2,300 men who raised the investment of Tien Tsin, and pushed on to help Admiral Seymour, has probably saved him, but the news has not yet reached Che Foo, the nearest wire point. The last steamer at Che Foo from Taku, brought this message dated Tien Tsin, Monday.

The Russian general in command of the relief force has decided, in view of the heavy fighting and marching Saturday, that one day's rest for the troops was essential, and that the advance would not be resumed until to-day. Meanwhile came Admiral Seymour's heliograph that his position was made desperate, and that he could only hold out two days. The relief started at dawn to-day, Monday.

Saturday's fighting began at daybreak. The allied forces opened with several of the terrible 4.7 naval guns, six field guns, and numerous machine guns, the firing being at long range, they continued to advance steadily, the Chinese artillery replying. The guns of the allies were more skilfully handled and put the guns of the Chinese out of action one by one.

There was keen rivalry among the representatives of the various nations as to which should enter Tien Tsin first, and the Americans and British went in neck and neck. The Russians stormed the arsenal, thereby sustaining the largest losses.

Several thousand Japanese have left Taku for Tien Tsin, and altogether 13,000 Japanese have landed. The international troops now aggregate nearly 20,000, and Japan is preparing to send 20,000 more. With British, American and other troops ordered to go, probably 60,000 men will be available in a month.

The Tong Shang refugees and the foreign engineers at Che Foo, estimate the Chinese troops now in the field as 25,000 drilled troops at Lutai, 25,000 at Shan Hai Wa, 15,000 driven off from Tien Tsin and 150,000 at Pekin.

The despatch received by the Foreign Office, stating that the foreign legations were requested to leave Pekin within a specified time is interpreted in some official quarters as to giving the ministers their passports, and as tanamount to a declaration of war, but as China does nothing like other nations, the official opinion is, nothing to do but to await the course of events, and to see what the ministers themselves say when they are rescued.

All the students at the foreign hospitals at Canton are leaving. Women missionaries are returning from the west river ports. There was a slight disturbance at Wo Chan Tuesday. While the women were embarking the crowd shouted, "Kill the foreign devils."

According to advices from Shanghai the Chinese officials, by direction of the southern Viceroys are asking the Consuls to agree to conditions insuring, as the Chinese say, the neutrality of Shanghai and other coast cities. They are also asking that foreign warships shall not sail or anchor near the forts nor go to ports where there are no warships, and that their crews shall not go ashore, and that the protection of foreigners be left to the Chinese authorities. These conditions are considered at Shanghai to be virtually an ultimatum from Viceroys Li Kung Yit and Chang Chit Tung. The Consuls desire a sufficient naval and military force to back up their refusal to comply with these demands. The total naval force there now consists of 900 men with 32 guns. The Chinese have 6,000 men with six guns, in the forts, and 10,000 menn outside Shanghai with modern rifles and machine guns.

The magnitude of the arrangements Japan is making suggests provision against contingencies other than the suppression of the present disturbances in China. She has chartered nineteen additional transports and now has thirty-five in all.

"UNAVOIDABLE DESTINY."

That is What Drives Britain Forward in China.

London, June 27.—The latest Shanghai report says Prince Tuan (the head of the Chinese Foreign Office, and father of the heir apparent), has sent the legationers to Sien Fu under escort and adds that Sian Fu will be the new capital, in the event of Pekin being occupied by the international forces.

It is thought at Shanghai that now Tien Tsin is relieved the combined international forces will have no great difficulty in reaching Pekin, though it is expected it will be found that all the foreigners have left already.

It is claimed that the reports as to the damage done at Tien Tsin and the casualties among the foreign residents have been highly colored. The exodus of Chinese from Shanghai is unabated. Every steamer is thronged and the authorities have been obliged to resort to the use of fire hose to prevent the fugitives from overcrowding the vessels.

Guns Landed.

The commander of the British first-class cruiser Undaunted has landed large supplies of rifles and ammunition, and guns have been placed in position at commanding points, with the result that the foreigners are confident they can overcome any attack on the settlement into which the foreigners from the out-stations are rapidly congregating.

According to a despatch from New Chwang the Russians there are barely able to cope with the situation. The Chinese, it appears, are burning all the railroad material, killing isolated Russians at every opportunity and destroying the coal mines.

Lesson For America.

The St. James Gazette expresses the opinion that China is "teaching America the impossibility of a great trading nation avoiding imperialism," adding, "America's experience will teach her, it is not the desire to grab distant lands, but unavoidable destiny, that drives Great Britain ever forward. Washington has no choice but to protect the imperilled American citizens, and having once interfered in China to protect her interests she shall never be able to shake from her shoes the dust of the Celestial Empire."

THE BRITISH POSITION.

England will Welcome Aid From Any Power Close at Hand.

London, June 26.—Replying to a question of Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, Conservative, in the House of Commons to-day as to whether the British Government will arrange with Japan, as the only power able to act without delay, to send an adequate land force to China, Mr. J. A. Balfour, the First Lord of the Treasury and Government leader, said it was undesirable to outline the nature of the negotiations under the circumstances. But, he added, Her Majesty's Government would welcome the despatch of troops by any power which owing to the proximity of the troops, might be able to act at once for the suppression of the disturbances in China. The First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. George J. Goschen, said that owing to the absence of the senior British Admiral the Russian Admiral was the head of the international forces on water.

The Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, Mr. William St. John Brodrick, in reply to a question, said, —"We have no direct information from the Legations or Admiral Seymour's force, or from Tien Tsin. Our last information from the officer in charge at Wei Hai Wei is that 3,000 of the force for the relief of Tien Tsin was encamped within nine miles of Tien Tsin on the evening of June 23. From private credible sources we are informed that the relief force subsequently entered Tien Tsin and marched north, and that the Legations were not harmed up to June 20. We earnestly hope this is true."

MORE MEN ARE WANTED.

A Hundred Thousand Soldiers Are Needed in China.

Che Foo, Tuesday, June 26.—The foreigners everywhere are urging the immediate concentration of an army of 100,000 men, or at least 50,000 men, for an advance on Pekin. Many persons familiar with the Chinese character think the Foreign Ministers and Vice-Admiral Seymour are held as hostages for good terms of settlement. They also believe the whole Chinese army is joining in the movement, under the leadership of Tung Fu Hsiang, who crushed the Mohammedan rebellion. Recently he was nominally degraded for the purpose of organizing an antiforeign uprising quietly. It is estimated that 60,000 soldiers, well armed, but poorly disciplined, are about Pekin and Tien Tsin. The Chinese officers boast that they have 400,000 soldiers.

"THEY MUST PAY.

Colonies Cannot Share in Empire's Government Until They do so.

London, June 27.—The Daily Graphic, commenting on the debate at the Congress of the Chambers of Commerce yesterday, says that the colonies know perfectly well, that they cannot expect to share in the government of the Empire until they share in the expense of its maintenance.

SEYMOUR SUFFERED HEAVILY.

He is Reported to Have 300 Sick and Wounded Men.

London, June 27.—A special from Shanghai, dated last evening, says that communication with Admiral Seymour was opened by the Tien Tsin relief force Sunday. Admiral Seymoure was at that time said to be ten miles from Tien Tsin. Three hundred of the members of his party were reported sick and wounded and only a few had been killed. They were short of provisions and were returning without having rescued the Legations.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Canadian Soldier Says He Has Become Accustomed to Such Occurrences — Reported Lost, but Finally Turned Up.

Pte. D. J. Crone, of the "A" squadron, Canadian Mounted Rifles, formerly of Windsor, Ont., in an interesting letter written from Kroonstad, May 16, to his friend, J. S. Dowling, of the Dominion Express Company, in this city, says—

As you will have seen, we started our general advance from Bloemfontein on the first of the month, and I can assure you we have had quite an interesting time of it. Gen. Hutton is in command of our column, which consists of most of the colonial mounted troops. We encountered nothing the first day's march, but our advance guard came across the Boers the second day at noon. They did not stay long when we came up, although they had a position which a few of them could have held against thousands. Several shots fell so close to me I had but to stoop down and pick up the bullets. I did not mind them whatever, but I admit when they started to shell us as we came on them again the following day, that it gave one a queer feeling as you would hear those shells come hissing by you with a terrible scream. I have not got used to them even now. We have been under fire five times now, but have not lost a man, only some two or three wounded. I think about the warmest time we had was at the Vet River, where we killed some 83 of them and captured one gun. We were ordered to advance in the face of a heavy fire from their rifles and pom-poms, and cross the river. What a place it was to put up a good defence. On the side of the river they were on it was nothing but kopjes covered with shrubs, etc. We could not see them while we had to advance on open ground. Their shells fell right among us, making such a dust and smoke when they fell that we could hardly see one another. One fellow, about a rod behind me, had his horse's ear shot off. That was about the only damage they did. The river was so deep in places that several had to dismount, leave their horses, and swim across. One squadron happened to strike a shallow place, and maybe we did not go over in a hurry. As the Boers saw we were not to be stopped they made off in a hurry. I have found out that is the one thing the Boer can do well. It was considered a miracle that lots of us were not killed by their shells. As it was now quite dark, we bivouacked for the night, but were up again at 2 o'clock and after them again. We captured Smaldeel, a small town, about noon, without any resistance. The Boers had gone a few hours before. We rested here the rest of the day and night, but as we advanced about fifteen miles the next day we heard them blowing up the railway ahead. We halted for an hour, stripped our saddles of everything but the bare saddles, and went to stop them. We found them blowing up the rails, as there were no bridges. They shelled us something terrible for a while. We retired as darkness came on, as they were very strong and had a good many guns. One fellow in "B" Squadron had a close call from a shell, having his hat shot off. When they come like that they are too close to be comfortable. What do you think? Dr. Stuart can tell you what it makes you feel like. He had one graze his horse's neck the other day. He and I slept together that night, and I laughed to hear him tell about it. The town surrendered Saturday morning to General French. See papers about Reynolds and I getting lost and reported captured. Days hot, nights fearful cold. Hope to return soon, but rather enjoying the excitement.

The incident referred to at the end of Pte. Crone's letter is described by John A. Ewan, the Globe's correspondent, as follows—"It was reported to Canada that two troopers of A squadron, Major Forrester's command, Reynolds and Crone, were missing. They have since turned up. Reynolds belongs to London, Ont., and Crone to Sarnia. They were selected by Major Forrester for patrol duty. Their instructions were to ride some distance apart but to keep in touch. This they did for some time, but at length Crone discovered that Reynolds had disappeared. He felt that something had befallen him, and, coming across two Enniskillens, he induced them to hunt for his companion. After riding back over the trail for an hour they found Reynolds at a wire fence with his horse lying across his leg. The beast had fallen and was so weary that, do what he could, he could not make it rise, and there he was, pinned helplessly to the earth, with anything but a pleasant prospect before him. By this time they lost their command, and neither of them turning up for a couple of days it was concluded that they had been wiped out out or gobbled up by the enemy. Their companion were overjoyed when the two turned up at Kroonstad."

SIXTY-TWO KILLED.

Shanghai, June 27.—A German paper has an uncredited statement to the effect that Admiral Seymour is eight miles from Tien Tsin with 62 killed and 200 wounded.

SEYMOUR HARD PRESSED.

London, June 26.—A despatch to the Central News from Chefoo, dated Tuesday, says that the steamer Tung-Chow brings news from Taku up to 6 o'clock yesterday to the effect that it is officially stated that communication has been established with Admiral Seymour, who was within nine miles of Tien Tsin.

He was being heard pressed by the Chinese, and was much hampered by his sick and wounded. A few of his force had been killed.

Troops are being rapidly forwarded from Taku. It is estimated that there are 10,000 troops between Taku and Tien Tsin. Most of these are Japanese who continue to pour in.

It is reported that all foreigners were sent from Pekin with a weak Chinese guard, and it is assumed that they are with Admiral Semour.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

An Appropriation of $300,000 in the Supplementary Estimates.

In the supplementary estimates tabled by Hon. Mr. Fielding in the House of Commons on Tuesday, the further sum of $300,000 is ppropriated for the construction of the Trent Valley Canal.

Another item of interest to Peterborough is that which states Major Greenwood's salary of $1500 is to be continued in his absence in the Transvaal.

DEAD IN CHICAGO.

A Lady Who Attained to Prominence in the United States.

A Chicago despatch dated June 26th, announces the death in that city of Mrs. Ruby Kennedy Scobell, the organizer of the Women's National Promotion of Health Society, and who has been its President since organization. The deceased lady will be remembered as a former resident of Peterborough, where she was born. She was a daughter of the late Capt. Kennedy, both well remembered residents of Peterborough. As Miss Kennedy she was a member of the George street Methodist choir for several years. In Chicago she became a woman of wide repute. She had charge of the women's building at the World's Fair and had travelled in all parts of the Union as President and Organizer of the Women's National Promotion of Health Society. Mrs. Scobell was born here in 1849.

Some changes have been made in the time table of this division of the Grand Trunk, going into effect on Monday last The early morning trains are the same. The Port Hope train leaves at 11.25 and the Belleville train at 11.30 instead of at 11.50 and 11.55 as formerly.

There are three trains daily on the Lakefield service. The first leaves at 8.10 a.m.; the second at 12.10 p.m., arriving in town on its return at 5.15, the third leaves at 5.40 p.m.

The train up from Belleville at night arrives at 8.55 instead of 8.45.

Illicit Still Seized.

Preventive Officer Floody, of the Inland Revenue Department, has made a seizure in Asphodel, about six miles from Norwood. He drove out from town yesterday morning, having had information and made search for an illicit still. He was accompanied by County Constable Cochrane, and they made a seizure of a large plant in Asphodel. The illicit still was brought into Norwood and will be brought on to Peterborough, where the hearing of the case will take place.

PEKIN LEGATIONS SAFE.

It Seems Safe to Assume That Vice-Admiral Seymour and the Legations, Whether Together or Separately, Will Ultimately Reach a Place of Safety.

London, June 27, 2.03 p.m.—The cable messages from the far east to-day are so conflicting in their tenor that almost any desired view of the situation is deducible therefrom. On the whole, however, the news is encouraging, and it seems safe to assume that Vice-Admiral Seymour and the Legations, whether together or separately, will ultimately reach a place of safety. Various reports locate the Legationers at divers places, but it seems agreed that they are safely away from Pekin.

It is thought at Shanghai that now Tien Tsin is relieved the combined international forces will have no great difficulty in reaching Pekin though It is expected it will be found that all the foreigners have left already.

It is claimed that the reports as to the damage done at Tien Tsin and the casualties among the foreign residents have been highly colored. The exodus of Chinese from Shanghai is unabated. Every steamer is thronged and the authorities have been obliged to resort to the use of fire hose to prevent the fugitives from overcrowding the vessels.

Korea Hostile Too.

Yokohama, June 27.—The Emperor has sanctioned an outlay of fifteen million yen towards the cost of military operations in China.

It is reported in Seoul that there is increasing hostility towards Christians in Korea. Korea, it is said, repudiates the land contract which gave to Russia a site for a coal depot and a naval hospital as Russia wished to apply towards the price the amount of the pending claims against Korea.

FOREIGN FIGHTERS BEYOND CONTROL

Irish, Italians and Hollanders Giving Trouble to the Boers.

FOOD AND BLANKETS SENT TO PRISONERS.

The First Canadian Soldier to Return from Africa—Crippled Private E. D. Craig Is Given a Great Reception at His Old Home in Windsor.

London, June 28, 4.20 a.m. General Sir Leslie Rundle had a sharp artillery and rifle skirmish near Senekal Friday with a large force of entrenched Boers. He declined to attack them. Commandant Dewet with 3,000 men and three guns is moving north-east in the Orange River Colony. It is understood that he and Commandant General Botha entered into compact that neither would surrender so long as the other was in the field and President Kruger is still at Machadodorp. The Express despatches regarding the hospitals in South Africa have made a great sensation in England.

London, June 28. The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of the Times telegraphing yesterday says—"According to Transvaal advices the Boers are entrenching in considerable force in the Middleburg hills.

The Irish Hollanders and Italian corps are getting uncontrollable. They are looting stores and farmhouses.

Bar gold is a drug in the local market, owing to a suspicion that it is an inferior quality. A large quantity of stolen gold is waiting to be smuggled out of the Transvaal.

WINDSOR BOY HOME.

Windsor, June 27.—E. D. Craig is the first of the Windsor boys to return home, and the people are making much of him. Outside of his family but few knew he had reached Montreal on Saturday, but yesterday the news leaked out that he was to arrive in the afternoon, and there was a large gathering at the depot to meet him.

The crowd included a number of pretty girls, and when young Craig stepped from the car he was given a "Hobson" greeting. The soldier was driven to his father's residence, but all along the route the carriage was stopped by people anxious for a handshake and to extend a word of greeting.

All afternoon Ernie held an informal reception at his father's residence—hundreds of his friends calling to extend congratulations.

In the evening the local companies of the 21st Essex Fusiliers, of which he was a member, turned out in Craig's honor and paraded to his home. The soldiers were followed by a crowd of people anxious to catch a glimpse of Craig, and it is estimated that fully three thousand people were present. Fireworks were set of. The soldiers were lined up and fired a feu-de-joie and gave three cheers and a tiger for Craig. A large number of people went inside the house and greeted Craig, he being unable to stand out doors on account of his lame leg. Speeches were delivered by a number of persons, and the reception closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Craig is very lame. He was shot in the left leg at the battle of Paardeberg, while doing hospital duty, and sustained a Pott's fracture of the right ankle. The bullet wound soon healed, but the fracture of the ankle is more serious, and he will be crippled for some time.

Among the interesting relicts thatt he soldier brought home is a cane presented to him by the Prince of Wales. All the wounded were similarly treated. He also exhibits a big dirk with which he dug himself into cover at the battle of Paardeberg.

GUERILLA WARFARE.

General Dewet the Hero of the Latter War Days.

London, June 27, 3.20 a.m.—The Boer commandos in the eastern part of the Orange River Colony appear to have been broken up by their leaders for the time into small parties that harass the columns of the British, incessantly cutting off scouts, sniping pickets, and making a show of force here and there. Commandant Christian Dewet, General Steyn's principal commander, is the leader of these guerilla operations. He is the hero of the Boer side in these last days of hostilities.

PRISONERS ARE BETTER OFF.

Food and Blankets Have Been Forwarded to Nooitgedacht.

London, June 27.—Transvaal officials who were interviewed yesterday at Machadodorp, by a correspondent of the Daily Express, asserted an intention to hold out to the last. President Kruger will probably retire to Waterval Ender or Nel Spruit. His physician thinks his condition of health will not allow him to go to the high veldt; the British prisoners at Nooitgedacht are now more comfortable. Large quantities of food and blankets have been forwarded to them, and their inclosure is lighted by electricity.

Pretoria telegrams say that supplies of warm clothing are reaching Lord Roberts' infantry, who had been ragged and had suffered from the cold.

Commandant General Botha is very active east of Pretoria. The Canadians are doing splendid outpost work.

News was received to-day of an engagement between the forces of Gen. Hamilton and Gen. Prinsloo at Heidelberg.

General Botha is resting at the head Kruger at Brokerspruit, keeping in occasional touch with the British mounted patrols among the Donkersook hills.

EMERGENCY FOOD REPORT.

Committee Which Investigated the Charges Differs.

Ottawa, Ont., June 27.—The minority and majority reports of the Emergency Rations Committee are made out and will be presented to the House to-morrow morning. The minority report in substance declares that Mr. Monk's charges have been fully proved. The majority report declares the charges have not been proved.

CHOCOLATE FOUND.

Captain Wyatt's Inquiries successful in Locating the Box.

When the Royal Canadian Regiment left Belmot about February 7 with Roberts' advance into the Free State the members of "C" Company, who had just received the Queen's chocolate boxes decided to send them to their friends in Canada, and the late Sergeant Beatty, of "I" Company, Q. O. R., had 100 of them packed in a case and addressed them to Toronto in care of Capt. H. F. Wyatt, of the Q.O.R. He wrote asking that they be distributed to the proper people, but the package, which also contained many other souvenirs, never arrived. Capt. Wyatt made extensive enquiries, but could gain no trace of the missing boxes.

Finally Capt. Wyatt decided to write a friend of his in Cape Town, W. T. Buissinne, a prominent barrister, who after much difficulty has succeeded in ascertaining the whereabouts of the lost case, and has written saying that he will at once forward them to London to be re-shipped to Capt. Wyatt in Toronto, who will deliver them as soon as they arrive.

PRINCESS VICTORIA'S ROMANCE.

Daughter of the Prince of Wales Loved British Officer.

Paris, June 28.—Several aristocrats and diplomats who usually reside in London, but are just now, here doing the Exposition, discussed last night the presence in Paris of the agent of a secret engagement between Princess Victoria of Wales and Prince George of Greece, Governor of Crete. All present seemed to regard an early public announcement of the engagement as certain.

The whole heart history of the Princess was rehearsed by a veteran London attache for the benefit of the younger men. He told how she fell madly in love years ago with a brilliant young Lieutenant in the English army, who Queen Victoria one day summoned and reprimanded and, harshly ordered him to India, with a substantial promotion, and how the bouyant and amiable Princess later wished to marry a wealthy and refined London banker, many years her senior, begging to be allowed to abandon court and country.

The same diplomat, who is an intimate friend of the Prince of Wales, said that the Princess has never loved George much yet she finds him congenial. He, on the contrary, has always desired the marrage. For fifteen years they spent their vacations together in Copenhagen with royal Danish relatives, and George proposed to her every year, undaunted by repeated refusals.

The Princess is now over 30, and George is one year younger.

KILLED BY A BROTHER.

Fatal Result of a Fraternal Quarrel Between Wyoming County Men.

Wilkesbarre, June 28.—D. C. Terry, of White's Ferry, Wyoming county, died in the City Hospital to-day of wounds inflicted by his brother James. The two brothers had a quarrel Wednesday over the division of some money, when James stabbed his brother four times in the abdomen. In the hope of saving the man's life he was brought to the Wilkesbarre Hospital, where he underwent a delicate operation.

The brother has not yet been arrested. Both men stood high in their community.

ON AN AUTOMOBILE.

A Klondike Editor Will Try to Ride the Journey Back.

New York, June 25.—James De Lamare, a physical giant and the editor of the Klondike Review, published on his third visit to that icy region.

This time he will try to make most of the land trip after reaching Lake Bennett on a gasoline automobile of five horse power. Spiked rubber tires on two of the wheels and runners on the others will enable the auto to travel over the ice and when the ice breaks up M. De Lamare intends to place it in a huge canoe and replacing the wheels by paddles, travel down the Yukon.

VIGOROUS NOTE TO THE SULTAN.

It Insists That the Long-Deferred Indemnity Must be Paid.

Constantinople, June 28.—Lloyd C. Griscom, United States Charge d'Affairs, to-day presented a fresh note the Ottoman Government, insisting upon an immediate reply to the demands of the United States for a settlement of the indemnity in connection with the losses of Americans at the time of the Armenian massacres.

Although vigorously phrased, the note is not an ultimatum. It is said, however, to have been a disagreeable surprise to the Porte, testifying as it does to the intention of the United States Government to pursue this matter of indemnity to the end.

ADMIRAL SEYMOUR IS PROBABLY SAFE

Three Italian Vessels Have Been Ordered to Chinese Waters.

"UNAVOIDABLE DESTINY" DRIVES BRITAIN ON.

An International Race for Tien-Tsin — There Was Great Rivalry Among the Nations, and the British and Americans Were Winners.

London, June 27, 8.40 p.m.

The Foreign Office has issued the following telegram, received from W. R. Carles, the British Consul at Tien Tsin, undated, but probably sent June 24th, and forwarded June 27—A note has been received by the Commissioner of Customs here from Inspector General Hart, "Sir Robert Hart at Pekin," dated June 19, stating that the foreign legations had been desired to leave Pekin within 24 hours.

Rome, June 27.

The Italian armoured cruiser Vittor Pizani, and the protected cruisers Stromtolo and Vesuvius have been ordered to Chinese waters.

London, June 28, 3.20 a.m.

The composite Brigade of 2,300 men who raised the investment of Tien Tsin, and pushed on to help Admiral Seymour, has probably saved him, but the news has not yet reached Che Foo, the nearest wire point. The last steamer at Che Foo from Taku, brought this message dated Tien Tsin, Monday.

The Russian general in command of the relief force has decided, in view of the heavy fighting and marching Saturday, that one day's rest for the troops was essential, and that the advance would not be resumed until to-day. Meanwhile came Admiral Seymour's heliograph that his position was made desperate, and that he could only hold out two days. The relief started at dawn to-day, Monday.

Saturday's fighting began at daybreak. The allied forces opened with several of the terrible 4.7 naval guns, six field guns, and numerous machine guns, the firing being at long range, they continued to advance steadily, the Chinese artillery replying. The guns of the allies were more skilfully handled and put the guns of the Chinese out of action one by one.

There was keen rivalry among the representatives of the various nations as to which should enter Tien Tsin first, and the Americans and British went in neck and neck. The Russians stormed the arsenal, thereby sustaining the largest losses.

Several thousand Japanese have left Taku for Tien Tsin, and altogether 13,000 Japanese have landed. The international troops now aggregate nearly 20,000, and Japan is preparing to send 20,000 more. With British, American and other troops ordered to go, probably 60,000 men will be available in a month.

The Tong Shang refugees and the foreign engineers at Che Foo, estimate the Chinese troops now in the field as 25,000 drilled troops at Lutai, 25,000 at Shan Hai Wa, 15,000 driven off from Tien Tsin and 150,000 at Pekin.

The despatch received by the Foreign Office, stating that the foreign legations were requested to leave Pekin within a specified time is interpreted in some official quarters as to giving the ministers their passports, and as tantamount to a declaration of war, but as China does nothing like other nations, the official opinion is, nothing to do but to await the course of events, and to see what the ministers themselves say when they are rescued.

All the students at the foreign hospitals at Canton are leaving. Women missionaries are returning from the west river ports. There was a slight disturbance at Wo Chan Tuesday. While the women were embarking the crowd shouted, "Kill the foreign devils."

According to advices from Shanghai the Chinese officials, by direction of the southern Viceroys are asking the Consuls to agree to conditions assuring, as the Chinese say, the neutrality of Shanghai and other coast cities. They are also asking that foreign warships shall not sail or anchor near the forts nor go to ports where there are no warships, and that their crews shall not go ashore, and that the protection of foreigners be left to the Chinese authorities. These conditions are considered at Shanghai to be virtually an ultimatum from Viceroys Li Kung Yit and Chang Chit Tung. The Consuls desire a sufficient naval and military force to back up their refusal to comply with these demands. The total naval force there now consists of 900 men with 32 guns. The Chinese have 5,000 men with six guns, at the forts, and 10,000 men outside Shanghai with modern rifles and machine guns.

The magnitude of the arrangements Japan is making suggests provision against contingencies other than the suppression of the present disturbances in China. She has chartered nineteen additional transports and now has thirty-five in all.

"UNAVOIDABLE DESTINY."

That is What Drives Britain Forward in China.

London, June 27.—The latest Shanghai report says Prince Tuan (the head of the Chinese Foreign Office, and father of the heir apparent), has sent the legationers to Sien Fu under escort and adds that Sian Fu will be the new capital, in the event of Pekin being occupied by the international forces.

It is thought at Shanghai that now Tien Tsin is relieved the combined international forces will have no great difficulty in reaching Pekin, though it is expected it will be found that all the foreigners have left already.

It is claimed that the reports as to the damage done at Tien Tsin and the casualties among the foreign residents have been highly colored. The exodus of Chinese from Shanghai is unabated. Every steamer is thronged and the authorities have been obliged to resort to the use of fire hose to prevent the fugitives from overcrowding the vessels.

Guns Landed.

The commander of the British first-class cruiser Undaunted has landed large supplies of rifles and ammunition, and guns have been placed in position at commanding points, with the result that the foreigners are confident they can overcome any attack on the settlement into which the foreigners from the out-stations are rapidly congregating.

According to a despatch from New Chwang the Russians there are barely able to cope with the situation. The Chinese, it appears, are burning all the railroad material, killing isolated Russians at every opportunity and destroying the coal mines.

Lesson For America.

The St. James Gazette expresses the opinion that China is "teaching America the impossibility of a great trading nation avoiding Imperialism," adding, "America's experience will teach her, it is not the desire to grab distant lands, but unavoidable destiny, that drives Great Britain ever forward. Washington has no choice but to protect the imperilled American citizens, and having once interfered in China to protect her interests she shall never be able to shake from her shoes the dust of the Celestial Empire."

THE BRITISH POSITION.

England will Welcome Aid From Any Power Close at Hand.

London, June 26.—Replying to a question of Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, Conservative, in the House of Commons to-day as to whether the British Government will arrange with Japan, as the only power able to act without delay, to send an adequate land force to China, Mr. J. A. Balfour, the First Lord of the Treasury and Government leader, said it was undesirable to outline the nature of the negotiations under the circumstances. But, he added, Her Majesty's Government would welcome the despatch of troops by any power which owing to the proximity of the troops, might be able to act at once for the suppression of the disturbances in China. The First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. George J. Goschen, said that owing to the absence of the senior British Admiral the Russian Admiral was the head of the international forces on water.

The Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, Mr. William St. John Brodrick, in reply to a question, said, —"We have no direct information from the Legations or Admiral Seymour's force, or from Tien Tsin. Our last information from the officer in charge at Wei Hai Wei is that 3,000 of the force for the relief of Tien Tsin was encamped within nine miles of Tien Tsin on the evening of June 23. From private credible sources we are informed that the relief force subsequently entered Tien Tsin and marched north, and that the legations were not harmed up to June 20. We earnestly hope this is true."

MORE MEN ARE WANTED.

A Hundred Thousand Soldiers Are Needed in China.

Che Foo, Tuesday, June 26.—The foreigners everywhere are urging the immediate concentration of an army of 100,000 men, or at least 50,000 men, for an advance on Pekin. Many persons familiar with the Chinese character think the Foreign Ministers and Vice-Admiral Seymour are held as hostages for good terms of settlement. They also believe the whole Chinese army is joining in the movement, under the leadership of Tung Fu Hsiang, who crushed the Mohommedan rebellion. Recently he was nominally degraded for the purpose of organizing an anti-foreign uprising quietly. It is estimated that 60,000 soldiers, well armed, but poorly disciplined, are about Pekin and Tien Tsin. The Chinese officers boast that they have 400,000 soldiers.

THEY MUST PAY.

Colonies Cannot Share in Empire's Government Until They do so.

London, June 27.—The Daily Graphic, commenting on the debate at the Congress of the Chambers of Commerce yesterday, says that the colonies know perfectly well that they cannot expect to share in the government of the Empire until they share in the expense of its maintenance.

SEYMOUR SUFFERED HEAVILY.

He is Reported to Have 300 Sick and Wounded Men.

London, June 27.—A special from Shanghai, dated last evening, says that communication with Admiral Seymour was opened by the Tien Tsin relief force Sunday. Admiral Seymour was at that time said to be ten miles from Tien Tsin. Three hundred of the members of his party were reported sick and wounded and only a few had been killed. They were short of provisions and were returning without having rescued the Legations.

SIXTY-TWO KILLED.

Shanghai, June 27.—A German paper has an uncredited statement to the effect that Admiral Seymour is eight miles from Tien Tsin with 62 killed and 200 wounded.

SEYMOUR HARD PRESSED.

London, June 26.—A despatch to the Central News from Chefoo, dated Tuesday, says that the steamer Tung-Chow brings news from Taku up to 5 o'clock yesterday to the effect that it is officially stated that communication has been established with Admiral Seymour, who was within nine miles of Tien Tsin.

He was being heard pressed by the Chinese, and was much hampered by his sick and wounded. A few of his force had been killed.

Troops are being rapidly forwarded from Taku. It is estimated that there are 10,000 troops between Taku and Tien Tsin. Most of these are Japanese who continue to pour in.

It is reported that all foreigners were sent from Pekin with a weak Chinese guard, and it is assumed that they are with Admiral Semour.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Canadian Soldier Says He Has Become Accustomed to Such Occurrences — Reported Lost, but Finally Turned Up.

Pte. D. J. Crone, of the "A" squadron, Canadian Mounted Rifles, formerly of Windsor, Ont., in an interesting letter written from Kroonstad, May 16, to his friend, J. S. Dowling, of the Dominion Express Company, in this city, says—

As you will have seen, we started our general advance from Bloemfontein on the first of the month, and I can assure you we have had quite an interesting time of it. Gen. Hutton is in command of our column, which consists of most of the colonial mounted troops. We encountered nothing the first day's march, but our advance guard came across the Boers the second day at noon. They did not stay long when we came up, although they had a position which a few of them could have held against thousands. Several shots fell so close to me I had but to stoop down and pick up the bullets. I did not mind them whatever, but I admit when they started to shell us as we came on them again the following day, that it gave one a queer feeling as you would hear those shells come hissing by you with a terrible scream. I have not got used to them even now. We have been under fire five times now, but have not lost a man, only some two or three wounded. I think about the warmest time we had was at the Vet River, where we killed some 83 of them and captured one gun. We were ordered to advance in the face of a heavy fire from their rifles and pom-poms, and cross the river. What a place it was to put up a good defence. On the side of the river they were on it was nothing but kopjes covered with shrubs, etc. We could not see them while we had to advance on open ground. Their shells fell right among us, making such a dust and smoke when they fell that we could hardly see one another. One fellow, about a rod behind me, had his horse's ear shot off. That was about the only damage they did. The river was so deep in places that several had to dismount, leave their horses, and swim across. One squadron happened to strike a shallow place, and maybe we did not go over in a hurry. As the Boers saw we were not to be stopped they made off in a hurry. I have found out that is the one thing the Boer can do well. It was considered a miracle that lots of us were not killed by their shells. As it was now quite dark, we bivouacked for the night, but were up again at 2 o'clock and after them again. We captured Smaldeel, a small town, about noon, without any resistance. The Boers had gone a few hours before. We rested here the rest of the day and night, but as we advanced about fifteen miles the next day we heard them blowing up the railway ahead. We halted for an hour, stripped our saddles of everything but the bare saddles, and went to stop them. We found them blowing up the rails, as there were no bridges. They shelled us something terrible for a while. We retired as darkness came on, as they were very strong and had a good many guns. One fellow in "R" Squadron had a close call from a shell, having his hat shot off. When they come like that they are too close to be comfortable. What do you think? Dr. Stuart can tell you what it makes you feel like. He had one graze his horse's neck the other day. He and I slept together that night, and I laughed to hear him tell about it. The town surrendered Saturday morning to General French. See papers about Reynolds and I getting lost and reported captured. Days hot, nights fearful cold. Hope to return soon, but rather enjoying the excitement.

The incident referred to at the end of Pte. Crone's letter is described by John A. Ewan, the Globe's correspondent, as follows—"It was reported to Canada that two troopers of A squadron, Major Forrester's command, Reynolds and Crone, were missing. They have since turned up. Reynolds belongs to London, Ont., and Crone to Sarnia. They were selected by Major Forrester for patrol duty. Their instructions were to ride some distance apart but to keep in touch. This they did for some time, but at length Crone discovered that Reynolds had disappeared. He felt that something had befallen him, and, coming across two Enniskillens, he induced them to hunt for his companion. After riding back over the trail for an hour they found Reynolds at a wire fence with his horse lying across his leg. The beast had fallen and was so weary that, do what he could, he could not make it rise, and there he was, pinned helplessly to the earth, with anything but a pleasant prospect before him. By this time they lost their command, and neither of them turning up for a couple of days it was concluded that they had been wiped out or gobbled up by the enemy. Their companions were overjoyed when the two turned up at Kroonstad."

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

An Appropriation of $800,000 in the Supplementary Estimates.

In the supplementary estimates tabled by Hon. Mr. Fielding in the House of Commons on Tuesday, the further sum of $800,000 is ppropriated for the construction of the Trent Valley Canal.

Another item of interest to Peterborough is that which states Major Greenwood's salary of $1600 is to be continued in his absence in the Transvaal.

DEAD IN CHICAGO.

A Lady Who Attained to Prominence in the United States.

A Chicago despatch dated June 26th, announces the death in that city of Mrs. Ruby Kennedy Scobell, the organizer of the Women's National Promotion of Health Society, and who has been its President since organization. The deceased lady will be remembered as a former resident of Peterborough, where she was born. She was a daughter of the late Capt. Kennedy, both well remembered residents of Peterborough. As Miss Kennedy she was a member of the George street Methodist choir for several years. In Chicago she became a woman of wide repute. She had charge of the women's building at the World's Fair and had travelled in all parts of the Union as President and Organizer of the Women's National Promotion of Health Society. Mrs. Scobell was born here in 1849.

TIME TABLE CHANGES.

Alterations in the Running Hours of Grand Trunk Trains.

Some changes have been made in the time table of this division of the Grand Trunk, going into effect on Monday last. The early morning trains are the same. The Port Hope train leaves at 11.25 and the Belleville train at 11.30 instead of at 11.50 and 11.55 as formerly.

There are three trains daily on the Lakefield service. The first leaves at 8.10 a.m.; the second at 12.10 p.m., arriving in town on its return at 5.15, the third leaves at 5.40 p.m.

The train up from Belleville at night arrives at 8.55 instead of 8.45.

Illicit Still Seized.

Preventive Officer Floody, of the Inland Revenue Department, has made a seizure in Asphodel, about six miles from Norwood. He drove out from town yesterday morning, having had information and made search for an illicit still. He was accompanied by County Constable Cochrane, and they made a seizure of a large plant in Asphodel. The illicit still was brought into Norwood and will be brought on to Peterborough, where the hearing of the case will take place.

PEKIN LEGATIONS SAFE.

It Seems Safe to Assume That Vice-Admiral Seymour and the Legations, Whether Together or Separately, Will Ultimately Reach a Place of Safety.

London, June 27, 2.03 p.m.—The cable messages from the far east to-day are so conflicting in their tenor that almost any desired view of the situation had can be made therefrom. On the whole, however, the news is encouraging, and it seems safe to assume that Vice-Admiral Seymour and the Legations, whether together or separately, will ultimately reach a place of safety. Various reports locate the Legationers at divers places, but it seems agreed that they are safely away from Pekin.

It is thought at Shanghai that now Tien Tsin is relieved the combined international forces will have no great difficulty in reaching Pekin though it is expected it will be found that all the foreigners have left already.

It is claimed that the reports as to the damage done at Tien Tsin and the casualties among the froeign residents have been highly colored. The exodus of Chinese from Shanghai is unabated. Every steamer is thronged and the authorities have been obliged to resort to the use of fire hose to prevent the fugitives from overcrowding the vessels.

Korea Hostile Too.

Yokohama, June 27.—The Emperor has sanctioned an outlay of fifteen millions yet towards the cost of military operations in China.

It is reported in Seoul that there is increasing hostility towards Christians in Korea. Korea, it is said, repudiates the land contract which gave to Russia a site for a coal depot and a naval hospital as Russia wished to apply towards the price the amount of the pending claims against Korea.

FOREIGN FIGHTERS BEYOND CONTROL

Irish, Italians and Hollanders Giving Trouble to the Boers.

FOOD AND BLANKETS SENT TO PRISONERS.

The First Canadian Soldier to Return from Africa—Crippled Private E. D. Craig Is Given a Great Reception at His Old Home in Windsor.

London, June 28, 4.20 a.m.

General Sir Leslie Rundle had a sharp artillery and rifle skirmish near Senekal Friday with a large force of entrenched Boers. He declined to attack them. Commandant Dewet with 3,000 men and three guns is moving north-east in the Orange River Colony. It is understood that he and Commandant General Botha entered into compact that neither would surrender so long as the other was in the field and President Kruger is still at Machadodorp. The Express despatches regarding the hospitals in South Africa have made a great sensation in England.

London, June 28.

The Lorenzo Marquez correspondent of the Times telegraphing yesterday says—"According to Transvaal advices the Boers are entrenching in considerable force in the Middleburg hills.

The Irish Hollanders and Italian corps are getting uncontrollable. They are looting stores and farmhouses.

Bar gold is a drug in the local market, owing to a suspicion that it is an inferior quality. A large quantity of stolen gold is waiting to be smuggled out of the Transvaal.

WINDSOR BOY HOME.

Windsor, June 27.—E. D. Craig is the first of the Windsor boys to return home, and the people are making much of him. Outside of his family but few knew he had reached Montreal on Saturday, but yesterday the news leaked out that he was to arrive in the afternoon, and there was a large gathering at the depot to meet him.

The crowd included a number of pretty girls, and when young Craig stepped from the car he was given a "Hobson" greeting. The soldier was driven to his father's residence, but all along the route the carriage was stopped by people anxious for a handshake and to extend a word of greeting.

All afternoon Ernie held an informal reception at his father's residence—hundreds of his friends calling to extend congratulations.

In the evening the local companies of the 21st Essex Fusiliers, of which he was a member, turned out in Craig's honor and paraded to his home. The soldiers were followed by a crowd of people anxious to catch a glimpse of Craig, and it is estimated that fully three thousand people were present. Fireworks were set of. The soldiers were lined up and fired a feu-de-joie and gave three cheers and a tiger for Craig. A large number of people went inside the house and greeted Craig, he being unable to stand out doors on account of his lame leg. Speeches were delivered by a number of persons, and the reception closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Craig is very lame. He was shot in the left leg at the battle of Paardeberg, while doing hospital duty, and sustained a Pott's fracture of the right ankle. The bullet wound soon healed, but the fracture of the ankle is more serious, and he will be crippled for some time.

Among the interesting relicts that he soldier brought home is a cane presented to him by the Prince of Wales. All the wounded were similarly treated. He also exhibits a big dirk with which he dug himself into cover at the battle of Paardeberg.

GUERILLA WARFARE.

General Dewet the Hero of the Latter War Days.

London, June 27, 3.20 a.m.—The Boer commandos in the eastern part of the Orange River Colony appear to have been broken up by their leaders for the time into small parties that harass the columns of the British, incessantly cutting off scouts, sniping pickets, and making a show of force here and there. Commandant Christian Dewet, General Steyn's principal commander, is the leader of these guerilla operations. He is the hero of the Boer side in these last days of hostilities.

PRISONERS ARE BETTER OFF.

Food and Blankets Have Been Forwarded to Nooitgedacht.

London, June 27.—Transvaal officials who were interviewed yesterday at Machadodorp, by a correspondent of the Daily Express, asserted an intention to hold out to the last. President Kruger will probably retire to Waterval Onder or Nel Spruit. His physician thinks his condition of health will not allow him to go to the high veldt; the British prisoners at Nooitgedacht are now more comfortable. Large quantities of food and blankets have been forwarded to them, and their inclosure is lighted by electricity.

Pretoria telegrams say that supplies of warm clothing are reaching Lord Roberts' infantry, who had been ragged and had suffered from the cold.

Commandant General Botha is very active east of Pretoria. The Canadians are doing splendid outpost work.

News was received to-day of an engagement between the forces of Gen. Hamilton and Gen. Prinsloo at Heidelberg.

General Botha is resting at the head laager at Brokerspruit, keeping in occasional touch with the British mounted patrols among the Donkerhook hills.

EMERGENCY FOOD REPORT.

Committee Which Investigated the Charges Differs.

Ottawa, Ont., June 27.—The minority and majority reports of the Emergency Rations Committee are made out and will be presented to the House tomorrow morning. The minority report in substance declares that Mr. Monk's charges have been fully proved. The majority report declares the charges have not been proved.

CHOCOLATE FOUND.

Captain Wyatt's Inquiries Successful in Locating the Box.

When the Royal Canadian Regiment left Belmot about February 7 with Roberts' advance into the Free State the members of "C" Company, who had just received the Queen's chocolate boxes decided to send them to their friends in Canada, and the late Sergeant Beatty, of "I" Company, Q. O. R., had 100 of them packed in a case and addressed them to Toronto in care of Capt. H. F. Wyatt, of the Q.O.R. He wrote asking that they be distributed to the proper people, but the package, which also contained many other souvenirs, never arrived. Capt. Wyatt made extensive enquiries, but could gain no trace of the missing boxes.

Finally Capt. Wyatt decided to write a friend of his in Cape Town, W. T. Buissinie, a prominent barrister, who after much difficulty has succeeded in ascertaining the whereabouts of the lost case, and has written saying that he will at once forward them to London to be re-shipped to Capt. Wyatt in Toronto, who will deliver them as soon as they arrive.

PRINCESS VICTORIA'S ROMANCE.

Daughter of the Prince of Wales Loved British Officer.

Paris, June 28.—Several aristocrats and diplomats who usually reside in London, but are just now, here doing the Exposition, discussed last night the presence in Paris of the agent of a secret engagement between Princess Victoria of Wales and Prince George of Greece, Governor of Crete. All present seemed to regard an early public announcement of the engagement as certain.

The whole heart history of the Princess was rehearsed by a veteran London attache for the benefit of the younger men. He told how she fell madly in love years ago with a brilliant young Lieutenant in the English army, who Queen Victoria one day summoned and reprimanded and, harshly ordered him to India, with a substantial promotion, and how the bouyant and amiable Princess later wished to marry a wealthy and refined London banker, many years her senior, begging to be allowed to abandon court and country.

The same diplomat, who is an intimate friend of the Prince of Wales, said that the Princess has never loved George much yet she finds him congenial. He, on the contrary, has always desired the marriage. For fifteen years they spent their vacations together in Copenhagen with royal Danish relatives, and George proposed to her every year, undaunted by repeated refusals.

The Princess is now over 30, and George is one year younger.

KILLED BY A BROTHER.

Fatal Result of a Fraternal Quarrel Between Wyoming County Men.

Wilkesbarre, June 28.—D. C. Terry, of White's Ferry, Wyoming county, died in the City Hospital to-day of wounds inflicted by his brother James. The two brothers had a quarrel Wednesday over the division of some money, when James stabbed his brother four times in the abdomen. In the hope of saving the man's life he was brought to the Wilkesbarre Hospital, where he underwent a delicate operation.

The brother has not yet been arrested. Both men stood high in their community.

ON AN AUTOMOBILE.

A Klondike Editor Will Try to Ride the Journey Back.

New York, June 25.—James De Lamare, a physicial giant and the editor of the Klondike Review, published on his third visit to that icy region.

This time he will try to make most of the land trip after reaching Lake Bennett on a gasoline automobile of five horse power. Spiked rubber tires on two of the wheels and runners on the others will enable the auto to travel over the ice and when the ice breaks up M. De Lamare intends to place it in a large canoe and replacing the wheels by paddles, travel down the Yukon.

VIGOROUS NOTE TO THE SULTAN.

It Insists That the Long-Deferred Indemnity Must be Paid.

Constantinople, June 28.—Lloyd C. Griscom, United States Charge d'Affairs, to-day presented a fresh note the Ottoman Government, insisting upon an immediate reply to the demands of the United States for a settlement of the indemnity in connection with the losses of Americans at the time of the Armenian massacres.

Although vigorously phrased, the note is not an ultimatum. It is said, however, to have been a disagreeable surprise to the Porte, testifying as it does to the intention of the United States Government to pursue this matter of indemnity to the end.

The Douro Picnic.

Mr. James McCliggott, Reeve, and Mr. Dennis Moloney, Councillor, of Douro, were in town yesterday settling up the accounts in connection with the Douro picnic. The proceeds of the picnic amounted to $575, which will go towards reducing the debt on St. Joseph's church, Douro. The picnic was a decided success. The speakers were Messrs. R. A. Peck, E. Hawthorne, J. H. Campbell, J. J. Crowe and W. Rudkins. The committee requests the Times to publicly thank the gentlemen who were good enough to speak and to say that their kindness in this regard is very much appreciated by the committee and members of the church.

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 28, 1900

IN CHINA.

The initial failure of the allied troops to push through to the rescue of the legation at Pekin must give the Chinese vast encouragement. It is very likely that the men who are now rallying to the "Boxers" standard because of this initial failure of the Europeans and their new allies, the United States and Japan, to assert their boasted power, know little more of the strength of the nations whom they are challenging to mortal combat than they can judge by seeing their ships and men along their coast. They are in the position of Rider Haggard's Boer who knew the exact size of the British army because he had been down to Cape Town in the old days and counted them. They very possibly have heard how in other conflicts times mysterious foreigners who came over the seas with marvellous weapons of destruction, proved themselves to be invincible and consequently have been in great awe of them. But now, seeing them put forth all their strength and yet possibly fail to protect their own representatives at Pekin, the untutored Chinese is very apt to conclude that the limit of their power has been reached and that again the Chinaman is to rule unhampered in China. So, like the practical politician he is, the Chinaman flocks to the standard of the power to be.

This is unfortunate, and will almost certainly lead to the shedding of much blood which prompt measures might have saved But the "steam roller" can hardly be expected to be prompt. The European Concert when it once gets ready to move, is effective—as the Chinese will discover—but, from its very nature, it can hardly strike swiftly. Still now it should be able to bring considerable force to bear without delay. And the landing of large bodies of troops in China will under existing circumstances be a peace measure. The sooner the spread of the anti-foreign agitation can be stopped, the smaller will be the opposition which the allies must overcome in order to re-establish a stable government at Pekin.

NOT WORTH WHILE.

Evidences accumulate that Canadians are not disposed to expend time and money in exhibiting the products of this country at the Buffalo exhibition, simply for the purpose of astonishing the natives. This does not imply that the Pan-American will not be a success, for Buffalo is located in a large and rich country, which is quite capable of supporting a good show, without any assistance from countries adjacent to the United States. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association has asked an expression of opinion from 140 business men, and it is reported that between 90 and 100 of the letters received in reply are pronouncedly against the exhibition of Canadian manufactures at Buffalo. Six favor the idea, but only one writer of the six expressed an intention of making an exhibit at the Pan-American. The remainder of the letters discuss the question of exhibitions in a general way, some of them being adverse to any exhibition. The reason given by the manufacturers for their disinclination to exhibit at Buffalo is that the Dingley law, with its prohibitive tariff of from 45 to 100 per cent., precludes the possibility of the exhibition resulting in any profit to them, and they are against making the outlay which a proper showing of Canadian products would involve when, as they believe, the Canadian exhibits would have no individuality but would simply be classed by visitors to the exposition with the American exhibits. It is also urged that all of the foreign visitors to the Pan-American could be included to come to Toronto, and that the exhibition of the products of the home market could be shown under much more fovorable conditions in our own country.

Since the Democrates took up Bryan and his silver-money fad, there is no hope of their success in a general election, hence the U. S. tariff will remain so protective as to be practically prohibitive. There is no use advertising Canada's products in a country whose people are forbidden by the laws of that country to buy them. A proper preparation for the Buffalo Pan-American would be a radical measure of tariff reform at Washington.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Sir Henry Joly is British Columbia's new Lieutenant-Governor. He is described as a courtly gentleman, of the old school, but we fear greatly that some of his polish will get a sand paper finish when he rubs up against that rough and ready statesman, Fighting Joe Martin.

TREES WHICH ARE FREAKS.

Nature does not invariably do her work with mathematical precision. She is at times apparently in freakish mood and tries to produce something out of the common. She frequently given to the production of mammoths and in no other direction oftener than in trees.

The largest orange tree in the south grows in Terre Bonne parish, La., and is 50 feet high and 15 feet in circumference at the base. It has often yielded 10,000 oranges in a season.

California is known as the "land of wonderful trees," and Mariposa grove country." "Wamona," sometimes called the "tunnel tree," has a roadway cut through the solid heart. The tunnel is 27 feet through, 10 feet high and 10 feet wide.

Georgia has a quivering tree, so called because every limb, large and small, on this tree trembles in fear, or as a suffering animal would quiver, and this occurs when not a breath of air is stirring.

Newton, N C., has a smoking tree, about eight years old, with a bushy top and many lateral branches. Puffs of smoke, identical in appearance with cigarette smoke, are seen starting every now and then from all over the tree; sometimes from the bark of the limb or trunk.

The musical or whistling tree is a native of the West Indies, Nubia and the Soudan. It possesses a peculiar-shaped leaf and pods with a split or broken edge. The wind passing through these causes the sound which gives to the tree the name of "Whistler." In Barbados there is a valley filled with trees of this character, and when the trade winds blow across the island a constant moaning deep-toned whistle is heard from it.

In Central America has been found the electric light tree, the milk tree and the bread tree. The electric light tree gives a light so strong that a person can read or write by it at night. The milk tree has a thick, tough skin that can be used for half-soling shoes. To milk the tree a hole is bored in the trunk; then it lets down sap as white and sweet as any ever milked from a cow. The bread tree has a solid fruit, a little larger than a coconut, which, when cut into slices and cooked, can scarcely be distinguished from excellent bread.

An electrical tree has been discovered in India. Its leaves are so highly charged with electricity that whenever one is touched the individual investigating receives a shock that almost knocks him down.

The iron tree is a native of Africa. The leaves although very thin, are bent with great difficulty, and in order to secure one it is necessary to use a file. It is said that the tree is a great metal eater, eagerly devouring any metal its roots might come in contact with. It changes its color to the color of the metal last absorbed.

STRANGE DEATH OF A YOUNG GIRL.

Found Dead in Room With a Revolver by Her Side.

Fort Madison, Iowa, June 25.—Hazel Burr Rodgers, a girl 12 years of age, either committed suicide or was murdered in this city under peculiar circumstances. She was found on a bed upstairs dead. A revolver that belonged to her father, Henry Rogers, a fireman on the Santa Fe railroad, and which is kept in her stepmother's room, was found on a chair near the bed.

The bullet had entered the left breast, passing through the heart and lung and coming out at the back passed through the partition wall and was found in the next room.

PARIS
THE NEW YORK TIMES.
Daily at the Exposition

[From the New York Times March 16]

The New York Times will be published daily on the grounds of the Universal Exposition to be held at Paris.

The interest of the people of the United States in the Exposition, the very large attendance from this country already assured, and the cordial relations existing between the two Governments have seemed to us to justify this undertaking as a recognition by the American press of the world-wide influence and importance of the great French Fair to all interests of the United States; and we have sought to avail ourselves of this extraordinary opportunity for cultivating feelings of amity between the people of the two great republics.

The concession for the publication of an American newspaper on the grounds of the Exposition has been granted to THE TIMES by the French Commissioners. The paper will appear daily in its usual from—from eight to thirty-two pages—issued from a Goss four-deck, patented, straight-line newspaper printing press, capable of printing at a speed of fifty thousand newspapers per hour, printed on both sides, folded and counted. The press will be installed in the centre of the American to the Annex to the Building of Liberal Arts and Chemical Industries. The exhibit will give a complete demonstration of the manner of issuing an American newspaper, including the operation of a battery of typesetting machines, stereotyping, and the most approved modern American appliances, an exhibit which will be entirely novel to Europeans.

The Paris Exposition Edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES will be gratuitously distributed at the place of production by many thousands each day, and will besides be procurable at newspaper kiosks all over Paris, and generally distributed throughout Europe.

THE NEW YORK TIMES will be the only newspaper of the world published on the Exposition grounds, and will endeavor to maintain in its international character the ideal it has sought to attain in America.

Although THE NEW YORK TIMES enjoys exclusively the privileges of publication on the grounds, it will offer to the newspapers of the country the opportunity to exhibit the merits and quality of their own publications and to set forth the commerical importance and attractions of their localities.

YOUR STOMACH IS A CHURN

Sweet butter can't be made in a sour churn. The stomach is a churn. A foul stomach fouls the food put into it. When the food is fouled the blood made from it is fouled also. Foul blood means disease. Cleanse the churn and you have sweet butter. Cleanse the stomach and you have pure blood. The far reaching action of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is due to its effect on the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases that begin in the stomach are cured through the stomach.

"Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has proved a great blessing to me," writes Mrs. Ellen E. Bacon, of Shutesbury, Franklin Co., Mass. "Prior to September, 1897, I had doctored for my stomach trouble for several years, going through a course of treatment without any real benefit. In September, 1896, I had very sick spells and grew worse; could eat but little. I commenced to take Dr. Pierce's medicine and in a short time I could eat and work. I have gained twenty pounds in two months."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for paper-bound volume, or 50 stamps for cloth binding, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

DEATH'S QUEER FORMS.

Incidents of the Manner in Which the Dark Angel Comes.

Death has never indulged in more apparently wanton caprices than during the past six weeks. What could be more unique, for instance, than the fate which overtook a colored marauder in Lincoln county, North Carolina, on the night of December 16th? He had stolen a dressed hog from a farmer's smokehouse, and with it upon his back, reached a fence, where he stuck fast and died. In the morning the hog was found on one side of the fence and the thief on the other, his neck firmly held by the gambrel stick, which, thrust through the animal's out spread limbs, had served to hang it up.

On December 20th Theodore Heath of Cathcart, Ont., swallowed his false teeth while at dinner and died before the following morning. Two days later Terrence Devlin of New York performed the novel feat of swallowing his windpipe. This was made possible by the windpipe being a false one of silver, which was displaced by a street-car collision.

The strangest ending of all, however, was that which befell three-year-old Carl Martin of Rochester, N. Y., who swallowed some uncooked Lima beans, which sprouted in his stomach and killed him.

Harvey Sprinkle started from Huntington, W. Va., for his home on the Upper Guyan, on Christmas night and being intoxicated, wandered into a pool of water, where his legs froze fast and held him till he was frozen to death. It was on Christmas, too, that Thomas Leary of Fort Hamilton, N. Y., broke Edward Watson's neck by slapping him on the back and wishing him the joy of the season.

Thomas Collins of Clarksville, Tenn., slipped between two logs in the Cumberland river and was found there, standing upright, twelve days later. A boiler exploded in John Haviland's sausage factory at Decatur, Ind., and a splinter of iron flew across the street and instantly killed Mrs. Millette, aged sixty-four, who sat at her window sewing.

Mike Hogan of Charleston, S. C., was shot because he was Irish. Alec Logan, English, and Matthew Gleason, Irish, had been engaged in a fierce dispute over the Transvaal war Logan went home, got a shotgun, and upon his return, not being able to find Gleason, he killed Hogan, the first Irishman he met, although Hogan had not been in any way connected with the dispute.

John Edgar Gardiner of Binghamton, N. Y., shot his young wife and killed himself because he wanted his picture published in the papers.

Animals wild and domestic, have had their full share in recent fatalities. On December 20th Sid, the big elephant in the Sells-Forepaugh circus, killed the head trainer, known as "Patsy" Forepaugh. On December 28th Abram Lefevre, a farmer of Greenland, Pa., died from the effects of a cat bite, while, on the same day, Harry Addington of Saratog , Ind., met a similar fate through the bite of a dog. Two days later James Rowland of Marietta, O., had his neck broken by a stubborn calf. On January 1st a lion tamer named Radowsky was killed by his tawny charges in the Vienna (Austria) Zoo, and on the same day a physician of Chalet, France, was torn to pieces by his dogs.

During a Christmas rehearsal at Eastbank, W. Va., Mrs. Park Chapman dropped dead upon the stage. On the Sunday before Christmas Mrs. Margaret Usher died while kneeling in prayer in St. Patrick's Church, Covington, Ky., and on the following day two other worshipers were striken by death while in the midst of their devotions. These two later tragedies occurred in Cincinnati, the victims being Philip Farrel, who breathed his last in St. Mary's Cathedrial, and Andrew Cronin, who was attending services in St Edward's Church when the last call came.

Ralph Phillipson of Chicago dropped dead on the night of January 2nd while listening to the applause following his own speech before his lodge of the B'nai B'rith order. Mrs. Mary Gorden of New York died on the following day while proclaiming in court her husband's innocence of the charge of watch-stealing.

BORNE ALOFT BY OWLS.

Six-Year-old Girl Attached and Carried in Midair by Gigantic Birds.

St, Vincent, Minn., March—Attacked by white owls of gigantic size, and carried by the birds to an abandoned building a quarter of a mile away, from which she was rescued uninjured by her father, was the exciting and unusual experience of Annie Johnson, of this place, a few days since. Mr. Johnson is a poultry raiser. Just at dusk on the day the incident occurred Annie heard a commotion in the hen-yard and on going out to learn the cause was set upon by a number of owls. She screamed and fought them off as best she could but they flew about her in such numbers that she was overcome.

Her father, hearing her screams, ran from the house just in time to see the owls dart upon the child, fasten their talons in her clothing and then raise her from the snow-covered ground and bear her away.

Mr. Johnson followed them until they disappeared in the old building. Immediately a great noise arose within, and as the half-crazed father entered he saw the birds deposit the child on a platform half way up to the roof, where she was immediately surrounded by hundreds of the birds. As Mr. Johnson approached they flew away. The little girl was found to be uninjured, but her dress was torn almost to ribbons.

WORSE THAN DEATH.

Pathetic Story of a Young Man Affected With Leprosy.

New York, March.—Young; with a full pocket that made the world look golden to him; with a charming girl ready to be his bride when the April blossoms fell, there was pronounced upon Archibald Yandeville one day this week a sentence that carried with it a doom almost inconceivable in its horror. Henceforth he is to be a pariah. He is a leper. Doctors in native Barbadoes had given different names to his malady. Finally, he came here for treatment and at the nation's gate, the barge office, a sharp-eyed doctor looked at Mandeville's face and hands, bared his arms and his chest, then lost his own professional calm, and fell back a step, gasping.

"A leper!"

Mandeville is only 22 years old, and comes from Bridgetown, Barbadoes. He is a government clerk in Bridgetown, and his father is a wealthy ship broker there. While employed in the government offices in Bridgetown, he had felt that he was a sufferer from some strange malady. Knowing that he could not receive better advice in New York, he came here, arriving a few days ago. Dr. M. Victor Safford, of the barge office, examined him and discovered that he was suffering from the most terrible of diseases. He will be sent back to Bridgetown insolated from the rest of the passengers, and what his fate will be on his arrival home can only be conjectured.

LOVE RATHER THAN A THRONE.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand Waived His Claim For a Bride.

Announcement was recently made of the marriage of Archduke Francis Ferdinan, late heir to the Austrian throne, and Countess Chotek, a charming member of the Austrian aristocracy. The marriage really took place three months ago, but by royal decree the fact was kept hidden until a short time since, when the lover's themselves revealed it. Through this marriage to a lady of inferior rank Archduke Francis sacrificed his right of succession to the throne of Austria. For eight years he and Countess Chorek have been sweethearts and plighted their troth in spite of the violent opposition of his uncle, Emperor Francis Joseph, and the rest of the royal family. The Emperor endeavored to have his nephew joined in marriage to one of the royal princesses of Europe, but the young man remained steadfast to the woman of his heart. The title of crown prince was then conferred upon his brother Otto, who later waived his right to succession in favor or his son, Archduke Charles Francis. Countess Sophie Chotek was a noted Vinnese belle when the archduke first met her. She was one of the ladies of honor at the court.

SUICIDE ENDED THE BALL

After Quarreling With Sweetheart an Elizabeth Youth Swallowed Poison and Fell Dead Among Dancers.

Elizabeth, June 25.—In the midst of mirth and melody at the ball of the Independent Social Club held last night in the Zouave Armory, Valentine Giesenzinger, a young man of 20 years, dramatically took his life because he quarried with his sweetheart. While the music was playing and sources of girls and their escorts were whirling about the room in the merry dance, Valentine and his girl were sitting in a corner of the great room attempting to adjust their differences. Giesenzinger suddenly arose and lifted high in the air a glass of beer, in which he had a few moments before emptied a two-ounce phial of carbolic acid, and exclaimed to the girl; "This is the last ball I will attend, or drink I will take with you, Annie," and immediately swallowed the fatal dose.

The girl screamed and the boy fell to the floor writhing in agony. Commotion followed and a physician was called, but the boy died in less than a half hour in the most awful agony. The music was hushed and the lights put out and the merry-makers left for their homes saddened by the affair.

It is said the dead boy had once been treasurer of the club and was short in his accounts and that when he arrived in the hall some one twitted him of it. This, coupled with the fact that the boy had quarled with his mother on Sunday last and later with his sweetheart, is what led him to take his life.

THE FAMINE IN INDIA.

Is More Distress Than in 1876 or 1896—The Drought Also Severe.

The following account of the famine in India is given in a letter sent to Peterborough by the Rev. Edward Fairbank, a missionary at Vadala, India.

"Here at Vadala and within three miles of us there are 8,000 persons on the relief work. It was only two weeks ago that there were less than 8,000. People are flocking to these camps by the hundreds. The overseer of the works told me Monday that he took on 900 that day, on the relief works here at Vadala. These facts alone will show the stress is rapidly growing extreme

"The condition of the people on the relief works is far beyond description. Three years ago at Sholapur at the end of the famine I saw less wretchedness emaciation than I see here today, at the beginning of the famine. People have not recovered from the last famine. They have nothing in their houses to pawn but a few brass vessels they have been able to buy since that famine. These brass dishes are now being pawned by those who come on to the relief works. It is their last report to keep their bodies and souls together before they get relief from the Government paymasters. The merchants here and in the near villages have cartloads on cartloads of brass dishes. There is great suffering from the cold in the nights of these winter days. The people are not only clothless, but almost ragless. The wretchedness is terrible. But still worse is the emaciation. Living skeletons in abundance are in evidence on every side. The village kulkarani tells me that many children are dying in the camp—too far gone to recover. Many men and women have also died here; the only reason given is lack of food. Last night a man died in the camp who they say had not had anything to eat for three days.

"This famine is undoubtedly far more severe in these parts than that of 1876 or that of 1896. One of the worst features is the lack of water. Rivers, usually flowing full at this time, are dry beds of sand. Wells that have never failed before in the memory of any one living have not a drop of water in them. The well that waters our garden and has never failed since my father came here almost forty-five years ago is dry. The village well that was supposed to have a large, living spring has nothing in it now. Our little town is, however, well off in the matter of water as compared with most of the towns and villages in these parts.

"Government officers tell me that the Indian Government looks with the greatest apprehension on the famine. They already feel themselves unable to cope with it, so great are its dimensions and proportions at the very opening, and without any doubt for nine months more the famine must rage.

"Undoubtedly private philanthropy must supply great help in this famine, far greater than in the last famine, if millions in these and other parts of India are to be saved from starvation.

Britain Wants Coal

New York.— There was a report in coal circles to-day that the British government, through an outside party, was making inquiries as to whether it could secure 1,000,000 tons of bituminous coal here. There appears to be some trouble in Great Britain, Austria and Russia as to getting the coal needed for manufacturing and

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 28, 1900

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

The Times at Summer Resorts.

The Morning Times is sent to summer resorts and summer residences addressed to individuals at thirty cents a month. Persons visiting the lakes and other places may have the Times addressed to them for as short a period as one week.

A Case for Charity.

A sad case of destitution exists in town in the persons of the wife and family of Geo. Foy, who was sentenced to prison yesterday at the Police Court. They are entirely helpless, the poor woman being unfit for work of any kind. Mr. Geo. Stevens and Staff Capt. Burdette, of the Salvation Army, will be glad to receive contributions for the unfortunate family.

A Presentation.

A most enjoyable evening was spent at the residence of Miss Edith Wilson, No. 30 Aylmer street, on Tuesday, when the employees of Gemmels Corset and Whitewear factory assembled for the purpose of making a presentation to Mrs. George Hawes, who until recently was fore-lady in the factory. The gift took the form of an exceedingly handsome china tea-set. An appropriate address was read and suitably acknowledged. During the evening refreshments were served and several hours passed very pleasantly.

Our Disgraceful Streets

Complaints have reached the Times in regard to the disgraceful condition of the streets of the town. On some of the streets the weeds are as high as the fences, and on others the roads are uneven and bad. Even George street, on which so much work has been done, is not finished. The Street Inspector's attention has been called to these matters, but nothing has been done. In view of the fact that many thousands of visitors will be here on the 12th of July, would it not be well to have our streets put in decent shape?

A Liberal Convention

The Times has been informed that the Liberals intend to call a convention of the party at an early date to nominate a candidate for the Dominion Parliament. It is said that Mr. J. B. McWilliams will be tendered the nomination, and should he decline, Mr. Richard Hall will be urged to accept. Mr. Hall, it is said, does not desire the nomination, and will only accept under strong pressure. There are several other names prominently mentioned, amongst whom are Messrs. E. B. Stone, J. H. McClellan, Geo. Elliott and Mr. R. S. Davidson. Although Mr. Davidson is last on the above list he is by no means least, the Times being of opinion that he would prove a strong candidate.

TWO YEARS IN CENTRAL.

George Foy Sentenced for Forging and Uttering Checks.

At the police court yesterday Geo. Foy was charged before Magistrate Dumble with forgery, his offence being that he had forged the name of George Stevens, junk dealer, to two checks, which he cashed at R. Neill's and Thos. Burrie's stores. He pleaded guilty to each offence and was sentenced to two years less one day on each, the sentences to run concurrently.

CHEMONG LAKE BRIDGE.

Work Will Probably Commence at an Early Date.

The committee appointed at the recent session of the County Council to deal with the Mud Lake bridge contract, with power to advertise for and accept new tenders, if necessary, met in the Council Chamber yesterday at one o'clock. Mr. D. McDiarmid, of Toronto, whose tender was considered by the Council, was represented by Mr. G. W. Hatton. It will be remembered that it was proposed to make a deviation from the original plan, which would mean a saving in the cost of about $5,000. It is understood that a satisfactory agreement was reached between the committee and Mr. McDiarmid.

New Inventions.

Messrs. Marion & Marion, send the Times the following list of new inventions—A pistol, an electric bell and a cat-o'-nine-tails are the moving forces in an ingenious burglar alarm evolved by Barney Tegethoff, a grocer of St. Louis, Mo. A new dump car, which is especially desirable for embankment work and filling in has been invented. It is so constructed that the box has a rotary, and can be unloaded in any direction desired. An electric horse whip recently patented gives the animal a shock instead of a cut. A small battery is imbedded in the celluloid handle, and this is controlled by a push button. A clock which is said to have been running since August 1898, the workmanship of P.M. Rovenskilde, is attracting much attention at Gaberry, Ill., the home of its maker. It is propelled by a system of ball weights and a small current of electricity. An Indiana man claims to have invented a process by which cakes of ice may be preserved for many months with no covering whatever from the action of the atmosphere except a coating of preservative, the composition of which is a secret.

OIL AND GOLD MINES.

Visitors Speak of the Food Used.

Major Desborough, writing from Fresno, Calif., says—"I found Grape-Nuts food 45 miles in the mountains in an old oil camp, where the whole crowd, 10 men, eat it for breakfast every day and every Sunday have it in a pudding for dinner."

General E. C. Machen, an old Confederate soldier, has just returned from an extended trip through the Southwest and along the Mexican border, investigating mining properties. He says—"No matter where I travelled, I always found it possible to get Grape-Nuts and Postum Food Coffee of which I am very fond."

The Grape-Nuts breakfast food is especially valued by campers and frontier people, as it is already cooked and ready for instant service, and being concentrated, furnishes unusual strength and nourishment in a small quantity. It is believed that a man can travel farther and exercise more continuously, on a few teaspoons of Grape-Nuts that on like quantity of any other food known.

The reason for this is that there are selected elements in Grape-Nuts that furnish direct to the brain and nerve centers, the necessary particles to rebuild the delicate gray matter contained in these parts, therefore a man continuously fed on Grape-Nuts is absolutely certain of a good condition of the nervous system, which is really the controller of the entire body.

One of our village blacksmith and a young doctor from here made a wage as to who could shoot the largest number of crows in a limit of time. The Dr. accidently shot two stupid old crows and by this time the blacksmith had none. However, time was not up, so he ran down the hill fired both barrels, picked up two dead crows he had shot the day before and returned to the Dr. a tie—Mean trick.

Sir,—I see the Times' Letter Box answers all sorts of questions, and I make bold to write you. What I want to know is, how are the war pictures, which are displayed to the windows of the bookstore made? I had an argument with a local photographer in regard to it. He said they were taken by cameras on the battle field. Yours &c.

ENQUIRER.

Reply—We don't think much camera work is done on the battle field. Some sketching is done, but most of the pictures are imaginary. The demand for photographs of the Boer war scenes for publication has so far outrun the supply that ingenious Frenchmen have devised a scheme by which any style of war pictures may be made to order on short notice. The French photographers have secured some old horses, a few guns, and a score or more of supers who are photographed as Boers may be distinguished by their long whickers, and the Englishmen may be known at a glance by their uniforms. Near Paris imitation breastworks have been constructed and these are stormed several times a day by the supers whiel the camera man takes their picture. When a general officer is wounded the scene is produced by the aid of an old horse and a super who is photographed in the act of falling out of the saddle. Such little odds and ends of war as photographs of snipers, pickets, stretcher bearers, &c., are easily counterfeited before the camera, and the results are just as good for the purposes of the papers which buy them as would be photographs from the battlefield. There is one genuine picture of a ford somewhere in South Africa which has done service every time a river has been crossed. It is a peaceful looking picture with a big tree at the left in the foreground, a shallow river behind it, and ahlf a dozen cows or sheep wading to the further shore. Whenever any division of the English Army has crossed a river anywhere this picture has been trotted out to illustrate the exact place of crossing. If the English forces keep on manoeuvreing as they have for the past two months they may cross this particular river at this very ford. Along with the mass of counterfeit pictures which are sold in this country are many genuine ones. None of the genuine photographs up to date, however, have been half so dramatic as the counterfeits.—Ed Times.

FATE OF LEGATIONS STILL A MYSTERY.

Chinese Government Becomes Alarmed at Hostile Preparations.

COMBINED FORCES ARE PROCEEDING TO PEKIN.

The Boxers Are Well Equipped and Have Machine and Quick Firing Guns.—Russia's Finances.—A Report That Col. Girouard Will be Knighted on Dominion Day.

London, June 28. Admiral Bruce, in command of the British forces at Taku reports to the Admiralty the following casualties.—At Taku, June 24, one seaman wounded. At Tien Tsin, up to the forenoon of June 23, four seamen killed, and Lieuts. Sterling, Powell and Wright, Commander Beatty and 44 midshipmen and seamen wounded.

London, June 27, 4.10 a.m. The casualties of the international forces attack Tien Tsin were the following—Americans, killed 3, wounded 2; British, killed 2, wounded 1; Germans, killed 15, wounded 27; Russians, killed 10, wounded 37.

The gunfire of the American and British is described as beautiful. After the relieving force pushed on to relieve Admiral Seymour. Chinese regulars under General Nich, says a despatch from Shanghai, again attacked Tien Tsin, and bombarded the foreign settlements with a terrible fire. Col. Dereware, British, commanded the column that relieved Admiral Seymour. Marines participated in the achievement. The Admiral was found intrenched, and surrounded by the immense masses of Chinese, who were driven off by the relieving column after a brisk fight. His men had made a brilliant resistance, never failing in courage for 15 days of continuous fighting. During ten days the men were on quarter rations. They started with provisions for ten days, and they could have held out a day or two longer. The column was a few miles beyond Lofa, deeming it hopeless to attempt to break through the horde.

Admiral Seymour essayed a night toward Tien Tsin, but he came into collision with a strong force of Chinese arriving from the northwest, and could neither advance nor retreat; there was nothing to do but to entrench and to stand siege, he then attempted heliographic communication. Seymour now caught several Chinese, who said the Legations had been burned and the ministers killed. Others said that the Ministers had been imprisoned. The Chinese displayed fanatical courage in the attack.

Four thousand Russians left for Tien Tsin four days after Admiral Seymour, but they never got in touch with him. Railway communication between Taku and Tien Tsin has been resumed and the troops have been advancing towards Pekin. Fighting was in progress on Wednesday in the Vicinity Tse Chulin. Large preparations are being made to support and reinforce the Pekin relieving column. Twenty thousand troops of all arms, largely Japanese, have now been landed. The fate of the members of the legations is still a mystery. If they are alive and unharmed at Pekin the Chinese Government deserves some credit, Shanghai correspondents think for restoring the fanatical mob. The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, wiring at 9.05 p.m. yesterday says—"It is reported on good Chinese authority that the Government, alarmed by foreign military preparations has issued an edict ordering preemptorily suppression of Boers, and announcing a decision to protect the Legations at all hazards. However this may be, the British Consulate at Shanghai received definite information.

The Daily Express correspondent says that while solemnly promising complete abstention from warlike preparations, the Chinese are mounting several new six inch guns at Wo Sung forts. Three British war ships have sailed from Hong Kong to reinforce the allied squadron Shanghai. The southern provinces are sending troops towards Pekin. The exodus of Chinese from Shanghai continues at the rate of from 10,000 to 15,000 a day. Russian popularity has been injured the fighting.

An anti-Russian rising in the Liun Tong Peninsula is predicted. According to the Shanghai correspondent of the Times advices from Shan Tung say that Governor Yung Shink Kai maintains cordial relations with foreigners and has sent numerous couriers to Pekin but none of them have returned.

An important decree published in Shanghai Thursday, says a correspondent of the Daily Express, asserts that the imperial palace in Pekin was burned on June 16th and that the attack on the palace was made by revolting Chinese troops.

EXPEDITION RETURING.

Seymour's International Forces Returning to Tien Tsin.

Che Foo, June 23, via Shanghai.—Noon—Admiral Seymour's expedition has been relieved, having failed to connect at Pekin. There is no news from Pekin. The Russian Colonel Schtelle, commanding the combined forces of ten thousand men, is supposed to be proceeding to Pekin. Admiral Seymour's expedition is returning to Tien Tsin. His force has suffered greatly. It is estimated that from 40,000 to 60,000 Chinese troops are now before Pekin. Boxers from all sections are swarming there.

RELIEVED ON MONDAY NIGHT.

St. Petersburg, June 28.— Minister of War has received the following despatch from Admiral Alexejeff—

"Port Arthur, June 27.—During the night of June 26 a detachment of four companies of Russians, Colonel Schivinsky commanding, and the same number of foreigners relieved Admiral Seymoure and brought 200 of his wounded to Tien Tsin."

Berlin, June 28.—The commander of the German squadron at Taku telegraphs, under date of June 26, as follows—

"The foreign Ministers are with the landing force."

According to reports of Christians, it is added, fighting continued at Tien Tsin on June 25, the fortified arsenal outside the town being still in possession of the town being still in possession of the Chinese.

SITUATION IN CHINA.

Sixty Thousand International Troops Will be Landed in a Month.

London, June 28.—With the rescue of Admiral Seymour's relief column and the bringing off of the foreign Legations in Pekin only a preliminary stage of the Chinese difficulty has been overcome. Having freed their representatives and many of their subjects from fear of violent death at the hands of the Chinese mob, the powers must now begin in earnest their real task in China—the suppression of the Boxers and the restoration of order. The move of the Chinese Government in handing over the members of the Legations to Admiral Seymour when he was still far distant from their capital was rather a clever one. With the foreigners in eminent danger at Pekin the allied powers of Europe had a strong pretext for marching upon Pekin, which, one occupied, the Chinese doubtless feared would not be purged of the foreign devils for some time to come. The foreigners having been removed from Pekin, there is now no cause for such a march and occupation, though it is likely one will be found before many days pass. It must not be forgotten that the reason for the presence of the powers in China is their determination to do that which the Chinese Government has been unable to do. The sixty thousand men who will, it is said, be landed in China within a month, are to be directed against the Boxers, either with or without the consent of the Government. If the Government shows willingness to receive outside aid, the war which is bound to follow may be only between the revolutionists and the soldiers of Europe, aided by the Chinese Imperial troops. But, should the Empress Dowager show her hatred of intervention to run away with her astuteness and object to interference in her affairs by outsiders it is possible that the powers may wage a great war against both the Government of China and the Boxers. The genius of the Dowager may quite easily see prospects of increasing her own prestige by temporizing with the Boxers and uniting China against the rest of the world, in which case a veritable Armageddon may take place, for their is immense latent power in the Mongolian race, which only needs the requisite stimulus to be brought into play. The statement that Russia is mobilizing all her troops, coupled with the fact that Japan is pouring men into China as rapidly as possible, indicates more than ever the approaching collision between those two powers, whose hostility towards each other is being strengthened by every fresh development in the far East.

BOXERS WELL EQUIPPED.

German General Says They Have Quick-Firing Guns.

Vancouver, B.C., June 28. — General Stahl, of the Imperial German army, arrived here yesterday from China, where he has been investigating conditions in the Orient. He says—Arms have been pouring into the country for several years, and now the insurgent have a well-equipped force of 10,000, with machine and quick-firing guns and other modern equipments. I think it will be a long time before the present disturbances are at an end. There is the fire of rebellion in the country from one end of it to the other. Then the difficulty may be complicated by the interference of a row between Russia and Japan, in which Japan will come out second best."

TWELVE THOUSAND ASHORE.

Army of Some Size has Been Already Landed in China.

Washington, June 28.—The following cablegram was received this morning the Navy Department from Admiral Kempff—

"Che Foo, June 28.—Secretary Navy, Washington—About 12,000 foreign troops now ashore. Soldiers ordeerd should report Taku instead of Che Foo. Substituted Nashville for Yorktown at Che Foo. Yorktown used as despatch boat, being more suitable. (Signed) Kempff."

RUSSIA IN BAD CONDITION.

Her Financial Difficulties Accentuated by Eastern Affairs.

London, June 28.—A despatch from Moscow to the Westminster Gazetet says—

"The Boxer troubles and the death of Count Muravieff have greatly accentuated the difficulties of the financial situation in Russia, which is in such a critical state as to arouse the gravest anxiety. The black list of good firms failing lengthens, and the sense of insecurity and fear that something worse is to come has caused vast sums to be temporarily withdrawn from the market. In Moscow alone within two months, it is stated on good authority 820,000,000 roubles, most of which was previously in currency, have been lodged in the Imperial Bankk, without interest for safety."

AN ELEPHANT ON HER HANDS.

Great Britain Has Now Three Wars to Wage.

London, June 28.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who was the guest of the Lord Mayor, Mr. A. J. Newton, and the bankers and merchants of the city, at the Mansion house last eveing, speaking of the difficulties facing a Chancellor who found three wars, in South Africa, China and Ashanti, on his hands at the same time, said—

"It is difficult to know what are the scope and nature of the work before us in China. We cannot yet tell what were the precise immediate reason for this furious outbreak. We do not know how far it extends, or will extend, nor can we tell what are the relations of the Chinese Government with those who at any rate in the first instance appeared to be rebels against the authorities.

"It is easy to see, however, that the first duty before the powers, among whom I am glad to recognize the United States and Japan, is to rescue and defend their Legations and subjects and to exact reparation for injury to life and property, as well as to see that such things do not occur again.

"Since the war between China and Japan began it has been fashionable to regard China as a plum cake to be divided among the powers, provided the powers do not quarrel among themselves. I doubt whether anyone among us would advance that view; and it has never been the view of Her Majesty's present Government, which has always desired that there should be a stable Government in China. At the present time, I believe, this view is held by all the powers.

A 'PLUCKY CANADIAN.

Jumped From His Horse and Killed Two Boers When Hard Pressed by Superior Force—Mounted. Rifles Suffer.

John A. Ewan cables the Globe from Kroonstad—

"The Canadian Rifles are scattered along the railways in the northern section of Orange River Colony, where Gen. De Wet is causing some trouble. A Cossack post of D Squadron was attacked on June 22nd by a superior number, at a point four miles from their camp at Hornig Spruit. The Canadians took to their horses, but suffered severely. Privates T. E. Patterson, of Mac-Leod; J. F. Morden, Pincher Creek; and Kerr were killed; Lieut. W. M. Inglis, late Berkshire Regiment; Pte. T. R. Miles, Pincher Creek; and Pte. A. Aspinall, N. W. M. P., were wounded. Privates Bell and C. P. Ermatinger, N.W.M.P., were made prisoners.

"The Boers pursued the party to within rifle shot of the camp, when Private Edward F. Waldy, Calgary, not caring to be shot or captured without making a good fight for it, jumped from his horse and killed two Boers. Another was shot from the camp. Their friends dared not attempt to remove the bodies, and the Canadians buried them."

There are two Kerrs in the Canadian Mounted Rifles, Private S. and Private R. J., of Moosomin and Pincher Creek, respectively; Mr. Ewan does not give the initials of the one who was killed. There are two Bells, Pte. W. and Private C., of Calgary and Maple Creek, respectively, Private Ermatinger is a son of Judge Ermatinger of St. Thomas. "Cossack Post" is the name given to an outpost of cavalry or mounted infantry.

WILL HE BE KNIGHTED?

Col. Girouard May be Honoured on Dominion Day.

Ottawa, June 28.—Rumor is current that there will be some Dominion Day honours to Canadian soldiers and that Col Girouard will be made a K.C.M.G. No other names are mentioned and confirmation is impossible.

Lord Minto has written the Militia Department asking further particulars concerning age, whether married or single, etc., of the twenty or thirty candidates for commissions in the Niger Constabultary offered to Canadian officers. The information is required for the War Office.

NEWS FROM SOUTH AFRICA

The Boer Position at Zand River a Second Paardesburg—Weary Chasing After the Ever "Treking" Boers—Canadians Again Bear the Brunt of the Engagement,

The following letter from Private Joe Matthews, 1st Contingent, received by his father, Mr. Geo. Matthews, will be read with pleasure;

Near Kroonstadt, May 13, 1900.

Dear Mother,—Well, here we are, just just a couple of miles from Kroonstadt, and the Boers still running. As I wrote you a week ago to-day at Winburg, we were to push right on to this place, where it was expected the enemy would stand.

We left Winburg that night and marched eight miles, where to the surprise of all, we rested two days. On Wednesday, the 9th, we marched to the Zand River, where the enemy had a good position, and next day we drove them out. We got up at four and marched at daylight, our regiment taking up a position on the extreme right to prevent a flanking movement by the enemy. About seven o'clock the enemy being in the river bed almost the same as at Paardeburg. The General said afterwards that he put us there thinking we would have a snap, but we found ourselves opposed to use of the enemy, who as we learned afterwards, were placed there to try and flank us. "B" company and ourselves formed the firing line, and as some of the Boers were using black powder they gave their position right away and we peppered them for all we were worth.

About ten they began to think discretion the better part of valor and sneaked away in parties of ten and twenty; as the river was thickly covered with trees; they could do this quite easily, although we saw some of them and "soaked" them. Once a party of about 200 made a break at once, and our fellows were so excited that they kneeled right up to get a better shot. We but lost two men killed and three wounded in "B" company; these were the only casualties our regiment suffered. Our company fortunately escaped without a man being hit, although we were in the firing line all the time, and their fire came very close, one man having half the sole taking off his boot by a bullet.

By 11 or 1 o'clock the last of the enemy had retired, so we formed up and had an hour's rest and then marched back to the ford, crossed the river and camped. None of the other regiments in our brigade had any men hit, so the Canadians got quite the most of the fire. Our artillery did some magnificent work, driving the enemy from the hills back of the river in double quick order. Our five inch R. A. guns are regular dandies, and although the Boers have some big guns they can't stand the fire of our gunners.

I saw more Boers and fired more shots in this fight than in any other fight we have had—just think, I and my shoulder is still sore; after about 80 shots my rifle was so hot I could not touch the metal and could hardly hold it by the stock, and for the remainder of the firing it pounded my shoulder into a jelly almost.

On Friday and yesterday we marched about forty miles across a plain, and got here about eight o'clock last night. We were very tired and are having a rest to-day. Lord Roberts' column got here a little ahead of us, and we are camped all around the town. The Boers are still "treking" and I suppose we will have to follow them right up to Pretoria, which means many a weary day's marching. We now think they will fight at the Vaal River, but we have been expecting them to make a stand all along and so far on this advance they haven't put up a fight worth speaking about.

We are on the Short Rations.

again, and have to exist by buying tinned beef from the transport niggers. This morning we got no breakfast, as our quartermaster had allowed his store of groceries to run out completely. Fortunately one of our sergeants had enough tea to make a couple of pots and some of the men had a little tea or coffee, so we did not go without altogether.

I don't know how long we will stay here. If we are here to-morrow I will write to some of the rest, but to-day I am mess orderly and have a good deal of work to do. We have had no mail since we left Bloemfontein three weeks ago yesterday. Our draft reached us at Winburg just in time to come with us on the march to Kroonstadt. A number of them dropped out by the wayside, and Only Eighty-six Finished.

Monday, May 14th — We are still here, but expect to move forward to-morrow. Lord Roberts inspected us this morning, and from some words we caught while he was talking to Col. Buchan that is what we infer. I hope we won't have to march far before getting new boots and clothing; my boots are "gone," and my jacket is in threads. There is an issue of clothing at Bloemfontein for us, but we left before receiving it. Will have to close now to post this. We only get about five minutes notice when the mail is to be collected.

Am in perfect health — barring a boil on the back of my neck, the first I ever had. We all think the war will soon be over now. Love to all—Your affectionate son,

JOE.

BOERS DISCOMFITED IN TWO PLACES.

Boer Laager Burned, the British Losses, Three Killed and Ten Wounded.

DEWET TRYING TO JOIN FORCFS WITH BOTHA.

Sensation in England Caused by the Exposures Regarding the Management of the Hospitals in South Africa.—Princess Christian Calls for Volunteer Nurses.

London, June 29, 2.30 a.m. Lord Roberts has sent bulletins of two small fights, occurring on June 26 and June 27, in both of which the Boers were discomfited. In a despatch from Pretoria dated yesterday he says,—"A small force of mounted troops, with two guns, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Dreiper, was attacked by the enemy on the morning of June 26, seven miles north of Senekal. They beat off the enemy and burned their laager. Our casualties were three killed and ten wounded. Hunter temporarily commanding.

Ian Hamilton's brigade made one march yesterday from Heidelberg toward Frankfort without meeting any opposition. The enemy attacked our Roodeval Spruit post on the railway yesterday but were easily beaten off by a detachment of the Derbyshire Light Infantry. The West Australians mounted a 15-pounder on an armored train. Baden Powell reports the capture of an influencial Boer named Ray, who was endeavoring to raise a commando in the Rustenburg district. A patrol brought in over a hundred rifles. More than 4,000 rifles and 1,000 inferior pieces have been taken during the last few days. He states that 30 Boers have arrived at Rustenburg, going to their homes from Delarey's commando. They would have left before if they had seen the proclamation, which was carefully concealed by the Boer authorities.

Lord Roberts says Wednesday, June 27 was a record market day in Pretoria, the Boer farmers selling produce. Parties of Boers still hang on General Buller's flank. Mr. F. R. Burnham, the American scout, is invalided.

London, June 29.

The War Office has issued correspondence with Lord Roberts regarding the charges of Mr Burdett-Coutts. On June 4th his attention was called in brief telegrams to the allegations and also to other complaints of a general break-down in the hospital system. Two days later he replied in part as follows,—"The principal officer reported that the arrangements at Kroonstad were in all respects in good order and Lord Methuen said they were thoroughly satisfactory.

DEWET'S TACTICS.

The General is Evidently Attempting to Force His Way to Botha.

London, June 28.—An interesting development of the situation in South Africa is the cutting of the telegraph wires in the rear of General Buller on Sunday last, which indicates that the Boers have not yet fled from the border of Natal, but are lying in wait to take advantage of any opportunity for a raid upon Buller's communications Coupled with this report comes a significant statement that General Dewet with 3,000 men is moving in a north-easterly direction through the Orange River Colony, following a line of march which, if continued, will bring him to the Vaal at a point not far from General Buller's position at Standerton. It is quite probable that Dewet, finding it impossible to avoid being surrounded by the strong British columns operating south of the Vaal, is bent upon breaking through the line formed by Buller and Hamilton, with his object of joining his forces to those of Botha, who is showing activity northeast of Pretoria. The cutting of the telegraph line is quite in consonance with any such scheme, as it would deprive Buller of the ability to communicate quickly by night with outposts to the south, so that the enemy, moving upon a heavily guarded portion of the cordon stretching from Natal to Standerton, might effect their escape before reinforcements could be summoned. That some such attempt is afoot is apparent and the result will quickly be known.

SENSATION IN ENGLAND.

Exposures as to Military Hospitals Excite the Nation.

London, June 28.—The exposures regarding the hospitals in South Africa have made a great sensation in England. They began with three columns of restrained language in The Times yesterday from Mr. W. A. Burdett-Coutts, Conservative member for Westminster. His discourses have been widely reproduced, and they were supplemented this morning with depository testimony and interviews from survivors and army medical men. The Archbishop of Cape Town, in an address before the Society of Good Hope, in the Cape Government House Monday, expressed great satisfaction at the way in which the sick and wounded were treated. He declared that the warm clothing that was absolutely necessary, was freely offered, but was rarely, if ever, distributed by the army doctors; that the sick slept on the bare ground, and that even in Cape Town the way in which the hospitals were mismanaged made one's blood boil. Mrs. Hanbury-Williams, wife of Major Hanbury-Williams, Sir Alfred Milner's military secretary, told the meeting that if the visiting ladies had reported the mismanagement, the doors would have been shut in their faces. A news agency despatch from Cape Town says,—"Certain revelations point to malfeasance in connection with the supplies of comforts for the sick and wounded."

The Daily Express refers to the "springless, out-of-date ambulances" of the British, and contends that the Boer ambulances are notoriously superior. Princess Christian publicly asks for volunteer nurses.

The Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says that Lord Roberts will reply fully to the charges of Mr. Burdett-Coutts. Mr. Frederick Treves, consulting surgeon to the London hospital, who was recently at the front, says the charges come to him as an absolute shock, and are quite incredible. He praises the medical department.

RUSSIA MOBILIZES HER MEN.

Secret Orders Issued to Get the Army Ready for Service.

Berlin, June 28.—The Vorwaerts says "From an absolutely reliable source we hear the Russian War Ministry has sent to all the military and civil authorities in Russia telegraphic secret orders to prepare everything for mobilization. The orders bear the date of June 18 and 19."

RAIN FELL AGAIN.

And Manitoba Crops are Benefitted—The Railway Question.

Winnipeg, Man., June 28.—Rain fell at many points last night and this morning, improving the crop outlook somewhat.

Manitoba is again running short of cash, and will raise another loan.

KHEDIVE AT WINDSOR.

State Visit to the Queen—His Highness Warmly Greeted.

London, June 28.—4.52 p.m.—The Khedive of Egypt paid a State visit to Queen Victoria at Windsor Castle this afternoon. Accompanied by the Duke of York and the Turkish Ambassador, Anthopulo Pasha and staff, he drove in State carriages, escorted by Household cavalry, to the Paddington railroad station, whence he took a train for Windsor. The Duke of Connaught there joined, and accompanied his Highness to the castle. The procession at Windsor was escorted by Life Guards, and a detachment of Grenadiers formed a guard of honor in the quadrange of the castle. The Queen received the Khedive at the principal entrance.

There were crowds everywhere, and a warm greeting was given to the royal visitor.

DAN RICE'S WIDOW DEAD.

Wife of the Veteran Showman Laid a Rest at Long Branch.

Long Branch, June 28.—The funeral of Mrs. Charles Warner, first wife of the late veteran circus clown, Colonel Dan Rice, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. K. A. Wurzbach, of this place, on Friday, was held to-day, and the remains were interred in Long Branch Cemetery.

Mrs. Warner was 78 years of age and married Col. Rice in 1842. She was well-known throughout Canada and had the distinction of being the first woman to personally own and manage a travelling circus in the United States.

Awarded the Contract.

Mr. B. Conroy received notice from the Department of Railways and Canals that his tender of $15,000 has been accepted, by the Department for the construction of glance booms and piers on the Peterborough-Lakefield Division of the Trent Valley Canal. Mr. Conroy states that he will begin work on the contract at once.

Broke Her Arm.

On Wednesday afternoon, Eleanor Morrow, youngest daughter of Mr. B. Morrow, of the Registry Office, had the misfortune to break her left arm between the wrist and elbow. It appears that she was hurrying to escape the downpour of rain, and while she was in the act of ascending the steps leading to her father's residence, she slipped and fell heavily on her arm, breaking it. The little sufferer is doing nicely.

A Pleasant Evening.

Two bus loads and several rigs filled with members of the Charlotte St. Choir drove out to Elmvale Town Hall Wednesday evening and assisted at an entertainment given in aid of the Union Sunday School, so ably conducted by Miss Lillico, Miss White and Rev. Mr. Potter who kindly assisted and a splendid programme was given. One of the features of the evening was the abundance of strawberries and cream, fresh home-made bread and butter, and cake, which were much appreciated by every one present.

Services Appreciated.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. W. A. Graham, Water street, on Tuesday, when the directors of the North Smith Dairy Co. met to present Mr. Graham with a handsome silver cake dish as a slight token of their appreciation of his services during the fifteen years he has so ably filled the position of director on the Board.

ANOTHER SPARK OF WAR.

Since the peace conference at The Hague, there has been no time without a state of war in some part of the world. Our own little affair in the Philippines overlapped the outbreak in South Africa, and just as that fierce war seems approaching an end, attention is transferred to China. The active hostilities that have begun between the Chinese and the outside powers may not develop into a very serious war but the uncertainty of their ultimate consequences willl cause some international anxiety.

The reports are so unsatisfactory that it is hard too estimate the situation exactly. Evidently the Chinese Government has thrown off all pretense of respecting treaty rights and defending the foreign residents, and has offered resistence to the landing of forces from the fleet. This makes practically a state of war between China and the outside powers, and as the latter are bound to protect their own citizens in China, it is necessary for each to send at once a sufficient force to accomplish this against whatever opposition the Chinese can offer.

It probably will not require a very large army for this purpose, though much mischief may be done in the interval, and the fact that each of the leading powers is represented will prevent any one of them from assuming an exclusive authority. It will be necessary to occupy Pekin with force sufficient to establish order. This can be done without any complications. The difficulty will come when it is necessary to determine what to do next. As the Turkish Empire has been maintained long after it ought to have been destroyed, because it was impossible to agree on a division of the territory, so it will doubtless be necessary to maintain the Chinese Empire, for the sake of the so-called balance of power. But the opportunities for international friction are very great, and the principles of the peace conference are likely to be put to a test.

THAT EMERGENCY RATION.

The emergency ration investigation is proceeding satisfactorily. It has already demonstrated that Hon. Mr. Borden was blamable, and that he was not blamable, that Dr. Devlin's imported food is not good and that it is very nourishing, that Dr. Neilson did his duty and that he didn't, and lastly that the government took every precaution, and that they were culpably negligent. The only fellows concerned who haven't been heard from are the boys in South Africa, who are supposed to have had the stuff fed to them. As they have been doing nobly it is evident either that they had such cast iron constitutions that the emergency ration couldn't hurt them, or that the ration filled them so full of concentrated activity that they simply had to go at the break neck pace they adopted in Roberts' campaign in order to keep from bursting.

Until they boys are heard from the emergency ration committee seems to have learned everything there is to be learned about the matter in dispute.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There would be fewer labor troubles if there were more employers like J. R. Booth, one of the burned out Hull lumbermen. Mr. Booth, it is announced, has decided on a general increase of from 6 to 12 per cent. to his employes in lumber business. Mr. Booth considered the recent fire a reason for more pay. Nearly every employe of the concern living in Ottawa or Hull was burned out and Mr. Booth thought it was hard for the men to rebuild and live on the same wages. The increase started from Monday last and the men were informed of the fact yesterday. The increase will amount to about $17,000 more for the working men during the rest of the season.

WOKE UP SIXTY THOUSAND SOLDIERS.

The Fussy Major, Just Promoted, and His False Alarm.

"There never was any question as to the major's bravery," said the colonel at a dinner of veterans, "but he never got above the rank of major because he was overzealous. Too much zeal is quite as objectionable as too little and particularly in a volunteer regiment such as ours was. The major had been advanced to his major's commission from the ranks with speed, and he really felt that he could give Grant good advice on how the campaign should be directed. He was a military enthusiast, and no detail was too small for his attention. He staid awake nights to plan campaigns. During the fall of 1863 our regiment was brigaded with the regulars and our army lines extended some four miles. We had been pushing forward, and it was known that the Confederates were in force before us and that a big engagement was near. The troops had been hard pressed, and on the night when the major distinguished himself the army, except the pickets, was sleeping the sleep of the tired.

"Our pickets had been re-enforced and thrown far out in front to avoid a surprise. Our regiment was on the advanced line. The major had just received his commission, and as he awoke about 1 o'clock in the morning to think about it he wondered how he might show that he was worthy of his trust. Why not test his regiment by a false alarm? The more the major thought of this the better it appeared, and at 2 o'clock in the morning he tried it. He fired several shots from his revolver, started a cry to arms and then with his watch in his hand timed the sleepy men as they turned out half dressed and fell in by companies. The uproar was great, and it became greater. Drums rattled on either side of our regiment and far away in the distance. Regiment after regiment was formed, and orderlies began to dash up and down the lines looking for information for headquarters. The major had not noticed the tumult around him. He was too busy timing his own regiment and complimenting the companies which turned out promptly. I had been aroused from a sound sleep when an orderly came to my tent for information.

"'This looks like an attack in force, colonel,' he said.

"I rushed out to find half of the regiment formed and the major in full uniform beaming on the men.

"'What is the alarm, major?' I asked.

"'I was just testing the men, colonel.'

"'Is there no attack?'

"'No; just a false alarm which I got up for practice,' said the major.

"The major swore that he would prefer charges against me for the language which I used, but he never did. Message after message came to me from headquarters three miles away asking where the enemy was attacking and in what form. I got tired explaining that my major had been merely testing my men with a false alarm. From headquarters down to the smallest drummer boy every man in that army cursed the major. Nearly 60,000 tired men had been awakened in the middle of the night by his false alarm. His name became known all over the lines the next day. The major made no charges against me, and, fortunately for him, he got off with a severe calling down from headquarters. He fought bravely to the end of the war, but his chance for promotion had been lost by his zeal, which was great."—New York Sun.

Pretty Hot Stuff.

Colonel Bob Simmons manages to keep his eyes open by consuming a plentiful supply of birdseye peppers, which a superintendent of one of his numerous Louisiana plantations sends him weekly. Did you ever eat birdseye? It is a quarter inch in diameter, shaped like a double convex lens, with a black pupil and dark brown iris. The hottest sauce known to man is made of it.

The colonel delights in offering one to an acquaintance and watching furtively to see the tears come. He tried three on me. I bolted them and smiled, for there was no present heat. In an hour, after they had scorched the walls of my stomach and their fierce fire had crept up my esophagus to the roof of my month, I was crying as a baby. Quantities of milk but increased the torrification. The throat was a crematory. Water cold as ice scalded. My sufferings lasted a night, and I prayed that the colonel might never go to as hot a place as I was.—New York Press.

PARIS

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Daily at the Exposition

[From the New York Times March 16]

The New York Times will be published daily on the grounds of the Universal Exposition to be held at Paris.

The interest of the people of the United States in the Exposition, the very large attendance from this country already assured, and the cordial relations existing between the two Governments have seemed to us to justify this undertaking as a recognition by the American press of the world-wide influence and importance of the great French Fair to all interests of the United States; and we have sought to avail ourselves of this extraordinary opportunity for cultivating feelings of amity between the people of the two great republics.

The concession for the publication of an American newspaper on the grounds of the Exposition has been granted to THE TIMES by the French Commissioners. The paper will appear daily in its usual from—from eight to thirty-two pages—issued from a Goss four-deck, patented, straight-line newspaper printing press, capable of printing at a speed of fifty thousand newspapers per hour, printed on both sides, folded and counted. The press will be installed in the centre of the American to the Annex to the Building of Liberal Arts and Chemical Industries. The exhibit will give a complete demonstration of the manner of issuing an American newspaper, including the operation of a battery of typesetting machines, stereotyping, and the most approved modern American appliances, an exhibit which will be entirely novel to Europeans.

The Paris Exposition Edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES will be gratuitously distributed at the place of production by many thousands each day, and will besides be procurable at newspaper koisks all over Paris, and generally distributed throughout Europe.

THE NEW YORK TIMES will be the only newspaper of the world published on the Exposition grounds, and will endeavor to maintain in its international character the ideal it has sought to attain in America.

Although THE NEW YORK TIMES enjoys exclusively the privilege of publication on the grounds, it will offer to the newspapers of the country the opportunity to exhibit the merits and quality of their own publications and to set forth the commercial importance and attractions of their localities.

Look at the Facts.

Mrs. T. Dolan, of Madrid, Perkins Co., Neb., writes: "I was cured of painful periods by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and his 'Compound Extract of Smart-Weed.' I think Dr. Pierce's medicines the best in the world."

Mrs. Carrie B. Donner, of Dayton, Green Co., Wis., writes: "I can highly recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription — having taken it for nine months previous to confinement. I suffered scarcely any compared with what I had at other times."

"I suffered fifteen years with female weakness and nervousness," writes Mrs. Vincent Bohall, of Franklin, Johnson Co., Indiana. "One year ago I began taking your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I took six bottles of each and now I am well. I owe my life to Dr. Pierce."

Get Your Gun.

Telegrams were sent out this week by the Attorney-General's department, Toronto, to the police and managers of banks in the various towns of Western Ontario, notifying them that a gang of burglars and safe crackers was in that part of the province and that an attempt might be made to rob some of the monetary institutions. It is believed that three gangs are now at work in Canada, one of which coming recently from Chicago, is in western Ontario. The provincial detective force is working in conjunction with the Dominion police and the officials in many of the eastern Canadian and United States cities in an attempt to round up the burglars.

An Agricultural Horror.

In this instance the Man With the Hoe was not the man with the hoe at all, but the man with the sack of grain under his arm, by the same artist.

He was scattering the grain over the field with that grand, free motion, and elastic stride so familiar to us all, when his old slouch hat blew off.

He swore.

"Hee!" mockingly exclaimed one of the bystanders. "— sower with a bare head is as cross as a bear with a sore head."

The wind moaned in undisguised wretchedness, and a discouraged raven in the middle distance immediately croaked.

MOY KEY AS A BOY.

A Chinese Talks of His Childhood in the Old Country.

"When I was a boy," said Moy Kee, tea merchant, laundryman and interpreter, at 216 North Delaware street, "I went to school in my native village of Shin-King, eighty-seven miles from Pekin. I was 7 years old when I started to school and, of course, the teacher was a man. Now there are women teaching in China, Chinese women, but that is a new thing. We sat on stools with desks before us and studied aloud. At 10 years old I could write very well, and had to learn every word of a long lesson by heart. The teacher had a stick, and sometimes, but not often, he would punish a boy, either by striking him on the hand or on the seat of his trousers.

"There are no bad boys in China as there are here in this country. The boys are respectful and polite to all who are older than themselves, and while they have their plays and their fun they do not think it fun to hurt any one.

"You have seen boys place a package on the sidewalk and when a person stoops to pick it up you have seen that package (for there is a string tied to it, and a boy at the other end of the string) move away under a crack in the fence. That's an old trick in China.

"The boys here in America do not know what long school hours are. I went to school early in the morning, before the birds began to sing. After that we went to breakfast and then to dinner and in the evening to supper. Those were long, long days, the boys here would say, but we Chinese boys did not say anything about it. We just sat on our stools and sung out our lesson all at the same time as loud as we could.

"Vacation came along in the harvest time when the rice was gathered. Then we played at flying kites. We did not, as boys do here, fly kites any time. No, there was a season for it, and we flew them at no other times. The boys in China walk on stilts just as boys do here, and play at blindfold, hide and seek and leap frog, but all in a different way from here.

"We had great sport fighting beetles. We would find these in the fields and train them to fight and we would lay wagers on which would win just as you do here on prizefighters.

"No neighborhood in China can afford to have a bad boy in it. Suppose a Chinese New Year, when we are all shooting firecrackers, some one would shoot a revolver. There would be great trouble. Not only would the one who shot the revolver be punished, but his relatives and neighbors and the magistrate of the district would be punished or reprimanded, because in China such things must not happen. A stranger could walk through my village day or night with no one to hurt him. He would be safe all the time. It is not so in this country.

"We had great sport in shooting at sparrows with bow and arrow, and nobody ever shot at persons, as some boys do here with airguns. The boys in China laugh a great deal, and laugh very hard sometimes, but they have plenty of sport without hurting any one.

"When I was a boy 9 years old my mother died and my father gave me a stepmother. When I was 12 years old my uncle, a tea merchant in San Francisco, brought me to this country. Twenty-eight years ago (I am now 53 years old) I went back to China and got a wife. My father and my stepmother found a wife for me. I did not know her. I did not see her until we were married, but she is a good wife and came to America with me. She is the only Chinawoman in Indianapolis, and I think the only one in Indiana. I have been back to China eighteen times, but I am a naturalized American citizen, and vote at elections.

FRIGHTFUL ACT OF INSANE BOY

Drenches Sweetheart With Carbolic Acid and Then Commits Suicide.

New York, June 26.—Harry Roscoe Conkling Dorach, 18 years of age, deranged by overstudy, entered the parlor of Miss Katie Saunders, a young woman of his own age, whom he had known for years, threw carbolic acid in her face, disfiguring her for life, drank some of the stuff himself and ran through the streets, to die a few moments later on the sofa of a physician. The young woman will recover.

Fortunately, the acid did not reach her eyes. She was a pretty girl of English parentage. Her hair is auburn, her eyes blue, and her friends declare her complexion was of unusual radiance. The wretched youth had marked one side of her face for all time.

Neighbors hint that the young woman, popular on account of her personal charms and many excellent qualities, excited the young man's jealousy.

HAULS DOWN A BRITISH FLAG.

Sympathizer in Omaha Compelled to Lower the colors of England.

Omaha, Neb., June 27.—For a brief space of time to-day a British flag floated from off the front porch of a residence on St. Mary's avenue. The woman who lives there claims England as the land of her nativity and she displayed the flag to show how good she was feeling over the British success in South Africa.

It had not been out long before a number of boys who lived in the neighborhood spied it. A council of war was immediately held and it was unanimously voted that the flag should come down. They marched up to the residence and told the woman of the house that one of two things must be done at once. The British flag must be taken down and either the boer flag or the stars and stripes raised or the boys would take it down themselves.

Their sympathies were with the Boers and they did not mince matters in telling it. The woman protested in vain. The boys had declared their ultimatum and the woman made the best of it and took down the flag. The boys formed in line and walked triumphantly down the street, throwing their caps in the air and cheering for the stars and stripes and the boers.

DESPERATE ACT OF A FARMER.

Kills His Daughter and Lover and Then Commits Suicide.

Bluefield.—Joseph Glean, farmer, living six miles north of this place, killed his daughter and her lover and then cut his own throat yesterday afternoon. Glean had forbidden Albert Marsh to call on his daughter. On returning home he found Marsh in the parlor with his daughter. He ordered Marsh to leave, and upon his refusal took up a shotgun and fired at him. Ellen Glean sprang in front of her lover and received the charge in her throat, dying instantly. The second shot killed Marsh. Glean then cut his own throat.

AVOIDS ARREST BY SUICIDE.

Rather Than Submit to the Disgrace Farmer Shoots Himself.

Portland, Ind.,—Constable George D. Allen of this city drove to the home of Frederick Smith, aged 50, living near Oak Grove, this afternoon to arrest Smith on a minor charge. After the warrant had been read Smith and the officer walked out to the latter's buggy and while Allen was unhitching the horse Smith said he would go back and get a heavier overcoat. He returned to the house and the report of a revolver was heard a few minutes later.

Smith had gone into a room and shot himself in the heart.

"Hunger is the Best Sauce."

Yet some people are never hungry. Whatever they eat has to be "forced down." There is, of course, something wrong with these people. By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a short time they are given an appetite and then they enjoy eating and food nourishes them. If you find your appetite failing, just try a bottle of Hood's. It is a true stomach tonic and every dose does good.

The best family cathartic is Hood's Pills.

SPIES HAVE A DIFFICULT TASK.

They Run Many Risks and are Never Known to Each Other.

One of the most difficult tasks of the British commanders in South Africa is to secure the services of trustworthy spies who can furnish reliable information of the situation and movements of the enemy. Out of every ten spies employed by the British officer commanding a war district he is fortunate if one gives him truthful information. It is a most important thing that spies should not be known to each other. Great care is taken by officers that each spy shall imagine that he is the only one who is employed. It is very necessary that all genuine spies should have about their person some means of proving themselves really to be what they represent. For this purpose a coin of a certain date, a bible of a certain edition, a testament with the ninth or twentieth leaf torn out are generally employed.

By this means a spy who was employed by an officer in a neutral state, making his way to the headquarters of the army in the field, could at once make himself known to the intelligence department there. In some instances it is considered that a password or sign should be employed, as it is less compromising.

CZAR AND SHAH.

A Russo-British clash in Persia should at least give us some musical Lalla Rookh war map names with which to offset the Boer tongue twisters.—St. Louis Republic.

It is quite possible that we are to have an interesting sequel to the peace rescript of the emperor of Russia and that the coming conflict between Russia and England is not far distant.—Chicago Record.

Both Russia and England have always frankly admitted that an Anglo-Russian war of supremacy in India is bound to come at some time. It is reasonable to suppose that it shall be precipitated by the government which sees a sudden advantage too great to be ignored.—St. Louis Republic.

The ardent solicitude for the amity of the shah is due to the mobilization of a Russian army on the Afghan frontier and the confessed intention to occupy Herat at an early day. Having explored all the routes to British India, the czar has decided to mark his baggage "via Persia."—Philadelphia Times.

RECENT INVENTIONS.

Breathing in rough water is made easy by a new life preserver, which has a vertical tube secured to the front of the air chamber, with a mouthpiece through which air is drawn from the top of the tube, which extends above the head.

To prevent the reins from catching under the horse's tail a new harness attachment is formed of a metal yoke secured to the back strap, with fingers extending on either side to carry the lines, a brace being set at right angles with the yoke to hold it vertical.

By the use of a Tennessee man's device horses can be checked and unchecked without leaving the carriage, a short strap being used to connect the reins over the back pad, with a second strap joining the first strap to the check rein, in order that a pull on the reins can guide the check over the hook.

TAKING THE REINS.

During the past winter 19 horses without records have sold for $43,375, or an average of $2,282 each.

Peter Truax, Major Douglas and Frank Blaisdell are going to equip a racing plant on Half Moon island, Eau Claire, Wis.

Mr. William C. Whitney's unnamed 2,000 guinea colt, by Miguel-Aurora, has been entered for the West Derby stakes (England) as a 3-year-old.

At the late Bonner sale five of the get of Ansel, 2:20, none of which had a record, sold for an average of $738, while the sire brought only $150.

The Morristown (N. J.) track, which Barney Demarest has leased, is the track where Ethan Allen and running mate defeated Dexter more than 30 years ago.

Horses at matinee races are not handicapped according to their records, and this season the club handicappers will take into consideration the weight of their owners.

Genius receives tribute in divers ways. Recently Mme. Rejane, the famous French actress, was presented with a handsome pair of driving mules by the king of Portugal.

There is a Baron Wilkes mare in "Doug" Thomas' stable that has been priced at $5,500. On a three-quarter mile track she stepped a half in 1:04 and a quarter in 31 seconds.

CHIMNEY FIRES.

Why Salt Is Commonly Used to Put Them Out.

In accounts of chimney fires it is common to read that the fire was extinguished by throwing salt down the chimney. Salt is used because there is liberated from it when it comes into contact with the fire a gas that within an inclosed space like a chimney is very effective in extinguishing fire. The primary purpose in throwing salt or anything else down a burning chimney is to dislodge the burning soot, chimney fires being caused by the ignition of the soot clinging to the inside of the chimney. Salt is used for this purpose not alone because of its peculiar effectiveness, but also because it is something available for the purpose that can commonly be found at hand in a house. It is thrown down the chimney in such a manner that it will rattle down the sides and by its weight knock down the soot and sparks clinging to the chimney's insides.

A bucket of sand has been put to the same use with good effect, and sometimes a scuttle of coal has been poured down the chimney, the coal bounding about from side to side as it dropped and so doing its work effectively. Sometimes a brick is taken from the chimney itself and, tied to a clothesline, is hauled up and down the chimney, with the same result. At the hearth below or at the bottom of the chimney wherever the sparks may fall there is stationed a man with a pail of water to put out whatever fire may drop. Water is not played on a chimney fire from a hose because it is not necessary, and the water would do more damage than the fire.

The damage caused by a fire in a chimney when it is confined there is nothing or next to nothing. Left alone, however, a chimney fire might work its way into a building and so prove destructive, and therefore slight as they may be in themselves or as they might be in their consequences chimney fires are always put out and commonly in the manner described.—Exchange.

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

Articles recovered while you wait

The other day a lady advertised for a lost article in The Times, and called the next morning before nine about it. While she was waiting the lost article was brought into the office and returned to the owner. It always pays to advertise in these columns. Everybody reads the Times.

Illicit Still Seized

Preventive Officer Floody, of the Inland Revenue Department, has made a seizure in Asphodel, about six miles from Norwood. He drove out from town this morning, having had information and made search for an illicit still. He was accompanied by County Constable Cochrane, and they made a seizure of a large plant in Asphodel. The illicit still was brought into Norwood and will be brought on to Peterborough, where the hearing of the case will take place.

St Joseph's Picnic

The annual Dominion Day picnic in connection with St. Joseph's Hospital will be held this year on the beautiful grounds of the Murray street Separate school. The attractions this year promise to be better than ever, and this fact, combined with the laudable object to which the receipts are devoted, viz., St. Joseph's Hospital, should be instrumental in drawing a big crowd on the second of July. Meals as usual will be served at noon and from five o'clock until seven in the evening and the various wards can be relied upon to furnish first class meals.

His Cordial Invitation.

The night before his execution a Georgia prisoner wrote the following letter of invitation to his best friend.

"Dear Jim—I send you five tickets to my hangin'. I want you to fetch all my family. Everything will be pleasant —weather permittin'. They've painted the scaffold my father's favorite color—which is bright red— like the dress of Mollie Spilkins wore when I took her to Zeke Hanford's party—an' I'm to swing in the middle of the green lawn, sprinkled with daisies. I'll ask the sheriff to provide seats for you and your'n. I want you to hear my speech, which, if I do say it myself, is as good a piece of work-paintin' as I ever done. So be sure an' come, Jim, an' bring all the family."

JUNE WEDDINGS.

Three Pretty Weddings Celebrated This Week.

A very pretty wedding was quietly celebrated on Wednesday last at the residence of Samuel Edwards, "Maple Lane" Dummer, when his third daughter, Eva Jean, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Crawford, of Medicine Hat, N.W.T.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of only a few of the most intimate friends by the Rev. Mr. Hyde, Presbyterian minister at Warsaw.

The bride was given away by her father and was attended by Miss Edith Garbutt, of Smith, and Miss Minnie Rawlings, of Sandon, B.C., while Mr. Ira Snelgrove, of Peterborough, acted in a like capacity for the groom.

The bride was charmingly attired in white organdie, trimmed with lace and insertion. After the ceremony had been performed and the usual congratulations and well wishes extended, the company sat down to an excellent dejeuner.

The presents to the bride were both numerous and expensive, the groom's present being a gold watch and chain.

The happy couple drove to Peterborough, where they took the 5.40 G.T.R. train on a wedding trip to Detroit, Sarnia and points west. On the completion of their tour they will leave for Medicine Hat, where they will take up their residence.

The bride, who was very popular, will be much missed. The Times extends its congratulations.

SANDERSON-PARNELL.

On Wednesday evening a very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. John Parnell, No. 7 Conger street, when his second daughter, Mayne, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Sanderson, son of Mr. Richard Sanderson, and grandson of the late Rev. John Sanderson, formerly pastor of George street Methodist church.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. J. Shorey. The bride was given away by her father, and was becomingly attired in a costume of white dimity, trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion, together with a fichu of white net. She carried in her hand a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Maud Parnell, of Bright, Ont., sister of the bride. She was charmingly attired in white organdie, with trimmings of Valenciennes insertion. She carried in her hand a bouquet of white roses.

The groom was assisted by Mr. Gilbert Scott of the Canadian General Electric Works.

After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dejeuner was served on the lawn under a marquee, which was partaken of by about forty intimate friends and relatives of the young couple.

The lawn was beautifully decorated with Chinese lanterns. A handsome arch was erected at the entrance to the lawn, and altogether the scene was a very pretty one.

The bride was the recipient of a beautiful array of presents, the gift of the groom being a beautiful gold bracelet.

The pattern department of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co., of which the groom is a trusted employee, presented him with a beautiful china dinner set.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson will reside on Downie street and their hosts of friends will join in wishing them many years of happy wedded life.

O'BRIEN—O'DETTE.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock in St. Peter's cathedral before about forty relatives and friends, when Miss Marie O'Dette, youngest daughter of Mr. Marcellee O'Dette, 141 George street, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. O'Brien, of town, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. O'Brien.

The bride was attired in white dimity muslin, trimmed with Valenciennes lace and insertion, and carried in her hand a bouquet of white roses. She was assisted by her cousin, Miss Lena Ritchie, of Hastings, who was becomingly attired in white organdie, trimmed with lace and watered ribbon. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was assisted by Mr. George Hayes.

After the ceremony the happy couple repaired to the residence of the bride's parents, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of by over forty guests.

The presents to the bride numbered forty-five.

Weekly Half Holidays.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The clerks in the various stores of Campbellford are anxious to have a half holiday once a week during the two hottest months of the year—July and August—and it would be a generous act on the part of their employers to grant them a rest in this way from duties that are very often monotonous and tiresome. Clerks generally have long hours and are shut up just when workmen in other departments of business and labor are enjoying a little season of liesure. The half holiday system is becoming popular, as it has been adopted in many places, and is sure to remain a permanent thing. I hope The Times will take this matter up.

ERECTION OF CHEMONG BRIDGE WILL BE NOT BE THIS YEAR

The Town are After the Dickson Co. for Broken Stone Loaned Them in 1898 and 1899—Reports of Committees—Communications.

The Town Council met in regular session last night, when there were present Mayor Kendry in the Chair, and Aldermen Denne, Clinkscale, Rogers, Oke Weir and Sawers.

The minutes of the two preceding meetings were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Mary E. Heffernan and R. B. McGill asking permission for the erection of a line fence between the blacksmith shop on Hunter street, and Miss Heffernan's residence adjoining thereto on the west, to a height of five feet.—Property Committee.

From Police Constables asking for holidays.—Granted as usual.

From John Coughlin asking for remission of dog tax.—Court of Revision.

From Driver John McFarlane asking for two weeks' holidays, beginning July 16th.—Fire, Water & Light Com.

From W. G. Morrow asking for remission of dog taxes.—Court of Revision.

From the ratepayers asking that Rubidge street be watered two blocks further south than is being done at present.—Board of Works.

From H. Phelan asking that the granolithic pavement to be constructed on Rubidge street, be put outside the tree line.—Refrred to Board of Works.

From Town Solicitor E. B. Edwards, as follows—In answer to your question as to who is responsible for injury done by the firing of canon on "Pretoria Night" I assume that the question really is whether or not the Town is answerable.

I do not understand that the Council directly or indirectly authorized or gave directions for the firing of the canon, and that being the case, there could be no responsibility on the part of the Town for any injury done.—Received.

From W. Henderson, Supt. Peterborough Water Works, as follows—Yours of the 6th instant duly laid before the Board, and am instructed to state that the Company are agreeable to remove hydrant complained of, providing cost of same is guaranteed them by the Town. This class of work entails much heavier expense than appears on the surface. In this case 45,000 gallons of water has to be displaced, ground excavated over 16-inch main and on sub-main to hydrant. Main then cut at two points for removal of hydrant T, and then, and renewed with new pipe, and then hydrant pipe also cut at two points. Hydrant has to be removed and old opening back-filled. For new position, ground has to be excavated to cut 16-inch main and insert T, entailing new section of pipe and additional sleeve hydrant branch excavated, hydrant set and new pipes for same Main recharged, requiring 45,000 gallons of water. Would rather set three new hydrants than make alterations to one old one.

From Town Solicitor Edwards saying that Judge Street had dismissed the Town's action against the Grand Trunk Railway Co., in the matter of the bridge over Smith street creek, with costs.—Legal Committee to report to Council.

Property Committee.

Ald. Clinkscale presented the following,—

Gentlemen,—Your Property, Market and Building Committees beg leave to report as follows,—

1.—Your Committee purchased from the Gurney Scale Company of Hamilton a 30,000 lbs. scale for the market for $225.00. The company delivers the scale complete, with cattle guard rail, and furnishes an expert to superintend setting it up. The scale is to be delivered and set up next week.

2.—We recommend that T. Williams be given an increase of $1.00 per month for cleaning the stock pens on the market from June 1st, 1900.

All of which is respectfully submitted. The report was adopted as read.

Board of Works.

Ald. Rogers presented the following—

Gentlemen,—Your Board of Works beg leave to report as follows,—

1.—That the Treasurer was instructed to accept from Dr. Greer $3.90 for material delivered to him from the streets.

2.—That the request of Mr. Bailey to purchase broken stone from the town was not granted, as the town was not in a position to furnish it to him.

3.—That the request of Mr. T. M. Hunter that the town put in a catch basin at the corner of Lock and Lansdowne streets was not granted, as the capacity of the sewer to take off surface water is limited, so much so that the town is not able to put in as many catch basins in the town as is desired, and owing to the slight grade of the sewer below the point named and no hydrants being near for flushing purposes it would not be advisable to grant the request.

4.—We recommend that the Orangemen be permitted to use the Central Park for the demonstration on July 12th.

5.—We recommend that the gravel purchased for the streets be paid for on the certificate of the Town Engineer.

6.—Also that an application from Mr. A. McPherson for a sidewalk on Patterson street be referred to the Town Engineer with power to act.

7.—Your Board instructed the Engineer to get the specifications and general conditions for the granolithic sidewalks printed at the office that would do the work cheapest.

8.—We recommend that the Peterborough Water Co. be instructed to move the hydrant on Smith street near Benson street 50 or 60 feet west at the expense of the town.

9.—Your Board instructed the Engineer to advertise for 50 cords of stone for road metal.

The report was adopted as read.

CHEMONG LAKE BRIDGE.

Ald. Oke reported that the Joint Committee of Town and County Councils decided that it was advisable to extend the time of commencement of the construction of Chemong bridge till July 1st 1901, the time for its completion till December 31st, 1901. He moved a resolution in this direction, which unanimously passed Council.

THAT BROKEN STONE.

At this juncture Ald. Sawers wanted to know when the town was going to have returned the stone borrowed by the Dickson Co. in 1898 and 1899. He understood the Company had used the stone in constructing their power house, and urged that immediate action be taken to secure reimbursement for the same.

Ald. Denne explained that at a Company was given verbal authority to use what stone they required in constructing the new bridge over London street raceway. This was understood to be the town's contribution towards the enlargement of the present structure over the former one.

The Mayor understood that the stone used in the bridge in question had been allowed the company in 1898.

Ald. Sawers remarked that the stone used by them in 1899 never went into the bridge, but into the Company's private property, and should be either returned or paid for.

Mayor Kendry remarked that a written report on the matter should be forthcoming.

Ald. Rogers suggested that the Board of Works be requested to give a memorandum of any transaction, verbal or otherwise.

Ald. Denne objected to personalities being indulged in, and took exception to his statement being in any way queried.

Ald. Oke moved, seconded by Ald. Sawers,—That the matter be left in the hands of the Board of Works to report to Council in writing on the matter.—Carried.

HE WANTS EQUAL RIGHTS.

Mr. Moore here addressed Council, asking that the Water Company be compelled to extend their mains to Benson street. Residents in the neighborhood he urged, suffered severely from lack of water supply, and he and his neighbors were only asking for equal rights.

On motion of Ald. Sawers, the matter was left in the hands of Fire, Water and Light Committee to report.—Carried.

Ald. Rogers here suggested that it would be well for citizens to understand that the Town has not control of the Water Works, only in so far as the By-law provides.

A MATTER OF INTEREST.

Ald. Danne moved that the Town Treasurer be authorized to issue a cheque for the interest on $5,333.74 owing to Messrs. Richard Hall and Chas. McGill, Trustees of the Nicholls estate.—Carried.

MARKET TOLLS REBATE.

Ald. Danne moved, seconded by Ald. Sawers,—That $50 be paid to Miss Lottie Green and $50 to Mrs. Goodfellow, on account of Market Tolls' rebate.—Carried.

TO SETTLE OUT OF COURT.

Ald. Rogers moved, seconded by Ald. Danne,—That the actions and claims of Mrs. Sherwood, Miss Corkery and Mr. Hammond Lee against the town for damages be referred to the Finance Committee with all the power of the Council to deal with thereby, a two-third vote of the Committee.—Carried.

THE RAILWAY CROSSING.

On motion of Ald. Rogers, the matter of protection of railway crossings on Charlotte and Simcoe streets were left in the hands of Mayor Kendry and the Town Solicitor, to take such action as they think necessary, and to appeal to the Privy Council if they think proper.—Carried.

Council then adjourned.

UNITED STATES BATTLESHIP OREGON ASHORE.

The Russian Vice-Admirals Will Take Command of the Allies in the North.

OFFICIAL DESPATCHES CANNOT BE BELIEVED.

The Viceroy Prevented from Going to Pekin and Throwing Oil on the Warlike Waters — Admiral Kemey en Route to Taku.

Shanghai, June 29.

It is officially announced that the Russian Vice-Admiral Alexiff will take command of the allied forces in the north.

Shanghai, June 29.

It is reported here that the United States battleship Oregon is ashore fifty miles north of Che Foo.

Washington, June 29.—The Navy Department this morning received the following cablegram from Admiral Kempff.—

"Che Foo, June 29.—Secretary of the Navy,—Pekin relief expedition now in Tien Tsin with 200 sick and wounded. Ministers and Pekin party not with them. No news from them.

(Signed) KEMPFF."

The Department also was advised this morning that Admiral Kemey, on the Brooklyn, has arrived at Hong Kong en route to Taku.

London, June 27.—Up to the present time a certain amount of credence has been given to official despatches regarding the crisis in China. This confidence has received a rude shock, and official despatches will hereafter be eyed askance even as wild rumors from Shanghai or Canton. Yesterday the commander of the German squadron at Taku telegraphed to his government that the foreign ministers were with Admiral Seymour's relieving column outside Tien Tsin, and consequently safe. This was confirmed by a second despatch from Li Hung Chang presented by the Chinese Minister at Washington to the American government. Now comes a third official despatch from Admiral Kempff at Taku which says that the Legations are not with Seymour and that nothing is known of them. This information again plunges the fate of the foreigners in the celestial capital into doubt and shows that the powers still have a pretext for instantly marching upon Pekin, which they will no doubt do so soon as a sufficient number of troops have been collected at Tien Tsin for so formidable an undertaking. In addition to the announcement contained in Admiral Kempff's despatch the most important news is that anarchy prevails in Canton to so great an extent that Li Hung Chang has been ordered to remain in his province so that his intervention, which was expected to calm the troubled waters at Pekin, will not be immediately available. The problem in the East is no nearer solution than it was a month ago, and there never was a problem regarding which there are so few guides tending towards enlightenment, for all China seems wrapped in an impenetrable cloud which grows, if possible, thicker as days go by.

YOUNG'S POINT POWER.

The Lakefield Cement Company has Secured this Water Fall.

The Lakefield Cement Company has purchased the Young's Point water power, and are now preparing to develop it. It was first proposed to secure power at the upper lock, on this side of Lakefield, but that could not be obtained on a satisfactory basis. The Dickson Company also offered to supply power in Lakefield, but that also fell through.

In a letter to the press, Mr. Kelbourne says that "Day by day, until the cement is dusting from the mills, I trust some blow will be struck to further the project so auspiciously begun."

The Times congratulates the people of Lakefield on securing so substantial an industry—one that will do more to advertise the place as a manufacturing town than anything else.

A Strong Odor.

The other day when a local clergyman and a divinity student were returning on their wheels from a fishing expedition, the latter came in contact with a skunk, which was trying to cross the road in front of them. It being quite dark, they did not see the animal with the strong smell until they were close to it. The result of the mixup was not altogether satisfactory to the divinity student, who has a suit of clothes on hand that he has no use for.

Horse Thieves.

The Chief of Police has received information of a couple of thefts in the vicinity. On Monday night a good top buggy was stolen from the village of Bobcaygeon. A stranger drove a horse and cart into the village and in a hotel yard exchanged the old cart for the other man's buggy. Last night a gray mare was stolen from Mr. Andrew Boyd, Cavan township, Ida post office. It is believed that it is the one party that lifted the buggy in one place and the horse in the other.

No Paper Monday.

On account of Monday being a public holiday, there will be no issue of the Times on that day. The paper will appear as usual on Tuesday.

TERRIBLE WAR THREATENED

North Africa the Scene of Coming Conflict — Much More Formidable Than the Rising Boxer — Nine Million Armed Followers of Mohammed Are Ready.

Paris, June 30—While the whole civilized world is watching with unabated interest the remarkable events now transpiring in China and prepares itself for a new stirring episode and perhaps of sanguinary encounters that may set the whole Orient aflame, in the very heart of Africa a little movement has started, curiously analogous to, but vastly more formidable than the Boxer movement in China. The Chief of the Senoussi Society declares that he is about to declare a holy war against England in order to drive them forever from the Nile Valley. The Senoussi Society numbers over 9,000,000 armed numbers, and the new Mahdi is able to put an army of 5,000,000 soldiers into the field. Guns and ammunition of the latest type are at his disposal, and the work of Kitchener may be undone at any moment. There is, however, but little reason to doubt that the matters are taking a serious turn, and as the following authentic account of the Society of the Senoussi and its aims will show it is not the English dominion in Egypt and the Soudan which is threatened with the new danger, but the Brench expansion in Central Africa.

A DESENDANT OF THE PROPHET

The Society of the Senoussi is one of the highest importance for the political future of Africa, as well as for the war that sooner or later will be waged between the Christain Powers and the Mohammedan world. This society was found in 1835 in the Oasis of Djerabub. Its founder was Mohammed Ben Ali el Senoussi, an Arab and direct descendant of the prophet, and a native of Algeria. In the early thirties he left his native land, breathing vengeance against the French invaders, and swearing for himself and his descendants eternal war against the infidels. For many years he preached and taught at Mecca and in Egypt, until in 1852 he settled down at Djerabub, surrounded by hundreds of pupils and adherents who had been attracted from every part of the Mohammedan world by the great reputation for piety and wisdom which the sage enjoyed. Here he founded the Society of the Senoussi, which has become the most influential and powerful Mohammedan secret society in the world. The aim of this society is to rid the Islam of all the latter admixtures and impurities, and restore it to the uncompromising simplicity of the time of the prophet. Every piece of territory where Islam had reigned supreme is to be reconqured under the dominion of Islam. The organization is an exceedingly strict one. Whatever else may have been the failings of the founder of this order, he was an organizer of the very first rank. All bretherns are bound to keep the strictest secrecy in all matters concerning the society. Unconditional obedience to the commands of the great Chief of the Society, as well as religious veneration of his person as the representative of the prophet, mutual assistance in case of need and the most devout are the Chief rules of the society.

The brethern do not wear distinguishing garments, but they can easily make themselves known to each other by means of secret signs. They have renounced the use of tobacco and of coffee, and as good Mohammedans they do not touch any alcoholic liquors. The spread of Mohammedan culture is another of the duites and aims— and millins of dollars are spent by them annually in building little mosques and school in distant and out-of-the-way villages, where they provide for elementary Mohammedan instruction through some zealous member of the fraternity. Agriculture and planting of palms and olive trees is greatly encouraged by them, and thus the Grand Chief has been enabled to spread his influence into every part of Mohammedan world. In Asia Minor and Turkey, in Persia and India, in Algeria and Egypt, the mysterious and almost unknown regions of Centeral Africa and in distant China, yea, even in Java and Ceylon, his influence is felt by every Mohammedan community. In an immeasurably brief time learns of anything that is worth learning, and he is kept au courant of all events of importance in the whole world. His orders are also transmitted in the shortest of time into the most distant reigions.

THE NEW GRAND CHIEF.

After the death of the founder of this society, which occurred in 1858, his youngest son, Sidi el Mahdi Mohammed ben Ali el Senoussi, became Grand Chief. He it is who has brought the society to its present formidable strength, and he is regarded by his followers as the real and genuine Mahdi-Messias, who will deliver the world of Islam from its present humiliating position. As soon as the proper time comes—in his own good time—he will aid Islam to regain its lost splendor. The story of his riches and of his power is familiar to every Mohammedan. Many a time a mere order issued by this powerful Chief had suffered to prevent a canguinary conflict between two Mohammedan potentates in distant parts of Africa. There is not least shadow of a doubt that when he sees fit to proclaim a holy war against the infidels the whole Mohammedan population between Egypt and Morocco, between Lake Tchad and the Mediterranean, will arise at his bidding. The Society of the Senoussi is a power which must be reckoned with by every state and country of the colonial aspirations in the Mohammedan Africa. Germany, with her visit Mohammedan population; France, with her Mohammedan colonies; England, with her Islamite dependencies, must reckon with this powerful Chief, whose influence cannot be overestimated. Like his father, Sidi el Mahdi is a man of exemplary piety and ascetic mode of life. His endeavors to promote peace between the various Mohammedan tribes of Africa, to further the interest in commerce, agriculture and industries of every kind have only served to strengthen his influence.

MENACE TO FRENCH COLONIES

Above all, he has inherited the indomitable courage of his father, his burning hatred of all things European and the sullen hostility to all endeavors to colonise the Mohammedan territory of Africa. He has no standing army beyond a few thousand camp followers. But his residence at Djerabub is one vast arsenal of modern weapons of destruction, sold him by European firms. All his adherents are bound by a solemn oath never to go unarmed, to practice the art of warfare whenever feasible, and to be ready to follow the chief's call. All possessions are to be sacrificed for the good of the cause. The Senoussi have singdled out the French as their most bitter enemies, and it is only a matter of months or weeks when they will oppose the advance of the French against the Tuaregs and toward the Lak Tchad. The French are not blind to this danger. One colonial Minister after another endeavored to conciliate the grim foe, but failed. Presents of money have been spurned with contempt. Offers of slaves have been rejected. Agents of French Government have been refused admission to the Grand Chief. The Sultan of Turkey met with better fortune. According to the rules of the Society of Senoussi the Sultan of Turkey is not the lawful head of the Mohammedan world. Only an Arab, and only a member of the tribie of the Kurashi and a descendant of the Prophet, is the rightful Commander of the Faithful. By dint of flattery and conciliatory endeavors the Sultan and the Mahdi are not at loggerheads.

HEADQUARTERS IN THE DESERT

In 1896 Sidi el Mahdi left Djerabub, where the mausoleum of the founder of the society had been built in midst of beautiful groves and plantations, and repaired to the Oasis of Kufra, in the Lybian Desert, about 12 days' journey from Djerabub. His principal pupils, teachers and adherents followed him thither, with the immense library of the society. When the Khalifa's power was broken he migrated into the territory of the Tibbu, Ben-Soliman and Mahamid Arabs—strict followers of the Senoussi. Here he stayed at a place named Goru, 12 days' journey southwest of Kufra. In the beginnin gof March he shifted his camp once more, having selected a site amid the inaccessible Tibbu Mountains for a new residence, whence he will rule the Society of the Senoussi without fear of foreign interderence.

But one day the twentieth century will hear of him. He will give the signal to a sanguinary war against the hated French. Algeria will tremble and rise in revolt against the rule of the "Moumous" (Monsieur). After this, thus hope the Senoussi, the Turks will be attacked and forced to acknowledge the supreme power of the Mahdi in things spiritual. The nearest future will witness unprecedented wars in the north of Africa. The Mohammedan world is arming for a final conflict, and Africa once more will prove the white man's grave. That finally Africa will be subjugated is undoubted, Africa will be subjugated is undoubted, but many and many a thousand of European soldiers will fall in the desert, amany and many a battle will be fought, before from Cape to Cairo and from Zanzibar to Monrovia the white man will rule supreme.

There is a strange curse upon every European power that strives for a piece of Africa. The Dutch and the English, as well as the French and the Italians, have lost some of their best sons in the mad scramble for the diamonds and gold, gum and slaves. The Belgian, a man of culture and refinement, turns into a brutal beast and a human hyena in Africa. The English with their love of freedom sacrifice thousands of their best sons to subjugate the two South African republics. And these in their turn, having driven the black men from their habitations, now pay the penalty by losing their own independance. The French will one day awaken to find themselves with one of the most unpleasant wars imaginable on their hands, with the whole of Algeria and Tunis in revolt, while the Italians have already withdrawn, defeated and disgraced by an army of black people.

KRUGER AFRAID TO MOVE!

The Artilleryman Who Frustrated the Attempt Killed by the Treacherous Boer, Who Narrowly Escaped Lynching.

London, June 29.—Outside of minor conflict in the Orange River Colony, showing continued Boer activity in the Senekal district, the telegrams from South Africa merely indicate preparations for, it is hoped, the final operations of the tediously prolonged war.

Cape Town reports that President Kruger is still at Machadodorp, "afraid to move for fear the bridges are undermined.

A Cape Town despatch reports an attempt by the Boers to blow up the artillery barracks and magazine at Pretoria. It is added that an artilleryman, who frustrated the attempt by withdrawing a lighted fuse, was killed by a Boer whom the soldiers afterwards attempted to lynch.

Sir Alfred Milner, the British High Commissioner, has notified the Government to pay the interest on the Free State six per cent. loan due July 1, on condition that there is no further liability either for capital or interest.

GEN METHUEN CAPTURED LIVESTOCK FROM BOER.

Several Successful Skirmishes--Revolution in South America.

PRESIDENT STEYN NOW AT BETHLEHEM.

Gen. De Wet and His Entire Commando are Now Almost Surrounded North of Senekal—A Second Paardesburg Seems to be Evident.

Kingston, Jamaica, June 29.

A private telegram reached here to-day from Columbia says the situation at Carthagena and Savanilla is very grave, that fighting is proceeding, and that foreign residents are leaving hurriedly.

London, June 29, 11.18 p.m.

The War Office has received the following from Lord Roberts—Pretoria, June 29.—"Paget reports from Lindley that he was engaged on June 26 with a body of the enemy, who were strongly reinforced during the day. A convoy of stores for the Lindley garrison was also attacked on June 26, but after a heavy rear guard action the convoy reached Lindley in safety. Our casualties were ten killed, and four officers and about fifty wounded. The fight reported yesterday was under Lieut.-Col. Grenfell, not Dreiper. Brabant came up during the engagement. Total casualties of the two columns, three killed and 73 wounded. On the previous day near Ficksburg, Boyes' brigade was in action with a body of the enemy. Our casualties were two officers killed, four men wounded and one man missing. Methuen found yesterday that the Boer laager near Vachkop and Spitskop had been hastily removed in the direction of Lindley. He followed the enemy 12 miles and captured 800 sheep and 500 head of cattle, which the enemy had seized in that neighborhood. Our casualties were four men wounded.

Hunter continued his march yesterday towards the Vaal River unopposed. A few farmers along the route have surrendered.

Spring, the terminus of the railway from Johannesburg due east, was attacked early yesterday morning. The Canadian regiment which garrisons the place beat off the enemy. No casualties are reported. Lieut. North, reported missing after the attack on the construction train, is a prisoner of the Boers.

London, June 29.

Gen. Buller has telegraphed to Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the Canadian High Commissioner, from Standerton, Transvaal, saying,—"Your fine regiment joined my force during the march here. I am glad to have them, it is like being with old friends. They are very useful.

NET TIGHTENING ON DE WET.

London, June 29.—The skirmishes reported from the Orange River Colony are clear indications that the meshes oft he net are tightening uncomfortably around General De Wet's commandos and that they are being gradually driven back by the concentric British advance which is now going on. The fight wages north of Senekal by Lieut.-Colonel Dreiper's force is an illustration of the processw hich is now going on, for the Boers whose laager was burned very evidently in the line of advance of a British column moving northward, and were driven northward without much difficulty. The attack on Roodeval Spruit was no doubt an attempt on the part of the Boers to create somewhat of a diversion with the object of interrupting the movement now in progress, but met with no result, as the railway is very strongly guarded. The line of troops surrounding the Boers must indeed be formidably strong, for several attempts of the enemy to break it have failed miserably. They have now no resource but to fall back northward, when Buller and Hamilton will repeat the lessons which ar enow being administered south of the Vaal, and before long a second Paardeberg, while De Wet in Cronje's place, may be heard of, when the war in the Orange River Colony will be practically closed. General Botha meanwhile clings to the flank of Lord Roberts at Pretoria, eluding any force which attempts to deal with him, knowing it is supposed, that Lord Roberts will not take serious steps against him until the Boers threatening the line of communications south of the Vaal have been disposed of.

The British authorities are deporting large numbers of Hollanders to Holland, to be dealt with by their own Government for not observing the state of neutrality declared by the Netherlands.

President Steyn is reported to be at Bethlehem consulting with General De Wet.

TO AID CANADIAN SOLDIERS.

War Office will Send Invalids Home from England.

Ottawa, June 29.—The Militia Department has completed arrangements by which the Canadian soldiers invalided from South Africa to England who are not capable of returning to the front will be sent home at once to Canada by the War Office. Those who are desirous of so doing may then return to their homes, and the others who are not yet recovered will be attached to the Royal Canadian Artillery at Quebec, and provided with hospital accommodation there, receiving pay, up to the time of their discharge.

Early Closing.

We are pleased to notice that the early closing movement is gaining ground among the suburban stores as well as in the business centre of the town. Some of the north end grocers are responding to the movement, for cards are seen in the window's of Edgcumbe's grocery, announcing that these stores will be closed at 7 p.m. each evening except Fridays and Saturdays and on days preceding a holiday. This arrangement is to hold, it is understood, during July and August.

DUKE TO WED.

YOUNG HEIR TO WESTMINISTER HAS MADE UP HIS MIND.

Is Said to Be Affianced to Miss Shelagh West, Who Was Bitterly Opposed by the Old Duke—Young Man is Worth Sixty Millions—Sarah Grand Says English Women Are Exceeding Bad Cooks—Advance in Price of Wheat.

London, June 29.— The young Duke of Westminster will, it is now reported, marry the girl of his choice upon his return from the war. His fiancee is Miss Shelagh, daughter of the Colonel and Mrs. Cornwallis West and a sister of the celebrated beauty, Princess Henry of Pless, and Lieutenant George Cornwallis West, who is soon to marry Lady Randolph Churchill.

Is Accomplished and Beautiful.

Miss West is quite as beautiful and accomplished as her sister, yet the late Duke of Westminster was opposed to his nephew marrying her. The young man persisted, however, and gossip has it that the old Duke fully intended to change his will and cut him off, but died before he did so. The youg Duke is not yet 25, and has a fortune estimated at nearly sixty millions

Says Wedding Day Is Not Set.

Lady Randolph Churchill asks the newspapers to deny that she is to be married tomorrow, and claims there is no fixed date yet set.

Says English Women Are Bad Cooks.

Sarah Grand expressed a few old-fashioned notions on the causes of the misery in English households yesterday before the Women's Institute, and explained how much misery which need not be caused by bad cooking.

English women had revolutionized the art of nursing in this country, but if they would only turn their attention to cooking a great many nurses would not be needed.

English Farmers Profit in Wheat.

English farmers are also profiting by the strength of the American wheat market. The price yesterday was 31 shillings a quarter or a trifle over 90 cents a bushel, an advance of three shillings a quarter in a week. Many big farmers still have stocks of unthreshed wheat, but most of the smaller ones sold out when the price was 26 shillings.

AMENDED FISHERY LAWS.

Important Changes in the Fishery Regulations.

In the consolidation of the Fishery Laws last season of the Legislature a few changes have been made, the most important one being that the sale, or the exportation of this maskinonge or speckled trout is prohibited for three years. Buying or selling ir therefor illegal, and is an offence subject to fine. Under this regulation our American friends cannot ship fish to the States, from time to time while they are here, but a special provision is made that when returning home, they can take with them the legal catch of two days, that is, eight maskinonge and twenty-four bass.

As stated above, the legal limit per day, is four maskinonge not less than 18 inches in length, and twelve bass, not less than 10 inches in length. Anything less than those lengths must be returned into the water with as little injure as possible, and those returned of course do not count. The law strictly interpeted is that the count applys to each man individually. Two men in a boat, one cannot catch 18, and the other six.

While the sale of fish is prohibited, there is nothing to prevent giving to another a portion of his catch, but there must not be any consideration therefor.

The object of the law is to preserve the fish for those who look upon the taking of them as "sport."

The regulations cannot be considered as unreasonable, and as with all such laws it lays with those most concerned to voluntarily and honorably observe them. If those interested wilfully ignoret he law, and deliberately kill the goose that lays the golden egg it is their own loss, and the general public are really not concerned.

FRANCE AND GERMANY

The change in French public sentiment toward the Germans is a significant feature of the times. When the Paris exposition of 1889 was held no German flag flew anywhere in Paris. The only attempt was that of a German hotelkeeper, who hoisted the black, white, and red emblem, amongst those of all other nations, but his place was attacked by a howling mob, which demanded that he haul it down. The German refused and yielded only to the persuasions of the Perfect of Police.

The German flag is now common enough in Paris, and it waves with those of other nations in the scheme of decoration of many buildings in the capital. Two or three years ago this would have been denounced as treason by L'Intransigeant and others of the boulevard press. Now they make no criticism, and, indeed, they make admiring comments on the excellence of the exhibits in the German section of the exposition. No hater of Germany is bold enough to suggest an attack on the German building, and its exhibits are among the most popular. When an American band played the "Wacht am Rhein" before the German Building the demonstration was one of cheers. No one hissed. Only a few months ago the first Wagnerian opera was played in Paris with fear and trembling. There were mutterings at the time, but the periodical press now gives evidence that Wagner just discovered by the Parisians, is the most popular composers with the French public. Agnes Sorma, the German actress, first performed in Paris less than a year ago, and her friends feared for her reception, but now German actors and actresses are playing to crowded houses. The French have just discovered the excellence of German things

Meanwhile the reviews give evidence of the changed temper of the people. The writers who once ridiculed and denounced Germany are now discussing the advantages of an understanding with the Kaiser. Such paper alliances are usually aimed against England, and in this may be found a possible reason for the new French fondness for Germany. The Germans are esteemed more because "Perfidious Albion" is hated more. More than one French writer has noted with approval the proposed increase of the German navy, and has speculated as to what the combined fleets would be able to accomplish against that of England. These writers sometimes say that Germany may give back Alsace, but usually they make no reference to any such condition, while a few have been bold enough to declare that Alsace is not the most important thing in the world.

No one outside of France believes that a Franco-German war against England is imminent. The growing friendliness between the two countries is, however, a pleasant sign. It should benefit both, for the Frenchman has those qualities which the German lacks and the German those which the Frenchman has not.

CHINESE EXCLUSIVENESS

It is a mistake to assume that the hostility of the Chinese to foreigners is due to mere stupidity. They are a people of very deeply rooted convictions, and this hostility is the result of reasoning, even though the reasoning is bad. The foreigners they know come among them either as missionaries or as merchants, and all their centuries-old habits of thought are opposed to both.

Like the agricultural peasantry of most countries, the Chinese regard the merchant and trader with suspicion or contempt. Naturally, an outsider who comes to trade is particularly an object of suspicion. They are also, as regards the ruling classes, a learned people, deeply imbued with the sufficiency of their own ethical system, which is based on the teachings of Confucius. The missionaries come to overthrow this, and all of the official class regard them as dangerous to society, as we might here regard the propagators of some new religious or social system.

The Chinese, who really enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness much more than we commonly imagine, have not sought to extend their intercourse with the outside world. It has been forced upon them, and every concession to foreigners has been wrung from a reluctant government. The resulting troubles with the foreign powers appear to the Chinese to be due to these intruders—the missionaries who insult their ancestors and the merchants who come to rob them. They got along much better before they came and they welcome any pretext to drive them out again—somewhat as our Pacific coast people formerly desired to drive out the Chinese.

Such is the Chinese point of view, as nearly as we can understand it. As an abstract proposition in ethics, the right of foreign nations to force either their missionaries or their traders upon an unwilling people has always been questionable; yet agreements have been made, and violated, and in the course of events ethical considerations have been given place to practical necessities. The Chinese have forcibly reasserted their old exclusiveness and the rest of the world has joined forcibly to break it down.

"THANK YOU, MR. KRUGER ALL THE SAME."

You defied us, Mr. Kruger, with your ultimatum rude,
And you've played the pious patriot with heaps of platitude—
And some of us believed your warlike notions raw and crude,
That was when we didn't know your little game;
But since then you've taught us something that before we only guess'd,
That the guns that we depended on were not the very best;
And you've put our Tommy Atkins and his leaders to the test—
So it's thank you, Mr. Kruger, all the same!

You have proved to every nation that is looking on to-day,
And you've shown it to Great Britain in a more apparent way,
That our soldiers, from their leaders down, can work as well as play—
And they hailed the chance to do it when they came;
The test is tough, but Tommy will o'ercome it in the end,
While of all the foreign nations that to worship us pretend,
We have found out those which hate us, and those who would befriend—
So it's thank you, Mr. Kruger, all the same!

We were once inclined to wear a smile of confidence serene,
When our Colonies were spoken of as loyal to the Queen,
But you've taught us something of them—daring, ready, true, and keen—
And we know that they'll support the Empire's fame;
From the farther ends of Earth, from clearing, shanty and backwood,
They have come to serve their Mother as true sons of Britain should,
But we never dreamt they'd do it till you showed us that they could—
So it's thank you, Mr. Kruger, all the same!

Oh, we're really more obliged to you than words can say indeed—
For you've shown us how our Volunteers will hurry to our need—
You have taught us what we didnt' know—that they're the same true breed,
As a hundred regiments that we could name;
You've awakened us, united us more closely than of yore,
Every battle that you fought us, we perceived it more and more;
And Britain now is greater than she ever was before—
So it's thank you, Mr. Kruger, all the same!

The Ledger Monthly for July.

The Ledger Monthly for July has on its cover a tiny maiden asleep in a big armchair, with one hand hanging down from which a toy picture book has dropped to the floor. "Tired Out" is the title of this pretty picture of home life, which every mother will want to frame and hang up. The contents of the July number of the Ledger Monthly are unusually varied and interesting. "Gloucester Fishermen and Their Fishing Craft," with photographic illustrations of scenes at the fishing banks and by the seaside and in the harbor, is especially attractive at this time of summer outings. "Views in Paris in 1900" afford all who stay at home magnificent views of the great exposition and of the famous buildings and monuments of the French capital. "From Cannibals to Christians in Forty Years;" by P. W. Thompson, gives a most interesting account of the remarkable Indian colony of Metlakahtla at Alaska one of the most remarkable achievements in the work of civilizing and Christianizing the Indians in the history of America, and all the work of one man, brave William Duncan. "The Story of Beatrice Van Der Hagen;" by Ethel West, of which the first part is published in this number, is a romance of the Transvaal, one of the most interesting pictures of life in that part of the world which has been presented in fiction. "An Idyl of the Beach;" by A. B. DeMille, is a short, summer love story. This number of the Ledger Moonthly is full of pictures and of entertaining reading matter. It has all the usual departments, "Cultivation of Physical Beauty;" "Current Fashions; Mrs. Lemcke "Family Dinners;" Miss Morrison's "Dishes for Luncheon;" Mrs. Clement Farley's "Thoughts Affecting the Life of a Young Girl;" "Youth and Home." and Edith Lawrence's delightful letter entitled "A New York Girl's News and View," a budget of pleasant gossip and information on topics of current interest to young women. Price of the Ledger Monthly is only 5 cents a copy, 50 cents a year. Robert Bonner's Son's, Publishers, Ledger Building, New York City, N. Y.

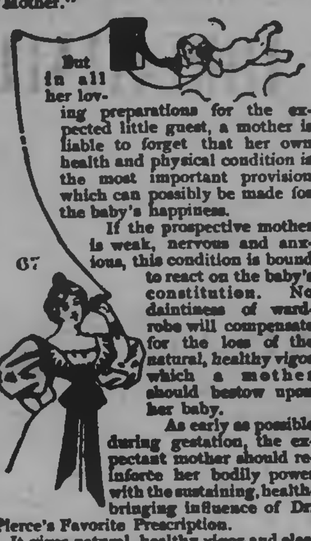
THE MESSAGE OF LOVE.

There is no message which brings more gladness to a true woman's heart than the sweet assurance that a little one is coming to bless her life and call her "Mother."



But in all her loving preparations for the expected little guest, a mother is liable to forget that her own health and physical condition is the most important provision which can possibly be made for the baby's happiness.

If the prospective mother is weak, nervous and anxious, this condition is bound to react on the baby's constitution. No daintiness of wardrobe will compensate for the loss of the natural, healthy vigor which a mother should bestow upon her baby.

As early as possible during gestation, the expectant mother should reinforce her bodily power with the sustaining, health-bringing influence of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It gives natural, healthy vigor and elastic endurance to the organs specially concerned in motherhood. It makes the coming of baby perfectly safe and almost painless. It gives nerve-strength to the mother and vital hardihood to the child.

It is the only medicine devised by an educated physician specially to overcome all weaknesses and diseases of the feminine organs. Its sale is greater than the combined sales of all other medicines for women. This fact shows the unbounded confidence which women place in Dr. Pierce. He has been for nearly thirty years chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. During this time he has achieved a world-wide reputation for his successful treatment of the most obstinate ailments peculiar to women.

"I have taken three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription'" writes Mrs. Laura B. Chamberlain, of Estes, Pike Co., Mo. "Two before confinement, and one after. I feel that the medicine was all that saved my life. I was not able to do any work, could only sit up part of the day when I began to take it. I had only taken a few doses when I began to improve. I have a ten pound boy Got through in a few minutes, and with but very little suffering. Baby is seven weeks old and I feel stouter and better than I have in four years. I heartily recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to all women in such cases."

"I can cheerfully recommend your valuable medicine, the 'Favorite Prescription' to suffering females," writes Mrs. Val Lefever, of 306 S. Division Street, Mount Vernon, Ohio. "About four years ago my health began to fail. I went to the best doctor in the city, and he said I had ulceration of the uterus. He gave me local treatment for seven months. I got better, but not well, and as soon as I stopped taking his medicine I got worse, and was not able to do anything. I felt miserable. Had such bearing down and shooting pains. My back ached so bad I could hardly sit up or lie down. So I wrote to you, and began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In a week's time I began to improve and I kept on with this treatment. People commenced to make remarks about how much better I looked. I told everybody what I was taking. I had gained twelve pounds by the time I had taken the second bottle of 'Favorite Prescription.' I took five bottles and then I felt as well as I ever did in my life. Quite a number of my friends are taking your medicine. I told a lady about a month ago about the 'Favorite Prescription.' She took one bottle and she said she never had any medicine to do her so much good in life. She wrote to her sister and told her to get some and take it.

"I cannot say enough to praise your medicine. My husband and I both thank you for what it has done for me, as we had paid out about $60.00 for medicine and local treatment, and $5.00 worth of your medicine has cured me."

The newly-wedded wife, above all other women, needs a good medical book. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser fills this want. It contains over 1000 pages and 700 illustrations. Several chapters are devoted to the physiology of the organs distinctly feminine. Send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., for a free copy, paper-covered. If cloth binding is wanted send 50 stamps.

Short Story of the Day

[illegible]'s Strad.

BY EDWARD E. FELTON.

Absent-minded old Danny Baker went shuffling across Union Square carrying a black box that looked like a miniature coffin.

"Hi, Mike, get on to the funeral!" cried an impudent youngster who had vainly tried to induce Danny to buy an evening paper.

"He's goin' de wrong way to the Morgue," Mike answered.

The old man paid not the slightest attention to their gibes. Probably he did not hear them. His mind, when not on his work, was far away, pursuing memories of years long past. Thus it was now, for there was nothing in carrying a repaired viola to a customer to distract him from his sorrowful retrospections.

He entered one of the music stores that abound in the vicinity of Union square, and waited for the attention of the clerk who had sent the broken instrument to him. A number of small bills advertising teachers, pianists. Old Danny glanced half absently at them. His eyes rested momentarily on one that announced the first appearance in America of "M. Boulanger, the great violinist of Paris." The performance was to be on that very evening in Carnegie Hall, but Danny shook his head sadly, as if saying to the announcement "No, you can't induce me to go, not if your Boulanger was the greatest violin virtuoso who ever lived."

The repaired viola was taken from him presently, and laid aside to be called for by the owner. Danny received his pay for his work done and went slowly homeward. On the way he saw many a poster on which the name "Boulanger" stood out in large letters, but he always shook his head and tried not to see the advertisement. He lived at the back of his dingy little shop in Fourth street. When he arrived there he observed a cab before the door and an elegantly dressed stranger inquiring of the boy left in charge when the proprietor would return.

"I am the proprietor, sir," said old Danny, simply. "What can I do for you?"

"Ah, permit me," responded the stranger, with a French accent, and he handed the old man a visiting card.

"Monsieur Boulanger!" exclaimed Danny, in great surprise, when he glanced at it.

"Yes," said the other, "my name is doubtless familiar to you, and you may be aware that I am to play in Carnegie Hall this evening. I have injured my violin, and there will not be time to repair it before the concert. I am told you have an instrument almost equal in tone to the one I brought with me. I will pay you anything you like for the loan of it for the evening."

The old man brought out several violins and laid them on the counter.

"I shall be happy to oblige monsieur," he said. "If he finds anything here that is worthy of his powers."

Boulanger looked them over, handled one or two, and then exclaimed, "Bah! Fit for amateurs! You should not try to impose them on a virtuoso." Then he leaned forward and whispered. "Where is your Stradivarius?"

Danny started violently.

"You cannot have the Strad," he said; "it belonged to my poor boy. No one shall ever play on that again."

The Frenchman was not to be denied. "Your son would be proud to think that the greatest living violinist had borrowed his instrument," he cried; "let me take it and I will call your son's spirit from the dead so that he shall be with you when I play tonight."

"Ah, if you could do that!" sighed Danny.

"I will," Boulanger declared with conviction. "Tell me, is it long since son went away from you—and the Strad?"

"Many years. He had just come to the point where he was to make his debut when in a fit of passion he ran away. He went to Europe and was murdered in Paris—your own city, Monsieur. His Stradivarius never has been touched since."

The Frenchman put his hand caressingly on Danny's shoulder.

"Let the Stradivarius speak to you—a message of comfort from him," he said.

Moved by some subtle influence he could not withstand, the old man, at last obeyed this stranger's behest. His bent figure disappeared into a back room whence he emerged carrying an ebony case with brass clasps and handles. Within, browned with age and use, lay the interpreter of bygone tears and laughter; silent now, but only awaiting another human soul to call forth its vibrations. Boulanger made an impulsive movement, but the case closed with a snap before he could seize that treasure.

"Not here. Tonight, tonight. Your promise—remember," cried Danny, hoarsely, as he pushed the case towards the player.

"Monsieur," said the artist, making a low bow as he withdrew towards the door, "there will be a great audience. The public have to thank your generosity that they are not to be disappointed. Will you make use of my name if you desire a comfortable seat?" he pointed to the card. "Ah, yes, and if you ask for me in the artiste's room after the performance I shall have much pleasure in restoring your Stradivarius with eternal acknowledgments, indebtedness for the favor you have conferred upon me."

He bowed again with grace, and went out to the cab awaiting him, the ebony case in his hand.

That evening there was a crowded, enthusiastic audience in Carnegie Hall. Danny Baker was there, sitting with eyes closed whenever the great violinist played. To him it did seem as if the violin spoke to him of his boy with an angel's sweetness, he even imagined that Edward had returned to life and was playing on the platform before him, and the old man dared not open his eyes least the illusion be dispelled.

At last an usher aroused him. The concert was over and most of the audience had already left the hall. Danny remembered Boulanger's promise, and hastened to the artiste's rooms behind the stage.

"What do you want here?" demanded a man, barring his way.

"Monsieur Boulanger," Danny answered, fumbling for the virtuoso's card.

"He sees nobody after a performance," said the other. "You will have to go away."

"He will see me," Danny insisted.

"Why?"

"Because he made an appointment to give me back my Stradivarius which he borrowed this afternoon."

"Nonsense! I am Monsieur Boulanger's agent, and I know that he played upon his own instrument, a Guarderius, not a Strad. You'd better go."

"I will not move from here until my dead boy's violin is restored to me!" cried the old man. "See, here is Boulanger's card! Where is he?"

"Here I am. What is the matter" said a weary voice.

There was something in the tone that caused Danny to turn deathly pale. Had his son really come to life? He looked up to the young man in evening dress with a violin case under his arm, but it was not Boulanger—not the virtuoso who had borrowed the Strad.

"Monsieur Boulanger," said the agent, "this old man, who doubtless is mad, insists that you borrowed—"

He got no farther, for the famous violinist suddenly embraced old Danny.

"Father!" he cried.

And Danny knew that this was his son, no fantastic freak of his imagination. They went into a dressing room and remained there until the janitor urged that he really must lock up the hall. Father and son had mourned each other dead, through false report, for many years, and meantime the son, adopting the French form of his name, had risen to great prominence as an artiste.

"Neither of them ever succeeded in tracing the Stradivarius. It had vanished with the clever adventurer whose trick won him a valuable instrument and reunited father and son.

When Tommy Comes Marching Home.

(A Poem Asked For.)

When Tommy comes marching home again,
Hurrah! hurrah!
Six thousand miles across the main,
Hurrah! hurrah!
The peopled streets will ring with cheers,
Until the morning star appears,
And we'll all feel gay when Tommy comes marching home.

When Tommy comes marching home again,
Hurrah! hurrah!
League upon league of khaki men,
Hurrah! hurrah!
Pity the lonely, sick pro-Boer—
Sick at the rind and sick at the core,
For he "ain't no class" when Tommy comes marching home.

When Tommy comes marching home again,
Hurrah! hurrah!
We won't insist on being sane,
Hurrah! hurrah!
We'll toss our hats into the air,
Whether or not we've a hat to spare,
And we'll all go mad when Tommy comes marching home.

The Union Jack is flying o'er,
Hurrah! hurrah!
Pretoria for evermore,
Hurrah! hurrah!
It's Tommy wins his country's thanks,
For he grappled with death in the khaki ranks,
And we'll "do him proud" when Tommy comes marching home.

One of the Best

Canadians who desire to keep posted on the great events now transpiring in the United States, should at once subscribe for the Philadelphia Times, one of the best of the many great newspapers of the republic. The Times is especially the newspaper that Canadians should take, because it was loyal to the old flag all through the African troubles, and took the position in regard to the war that all honest people take.

—Fishing is very good just now. If you doubt this statement, ask Mr. Mc Harrie or Mr. A. St. A. Smith. This is no joke.

What an Editor Says

One of the editors of a Toronto paper was of the party who were entertained by the Grand Trunk Railway on the recent inauguration of their fast service to Montreal. "Before leaving Toronto," he says, "a friend who came to see me off brought me a vial of Hutch Tablets, saying he would not think of going away from home without having a supply. I laughed and put them in my bag. Feeling uncomfortable after two or three hours out (living too high I guess). I began their occasional use and offered them to different members of the party. I soon had my regular patients, and all pronounced Hutch very handy things to have along."

Ten Hutch ten cents, at all druggists or by mail from the WOODWARD MEDICINE Co., Limited, 11 Colborne street, Toronto.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

DOUBTERS

Can be Changed by Knowledge.

If there is any doubt about making brain power by the use of certain food, the doubter should make the following experiment.

Helen Frances Huntington of Gainesville, Ga. says." Just a word of commendation concerning 'Grape-Nuts which I have found to be the most wholesome, nourishing and appetizing food that has ever come to my knowledge.

"I am not a dyspeptic, but being constantly engaged in severe brain work I found that I did not thrive on ordinary diet; even a moderate dinner dulled my brain so as to be practically incapable of critical work. I tried meat-juice, peptonoids, the two meal system of light breakfast and no supper which brought on nervous depletion and sleeplessness, so I resorted to one and another of the various health foods which all seemed alike tasteless and valueless as a brain food, until quite by chance, I had a dish of Grape-Nuts food served as dessert. I liked it so well that I began to use it daily, for supper four teaspoonful in a saucer of hot milk, eaten before it dissolves its crispness.

"This point should be remembered as, after a certain time, evaporation seems to effect the sweet nutty flavor of the food as in the case of certain fine-flavored fruits.

"The result in my case was simply astonishing. I had no desire whatever for sweet pastrys, meats, or in fact anything else; as my brain was as clear and active at night as on awaking from a long, refreshing sleep.

"The peculiar advantage about Grape-Nuts food is that it supplies nutritive qualities of a varied diet without the bad results of heavy eating. I cheerfully recommend its use to all brain workers, if not as an exclusive diet, certainly for the latest meal of the day. I always take it with one wheat [illegible], which [illegible] a dash of [illegible] and [illegible]."

—His Lordship Bishop O'Connor left yesterday on an official visit to that portion of his diocese in the region of Lake Superior, including the Manitoulin Islands. He will be in Killarney on Sunday. His Lordship will be absent about six weeks.

Doing Nicely.

Little Miss Eleanor Morrow, who broke her arm on Wednesday, is doing nicely, under the care of Dr. Moher. Her many friends will be pleased to know that she will soon be around again.

A Twenty Pounder.

Mr. John M. Chashman, and Mr. Steve O'Brien, two Rochester gentlemen, were out trolling on the Little Lake this morning, and landed a maskinonge weighing twenty pounds. This is the largest caught in the lake this year.

Kindergarten Closing.

The closing exercises in connection with the Kindergarten departments in the schools, took place yesterday. The little ones showed off to advantage. There was a good attendance of parents and friends present.

A Pleasing Affair.

Thursday evening the Girls' Guild of All Saints Church held their annual sale of fancy goods, together with a strawberry festival in the basement of the church, which was much enjoyed by the large number present. A splendid musical programme was rendered during the evening by Glidden's orchestra.

PUT OFF AT LINDSAY

Mrs. Margaret Sellens Now Wants Damages From Grand Trunk.

Mrs. Margaret Sellens lives in Lakefield, but her husband is employed in Toronto. She set out on the Grand Trunk just before May 24th for a visit to Toronto. She purchased a ticket from the station agent, which she claimed read from Lakefield to Toronto.

When the conductor came around to collect her ticket he found it was only good for Lakefield to Peterborough. He accordingly put Mrs. Sellen off the train at Lindsay.

Lawyer Hansford, of Toronto, on Thursday at Osgoode Hall, issued a writ against the G. T. R. for unstated damages.

Youthful Fisherman

Bobcaygeon Independent.—Mr. J. D. Montgomery was fishing by the Grist Mill the other day, and getting a call for a few minnows he left his child, who is only 3 or 4 years old holding the rod. On returning he heard the child calling and saw that she was hanging to the rod for dear life. Running at top speed he was just in time to save the child from being drawn into the water by a five pound maskinonge that had taken the bait.

PARKER & WHEDDWER.

"If I were sick and wanted to get well, I'd find out how some one else got well who had the same sort of sickness as mine."

If your sickness is like hers, Mrs. Jacobs' story will interest you.

"I was very sick indeed," writes Mrs. Mollie Jacobs, of Felton, Kent Co., Delaware, "and our family doctor said I had consumption. I thought I must die soon for I felt so awful bad. Had a bad cough, spit blood, was very short of breath, had pains in my chest and right lung, and also had dyspepsia. Before I took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' I was so weak I could not sweep a room, and now I can do a small washing, and I feel like a new person. I believe that the Lord and your medicine have saved my life. I was sick over two years. I took 13 bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and four vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets."

Are you sick? Are your lungs "weak?" Have you obstinate lingering cough, with bleeding lungs, weakness and emaciation? Thousands in just your case have been cured by the use of

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

GERMANY DESIRES FULL SATISFACTION

For the Murder of Baron Von Ketteler, the German Ministerat Pekin.

THE EMPEROR TO SEND 25,000 MEN TO CHINA.

It Has Been Announced in the House of Commons That the Allies Are Not Advancing to Pekin as Had Been Supposed and Great Anxiety is Still Felt.

Berlin, July 2.

Emperor William has made up his mind to insist upon full satisfaction for the death of Baron Von Ketteler, for which purpose he has resolved to send to China 25,000 men and a considerable portion of the German navy.

London, July 3, 3.30 a.m.

The allies are not advancing for the relief of Pekin. This announcement to the House of Commons by Mr. St. John Brodick, Under Secretary of State of Foreign Affairs was received with exclamations of astonishment and dismay. Sir Edward Bartlett inquired if any information had been received from the Legations at Pekin, or as to the composition or the command of the relieving forces and the present position. Mr. Broderick read the despatch received to-day and said the total allied force available is now about 13,000, as troops have been rapidly arriving, adding, we do not yet know what arrangements have been made locally regarding the command of our expedition, but it has not been thought possible to attempt a further advance.

The Consuls have been in communication with the Viceroys in the Yang Tse region and they are quite aware that support will be given them by Her Majesty's Government in prearranging order. It is impossible that the representatives of the powers at Pekin should be consulted as no communications are passing with them. "The Situation is desperate. Hasten." These words from the message of Gen. Bergen, a member of the German Legation at Pekin, countersigned by Sir Robert Hart, Inspector-General of Customs, and dated nine days ago, was the theme of all private comment. They are preparation for news of a frightful tragedy. Nine days ago the ammunition of the little garrison defending the foreigners was running low and their food was nearly exhausted, while around them was a horde of Chinese, having at their service Krupp guns and repeating rifles. Pekin was in the hands of the revolutioners.

London, July 2.—Official despatches received by the consular body at Shanghai, an Express cable, dated Shanghai, July 1, says confirm in the fullest manner the report of the butchery of Baron von Ketteler, the German Minister, on June 18. The ambassador was riding on the legation street, when he was attacked by Chinese troops and Boxers, dragged from his horse and killed. His body was hacked to pieces with swords. The German legation and six other buildings were burned, and a number of servants of the legations were killed and their bodies were thrown into the flames.

Consternation all Round.

Official confirmation of this ghastly business has created the utmost consternation among the Consul-Generals of the powers, who expressed fear that war n is out rance will be declared against the Pekin government. The consuls entertain little hope that any foreigners are left alive in the capital. There are 100 foreigners connected with the legations, 50 in the Customs House, Eglish and American tourists and others to the number of 150, and nearly 500 legation guards. The British foreign office has received news from the British Consul at Che Foo that Baron von Ketteler had been killed, but no other information.

Execution of Foreigners Going on.

A despatch to the Express from Nankin, June 30, says—

"French priests here have received reports that the execution of foreigners has been in progress since June 20. The news comes by runners from French priests at Pekin, who state that they administered the last rites to the condemned men."

Position Desperate.

Nankin cables, dated Sunday, say that Viceroy Liu Yun Yih received a telegram from Gen. Yuju on Saturday, stating that the German Ministr had been murdered at Pekin. Yuju, who escaped from Tien Tsin to Pao Ting Fu, also wired—"Position desperate. Implore your help. Foreign troops of eight nationalities entering Pekin to the number of 30,000 or 40,000. I cannot hold out four days."

Foreign Troops Victorious.

Liu Yun Yih has received this from the Viceroy of Yuan Shikai—"Foreign troops victorious at Tien Tsin. They will enter Pekin immediately."

Outbreaks Imminent at Canton.

Outbreaks of the Boxers appear to be imminent at Canton. The feeling of unrest steadily increases. The Boxers from Ping Tu were marching on Sunday on Che Foo. The Governor of Yuan Shikai feared for the town and sent to the warships forf orces. A small riot occurred at Che Foo on Saturday.

Fifty-two refugees who had arrived from New Chwang aver that the Boxers have destroyed the railway north of Port Arthur and that all the American and English residents are leaving.

Will Not Permit Rescue.

Gen. Yuan Shikai, commanding the best foreign drilled troops in China, has notified the German Governor of Kiao Chau that he will not permit the German parties' proposed expedition to Wei Sien to rescue Chalfontant and the Misses Bowden and Hawes, the American missionaries in the hands of the Boxers. The missionaries at Pao Ting Fu were reported to be safe on June 25.

Chinese Laying Torpedoes.

A correspondent in Shanghai learns from official sources that the Chinese are laying torpedoes between Shanghai and Kiang Nan arsenal.

Agents of the Boxers are busy in Shanghai provoking hatred of foreigners. Nothing has been heard from the column which relieved Admiral Seymour five days ago, and then proceeded towards Pekin; but as it takes at least two days to communicate between Tien Tsin and Che Foo there is nothing extraordinary in this. Troops are going forward from Taku to Tien Tsin daily, though some reports from Taku allege that it will be three weeks before a large force can be sent to Pekin.

A despatch to the Daily Mail from Tong Ku, without date, via Che Foo, Friday, says—

"It is improper any longer to conceal the harm done to the cause of the allies by the barbarities and the pillage of the Russians on the day after the bombardment. They wantonly shot natives and looted everything, including the European houses in Taku. The natives for miles around were looted of supplies and labor is scarcer."

The morning papers generally accept as conclusive the reports that Baron von Ketteler has been killed, and express grave uncertainty as to whether any of the members of the legations at Pekin are safe.

GERMAN MINISTER MURDERED.

Baron Von Ketteler Was Killed by Native Troops.

Shanghai, July 1.—The British consul at Che Foo telegraphs that Baron von Ketteler, German Minister at Pekin, was murdered by native troops June 18. Three legations—it is not stated which—were still undestroyed June 23.

Ministers Were in Danger.

The American Consul here states that Yung Lu telegraphed June 26 that the other ministers were safe that morning, but the situation was desperate, and he doubted whether the Ministers could hold out 24 hours longer, as he and the Empress could no longer give protection.

How he was Attacked.

Shanghai, July 1.—The German Minister in Pekin, Baron von Ketteler, was attacked while proceeding to the Tsung Li Yamen, where he died.

RIVER OPEN TO TIEN TSIN.

Railway Head Only Nine Miles off—Arsenal at Tien Tsin Captured.

London, July 2.—12.45 a.m.—A despatch from Admiral Bruce to the admiralty, sent via Che Foo, under date of June 30, says—

"The conduct of Commander Stewart of the Algerine and Commander Hause of the German gunboat Iltis, at the bombardment of the Taku forts, was magnificent, and elicited the admiration of the allied ships.

River Route Now Open.

"The river route to Tien Tsin, 51 miles from Taku, is now open. The railway head is now nine miles from Tien Tsin. The road inward is not quite safe, and communication to Tien Tsin is difficult.

A Fort Blown up.

"A fort 13 miles above Taku was found by Commander Keyes deserted, and was blown up, leaving the passage up the river free. Lieut. Commander Keyes reports that the arsenal at Tien Tsin was captured June 29 by the naval brigade. The losses were five killed Lieut. Colomb slightly wounded and a gunner and 21 men wounded. There are no further details.

"Warrender is in charge of all our forces on the river and lines of communication."

BULLER REPORTS SKIRMISH

Foreign Military Attacks Think the Boer War is over now —It is only a Mgtter of Patience, When Oom Paul and Stevn will Surrender,

London, July 3.

The War Office has received the following from Gen. Buller—Standertson, July 1.—"General Talbot Coke, with the Tenth Brigade reconnoitered June 29, towards Amesfoort, Transvaal, and found 2,000 of the enemy there, with guns, in a strong position. Having shelled them, he retired and was not followed up. His casualties were 2 killed and 6 wounded."

London, July 2.—A Cape Town special says—The opinion of the foreign military attaches who have returned here from the front is that the war is over, and that President Kruger and Steyn will soon surrender.

Powell report small successes in the Transvaal, and also that the farmers are Gen. Lord Roberts and Gen. Baden surrendering their arms.

In the Free State scattered commandos continue successful guerilla tactics, belated reports show that they have been more successful than had been thought here. Meanwhile the English papers represent that these commandos have been shut in between three broad converging lines and are doomed to capture. But Gen. Dewet probably has a fortnight in which to choose an avenue of escape before the converging movement becomes an actual evelopment. Gen. Roberts' increasing severity of method in dealing with the burghers proves that he recognizes their ability still to give serious trouble.

The Hospital Scandal.

Here in London, the war itself has been completely neglected in favor of the hospital scandal, which is the most discussed topic of the hour. This is really nothing more e rless than a purely domestic scandal, such as in one form or another every country experiences during a war, and which has no real interest or import for foreigners. It will be used for what it is worth against the War Office and also against the Government when the general election comes on. It is still doubtful whether this will come in October are be deferred until next year. The Cabinet certainly will not try to postpone it until Lord Roberts returns to this country, considering him the greatest vehicle to victory at the polls.

The Kaiser is Interested.

Probably no one maintains such a keen interest in the South African struggle as the Kaiser. Lord Lonsdale, who has been a guest aboard the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern at Kiel, writing to a friend, says the Kaiser gives the subject of modern warfare, as displayed in that campaign, unceasing attention, frequently conferring with his generals on the altered aspects of the campaign and himself stating problems which the whole staff occupy themselves in solving. The Kaiser expresses the highest admiration for Lord Roberts, but regards the average British regimental officer as ill-trained, and lacking intelligence in a military sense. He speaks in the highest terms of the English as a people and the dogged pertinacity with which they carry out their wars. His only jealousy is purely commercial. He pushes German commercial interests with unflagging energy, even personally canvassing, it is said, in behalf of the Krupps, when the Turkish commission reported in favor of the English shipbuilding firm of Armstrong for a supply of new artillery for the Turkish army.

The War Office to-day issued a list of five killed and 24 wounded at Lindley on June 26; two killed and 14 wounded and 21 missin at Senekal on the same date, and 16 deaths from disease between June 27 and June 29.

NEW YORK DISASTER 200 ALREADY DEAD.

The Fire Eat Up Over $10,000,000 Worth of Property in a Few Hours.

THREE FINE STEAMERS TOTALLY DESTROYED.

The Most Frightful Holocast that Has Taken Place for Many Years—Fire Started in a Bale of Cotton.

New York, July 2.—Almost $10,000,000 worth of property was destroyed, many lives were lost, many persons were injured, and at least 1500 lives were imperiled by fire that started among cotton bales, stored on pier No. 3 of the North German Lloyds Steamship Company, in Hoboken, at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. In less than 15 minutes the flames covered an area, a quarter of a mile long, extending outward from the actual shore line to the bulkheads from 600 to 1000 feet away, and had caught three great ocean liners and a dozen or more smaller harbor craft in its grasp.

Many Were Cut Of.

There were hundreds of men on each of the destroyed steamers and a few women. Crowds of dock laborers and also employes of the companies were on all the piers. Men, women and children of the canal boats and men on the barges and lighters were there, and when the fire made its quick descent upon them escape was cut off before they realized their awful position. The people on the piers jumped into the water to save themselves, and scores of men huddled under the piers, clinging to the supports, only to be suffocated by the flames or to drop back into the water from exhaustion.

Two Ships Beached.

The steamships Saale and Bremen, after being pulled free from the docks, were towed, a blaze, down the bay, and beached off Liberty Island. On the Bremen, as she blazed out in midstream, six men could be seen with their heads out of portholes, waving handkerchiefs as signals for assistance. Tug boats and small boats darted around big steamships making every effort to save the men, but the terrible heat from the flames kept them away.

A Heavy Loss.

The destruction of the docks will be a heavy loss to the steamship company, as it has only just finished repairing, enlarging and improving its terminal facilites.

HOW THE FIRE STARTED.

Fire in a bale of cotton on Pier 3, the most southerly of the four piers belonging to the North German Lloyd Line, started the conflagration. It was a few minutes after 4 o'clock when O. L. Spengler, an employe of the transportation company which handles the baggage at the North German Liody piers, walked into his company's office to count up and to carry away the money which was there. Looking down the pier as he entered the office he saw a bale of cotton ablaze. Having worked about the piers nearly all his life Spengler realized at once that with so many bales of cotton near the burning one, the pier and all property on it were in danger. He at once sounded an alarm which attracted the attention of a number of longshoremen on the pier.

LOSS OF LIFE.

New York, July 2.—The North German Liody Steamship Company estimates the loss of life by yesterday's fire at 200. The company took the crew lists, checked off those members who are in hospitals or reported safe, and believes the others to be lost.

PROMOTION EXAMINATIONS.

List of Successful Pupils of the Ashburnham School.

Pupils have been promoted on the result of their work during the term, as shown by monthly reports. Pupils who come regularly and work faithfully always stand a good chance of being promoted at the end of the term. Pupils who remain away from school one or two days in each week cannot expect to make satisfactory progress.

This plan of promotion appears to give better results than are secured by having only a final examination at the end of the term.

Dominion Day in TOwn.

HOW THE DAY WAS SPENT IN AND AROUND PETERBOROUGH.

St. Joseph's Hospital Picnic a Great Success—Many Excursions out of Town—The Base Ball Matches—Excursion to Stoney Lake Well Patronized.

Dominion Day was quietly spent in town, the chief attractions being the picnic in the Separate School grounds, Murray street, in aid of St. Joseph's Hospital. Many went to Port Hope and Lindsay, where demonstrations were held, while Stony Lake took a big crowd. The base ball matches were well patronized.

The Steamer Beaver ran an excursion to Highland Park, under the auspices of the Baptist Sunday School. It was a very pleasant outing.

Auburn Sunday School ran an excursion to McCracken's Landing, which was well patronized.

THE BIG PICNIC.

Early in the morning people began to gather in the beautiful grounds attached to the Separate School on Murray street. Extensive preparations had been made by the committee, and everything was in order. A large dancing platform being erected under the shade trees. A first class orchestra furnished music, while the fine band of the 57th Regiment played occasional selections. The refreshment booths were well patronized during the day, as were also the dining pavilion.

A splendid programme of athletic sports was run off during the day.

BASE BALL.

One of the largest and most appreciative crowds of the season saw the Home team defeat Coburg in the 5th game of the Midland Baseball series in the P.A.A.A. grounds yesterday morning. Old timers were loud in their praises of the work of Peterborough's fast young team. It would be unfair to make particular mention of any player, but a long foul fly taken in by Graham on the dead run, and a sensational one handed stop by Scott are deserving of special mention.

The local boys held Cobourg safe all the way, and but for a little mishap in the sixth would have shut them out. As the afternoon game was only an exhibition affair, and as the boys were all tired after their morning's work, they played listlessly and did not seem to try to win, consequently Cobourg won easily.

Following are the scores—

THE TOWN'S LAST SUIT.

Will the Case be Contuned Is now the Question?

A HEAVY BILL OF COST.

LETTER FROM TOWN SOLICITOR EDWARDS TO THE COUNCIL.

The Judge's Reasons for Dismissing the Action Against the Railway—Town Solicitor in Favor of Further Action.

The town, as our readers already know is again in the soup in its lawsuit with the Grand Trunk Railway Company. Town Solicitor Edwards laid the following papers before the council on Friday night, the first document being a letter from himself.

My agents inform me that Judge Street has given judgment dismissing the action with cost. The ground of his judgement is that the Grand Trunk Railway Company, having authority to divert the stream and being required "to restore the highway to its former state or to such state as not to impair its usefulness," have done so by the erection of the bridge which they erected in 1882, and that the damages which the town has sustained by reason of the bridge not being placed in as good a condition as before must be obtained by proceedings for compensation under Railway Act. For this purpose he holds that the application for compensation must be by motion and not by action.

At the trial it was clearly established that the bridge erected by the Company in 1882 was not as substantial as the old bridge which was removed; that the new bridge has no abutments to carry it as had the old, and that the span of it was longer than the old bridge and the bridge itself higher. The contention on the part of the town was that until the Company had placed a bridge as good as the old one, they had not complied with the requirement of the Statute "to restore the highway to its former state or to such state as not to impair its usefulness," and that therefore the present action for the mandamus was the proper form of procedure. The Judge referred to the fact that the Municipalities had made no objection to the bridge since its construction, but with regard to this he has overlooked the fact, which was clearly established by the evidence, that the bridge was maintained by the company since 1882 so as to render objection by the Municipalities unnecessary. The evidence also established the fact that in addition to the bridge there is a culvert across the line of the highway which is entirely outside of the defendents line of railway and which the Spring caved in and is out of repair. The Judge's finding that there is no evidence of want of repair and that the culvert is in the line of Railway is not in accordance with the evidence given at the trial. The Company is in law under no greater liability to maintain the culvert than to maintain the bridge. I enclose a copy of the reasons for judgement given by the learned Judge, I have asked my agents to obtain a stay of proceedings to allow time to consider the course to be taken by the town as to appeal or otherwise.

The following are the Judge's reasons.

Plaintiffs allege that state of highway was not altered by the diversion of the stream and the change in the position of the bridge made in 1882 upon an agreement between the officers of the Midland Railway and the Council of the Municipality in which the highway was then included, but no evidence of any such agreement was given. The only evidence offered was to the effect that the new bridge built in 1882 by the Ry. Co., over the diverted stream was not as substantial a structure as that over the stream in its original bed; that the substituted bridge has been for some years in bad repair and that the defendant's local officers have at time spent small sums in repairing it. On the other hand it is shown that the bridge had for 16 or 17 years been travelled and used by the public, and apparently accepted as sufficent by the Municipalities having charge of the highway. In the absence of proof of an agreement, the plaintiff's only possible claim is based upon the duties cast upon the Ry., Co., by Ry. Act. Plaintiffs have given evidence that the bridge is not so substantial as the former one and that span is 10 feet longer. The Ry. Co., seem to have acted within their right in diverting the stream, and if the Municipality has sustained damage by reason of the exercise of those rights they must proceed under Ry. Act to obtain compensation. They have not asked the defendants to proceed under Ry. Act. If defendants refuse to do so they will have their remedy by mandamus on motion. Under the circumstances I do not think I can adopt the suggestion of Counsel that I shall grant a mandamus in present action, a motion being the proper course.

The case referred to by Mr. Edwards, of Vamallen V.S.; G.T.R.; 29 U. C. R. 436, is no authority for the proposition—that a Ry. Co., without an agreement may be declared liable to keep in repair in perpetuity a bridge crossing a highway, at a distance from their line of Railway.

There was no evidence given of any want of repair to culvert, it is under defendants line of Railway, and has always been kept in repair by them, and their liability to keep it in repair has not been disputed.

I think the action cannot be maintained and that it must be dismissed with cost.

BATHING IN SALT LAKE.

No Living Thing in Its Waters and No Danger of Being Drowned

The water of the Great Salt Lake is clear and transparent, with a bottom of fine white sand and a margin of incrusted salt, says Lippincott's. It is one of the purest and most consentrated brines in the whole world. Its waters give sustenance to no living thing; there is not the smallest insect or worm to frighten the most timid bather, and the bathing is the most perfect sea-bathing in the world of North America or in Europe. No human body can sink in it. One may actually walk in the water, no matter how deep it is. Your body will persistently rise up, the shoulders above the surface, or you may even sit down in it. Its wonderful buoyancy must be experienced to be realized. No knowledge of swimming is necessary; one may enter the lake without the slightest fear; all you have to do is to lie down and float. But to swim in it, that is another thing! When your hands are put under the water to take a stroke, your feet like Banquo's ghost, will not down; it is impossible to keep more than one end of your body under the water at a time. You cannot swim, but if you are a man you can float on your back with your arms crossed under your head, and smoke your pipe or cigar with as much ease as if in your own room. The water is so salt that it cannot be swallowed without great danger of strangulation; a small drop in the eye, too, gives much pain.

But, in spite of all the dangers, bathing in the Great Salt Lake is refreshing and invigorating, notwithstanding that the body must be rebathed in fresh water to remove the immense quantity of salt which adheres to the skin. It is hard work to make any headway, even against the smallest waves. Nearly half a million people bathe in the Great Salt Lake every year; they come from all over the world, and tourists are beginning to realize that Salt Lake City, and the magnificent surroundings presents the greatest range of novelty, and is destined to be a leading watering-place.

THE ASHANTEE WAR.

Reports which have been coming from the Gold Coast in the last few days regarding the trouble with the Ashantees are anything but reassuring. Yesterday's report was especially discouraging in proving conclusively that Coomassie is thoroughly invested by the rebellious natives. It also contained the additional information that Sir Frederic Hodgson Mitchell, Governor of the Gold Coast Colony, who, with his wife, is among the besieged in the Ashantee capital, was wounded in the shoulder during a sortie, while a rumor on the coast says that eight officers were killed. Provisions at Coomassie are known to be scarce, and it is also known that there are many native soldiers in the town who have been wounded in offensive and defensive operations. It is believed that ammunition is very low. One dispatch which came from the Gold Coast early this month said that it was so scarce that the garrisons could not afford to take offensive measures in extremity. If this report was accurate, it cannot be considered in connection with yesterday's news without some alarm.

The present outbreak among the Ashantees promises to surpass any former one in extent if it has not already done so, although mutterings of disaffection had been reaching civilization for several months, it was not until early in April that the natives became openly hostile. They invested Coomassie in large numbers. At that time there were about 500 Haussas, or native troops, in the garrison at Coomassie, but these were soon reinforced by a body 200 strong which fought its way through the rebellious masses from the territory north of Ashantee. As the native population of of the town is about 3,000, there must now be about 3,700 persons besieged in Coomassie. The investing force has been estimated at more than 50,000. As soon as conditions at Coomassie became known a small relief force was sent forward, and this has been followed as rapidly as possible by other reinforcements. Col. Willcocks, who commands the expedition, has a force of about 100 Lagos constabulary, 50 Sierra Leone police, some Gold Coast police and Maxims and field guns. The advance was rapid to Prahsu, which is about halfway from the coast to Coomassie, but beyond that it has been slow and attended with fatalities. One company which got well forward has been besieged and another company which hurried to its relief lost its captain and several privates killed and so many wounded that it had to retreat. Heavy rains have impeded the progress while the hostile natives have built stockades across the trails and in other ways retarded the forward movement. Among the reinforcements which will go to the scene of war will be a large number of volunteers from the British West Indies.

The Ashantees have given much evidence of being an untractable race and have never been kindly disposed towards the whites. They have not been treated any worse than have various other natives of the Dark Continent—not nearly so bad as many—yet they have not got over their first animosities. England has had a number of stiff wars with the Ashantees as native wars go. It was not until 1894, when King Prempeh was deposed and sent into exile that the British seemed to gain absolute control over the country. How secure that rule has been may be judged by current events. Until now the Government has been represented among the Ashantees simply by a Resident. There were some troops, but only for police duty. It is not unlikely that after the present war is settled a large army will from part of the machinery of government and that the Ashantees will be ruled with a stern hand. The present trouble is due largely to a system of fines imposed upon chiefs for not keeping roads clear and performing others public tasks, while the people are exasperated over a method of impressment which is followed to recruit the Government carriers. At the same time that it establishes a sterner rule over the Ashantees, the Government might do well to inquire if the natives have not some reasonable cause for complaint.

The British empire is 40 times larger than the German empire, and 16 times larger than the French dominions.

The First Baby.

When baby comes to the home it will bind the wife closer to the husband, or it will gradually tend to cut her off from his companionship. A sickly mother loses in physical charm, and often in temper and disposition. A fretful child is a trial, even to loving parents. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription prepares the wife for motherhood. It strengthens the body, and induces a healthy condition of mind, free from anxiety or fear. It makes the baby's advent practically painless. The mother being healthy her child is healthy, and a healthy child is a happy child, a joy to the parents, linking them together with a new bond of affection.

There is no opium, cocaine or other narcotic in "Favorite Prescription."

"I read what your medicine has done for other people," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner, of Beechwood, Norfolk Co., Mass., Box 70, "so thought I would try it, and I found it a blessing to me and family. I took your medicine a year when I had a ten pound girl. I had the easiest time I ever had with any of my three children, and I have been very well ever since. I took three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' three of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and three vials of 'Pellets.' Before I took your medicine I only weighed 125 pounds, and now I weigh 175 pounds."

Short Story of the Day

On the Beach.

Dorothy and I were engaged. Were I to speak with the tongues of men and of angles I could not say more. I had known her but a month—but why apologize? Would you pass by a pearl simply because you had not seen it for weeks upon your daily walk?

And you will never see a more beautiful pearl than Dorothy. Strange, moody, sunshine to-day, shower to-morrow, now merry, now sober, first racing on the beach, then moping in the shade, but sweet and good, first, last and all the time—as sweet and good as ever woman will be.

But, as one William Shakespeare, late of Avon, Eng., once remarked, the course of true love never did run smooth. Ours didn't. The first jolt came as I sat on the piazza of the beach-house one evening solacing myself with a cigar and the delicious breze, and thinking—well, woundering where Dorothy could be.

Suddenly mine host's young incorrigible came tearing up and gave me to understand, through a series of exciting gestures, that Miss Lawler, to wit, Dorothy, was in trouble upstairs. There was no room t cast it down as one of the young hopeful's jokes, and I rolled out of my chair and run upstairs, three steps at a time.

Dorothy's room was on the second floor, at the end of a wing. I speddown this dark corridor until I reached her door, which stood wide open. There I was stopped by a cry that seemed to be wrung out by the most passionate grief. Perhaps I should not have been stopped, especially as the cry was not addressed to me. But stopped I was, there in the shadow.

The next moment Dorothy swept across the room. A clinging white gown lousely enveloped her figure. Her long brown hair was streaming down her back in a distinctly wild way; her eyes flashed, and I could plainlysee the heaving of her bosom under the light stuff that covered it. In her hands she crushed a letter—and I shrank still farther back.

She looked enthrallingly beautiful, and I did not wonder that she stood so long before her full-length mirror. Then her lips began to twich at the corners, her eye brows arched in distress, her nostrils quivered, and a little catching of the breath reached my ears. My love was crying! She was also pressing that letter to her lips.

"Oh, Bob, Bob, why don't you come? Why don't you come?" I heard in accents soft but desparing. "Day after day, week after week, I have tricked my heart into song and laughter by whispering "Bob is coming! Bob is coming!" But you d onot come, and I cannot trick my heart any longer. Will you never come, Bob? Shall I forever lie down with this prayer upon my lips? Shall I forever rise with this dull pain? Are you with some other woman now, heart After all you have said, all you have written, I cannot believe it."

She ceased and wiped her eyes. After a little she took a photograph from the dressing table and gazed at it with fond intentness for fully a minute. Then she smiled.

"Bob, I'm a naughty girl!" she crooned softly. "I ought not to doubt you. I kow you will come back. Don't look so solemn, love! Please don't! Smile a little for the poor girl—just a little, sweet, so that she may know you are not angry. Won't? Then she'll kiss you, and you can't help yourself."

I did not wait for the kiss. I slunk down the hall like some wretch doomed to the gallows. I could not believe it real. I was sure the morning would show it nothing but a dream, and that Dorothy and I wulod bathe in the surf and ride on the beach the same as ever. Dorothy did not come down stairs that night, and I was glad of it. But the next morning, as I lay in a hammock, she came up to me with a song upon her lips. She drew up a chair close to me, and glancing coquettishly to right and left to see that no alien eyes were upon us, she bent her head and gave me a morning kiss—a dainty, birdlike touch.

There is a good deal of the tiger yet left in the best of us. My veins at that moment throbbed with a murderous passion, and I felt that I should inevitably throttle her. Yet I did not. I looked her calmly in the eye. I believe I even smiled. Her eyes never wavered. Instead a kind of love-mist spread over them, and she kissed me again, very tenderly, two or three times. Her exquisite hypocrisy gave me a knid of mental paralysis, and for a moment I was as barren of thoughts as an imbecile.

"Fred, what would I do if you should die?" she whispered, tremulously.

Do you love me so much?" I asked, and, strive as I would, I could put no significance into my tones.

"So much, dear," she answered, solemnly, "that the grave with you would be preferable to a palace with another.

"Too much even to deceive me," I managed to say.

"Ah, you know I do, boy."

"And have you never deceived me?" I continued.

"Never," she answered; but I fancied I detected a quickening of her breath, which was falling upon my cheek.

"Never!" I repeated, and I know from the stern ring in my voice that my manhood was returning

She flushed unmistakably, and a look of fright filled her eyes—fright that before would have wrung my heart, but not only stung me to fury.

"Never but once," she faltered piteously, clinging to my hand.

I fiercely shook off her grasp. 'What was it?" I demanded.

"Oh, Fred, I intended to tell you, and I will. But not yet; don't make me tell it yet," she pleaded.

"Now or never," I said, inexorably.

I did not imagine she could be so firm. Threats, cajolery, pleading, were all in vain. She would not tell. Then a better feeling came over me, and I said.

"Dorothy, I asked you to confess, not that I might longer love you, for that is impossible, but that I might still respect you. You have shut yourself out from even that. Yesterday I learned your secret by chance, and it must forever act as a bar between us."

She tried to smile, and I believe she thought I was jesting. But when she saw no answering smile upon my set lips, no mirth in my hard eyes, she grew white and rigid. Even at that crucial moment, as I looked at her pitable emotion, a siren fascination that banished pride, self-respect and all, tempted me for a moment to take her in my arms, if only for the last time, and shamelessly forget all.

"Is it all over?" she asked, in hollow tones.

"All over," I answered.

"Do you think me bad?" she asked brokenly.

"Do you think you are good?" I asked scornfully.

"I am good, sweetheart," she panted, desperately throwing herself half upon me. "I swear it before God! I should have told you in the beginning, but every day made it harder. Even then I should have told you, if you had not said something so slighting, so cruel to me —about—about——"

"About whom?" I asked.

"About actresses," she answered. low, hopeless tone.

The light broke in upon me. I took her in my arms and held her so tightly to my heart that we seemed, in body and in spirit, to be one.

I had overheard her rehearsing.

PARIS

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Daily at the Exposition

[From the New York Times March 16]

The New York Times will be published daily on the grounds of the Universal Exposition to be held at Paris.

The interest of the people of the United States in the Exposition, the very large attendance from this country already assured, and the cordial relations existing between the two Governments have seemed to us to justify this undertaking as a recognition by the American press of the world-wide influence and importance of the great French Fair to all interests of the United States; and we have sought to avail ourselves of this extraordinary opportunity for cultivating feelings of amity between the people of the two great republics.

The concession for the publication of an American newspaper on the grounds of the Exposition has been granted to THE TIMES by the French Commissioners. The paper will appear daily in its usual from—from eight to thirty-two pages—issued from a Goss four-deck, patented, straight-line newspaper printing press, capable of printing at a speed of fifty thousand newspapers par hour, printed on both sides, folded and counted. The press will be installed in the centre of the American to the Annex to the Building of Liberal Arts and Chemical Industries. The exhibit will give a complete demonstration of the manner of issuing an American newspaper, including the operation of a battery of typesetting machines, stereotyping, and the most approved modern American appliances, an exhibit which will be entirely novel to Europeans.

The Paris Exposition Edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES will be gratuitously distributed at the place of production by many thousands each day, and will besides be procurable at newspaper koisks at over Paris, and generally distributed throughout Europe.

THE NEW YORK TIMES will be the only newspaper of the world published on the Exposition grounds, and will endeavor to maintain in its international character the ideal it has sought to attain in America.

Although THE NEW YORK TIMES enjoys exclusively the privilege of publication on the grounds, it will offer to the newspapers of the country the opportunity to exhibit the merits and quality of their own publications and to set forth the commerical importance and attractions of their localities.

Birth of Wild Geese.

Wild geese, it is said, breed in the interior of Alaska and eastward to the Hudson Bay country. It is estimated that fully 1,000,000 of these birds return from the south every spring to pass over Canada on their way to their place of birth to reproduce their kind. One-tenth of their number is annually slaughtered for the use of the Hudson Bay officers at the various Hudson Bay Company's forts, and by Montagnais Indians of the Labrador peninsula, and American sportsmen are mainly responsible for the destruction that keeps down the natural increase of the species to about its normal size.

"Delays Are Dangerous.

A small pimple on your face may seem of little consequence, but it shows your blood is impure, and impure blood is what causes most of the diseases from which people suffer. Better heed the warning given by the pimple and purify your blood at once by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine cures all diseases due to bad blood, including scorfula and salt rheum.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the Rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed, and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our company owns, clear of incumbrances, the following claims: The Sedalia Extension; the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen at Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main trunk line of the great Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, and also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

At The Times Bookstore.

Parties desiring a copy of the Portfolio 'Glimpses of South Africa in Peace and in War' can now be supplied with same at ten cents a copy. The Portfolio ends with No. 18 and to get them all makes a nice large book, but those who only care to have a few numbers as a momento of the war, would do well to take advantage of the reduction in price at an early date. Call or address Times Bookstore.

On the Rocks.

The North Star took an excursion from Gore's Landing to Healey's Falls on Friday, and on account of the strong wind the boat did not leave for home until eleven o'clock at night. After passing through the locks at Hastings the steamer was blown on the rocks, where she remained until Saturday evening. She did not reach Gore's Landing until late Saturday night. Mrs. W. Salisbury, of town, and a party of friends, were on board, and had a very unpleasant experience.

Changed Hands.

The Palace Restaurant has changed hands, Messrs. LeBrun and Felcher having sold out to Mr. Joseph Armstrong, formerly of the Bodega, who will conduct the business in future.

Died in Rat Portage.

Hon. Geo. A. Cox received a despatch yesterday from Rat Portage, stating that a Wm. Robertson, of Peterborough, had died there, and requesting him to communicate with deceased's relatives, and advise as to what to do with the remains. The friends, if there are any in town, will take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Carrying Disease.

There is strong reason to believe that disease is being spread through the means of milk and bread tickets. We notice in Western Ontario Boards of Health are taking steps to prevent this, by compelling bakers and milkmen to use coupon tickets, so that no tickets will be used more than once. It might be well for our own Board of Health to consider this question.

DANGE IN FOOD.

or Wonders in Health.

It is worth knowing that a change in food can cure dyspepsia. "I deem it my duty to let you know how Grape-Nuts food has cured me of indigestion.

"I had been troubled with it for years, until last year my doctor recommended Grape-Nuts food to be used every morning. I followed instructions and now I am entirely well.

"The whole family like Grape-Nuts. We used four packages a week. You are welcome to use this testimonial as you see fit. I am willing to give any information to anyone who desires to see or write me regarding Grape-Nuts." Respectfully, Mrs. C. H. Lowe, 681 Parker St. Roxbury, Mass.

The reason Mrs. Lowe was helped by the use of Grape-Nuts food, is that the food is predigested by natural processes and therefore does not tax the stomach as the food she had been using; it also contains the elements required for building up the nervous system. In that part of the human body is in perfect working order, there can be no dyspepsia, for nervous energy represents the steam that drives the engine.

When the nervous system is run down, the machinery of the body works badly. Grape-Nuts food can be used by small children as well as adults. It is perfectly cooked and ready for instant use.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. Arthur Lang is home for the vacation.

Mr. M. W. Brandon, Fenelon Falls, is in town.

Mr. James Holmes, of North Dakota, formerly of Cartwright, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. Frank Gray and Mr. Guy Galvin, Lakefield, of football fame, were in town yesterday.

Miss Clara Thompson, of Bobcaygeon, spent Sunday ion town, the guest of Mrs .W. H. Robertson.

Mrs. E. T. Lush, 579 Bethune street, will be at home to her friends Tuesday and Wednesday, July 3rd and 4th.

HOW MONEY IS WASTED

The Cattle Pen—Another Glaring Piece o Civic Botchwork.

The new cattle pens on the market have cost the town a good deal already, and are to cost still more. The Council recently ordered Cement floors to be placed in the pens. The fool way the work has been done has made the pens a literal cess pool, there being no escape for the water, it now being ankle deep.

The Board of health has taken action, and proposes to empty the whole business into the sewer. This means that a sewer connection will have to be made, and a trap basin put in at considerable cost. The cement flooring will have to be broken open in order to let out the water and altogether the job is one that reflects no credit on our own Engineering department.

One Dose

Tells the story. When your head aches, and you feel bilious, constipated, and out of tune, with your stomach sour and no appetite, just buy a package of

Hood's Pills

And take a dose, from 1 to 4 pills. You will be surprised at how easily they will do their work, cure your headache and biliousness, rouse the liver and make you feel happy again. 25 cents. Sold by all medicine dealers.

STRATHCONA'S RECEIVE BAPTISM OF FIRE.

Vhe War office Has Issued a Complete List of Casualties During the War.

STILL ANOTHER MARK FOR METHUEN.

Methuen Captures Another of De Wet's Lieutenants, Along With the Head of Afrikander—There is a Good Deal of Sniping.

London, July 3. The American hospital ship Maine has reached Southampton with another batch of wounded soldiers from South Africa. A distinguished party, including Princess Louise, Lady Randolph Churchill and Mes Dames Blow, Ronalds, Adair and Chamberlain met her in the Solent.

London, July 3. The War Office to-day issued a return of the British casualties in South Africa since the beginning of the war. The total losses, exclusive of sick and wounded have been 20,796, of which the killed in action were 354 officers and 3,493 non commissioned officers and men. Died of wounds, 70 officers and 619 non-commissioned officers and men. Missing and prisoners, 65 officers and 2,624 non-commissioned officers and men. Died of disease, 128 officers and 4,074 non-commissioned officers and men. Invalided home, 344 officers, and 13,463 non-commissioned officers and men.

London, July 4. Nothing decisive has yet been heard from the columns seeking to them in General DeWet. All of Lord Roberts' field transport is engaged apparently in supplying these columns. One thousand Boers are hanging on General Clery's right flank in his advance to Greylingstad. Strathcona's Horse on July 1, received its baptism of fire, in which one trooper was killed. Captain Cooper is reported as missing.

London, July 3.—The following despatch has been received at the War Office from Lord Roberts—

"Pretoria, July 3.—General Hunter's Division has crossed the Vaal and should be at Frankfort to-day, where he will be joined by Col. MacDonald's brigade from Heilbron.

"General Buller's leading brigade has left Standerton for Greylingstad.

"Both here and at Johannesburg several families of the men who have been fighting against us are being fed, some are in a state of destitution. At Heilbron, where the food supplies ran out, groceries, meat and other supplies of food are being distributed among the inhabitants under the supervision of the relief committee. Arrangements are being made for the distribution of oats for seed purposes to farmers actually in need of it—those who are unable to procure seed oats in any other manner."

WITHOUT A CHIEF.

London, July 3.—The following despatch was received this afternoon at the War Office from Lord Roberts—

"Pretoria, July 3.—General Hunter reached Frankfort July 1, without opposition, and MacDonald joined him there yesterday. He found two men of the Seaforths and eighteen of the Derby militia in the hospital. They had been well treated by the Boers.

"Methuen reports from Paardekraal, on the Heilbron-Kroonstad road, that he has captured the commander of De Wet's scouts, two other prisoners and Andreas Wessels, the head of the Afrikander Bund."

HAS REACHED GREYLINGSTAD.

The War Office has received the following despatch from General Buller—

"Standerton, July 3.—Clery occupied Greylingstad yesterday night, without opposition, but met with a good deal of sniping. There were four or five casualties."

CORNERING GENER DE WET.

The Operations Are Very Tedious, and Not Much Interest Being Taken.

London, July 3.—The operation of cornering General De Wet is proving as tedious as the early attempts to relieve Ladysmith, and is beginning to suggest far-fetched comparisons drawn from ancient times when years were sometimes occupied in concluding a single campaign. Lord Roberts is clearly leaving nothing to chance, but in endeavoring by a well-ordered arrangement of strong columns to overbear the Boer leader and his guerilla band. General Hunter, who not long ago marched eastward across the Transvaal and captured Klerksdorp, Potchefstroom and Johannesburg, with the railway line connecting them, is now being drawn into the campaign south of the Vaal. Advancing from Johannesburg he has moved southward across the border, and to-day reached Frankfort, twenty miles south of it, and about sixty miles south of Heidelburg, where Gen. Ian Hamilton is stationed. At Frankfort he was joined by 4,000 men from Heilbron, and will, in all likelihood, now move south ward upon Bethlehem or Harrismith, both of which are connected with Frankfort by straight roads about seventy miles in length. This move is one of great significance, for it marks the final stages of the pursuit after DeWet. As has been previously stated, a cordon has been drawn around DeWet and he is held within a strong circle of British troops. General Hunter, with about 15,000 men, is now being sent into the centre of that circle to rout out the Boers from their lair, for Bethlehem and Harrismith are the headquarters from which they are operating and where they are to be assailed. In brief, Lord Roberts has surrounded De Wet's stronghold and is sending a force to oust the occupant. When the column comes in contact with the Boers interesting developments may be expected; for there appears no method of escape for the enemy except by a miraculous withdrawal through the British lines, a feat which Cronje attempted with signal non-success.

Meanwhile General Buller is filling up the gap which separates him from Hamilton. One of his brigades has made a successful march on Greylingstad, nearly half way to Heidelberg, so that the line from Standerton to Heidelberg is almost complete. A strong force of 3,000 Boers is, however, threatening General Buller's right flank from the neighborhood of Amesfoort, about thirty miles away, and he must use the greatest caution in his advance northward lest the railway, which he has been repairing, is again destroyed. This force is evidently waiting an attempt on the part of De Wet to cross the Vaal and break the British line to the north with the object of rendering him assistance by making a simultaneous attack. Here is a complication which will add to the interest of the proceedings which are about to take place in this particular corner of the campaign area.

The reply of Lord Roberts to the criticisms regarding hospital arrangements is by most thinking people, considered to be sufficient. There are, of course, some persons who consider that each soldier in the firing line should have a feather bed to fall upon when he is wounded, and that no general should advance to the attack until his hospital tents are erected in close proximity to the expected battle field. This class of critic will not be satisfied to accept the reasonable explanation that suffering and inconvenience are inseparable from war, but as he is not numerous his views will not exercise great weight.

London, July 3.—The following despatch was received this afternoon at the War Office from Lord Roberts—

"Pretoria, July 3.—General Hunter reached Frankfort July 1st, without opposition, and Macdonald joined him there yesterday. He found two men of the Seaforths and eighteen of the Derby Militia in the hospital. They had been well treated by the Boers.

"Methuen reports from Paardekraal, on the Heilbron-Kroonstad road, that he has captured the commander of De Wet's scouts, two other prisoners, and Andeias Wessels, the head of the Afrikander Bund."

The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. Buller—

"Standerton, July 3.—Clery occupied Greylingstad yesterday night without opposition, but met with a deal of sniping. There were four or five casualties."

LORD ROBERTS' REPLY.

To Charges of Army Hospital Mismanagement.

London, July 3.—Bennet Burleigh wires from Pretoria that Lord Roberts had stated to him that everything possible had been done to alleviate the suffering of the sick and wounded in South Africa. The General personally visited the hospitals himself repeatedly, in order to assure himself that the patients were made comfortable and had the utmost attention.

He says he believes the treatment of the sick and wounded throughout compares favorably with that witnessed in any campaign of recent wars.

Lord Roberts confirmed the correctness of his reported interview with Conan Doyle, in which he said:—

"The medical arrangements of the hospital at Bloemfontein were certainly very severely tried. The reason was that the outbreak of enteric fever was exceedingly violent. All the sick were concentrated in one town at the same time. Under the circumstances of unprecedented pressure of sickness and its limited means the medical departments did very well.

"As to jolting wagons, that is not peculiar to South Africa. There are no other means by which to move the wounded and sick, as a rule, but war campaigning, it should never be forgotten, must necessarily entail painful scenes of suffering."

CORPORAL IRVINE DEAD.

Canadian Died at Bloemfontein—Capt. Gaskin Dangerously Ill.

London, July 3.—The War Office issued a list of 26 deaths from disease in South Africa, including Corp. R. Irvine, of the Canadian infantry, at Bloemfontein.

Capt. J. M. Gaskin, of the Canadian artillery, is dangerously ill at Kimberley.

Corp. R. Irvine was a member of B company, first contingent. He joined as a private, but was later promoted to the rank of corporal. He was formerly a member of the 19th, St. Catharines, Battalion.

BOTHA OUT ON BAIL.

The Boer Commandant released at Cape Town.

Cape Town, July 3.—Commandant Philip Botha, who was captured by the British near Kroonstad May 17, has been released under heavy bail. He is to reside at Aliwal North until the conclusion of his preliminary examination.

The Great West

Mr. Burton H. Bennett, General Agent—Chicago and Western Railway, was in town yesterday and made a contract with the Times to advertise the great railway. Mr. Bennett's headquarters are in Toronto, where he looks after the Canadian business. He uses only the leading papers and naturally includes this great family journal.

WEDDING BELLS.

Marriage of Miss Ella Cahill to Mr. J. J. English.

A very interesting event took place in St. Peter's cathedral yesterday morning, when Mr. John J. English, of Hastings, was united in marriage to Miss M. E. Cahill, eldest daughter of the late Thos. Cahill, Esq. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Maguire, of Hastings, assisted by Ven. Archdeacon Casey. The wedding was of a private nature, only the members of the families of the bride and groom being present.

Miss Aggie Cahill, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. Wm. English, of Stirling, attended the groom. The bride looked charming in a wedding gown of white silk and lace and wore a picture hat of black and white. She was given away by her uncle, Mr. Thos Sheehan, of Bay City, Mich. The bridesmaid wore a gown of white organdie and a picture hat of black and white.

Mr. and Mrs. English left on the 11.27 C.P.R. express for Montreal, whence they will sail on Saturday for Europe. They will visit Paris and other continental points, returning in about two months. Their many friends will wish them a pleasant trip and a happy wedded life.

AKEY—WATT.

A quiet wedding was happily solemnized at six o'clock Monday evening at the residence of Mr. Robt. Watt, when his daughter, Miss Bertha Watt, was married to Mr. Wm. H. Akey. Rev. W. L. Armitage officiated. Her sister, Miss Violet Watt, attended the bride, and Miss Gladys Henderson was maid of honor, and the groom was supported by Mr. Robt. Bullen. The happy couple, who will have the well-wishes of many friends, left for a honeymoon trip to Detroit and the west.

FIRE HORROR IS WORSE.

Over Two Hundred and Seventy Persons are Now Missing—Not One Hundred Bodies Recovered—Some Wonderful Escapes.

New York, July 2.—Over two hundred and fifty persons perished by fire and water, scores more were injured, three great ocean liners were destroyed, and millions in property were lost Saturday afternoon in one of the greatest catastrophes New York has ever known. The fire started about 4 o'clock in one of the piers of the North German Lloyd line, in Hoboken. In nine minutes five acres of piers were in flames, and the destruction of three steamships was begun. The Saale, survivor of many misfortunes, drifted down the Hudson to a fiery end, carrying with her scores of helpless men trapped in her hull. The Bremen, built only three years ago, is a hopeless wreck. It was impossible to save the little freighter Main, and she was burned at her pier. Flames seized the big Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, but she was dragged away by tugs, and the fire extinguishers, after considerable damage had been done. The huge Campbell Storage was destroyed with its contents, valued at $1,500,000. Tugs and other craft hastened to rescue the men who, to escape from the burning boats and piers, took to the river, but in many cases the heat drove them back, and, helpless, they saw men perish before their eyes.

THE ESTIMATES.

According to careful and conservative estimates made, the loss of life may reach a total of 250, the estimates being as follows—

Missing from the steamship Saale ...128
Missing from the steamship Bremen. 54
Missing from the steamship Main ... 41
Longshoremen, boatmen and visitors. 50

Total 273

Less than two hundred bodies have been recovered, and the ruins of the piers, the waters of the harbor, the holds of the three burned vessels, and the cinder heaps on the decks and in the cabins of the Saale, the Main and the Bremen have not given up more than an inkling of

THE PHILLIPINE WAR IS STILL ON

UNCLE SAM IS HAVING HEAPS OF TROUBLE JUST NOW.

Caught in a Deadly Trap—American Force Almost Annihilated by the Phillipines—War goes Bravely on.

Manila, July 4th.—The war is still on, notwithstanding that the American politicians are saying that it is over. A despatch from interior says that the insurgents are more active than ever, and as the rainy season approaches, they are getting ready to make things hot for Uncle Sam.

Word has just been received that one hundred men and four officers of the Fortieth Infantry fell into a rebel ambush and were defeated and forced to retire.

The detachment was commanded by Captain Thomas Miller, of Company H. It left Tagayan de Misamis, a coast town, on a scouting expedition up the Tagayan River.

The next morning, while on the march the Americans were fired on by the insurgents in ambush.

The Americans found that the rebels held a strongly fortified position, but upon reforming determined to storm it.

They advanced to the charge, but the advance line's progress was barred by the Filipinos pitfalls and traps.

Several attempts to charge were frustrated, the advance line being under heavy fire from its front and on both flanks.

The garrison at Tagayan was notified, and fifty men were sent to reinforce Captain Miller's party.

Further attempts to take the Filipino position failed, and the Americans withdrew to Tagayan, their losses being eight men killed, two officers and nine men wounded, and one man missing, probably killed. The casualties were.

Killed—Company H—Robert R. Coles, John H. Haywood, Fred Holloway, John T. Pelham, Frank Salisbury, Company M—Corporal Jesse G. Moody, Michael J. McQuirk.

Wounded—Company I—Captain Walter B. Elliott, slight. Company H—Captain Thomas Miller, in thigh; slight; Jeff Effig, moderate; James W. Jefferies, slight, Roxie Wheaton, moderate; George Hollarif, slight; Murley Phillips, severe; John W. Smith severe. Company M—Edwin E. Williams, severe. Company K—George W. Wells, severe; Lex M. Kaunters, moderate.

Educating the Children.

A leading citizen stated that he was opposed to the present system of teaching in the public schools. He believes that the morning should be devoted to the hearing of lessons and the afternoon to perparing the lessons to be recited the next morning. He does not favour the present mode of giving children under fourteen years of age, home work, as every child under fourteen should be in bed not later than half past eight. If they have home work to do then the children have no time for recreation.

The Protestant Home.

The Committee of Management of the P. P. Home gratefully acknowledge the following donations for the month of June—Murray Street Baptist church, cake; Mrs. (Dr.) Burnham, Toronto papers; Mrs. Irwin, childrens' clothing; Mrs. J. H. Bell, milk; Miss Edwards, reading matter; St. Luke's church, flowers; Mrs. McWhinnie, cake and sandwiches; Rev. Mr. Bennet, reading matter; Miss Liew, magazines.

THE CHINESE IN PEKIN ARE GREATLY EXCITED.

They Carry The Heads of Legation Guards on Spears Through the City.

THE LAST VESTIGE OF HOPE HAS NOW GONE.

For Foreigners That Were Barred Up in the Chinese — Empress and Emprror Dethroned by Prince Tuan—Forty Thousand Squabbling Soldiers.

Washington, July 3. While doubt existed at first as to the extent of the casualties reported by Admiral Kempff last evening, via Che Foo, the Navy Department has finally accepted his cablegram as showing that the casualties were ten killed and thirty-seven wounded among the American landing forces. Of the ten killed, four had been previously reported killed.

London, July 4, 4.30 a.m. Couriers who are arriving at the seats of Government of the Southern Viceroys, from their agents in Pekin give vivid, but doubtful accounts of what is being enacted in the Capital. These couriers seemingly left Pekin a day or two later than the message of Sir Robert Hart, the Inspector General of Customs, who started on the night of June 24. They report that the heads of some of the captured Legation Guards were being borne through the streets on the tops of spears, followed by zealots chanting, "Kill the foreign devils, kill, kill." The city's millions have been aroused to frenzy, breaking out into the wildest excess, while over half the city could be heard defiling around the Legations.

London, July 3.—The fact that the relief column has been unable to leave Tien Tsin in response to the pathetic prayer of the beleaguered Legations at Pekin, is regarded generally in London as destroying almost the last vestige of hope for the unfortunate foreigners pent up in the Chinese capital. The worst is feared, and the massacre of Cawnpore is in every man's mind. It is beginning to be felt here that the plausible fiction that no state of war existed is no longer tenable, and a fully equipped modern army, belonging to a single nationality is necessary to deal with the situation, instead of the assorted expedition of a half dozen nationalities. Hence arises the demand that Japan shall be given a mandate to complete the work left undone in 1894, with proper security that she shall not be again squeezed out when the costly task is over.

ANARCHY AT THE CAPITAL.

Empress and Emperor Dethroned by Prince Tuan.

London, July 3.—While fighting still proceeds at Tien Tsin, and in the neighborhood, there has been a revolution at Pekin, by which Prince Tuan has dethroned the Empress and Emperor, and made his own son Emperor. The facts about the revolution in the palace are still obscure, but it is evident that there has been a state of anarchy in the Capital, with 20,000 soldiers fighting inside the walls, and as many outside, and that the Legations are at the mercy of mobs of armed men, who are bent upon destroying all the foreigners.

MUST HAVE MORE MEN.

Will Require 50,000 Soldiers to Relieve Pekin.—Cannon Command the Legations There.

Tien Tsin, July 3.—A courier from Sir Robert Hart, Inspector-General of Customs, at Pekin, has just arrived. He left Pekin on Monday, June 25, and reports the situation desperate. He reports Baron von Ketteler, the German Minister, and his secretary, attempted to visit the Tsung Li Yamen. The Minister was shot four times, and died at the rooms of the Tsung Li Yamen. His secretary succeeded in making his escape. All of the Legations except the British, German and Italian have been destroyed. The diplomats and missionaries are in the British Legations under rifle fire. Cannon command the Legations, but they are not being used.

It is impossible to start relief to Pekin at present. Capt. McCalla, commander of the United States cruiser Newark, estimates that fifty thousand soldiers will be required for the rescue of the Ministers.

THEY BEAT HIM TO DEATH.

The German Consul at Pekin Was Assuredly Murdered.

Berlin, July 3.—The murder of the German Consul at Pekin has been officially confirmed. Baron von Ketteler, while riding on horseback to Tsung Li Yamen (Foreign Office), was attacked by large numbers of Chinese, who pulled him off his horse and beat him to death. An interpreter who was with him was seriously injured, but escaped and subsequently reached the German Legation.

When Privy Councillor Hammann was asked whether the course of Germany or that of the other powers towards China will be altered by the assassination of Baron von Ketteler, he replied that he was unable to answer the question, nor could he say whether or not the Chinese Minister here would be given his passports.

DIED IN RAT PORTAGE.

The Peterboro Man Who Died at Rat Portage Probably Identified.

The Times published a despatch from Senator Cox yesterday which he received from Rat Portage announcing the death of a Mr. Wm. Robertson, or Robson, which occurred at that place. Yesterday there were a number of enquiries as to the matter. Mr. Job says that the dead man is probably his brother-in-law, who went to Winnipeg some six weeks ago and who was probably on his way home. Mr. Robson is a man of about 60 years of age, and has a wife and family residing on Albert street.

Mr. Job wired Rat Portage for particulars, but had received no answer up till late last night.

A Supply of Fish

Mr. Carme LeBrun leaves in a few days for Stoney Lake, where he will spend July and August. He is going fully prepared to do credit to himself as a worthy disciple of that famous fisherman, Isaac Walton. He has promised to see that the editor of the g.f.j. will have a plentiful supply of Stoney Lake bass, maskinonge and salmon. Still, notwithstanding this, we are not disposed to break off friendly intercourse with our local fish dealer.

Result of a Wind

The high wind of last week caused lots of damage in this vicinity. In addition to blowing down fences, tearing branches off trees, etc., it has done serious injury to the fruit crop. Parties tell us that, their prospects for apples, pears, etc., were excellent, but after three days' blow the ground under every tree was strewn with the fruit. It was certainly an ill wind to the fruit growers.

Raspberry Crop

The raspberry crop will be a large one this year, but people should remember that most of the growers have been spraying their bushes.

INDIANS OF THE NORTH GATHER AND THREATEN

RAINY RIVER RED MEN IN A HOSTIL MOOD.

Is There to be Another Rebellion?—Sensational Despatch to the Effect that an Indian Uprising is Threatened.

Rat Portage, Ont July 4.—There is a threatened uprising of Indians on the Rainy River, Ontario. One thousand Indians are gathered near the mouth of Rainey River. Leech Lake Indians are said to be among them, inciting them to murder and pillage.

The settlers are sending out their women and children. One hundred and fifty reached here on the Keenora tonight. The Indians are also gathering at Rainey Lake.

Indian Agents say they know of no special grievance, but belief is expressed that nothing less than a display of force by Canada and the United States will avert an uprising.

Duluth, Minn., July 4.—F. A. King of Grand Rapids, who returned this morning from the Rainey Lake country, says that Indians from both the American and Canadian sides are reported to be gathering at [illegible] Bay, on [illegible] & Rainey Lake, on the Canadian side, about fifty miles from Fort Frances. The settlers are becoming extremely alarmed [illegible]

NOT PLEASANT TO CONTEMPLATE

Based upon the most authentic advices it is calculated that the wheat crop of the Northwest on both sides of the boundary line will this fall scarcely be more than half the yield of last year. The predicated shortage is attributed to the dry weather and backward season. Not only the great staple wheat, but oats and barley, and other grain are suffering for want of rain. The outlook is certainly not encouraging, but fortunately there are in Canada at the present time exceptional resources for meeting the threatened failure. The phenomenal crop of 1899 has left in the hands of farmers and others a large surplus, and as the wheat now stored in their barns and in the elevators will soon be marketed, this season's failure may possibly pass off without a serious shrinkage of business. Meantime the price of wheat is advancing rapidly. Manitoba wheat has gone up nearly 25 cents per bushel this month, and in Chicago the dollar mark has been reached in the quotation for No. 1 hard. The Globe says that this advance does not seem to be a temporary flurry in the market, for it is sustained by unfavorable reports not merely from the Canadian and American wheat areas, but from Argentina, France and Russia also.

Whether the increased value per bushel will compensate the producers of the Northwest for the shortage of their crop it is impossible to say, but without a doubt consumers may make up their minds to pay a much stiffer price for their flour than they did a year ago.

At any time the universal shortage in the wheat crop is regarded as a serious calamity, but just now with the fanatical uprising in China on the world's hands—the result of which none can foretell—and the otherwise disturbed condition of international affairs, the gravity of the situation becomes much enhanced.

THE ESTIMATES.

A glance at the supplementary estimates ought to satisfy the observant man that a Dominion election is at hand. In ordinary business life the business manager who runs his expense account in the year his contract terminates away above the expense account of other years would expect, and would get the sack, but the rule is reversed in politics, and the government usually presents its biggest bills in election years, the reason of this being that governments have got in the habit in Canada of regarding expenditures for public works as a convenient and effective way of bribing constituencies where it is felt bribes are necessary. Nor is the government altogether to blame for this mixing politics with business. Applicants for public works are not slow to threaten that the withholding of the desired grant will mean the loss of the riding, while promising that the expenditure on the other hand will make it so solid that the enemy will not be able to buy it ever.

Theoretically every elector condemns extravagance, but the elector who will condemn extravagance when the extravagance is committed in his own riding has yet to be heard from.

Just as the yachtsman who can sail closest to the wind and blanket his rival is considered the best sailor, so the politician who can sail closest to extravagance without making the country restless is considered the most statesmanlike, and is usually the most successful.

There is no call these days for the fellow who is content to steer the ship of state in a middle course with just enough of a leeway to make her travel comfortably.

THE ANTICOSTA SETTLERS.

There is a deep pathos in the story of the Fox Bay settlers, in Anticosta. Here is a simple, God-fearing people driven from their homes at the point of the bayonet—almost literally so—by the command of a stranger who paid for territorial rights which left the squatters at his mercy. They are threatened with imprisonment; they are turned out shelterless after the barbarous fashion of an Irish eviction; they are brought a heavy distance to court, only to learn that the new proprietor has the law on his side, and that they must leave; they are finally; after being driven from post to pillar, asked to go forth into the wilderness in the great North West and make new homes for themselves. They set out with broken hearts, but with obedience; they are leaving all that is dear to them behind; they turn their faces to a new world, and new conditions, and are asked to re-make themselves—men in middle life, men with grey hairs—in a new environment, all strange and lonely and sad to them. It is pitiful enough, God knows. Legality may be on the side of the new proprietor of Anticosti; legality divorced from equity and mercy, is a harsh instrument and he who applies it, with such severance, may be wealthy and strong, but he is not a humane man, and it is only humane men that the world respects.

MOY KEY AS A BOY.

A Chinese Talks of His Childhood in the Old Country.

"When I was a boy," said Moy Kee, tea merchant, laundryman and interpreter, at 216 North Delaware street, "I went to school in my native village of Shin-King, eighty-seven miles from Pekin. I was 7 years old when I started to school and, of course, the teacher was a man. Now there are women teaching in China, Chinese women, but that is a new thing. We sat on stools with desks before us and studied aloud. At 10 years old I could write very well, and had to learn every word of a long lesson by heart. The teacher had a stick, and sometimes, but not often, he would punish a boy, either by striking him on the hand or on the seat of his trousers.

"There are no bad boys in China as there are here in this country. The boys are respectful and polite to all who are older than themselves, and while they have their plays and their fun they do not think it fun to hurt any one.

"You have seen boys place a package on the sidewalk and when a person stoops to pick it up you have seen that package (for there is a string tied to it, and a boy at the other end of the string) move away under a crack in the fence. That's an old trick in China.

"The boys here in America do not know what long school hours are. I went to school early in the morning, before the birds began to sing. After that we went to breakfast and then to dinner and in the evening to supper. Those were long, long days, the boys here would say, but we Chinese boys did not say anything about it. We just sat on our stools and sung out our lesson all at the same time as loud as we could.

"Vacation came along in the harvest time when the rice was gathered. Then we played at flying kites. We did not, as boys do here, fly kites any time. No, there was a season for it, and we flew them at no other times. The boys in China walk on stilts just as boys do here, and play at blindfold, hide and seek and leap frog, but all in a different way from here.

"We had great sport fighting beetles. We would find these in the fields and train them to fight and we would lay wagers on which would win just as you do here on prizefighters.

"No neighborhood in China can afford to have a bad boy in it. Suppose a Chinese New Year, when we are all shooting firecrackers, some one would shoot a revolver. There would be great trouble. Not only would the one who shot the revolver be punished, but his relatives and neighbors and the magistrate of the district would be punished or reprimanded, because in China such things must not happen. A stranger could walk through my village day or night with no one to hurt him. He would be safe all the time. It is not so in this country.

"We had great sport in shooting at sparrows with bow and arrow, and nobody ever shot at persons, as some boys do here with airguns. The boys in China laugh a great deal, and laugh very loud sometimes, but they have plenty of sport without hurting any one.

"When I was a boy 9 years old my mother died and my father gave me a stepmother. When I was 12 years old my uncle, a tea merchant in San Francisco, brought me to this country. Twenty-eight years ago (I am now 53 years old) I went back to China and got a wife. My father and my stepmother found a wife for me. I did not know her. I did not see her until we were married, but she is a good wife and came to America with me. She is the only Chinawoman in Indianapolis, and I think the only one in Indiana. I have been back to China eighteen times, but I am a naturalized American citizen, and vote at elections.

Pimples

Are more than a disfigurement of the skin; they are a handicap to a young man, alike in love and business. The pimply face looks dissipated and both merchant and maiden look askance at the unfortunate fellow whose face is his misfortune. An almost certain cure for pimples and similar disfiguring eruptions is found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It purifies the blood of the corrupting cause of ordinary eruptive diseases, cleanses the skin and builds up the body with sound wholesome flesh. "Discovery" contains neither alcohol nor narcotics.

"I am well pleased with your medicine," writes John A. [illegible], Esq., of No. 818 [illegible] St., Columbus, Ga. "In the I was working at night and I broke out in lumps all over, and when these left the skin peeled off. I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and two of Doctor Pierce's Pellets, and I do believe that I am sound and well. I have a good appetite, but before I commenced treatment I had no appetite at all. My eyes were sunken and my face was pale. I had pimples and brown spots on my face. Now these are all gone. I have used many kinds of medicines but received no benefit. Last year I weighed one hundred and thirty-four pounds, and now I weigh one hundred and forty-five. Please accept my thanks. I am so glad I found the right kind of medicine."

The Architect.

One must wonder why it really is that so little is said or thought about architecture, the grandest, the mother, of all arts, a great, a most useful, science, one in which a greater revolution has lately taken place and in which more progress has been made, with more stupendous results, than in any other, remarks a writer in The International Magazine.

Was it not Richelieu who, paraphrasing an ancient writer, said: "If it is versatility you seek, go find an architect. He must be an artist, or his buildings will offend the eye; an engineer, or they will crumble into trouble; a lawyer, or he will get his patrons into trouble; a doctor, or his buildings will be hygienically unfit to live in, and, last, but not least, he must be a gentleman, or we will have nothing to do with him."

BROCKVILLE'S GREAT FIRE

Property Valued at $200,000 Destroyed on Sunday

Brockville, Ont. July 4.—Fire was discovered in Cossitt Bros.' implement works about 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and in the space of four hours about $200,000 worth of property was destroyed. The fire started in the frame warehouse adjoining the main building, the contents of which were of a very inflammable nature, and in a short time the whole building was in flames. A very strong north wind fanned the flames and in spite of the efforts of the firemen the flames spread to the large main building. The latter building was of brick and a portion of it was saved, including the [illegible] rooms and storehouse, containing several hundred implements. The fire spread across the street to Cossitt Bros.' lumber yards, in which were three frame sheds. These were destroyed, together with a great many piles of lumber. Burning brands ignited three small dwellings adjoining the lumber yard, and those were destroyed also. The wind carried the burning brands for blocks, setting fire to roofs in every direction. A double house on the corner of Bethune and James streets, several blocks away from the fire, owned by Mrs. Cranston, was ignited by that means and totally destroyed. The roofs of Victoria school and St. Vincent de Paul hospital caught fire also, but no serious damage was done. Fortunately the wind subsided, and the firemen succeeded in confining the fire to the building mentioned. Cossitt Bros.' foundry and most of their finished implements were saved, as well as all their books and patterns. They are still in a position to continue their business and have already moved their offices to another portion of the building. They roughly estimate their loss at something over $100,000, and they carried an insurance of $50,000. The building is situated beside the G.T.R. shops, and it is supposed a spark from a passing engine started the fire. An appeal for assistance was made to Ottawa, Smith's Falls and Prescott, and those towns sent their fire engines by special train.

Eating and Sleeping

Food supplies the substance for repairing the wastes of the body, and gives strength. Sleep affords the opportunity for these repairs to be made. Both are necessary to health. A Curious Lake.

A curious phenomenon is that metal never rusts in the waters of Lake Titicaca. You can throw in a chain or an anchor or any article of ordinary iron and let it lie for weeks, and when you haul it up it will be as clean and bright as when it came from the foundry. And, what is stranger still, rust that has been formed upon metallic objects elsewhere will peel off when immersed in its waters. This is frequently noticed by railway and steamship men. Rusty car wheels and rails and even machinery can be brightened by soaking them in the waters of Lake Titicaca.—Chicago Record.

Just where the large crowds that suddenly fill the galleries of the senate and house when a notable speech is being made come from is a puzzle. They spring up, however, and as strangely disappear into nothingness.

THE FAMINE IN INDIA.

Is More Distress Than in 1876 or 1896—the Drought Also Severe.

The following account of the famine in India is given in a letter sent to Peterborough by the Rev. Edward Fairbank, a missionary at Vadala, India.

"Here at Vadala and within three miles of us there are 8,000 persons on the relief work. It was only two weeks ago that there were less than 8,000. People are flocking to these camps by the hundreds. The overseer of the works told me Monday that he took on 900 that day, on the relief works here at Vadala. These facts alone will show the stress is rapidly growing extreme.

"The condition of the people on the relief works is far beyond description. Three years ago at Sholapur, at the end of the famine I saw less wretchedness emaciation than I see here today, at the beginning of the famine. People have not recovered from the last famine. They have nothing in their houses to pawn but a few brass vessels they have been able to buy since that famine. These brass dishes are now being pawned by those who come on to the relief works. It is their last resort to keep their bodies and souls together before they get relief from the Government paymasters. The merchants here and in the near villages have cartloads on cartloads of brass dishes. There is great suffering from the cold in the nights of these winter days. The people are not only clothless, but almost ragless. The wretchedness is terrible. But still worse is the emaciation. Living skeletons in abundance are in evidence on every side. The village kulkarani tells me that many children are dying in the camp—too far gone to recover. Many men and women have also died here; the only reason given is lack of food. Last night a man died in the camp who they say had not had anything to eat for three days.

"This famine is undoubtedly far more severe in these parts than that of 1876 or that of 1896. One of the worst features is the lack of water. Rivers, usually flowing full at this time, are dry beds of sand. Wells that have never failed before in the memory of any one living have not a drop of water in them. The well that waters our garden and has never failed since my father came here almost forty-five years ago is dry. The village well that was supposed to have a large living spring has nothing in it now. Our little town is, however, well off in the matter of water as compared with most of the towns and villages in these parts.

"Government officers tell me that the Indian Government looks with the greatest apprehension on the famine. They already feel themselves unable to cope with it, so great are its dimensions and proportions at the very opening, and without any doubt for nine months more the famine must rage.

"Undoubtedly private philanthropy must supply great help in this famine, far greater than in the last famine, if millions in these and other parts of India are to be saved from starvation.

Art Treasures in Japan.

The Japanese idea in regard to art treasures is quite different from the American idea, as seen in the home. The American method is to keep all the good pictures or beautiful bronzes or unique vases in evidence all the time. The Japanese way is to store the artistic belongings, bringing different ones to light for a time, and thereby avoiding the too abundant appearance that is often the rule

DEATH,S QUEER FORMS.

Incidents of the Manner in Which the Dark Angel Comes.

Death has never indulged in more apparently wanton caprices than during the past six weeks. What could be more unique, for instance, than the fate which overtook a colored marauder in Lincoln county, North Carolina, on the night of December 16th. He had stolen a dressed hog from a farmer's smokehouse, and with it upon his back, reached a fence, where he stuck fast and died. In the morning the hog was found on one side of the fence and the thief on the other, his neck firmly held by the gambrel stick, which, thrust through the animal's out spread limbs, had served to hang it up.

On December 29th Theodore Heath of Cathcart, Ont., swallowed his false teeth while at dinner and died before the following morning. Two days later Terrence Devlin of New York performed the novel feat of swallowing his windpipe. This was made possible by the windpipe being a false one of silver, which was displaced by a street-car collision.

The strangest ending of all, however, was that which befell three-year-old Carl Martin of Rochester, N. Y., who swallowed some uncooked Lima beans, which sprouted in his stomach and killed him.

Harvey Sprinkle started from Huntington, W. Va., for his home on the Upper Guyan, on Christmas night and being intoxicated, wandered into a pool of water, where his legs froze fast and held him till he was frozen to death. It was on Christmas, too, that Thomas Leary of Fort Hamilton, N. Y., broke Edward Watson's neck by slapping him on the back and wishing him the joy of the season.

Thomas Collins of Clarksville, Tenn., slipped between two logs in the Cumberland river and was found there, standing upright, twelve days later. A boiler exploded in John Haviland's sausage factory at Decatur, Ind., and a splinter of iron flew across the street and instantly killed Mrs. Millette, aged sixty-four, who sat at her window sewing.

Mike Hogan of Charleston, S. C., was shot because he was Irish. Alec Logan, English, and Matthew Gleason, Irish, had been engaged in a fierce dispute over the Transvaal war. Logan went home, got a shotgun, and upon his return, not being able to find Gleason, he killed Hogan, the first Irishman he met, although Hogan had not been in any way connected with the dispute.

John Edgar Gardiner of Binghamton, N. Y., shot his young wife and killed himself because he wanted his picture published in the papers.

Animals wild and domesitc, have had their full share in recent fatalities. On December 20th Sid, the big elephant in the Sells-Forepaugh circus, killed the head trainer, known as "Patsy" Forepaugh. On December 26th Abram Lefevre, a farmer of Greenland, Pa., died from the effects of a cat bite, while, on the same day, Harry Addington of Saratoga, Ind., met a similar fate through the bite of a dog. Two days later James Rowland of Marietta, O., had his neck broken by a stubborn calf. On January 1st a lion tamer named Radowsky was killed by his tawny charges in the Vienna (Austria) Zoo, and on the same day a physician of Chalet, France, was torn to pieces by his dogs.

During a Christmas rehearsal at Eastbank, W. Va., Mrs. Park Chapman dropped dead upon the stage. On the Sunday before Christmas Mrs. Margaret Usher died while kneeling in prayer in St. Patrick's Church, Covington, Ky., and on the following day two other worshipers were striken by death while in the midst of their devotions. These two later tragedies occurred in Cincinnati, the victims being Philip Farrel, who breathed his last in St. Mary's Cathedrial, and Andrew Cronin, who was attending services in St Edward's Church when the last call came.

Ralph Phillipson of Chicago dropped dead on the night of January 2nd while listening to the applause following his own speech before his lodge of the B'nai B'rith order. Mrs. Mary Gordon of New York died on the following day while proclaiming in court her husband's innocence of the charge of watch-stealing.

Birth of Wild Geese.

Wild geese, it is said, breed in the interior of Alaska and eastward to the Hudson Bay country. It is estimated that fully 1,000,000 of these birds return from the south every spring to pass over Canada on their way to their place of birth to reproduce their kind. One-tenth of their number is annually slaughtered for the use of the Hudson Bay officers at the various Hudson Bay Company's forts, and by Montagnais Indians of the Labrador peninsula, and American sportsmen are mainly responsible for the destruction that keeps down the natural increase of the species to about its normal size.

PARIS
THE NEW YORK TIMES.
Daily at the Exposition

[From the New York Times March 16]

The New York Times will be published daily on the grounds of the Universal Exposition to be held at Paris.

The interest of the people of the United States in the Exposition, the very large attendance from this country already assured, and the cordial relations existing between the two Governments have seemed to us to justify this undertaking as a recognition by the American press of the world-wide influence and importance of the great French Fair to all interests of the United States; and we have sought to avail ourselves of this extraordinary opportunity for cultivating feelings of amity between the people of the two great republics.

The concession for the publication of an American newspaper on the grounds of the Exposition has been granted to THE TIMES by the French Commissioners. The paper will appear daily in its usual from—from eight to thirty-two pages—issued from a Goss four-deck, patented, straight-line newspaper printing press, capable of printing at a speed of fifty thousand newspapers per hour, printed on both sides, folded and counted. The press will be installed in the centre of the American to the Annex to the Building of Liberal Arts and Chemical Industries. The exhibit will give a complete demonstration of the manner of issuing an American newspaper, including the operation of a battery of typesetting machines, stereotyping, and the most approved modern American appliances, an exhibit which will be entirely novel to Europeans.

The Paris Exposition Edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES will be gratuitously distributed at the place of production by many thousands each day, and will besides be procurable at newspaper koisks at over Paris, and generally distributed throughout Europe.

THE NEW YORK TIMES will be the only newspaper of the world published on the Exposition grounds, and will endeavor to maintain in its international character the ideal it has sought to attain in America.

Although THE NEW YORK TIMES enjoys exclusively the privilege of publication on the grounds, it will offer to the newspapers of this country the opportunity to exhibit the merits and quality of their own publications and to set forth the commercial importance and attractions of their [illegible]

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

Among the [illegible] and original exhibits at the Paris Exposition of 1900 few have occasioned more favorable comment than the great map of the United States, 18X15 feet exhibited by the well-known advertising agency of Lord & Thomas, Chicago and New York. This map is constructed to show at a glance the various details concerning state areas and population, number of publications in each, circulation per issue, percentage of circulation to population, value of publishing plants, number of employers, averages hours of labor, average wages paid and average cost per inch for yearly advertising. A New Light

A new illuminant has been introduced in Ottawa, and if what the papers say about it is true, Peterborough people should lose no time in investigating it. It is claimed that a 60-candle power light can be furnished for one-quarter of a cent per hour. The gas used is produced by an acid and is said to be 98 per cent [illegible] pure. If the new illuminant is as good as it is claimed to be we will [illegible] about it.

INTERESTED LADIES.

Working in a Good Cause.

"In the institution where I am employed as nurse (The Home for Aged women) we find many ladies suffering from gastric trouble caused by coffee.

My own personal experience is that since a child I have been a moderate drinker of coffee but most of the latter years have suffered from acidity of the stomach, sluggish and nervousness.

I finally gave up coffee entirely, about three years ago, using hot water in its place. Of course, after removing the cause, the symptoms disappeared, but I seemed to need a beverage more strengthening than hot water, as my occupation of nurse required [illegible] exertion. I began to look about for a suitable breakfast beverage and undertook the preparation of one by browning some wheat berries and using that as coffee, but the result was far from satisfactory. Finally I came across Postum Food Coffee, on a visit at my home in Roselle, N. J., and found it exactly fitted the place.

"I have been using it regularly and introduced it to our institution. When it was first served, it was not satisfactory, but I have looked into the matter and insisted upon having it boiled fully fifteen minutes after the actual boiling had started, not counting the time that it was on the stove before boiling began. The next time it appeared you would not think it was the same article, it was so much improved. Several of the patients decided to use it to the exclusion of coffee and I found that its use reduced the number of cases of indigestion. The result has been very gratifying, and for two years now, Postum Food coffee has been in daily use at the Home.

"Mrs. Matilda Scheer and Miss Anna Merrill are desirous that their names be used to help forward the good cause. My mother has been greatly helped by the discontinuance of coffee. She was formerly subject to [illegible] but they have entirely disappeared since she has abandoned coffee and taken up Postum Food Coffee. Respectfully." Miss E. Stryker, Elizabeth, N. J.

THE SEASON NOW ON.

Stoney Lake Cottagers Rushing in Very Fast.

A great number of people took advantage of the holiday, Dominion Day, to visit Stony Lake, many going up Saturday and remaining until Tuesday morning.

The faces of most of the fishing "sports" were a picture of disappointment, as the fish could not be drawn from their hiding places by the most tempting bait, owing to the windy weather.

A large drive of logs, the property of the Dickson Co. is being run over the Burleigh dam.

The Kawartha Lake has been widely advertised during the past year, and the result can be noticed by the number of Americans, who have already arrived, and they express themselves as highly pleased with the scenery.

As usual the Empress and Majestic are prepared to undertake the season's work. The Str. Sunbeam will run a morning and evening trip. On Saturday evening Capt. White took a crowd up the Lakes, and on Dominion Day he took up the Auburn picnic.

Mr. John Crane's new cottage is having a verandah and a flag pole added.

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. East and family, of Toronto, arrived at their cottage, near Eagle Mount.

The Town's Own Works.

The Lindsay Waterworks system passed into the possession of the citizens Saturday. A special meeting of council was held in the clerk's office at 8 o'clock, which was attended by the members of the Lindsay Waterworks Company, and by the Commissioners elected by the people to manage the system. The formal transfer took place at the meeting, which was called for this purpose.

Took High Honors.

Mr. Fred. J. Sawers is maintaining at Trinity University the telling pace with which he entered upon his collegiate course. At matriculation, after a most creditable course at the Collegiate Institute, to whose excellent teaching he has brought such honor, he captured the Duke of Wellington scholarship. Entering Trinity he again took the scholarship, in his first year's examinations and at the late examinations in June he was successful again in holding the scholarship, standing first in first-class honors in classics. Mr. Sawers is to be heartily congratulated upon his continued success.

Robbed in Toronto.

While Mr. Albert Bogan, of Cleveland, Ohio, formerly of Peterborough, was on his way here last Friday, he put up at the Palmer House, Toronto, for the night, where he was relieved of $27. It appears that his room was entered by an open window, from another building, and the money taken from his pocket. Mr. Bogan invoked the assistance of the police, but was unable to recover his wealth.

CHINESE VESSELS TO ATTACK ALLIED FLEET

Admiral Seymour Wounded by Chinese Sharpshooters in Tien Tsin.

BRITISH CAPTURE AND BURN THE NEW CITY.

The Chinese Force, 140,000 Strong, Blocks the Way and Reinforcements are Expected.—Hundreds of Christains are in Deadly Peril—What Will be the Outcome

London, July 5.

This telegram has been received—Shanghai, July 4, 11.10 a.m., via Che Foo. Tien Tsin city fell between 7 and 8 o'clock on the morning of June 30. It is understood that Shanghai undoubtedly referred to the native city of Tien Tsin, from which the Chinese have been bombarding the foreign quarters, and the despatch is taken to mean that the allies are more than holding their own. The correspondent of the Express at Che Foo, telegraphing Wednesday, says—Admiral Seymour was wounded while sitting in a house in Tien Tsin, by Chinese sharp shooters.

Official news received at Che Foo shows that the Chinese have been guilty of horrible cruelty toward the wounded and captured, subjecting them to what is known as "Ling Chu," or the slicing process. The Russians are retaliating by the wholesale shooting of natives. Revolting stories are told of barbarities practised upon Japanese and European prisoners captured on the way to Pekin, though it was not known before that Admiral Seymour lost any prisoners.

An edict of Prince Tuan has reached Shanghai ordering the southern Viceroys to assemble the vessels of the Chinese fleet and to attack the warships at Shanghai.

THE NEW CITY DESTROYED.

The River is Practically Clear With the Exception of a Few Sunken Boats.

Taku, June 29, via Shanghai, July 2, and London July 4.—A reconnoitering party under Lieut. Commander Keyes, of the torpedo boat Fame, captured and destroyed the New City and the port 12 miles from Taku, June 28. There was little or no opposition. Two blue jackets were injured by an explosion and many Chinese were killed. The river is practically clear from Taku to Tien Tsin with the exception of a few sunken towboats and lighters.

In the second attack on the east arsenal on June 27, the Russian required to retire for reinforcements. A force of British, one company of Germans, and thirty Americans then engaged the enemy, who, with four guns, made a determined resistance until the whole allied force supported the artillery. The allies advanced and stormed the west end of the arsenal. Fifty Chinese were killed. The remainder retired. Lack of cavalry prevented the capture of the whole force. As soon as the allies had occupied the arsenal fifteen hundred Imperial troops made a flank attack from the city. The British and the Russian guns drove them back. The British casualties

CHINA AGAINST THE WORLD.

No Efforts at Present Being Made for an Advance to the Chinese Capital.

London, July 4.—The Chinese question becomes more interesting and at the same time more alarming. On the one hand is the spectacle of a mighty but effete nation endeavoring to unite its diverse factions in order to oust a dangerous enemy. On the other hand we see several hundreds of devoted religionists and many consular representatives in deadly peril, if indeed they have not already been sacrificed to the blood-lust of the mob. To the student of history it is apparent that a crisis in the annals of the world is at hand. The world is arrayed against China and speculation is rife as to whether China is about to perform a feat scarcely precedented in history and carve a future out of her present state of decay, by rolling back the tide of invasion which is setting in towards her shores, or whether she is going the way of all corrupt and weak civilizations toward partition and dismemberment. At present, however, this academical problem is lost sight of behind the immense cloud of anxiety which exists as to the fate of the foreign residents in Pekin and other parts of China. No effort has been made to relieve them, and it is apparent that considerable time must elapse before the powers will be in a position to force a way through the thousands of fanatics who bar their path. The present condition of affairs in China compares, if it does not exceed, any of the terrible junctures in national life which are so well known, and is more comprehensive than any of them, for almost every country, is the world is affected.

London, July 4.—"Not a single foreigner is now alive in Pekin" is the latest Chinese report which has reached Shanghai. Earlier reports from the same source describe the condition of the British Legation as something awful. It is said that the rooms of the Legation were filled with sick and wounded, the killed lying unburied in heaps. It is believed that many of the members and officials of the Tsung Li Yamen perished with the German guard, maddened by the murder of Baron Von Ketteler, the German Minister, set fire to the building. That the foreigners at the Chinese capital have been abandoned to their horrible fate seems no longer open to doubt in the light of the message received by the Associated Press from Taku this morning, announcing the decision of the admirals regarding the hopelessness of further attempts to relieve Pekin under the circumstances. The same message seems to foreshadow the evacuation of Tien Tsin by the international forces pending the arrival of a fully equipped army. While the arrival of a comparatively small garrison at Tien Tsin at a point under the protection of naval guns would relieve much of the anxiety, it is felt that a retreat of the troops is liable to set aflame the provinces at present quiescent. Advices from Shanghai today say there is continued fighting at Tien Tsin, while the German Consul at Che Foo telegraphs to Berlin confirming the report of the renewal of hostilities. He says the foreign settlement at Tien Tsin is again surrounded, and is being bombarded, and that the women and children are to be removed. He adds that the Chinese troops have again advanced against the railroad, and that the bridges have been destroyed, but that communication by water with Taku is maintained.

The consul confirms the report that the mission buildings at Mukden have been burned, and that many Christians have been killed.

London, July 4.—A despatch from Taku, dated Saturday, June 30, and Che Foo, Tuesday, July 3, says that the British and Russian admirals at a council of war held on June 30 decided that it was impossible to attempt to relieve Pekin without greatly increased forces. They also concluded that it would be possible to hold Tien Tsin. In the event of this not proving feasible, they would endeavor to retain possession of Taku. One hundred and forty thousand imperial troops are stationed between Pekin and Tien Tsin. The total of the allied forces which can be concentrated at the present barely numbers 20,000.

It is reported that General Nich-Si-Chang is advancing for an attack on Tien Tsin, with 90,800 troops.

Another report has been received at Taku to the effect that the German guards rescued the body of Baron Von Ketteler, the late German Minister to China, after he had been murdered by the Chinese.

New York, July 4.—A despatch to the Herald from Shanghai, July 2, say—

The Imperial decree dated Pekin, June 28 has been sent by courier to Pao Ting Fu and thence telegraphed broadcast—

"We are new warring with the foreigners. Boxers, patriots and people, combined with the Government troops, have been repeatedly victorious in battles with our foreign enemies. We have already sent Imperial commissioners to transmit the Imperial praise and exhortations to repeat the successes.

"There must be men of similar patriotism and bravery in all the Provinces of the Empire. We, therefore, command all viceroys and governors to enlist such and organize them into troops.

"Let this decree be sent to all the high officials in the Empire at the rate of two hundred miles per day."

High Chinese officials here stated today that they had received a message from Pekin saying that 24 hours would decide the fate of the remaining foreign legations.

Reports from the surrounding country show that proclamations urging the massacre of foreigners and native Christians have been posted on the walls of missions.

Shanghai, July 4.—All the Viceroys of the Yang Tse Kiang region have determined to keep the peace. The Governor of the Province of Che-Kiang alone is showing anti-foreign tendencies.

Shanghai is safe. The protecting force is increasing in strength daily, but uneasiness is felt at Hang Chou, capital of the Province of Che-Kiang.

With the view of emphasizing his agreement with the European Viceroy Lin has stopped mounting guns on the Yang Tse Kiang forts. He has also stopped other anti-foreign war preparations, and has refused to assist Li Ping Hing with troops for the north. He accused the latter of being the cause of the Germans taking Shang Tung. Consequently Li Ping Hing has left Nankin with only 800 soldiers.

THE SHAH IN FRANCE

He is Accompanied by His Forty Wives,—Just Now His Majesty is Taking the Heath Treatment.—The Great Persian Monarch One of the Leading Attractions of the World's Fair.

Paris, July 4.—Muzaffar-ed-din, Shah of Persia, absolute master of ten millions of human beings, is staying at the Sovereign, an annex of the Grand Hotel at Contrexeville, a village in the Vosges, about 200 miles from Paris.

The Shah and his favorities occupy the whole southern wing of the large building, containing twenty-nine rooms, while his suite, composed of thirty dignitaries of his Court and twenty-five male domestics, occupy the southern wing. The Shah has with him more than forty wives, chosen from among the most beautiful maidens in the Kingdom of Persia. They were closely veiled on their arrival, and the eye of the Giaour has not rested upon their fair features. Whenever they leave the hotel, which is rarely, they sit in closed carriages and their faces are muffled to their ears.

Not a Cheerful Looking Man.

His Majesty the Shah is a melancholy-looking, bearded man of forty-seven years, tall and slender. On ordinary occasions he dresses in plain black and wears a red fez, but he has diamonds, rubies and sapphires in rings, aigrettes and collars of priceless worth, which he wears on state occasions with his military uniform. The sword which he wears has a hilt and scabbard encrusted with jewels valued at $350,000.

The present Shah has been reigning only four years, and this is his first visit to France. He has six sons, twelve daughters, six brothers and twelve sisters. He has a private fortune of $30,000,000.

His Rooms $250 a Day

His Majesty's apartments at Contrexeville have been retained for a month at least, at the rate of 1250 francs ($250) per day, which is a very modest charge, considering that The Sovereign is a chateau in itself, occupying a unique situation, elegantly built, of four stories, and contains 40 chambers, besides the servants' rooms.

In the centre of the court of honor is the reception salon, which the Shah has adorned with arms, antiquities and costly Oriental tapestries and other stuffs brought from Persia.

Such a Small Bedroom

The Shah's bedroom is rather small and very simply furnished—an English iron bed with brass trimmings, a wardrobe with plate glass front, a pine table, an easy chair, a few cane-seated chairs and a carpet.

His Majesty is far from well, and has come here in the hope of regaining his health. Three European physicians travel with him, and he follows a strict regime of diet, baths and outdoor exercise. In a week or two, when he feels well enough, he and his wives and suite will come to Paris and see all that there is to be seen of the capital and of the Exposition.

Public curiosity is keenly awakened as to the Shah's personality, and his arrival is awaited with great interest not only by the diplomatic and ministerial notables, but by the business world and the people in general, who remember the lavish expenditures of His Majesty Narr-ed-din, father of the present Shah, who cut such a wide swath in Paris about 25 years ago.

LOOTED BY BOER WOMEN

Last October Dundee was a Flourishing Town.—To-day it is Almost Out of Existence.—Boers Carried Away or Destroyed Everything,

London, July 4.—Mr. Joseph S. Dunn, the war correspondent of The Central News, who accompanied General Buller, writing from Newcastle under date May 22, gives some particulars respecting the work of the Boer looters.

"When I left Dundee after the British retreat last October," says Mr. Dunn, "Dundee was a clean, flourishing town. To-day every store with one exception is completely gutted. Every house left unoccupied has been ransacked, the furniture being either smashed to pieces or carried away. Some of the once prim British dwelling houses which I entered were in an indescribably filthy condition. The convent was in a state of chaos. The Catholic church was entirely stripped of all its draperies and furnishings, the bare wooden altar alone remaining. The head[illegible] of the Dundee coal mine was badly damaged, and the dwellings of the manager and workmen all pillaged and ruined. Before leaving Dundee the Boers turned all the water taps at the public hydrants and in some of the houses in order that the water might run to waste. They also cut off the water supply outside the town.

"The Boer women were perhaps the most unscrupulous and most accomplished of the looters. They went through the houses in thoroughly business-like fashion, carefully selecting what they deemed to be the most valuable articles. Everything made of silver has disappeared, including the communion plate of the Coalfields English church.

"In Newcastle all the stores have been looted, some entirely, others only partly. Three buildings have been burned to the ground. One of these is the Catholic church, which is entirely demolished, all the statues having first been beheaded. The adjoining convent was used as the headquarters of the Russian ambulance, the members of which were so disgusted with the conduct of the Boers that they telegraphed to St. Petersburg to be recalled, but in vain. The billiard tables at the hotel were all smashed."

A volunteer serving with the East Surrey Regiment, writing from Newcastle, says,—

"I went to one farm for water. All the furniture lay outside the house more or less broken up. The bedding was half burned or torn to pieces, and seed and food was scattered in all directions. Windows were all broken and every door torn off its hinges."

NO CHANCE OF PEACE

General Tung-Fu-Li-Sian and Prince Tuan Are Now at the Head of Affairs,—Their Motto is: "Extermination of the Foreigners.

Berlin, July 4.—The German Consul at Che Foo, telegraphing Tuesday, July 3, after reiterating that General Tung Fu Li Sian and Prince Tuan have seized the entire power at Pekin under the motto, "Extermination of the Foreigners," says,—

"The Governor of Shan Tung is at Tsinan with 8,000 troops, ostensibly for the purpose of resisting a German attack from Tsintan. About 13,000 of his troops are on the frontier of Chili."

The concentration is regarded with much suspiccion.

Another Chee Foo despatch, dated today, says all missionaries from Chin Ning are on their way to Tsinan.

A despatch from Canton, dated on Tuesday, July 5, gives the gist of two edicts of the Dowager Empress dealing with the Boxers, the attack of the foreign powers on China, and the latter's position. The edicts declare that reconciliation with the Christians, against whom the whole nation, including the princes, military officials, and nobles, were united, and are now stamping them out, is quite impossible. It is asserted that the powers began the fight by the attack on Taku, thereby enhancing the bitter feeling against all foreigners, saying that any attempt to suppress the people would be dangerous, and adding,—

"Therefore it seems expedient at present to utilize the anti-foreign movement."

One edict avers that the Dowager Empress is ready to protect the threatened Legation at Pekin. "But it remains to be seen," says the Dowager, "whether the foreigners or the Chinese are the stronger. In any case, all the Governors should immediately enroll troops for the defence of their districts, as they will be held responsible for loss of territory."

HON. GEO. M'HUGH.

The Popular Member for South Victoria Likely be Promoted.

Ottawa, July 5.—A rumor is current in this city that Senator Scott may retire from the Ministry, and his Portfolio of Secretary of State be conferred upon Mr. Geo. McHugh, the member for South Victoria. Mr. McHugh has displayed considerable tact and judgment as member, and established a reputation as a forceful reliable man. He is no featherweight to be blown about by every passing breeze. He takes a well-judged course, and while not shrinking from standing to his opinions when to do so might be to his disadvantage, yet, he avoids all offensiveness, and he is to-day stronger in the country than he was when elected. Mr. McHugh would be a capable representative for Ontario and South Victoria would be well pleased if he were called to the Government.

BOERS NOW MASSING IN LINDLEY DISTRICT

State Secretary Reitz Has Gone to Hamburg With Part of Transvaal Treasure.

CANADIANS RECEIVE THEIR WINTER CLOTHING.

Soldies Will Receive Five Pounds Each When Discharged from Service Caytain Pelletier and Lieut Wilkie Have Been Indalided for Six and Three Months Respecstvely

London, July 5, 4.25 a.m.

The various telegrams received from Pretoria and elsewhere in South Africa, while not giving an account of fighting, represent the converging columns as making Dewet's roving ground more and more contracted and the possibility of his defeat and capture near. Heavy artillery fighting was heard near Ficksburg on the 3rd.

The Boers are massing in great numbers in the Lindley district. State Secretary Reitz has gone to Hamburg with a part of the Transvaal treasure.

Ottawa, Ont, July 4.—In reply to a query from the Military Department the War Office has cabled that Captain Pelletier has been invalided for six months and Lieut. Wilkie for three months.

Ottawa, July 4. — The following Imperial order has just been issued—Non-commissioned officers and men of the colonial contingents from Australasia and Canada on the receipt of the ordinary army rates of pay, will be entitled to a gratuity of five pounds when discharged medically unfit or on account of their services being no longer required in connection with the war or at the termination of their engagement. The gratuity also applies to British soldiers in South Africa.

Ottawa, July 4.—Dr. Ryerson has written the Minister of Militia stating that the Royal Canadians have received their winter clothing. Each man is wearing a sweater and has received a fine rug.

"I can assure you," writes Dr. Ryerson, "they need these things. Every night there is a frost and ice an inch thick on the pails. At midday it cannot be less than 100 degrees in the sun. These great changes of temperature are productive of diarrhoea. There are now only about 400 men fit for duty in the first contingent, including the draft. Enteric ever has been epidemic in the army. There are at Bloemfontein 4,800 sick and a few wounded at Norval's Point, about 2,000 or so up and down the line. In all not less than 15,000 men are hors de combat. They are shipping 500 invalids a week to england. You will see there is enough for the medical department to do and for us to supplement their efforts. We are spending 8,000 pounds a month in Cape Colony, besides the large contributions from Canada, Australia, Cape Colony and the mainmain supply from England. It would be no exaggeration to place the expenditure at 200,000 pounds.

Dr. Ryerson says he sails from Cape Town for Canada via England July 4.

Berlin, July 4.—At a banquet at Wilhelmshaven of the officers of a club yesterday, subsequent to the launching of the warship Wittlesbach, Emperor William made some emphatic declarations on the subject of Germany as a sea power, asserting that the ocean was indispensible to Germany's greatness and that it had been demonstrated that no great decision could ever again be reached, in respect to the sea, without consulting with Germany and the German Emperor.

"German people," he said, 'did not conquer and shed blood thirty years ago in order to be thrust aside when great foreign problems are being settled. If that had happened, than the position of Germany as a world power would have been at an end. I am not inclined to allow matters to reach such a pass. It is the Emperor's duty and highest privilege to employ suitable and even the sharpest methods to prevent it.

The German Emperor expressed it as his conviction that in this matter the princes of Germany and the entire people were closely arrayed behind him.

REPORTED DROWNED

A Son of Mr. Dennis McMartin said to have Lost His Life.

It is reported that Charlie McMartin, the well-known millwright, has been drowned. Mr. Chas. Wynn, formerly of Peterborough, writes that he was told by a man, who had just come from Michipicoten that a man named Peirs, of Sault Ste. Marie, and one named McMartin, of Peterborough, had been drowned. Charles McMartin was known to be in the Michipicoten district, and hence the fears that he is the victim of the accident. Mr. Dennis McMartin and family moved to Deseronto some months ago, and their many friends here and elsewhere will be anxious to know the truth of the report.

THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH

Already Assurances Have Been Received of Enormous Crowds

County Secretary Weir reports to the Times that an immense crowd is assured for the 12th of July celebration in Peterborough. Excursion trains will come in from every direction, while steamers will also bring their quota. All the boats on the lower waters have been chartered, and will bring large numbers of Orangemen and their friends from Rice Lake and different points on the river.

Grand Master Holland, of Port Hope, has promised to be present and deliver an address.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Son, who have the contract for decorating the town, are making extensive preparations, and if the city won't look gorgeous, it will be no fault of theirs.

MISS WIGGINS' ADDRESS

She Will Speak Again This Afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

There was a good attendance at the George Street Methodist prayer meeting last night to hear Miss Wiggins, of Toronto, give an earnest address on the motives that should actuate the church to greater endeavor for the temperance reform. Love is the keynote of service—a love that will strive to make humanity nobler and truer. The interests of the church are hindered by the liquor traffic, as well as the forward work of missions. In missionary lands, with the missionaries and bibles, thousands of gallons of rum go, and destroy the work of the missionaries. Home interests also demand our heartiest endeavor to defend it from the colossal foe of strong drink.

Miss Wiggins will speak in the Y.M. C.A. hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock on "Humanity's Battles." The points discussed will be interesting to all. Both ladies and gentlemen are invited.

Rev. J. G. Potter will preside at this gathering, and a number of the other ministers have intimated their intentions to be present, among whom are Rev. J. P. Wilson, Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. Mr. Wagg.

DROWNED NEAR COBOCONK

Melville Marsh, a River Driver Employed by the Rathbun Company, Lost His Life.

Lindsay Post—A particularly sad accident happened about two miles above Coboconk at about 6 o'clock Monday, whereby Melville Marsh, of Trenton, aged 27 years lost his life. The young man was employed by Foreman Smith on the Rathbun Co.'s drive of logs, and while passing through Little Mud Turtle Lake early in the morning Marsh was missed. He had been working before breakfast, and on being called did not respond. Search was made for him, when his body was found in about 18 inches of water, with a large bruise on the forehead. The young man was an excellent swimmer, but it is supposed that he was running over the logs when he fell and struck his head, stunning him, and that afterwards he fell into the water. It was most pleasing to witness the tenderness manifested by his late comrades, and credit is due Mr. McCormick, the walking boss, who cared for the body, and had it put in a suitable coffin and forwarded to Trenton. Marsh was unmarried and the sole support of a widowed mother.

THE ORIGINAL NEW TESTAMENT

Emperor William Trying to Discover It a Damascus.

London, July 5.—The German Academy at Beirout, in Syria, entertains hopes of finding the original of the New Testament in a mosque at Damascus, where several other extremely rare ancient documents have been unearthed.

Emperor William has personally obtained permission of the Sultan for a famous German savant to investigate the muniment chests of this mosque.

FATE OF THE TURKISH EMPIRE

Speculation as to the Future of the "Sick Man"—Scramble of Nations.

London, July 5.—Who is going to fall heir to Constantinople is a question that must soon come up for solution. You have not found the Sick Man of Europe so easy to handle or so pliant, but your experience with him is slight compared to that of his own subjects or of the people in the free states lately provinces of his empire. There he is a continual source of terror and worry—the fountain-head of evil. Behold, how he has driven the Reform party to desperation and death wherever he could lay his hands upon it! This cannot go on. Europe would not allow it for a moment, were its jealousies less keen, its hands not so full in other directions. And if Austria collapses when the old Emperor dies, and bursts in pieces through race antipathies, the scramble for all that is left of the Sultan's European dominion must at once begin. You had best see that your money is paid quickly there, lest there some be but day in Stamboul to ask it from.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 5 1900.

A GUILELESS MAN.

Mr. Henri Bourassa, M. P., is in Manitoba in company with Mr. Tardivel, the anti-British editor of La Verite of Quebec, the identical gentleman who once said in his paper that the only right Protestants should posses in this province was the right to be converted. If Mr. Bourassa is to be judged by the company he keeps it is easy to understand the underlyin motive of his opposition to the despatch of the Canadian contingents to South Africa. It is not so much that he objects to a precedent being established as it is his hostility to doing anything calculated to strengthen the tie that connects Canada with Great Britain. Just at present the mission of M. M. Bourassa and Tardivel appears to be assist in the organization of another Manitoba Catholic school compagin on a basis assumably similar to that which the Catholics of this province themselves rejected in 1896. Mr. Bourassa truely is a very guileless man.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Transvaal Government had built a handsome pavilion at the Paris Exposition. A newspaper man who recently visited it writes.

The pavilion is closed and some wag had pinned up the following notice.

CLOSED FOR REPAIRS.
Will be re-opened shortly under the management of JOHN BULL, Esq.,
By order,
Joe Chamberlain.

I peeped through a window of th pavilion and saw odds and ends of South African produce. A lonely looking individual was putting cards on sacks of wool, and he had an expression as if he himself expected the sack at any moment."

LOVE ON THE FARM.

A potato went on a mash
And sought an onion bed.
"That's pie for me," observed the squash,
And all the beets turned red.
"Go away," the onion, weeping, cried,
"Your love I cannot be;
The pumpkin be your lawful bride,
You cantaloupe with me."

But onward still the tuber came
And laid down at her feet;
"You cauliflower by any name,
And it will smell as wheat;
And I, too, am an early rose,
And you I've come to see,
So don't turn up your lovely nose,
But spinachin' with me!"

"I do not care at all to wed,
To go, sir, if you please,"
The modest onion meekly said,
"And lettuce, pray, have peace!
Go think that you have never seen
Myself or smelled my sigh,
Too long a maiden I have been
For favors in your rye!"

"Ah, spare a cuss!" the tuber prayed,
"My cherryshed bride you'll be;
You are the only weeping maid
That's currant now with me!"
And as the wily tuber spoke
He caught her by surprise
And, giving her an artichoke,
Devoured her with his eyes.

HUMAN BRAIN CELLS.

THEY REFUSE TO WORK UNDER TOO HIGH A PRESSURE.

Put on Too Much Steam and These Minute Organisms Go on Strike. Why Men Go Crazy or Become Absentminded.

Keeping pace with scientific thought and progress certain problems which in the past have been shelved for want of light being thrown upon them have been taken up again one by one to undergo further examination by the aid of improved science.

The newest revelation in this direction tends to the science of the mind and includes the following problems:

Why does a man act queerly when he is intoxicated?

Why is a man absentminded on occasions?

Why does a man sometimes become violently insane, often a dangerous, raving lunatic?

Such questions as these have puzzled our immediate fathers, who have hardly ever satisfactorily explained them away or indeed thrown much reliable light upon them. The human brain is composed of cells, and each cell is a simple bit of nerve substance, from one end of which, like an octopus, spring a number of tentacles, while from another part arises an arm different from them and of great length. The long arm is intended for transmitting impressions from one portion of the brain system to another, it being made to touch the tentacles or short arms of the next one to it, the latter in its turn effecting contact with a third cell, and so on.

Thus a message is conveyed and the mind gets its news. The entire brain is made up of these cells, whose number is legion and whose full strength is grouped in systems, these systems in turn being arranged in communities, the communities in clusters and finally the clusters in constellations, by which divisions they are known to physiologists.

So long as the mind is in a healthy condition each little cell, or brain octopus, attends to its business faithfully and gives no trouble, but as man generally is an animal who usually refuses to live the life spanned out by nature and adopts instead the life laid down by the modern artificial process of living, instituted forsooth by civilization, mental disturbances frequently arise through the brain becoming abused in various ways, from overwork and alcohol principally.

Your octopuslike brain cell is a living little thing, and it can endure a great deal of abuse from you, but if you should go a little too far it rebels and refuses to work any longer by breaking contact with its companion cells, which it can do by withdrawing its long arm and getting itself out of circuit. But this rebellion is conducted by whole groups of cells acting together in full harmony.

Now, the object of this "strike" is simply to avoid overwork, for each tiny cell has stored within its minute space only a certain amount of energy, but if you put on the high pressure this is easily consumed by the operation of the brain, and the organism breaks down from exhaustion. Now, take the first of the problems just stated. When a person takes too much to drink, the cells in these patches of the brain that are responsible for the conduct of muscular movement become affected and the man staggers.

When the dose is very large, the cells, which, although stupefied, have tried to keep their master on his legs, now cease working, and the man sleeps like one dead. Finally, if more than enough of alcoholic drink be taken, the effect on the cells is to paralyse them, and the unfortunate man dies.

There is some relation between extraordinary activity of the mind and insanity. Geniuses are apt to exhibit symptoms of mental alienation, and, singular to relate, their children are usually inferior to those of average men.

For instance, not to go out of England for example, Cromwell was a hypochondriac and had visions, Dean Swift inherited insanity and was himself not a little mad, Shelley was called by his friends "Mad Shelley," Charles Lamb went crazy, Johnson was another hypochondriac, Coleridge was a morbid maniac, Milton was of a morbid turn of mind, nearly approaching insanity (modern ideas of hades are largely formed on the description evolved by his diseased imagination), and Byron said he was visited by ghosts.

This mental alienation occurring in the foregoing cases shows that certain specific groups of brain cells have come under the baneful influence of the guiding spirit called talent or genius, which has used up all the energy stored in each cell and each group of cells, to the detriment of the whole, with the result that their ceasing work has brought about various types of insanity as depicted or, to phrase it more softly, induced disturbance of the mental equilibrium.

The remaining problem is absentmindedness. This is produced by a temporary disjunction of certain groups of cells. A man becomes so absorbed in his study of some particular subject and lends his whole mind to thought that the hard thinking disorganizes the groups of cells employed in the process of reflection, their tentacles being turned all one way, to the detriment of mental action generally, and so the man with the tentacles of his brain cells turned in the one direction passes along the streets lost to all observation or mental inception and does all manner of queer things because he is not conscious of what he is doing.—Pearson's Magazine.

MY FIRE.

It starts;
A sinuous eyelash from the sun,
A golden, leaf shaped, dancing thing,
Bending fernlike in a magic breeze,

And grows
And saps the virgin forest's strength
With writhing, biting arms,
And with its red jaws through the gloom
Casts slim shadows round the room,

And, waxing still,
It lashes round the knotted wood
With soft but cruel sting,
Till, gorged with strength, it fades away
Beneath a coverlet of gray,

And now,
Like molten sunset from the west,
Pulsates as with living breath
Till, dying midst the bones its greed has made,
Its heart is still and ashes mark the grave.

Her Idea of Humor.

A Janitress living on Washington square had an adventure one day which she will not soon forget. It seems that the building which she has under her care was at one time used by a trust company, and afterward it was turned into an apartment house. When this was done, the vaults were left intact, and they were very seldom opened. The janitress was showing a party of gentlemen through the building and pointed out the desirability of the vaults as refrigerators. When she opened the vault and stepped in, one of the party, who has a rare idea of humor, shut the door suddenly and imprisoned the janitress. That was all right so far as it went, but the lock was a spring affair, and the janitress had the keys on the inside. The room hunters were thoroughly frightened, and one of them ran for a locksmith in haste. Luckily a neighbor, who is an expert locksmith, came into the place and in a few minutes succeeded in releasing the woman, who was in anything but a pleasant frame of mind. The room hunters made themselves very scarce before the enraged janitress came forth.—Philadelphia Record.

In the Same Pen.

"One of the boys at the hotel put me on to a little poker game," said the dry goods drummer, "and I went around to see what it was like. There were about 20 respectable looking people in the room, and one of them was trying to teach me the value of the cards, when the police broke in and made a clean sweep of everybody. Next morning, when arraigned at the police court, I wanted a lawyer, and there was a general laugh in court as his honor replied:

"'I don't know where you'll get one. There are nine in town, but all are in the pen with you!'

"It was so," continued the drummer, "and things might have gone hard with us had it not been for the fact that the judge was there, too, but had just stepped out as the raid was made. Nothing was said about it, of course, but he let us off with a fine of $2 each and a lot of fatherly advice."

He Was Very Thoughtful.

A south country miller noted for his hoarding in financial matters was once in a boat trying his best to get across the stream which drove his mill.

The stream was flooded, and he was taken past the point at which he wanted to land, while farther on misfortune again overtook him to the extent that the boat was upset.

His wife, realizing the danger he was in, ran frantically along the side of the stream, crying for help in a pitiful voice, when, to her sheer amazement, she was suddenly brought to a standstill by her husband yelling out:

"If I'm drowned, Molly, dinnot forget that [illegible] up 3 shillin a sack!"—London Telegraph.

Eating and Sleeping.

Food supplies the substance for repairing the wastes of the body, and gives strength. Sleep affords the opportunity for these repairs to be made. Both are necessary to health. If you can't eat and sleep, take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It creates a good appetite and tones the digestive organs, and it gives the sweet, restful sleep of childhood. Be sure to get Hood's.

Biliousness is cured by Hood's Pills. 25 cents.

MATRON AND MAID.

Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske has joined the antivivisection society in New York.

The widow of Benjamin Wood and her sister and daughter have assumed entire control of the New York Daily News and will hereafter edit and publish it.

Mrs. Frances M. Wolcott has secured an absolute divorce from Senator Edward O. Wolcott on the ground of desertion. No evidence was introduced for the defense.

Mrs. A. L. Vrooman Wood of Minneapolis has been appointed judge of the decorated china to be exhibited at the Paris exposition by the National League of Mineral Painters. The selection of Mrs. Wood was made by Commissioner General Peck.

Miss Eva Hooper of London is now on her way to Australia, where she is to organise the kindergarten work in the public schools of Victoria and to give kindergarten training. Miss Hooper recently spent about a year in this country studying the schools.

Mrs. Humphry Ward suggests the establishment in every town of Great Britain of an organisation to study Christian dogma and Christian history with the aid of such books as Harnack's "History of Dogma" and Schurer's "The Jewish People In the Time of Christ."

Mrs. Alexander Capperton, who died in Kirkhill, Scotland, the other day, was one of the few links connecting the present with the time of Sir Walter Scott. She entered his service when 16 and was with him when he died and received a lock of his hair from Mrs. Lockhart.

A woman has been appointed assignee of the savings bank at Hinsdale, N. H., by the supreme court. She is Miss Cora A. Wellman, who has occupied the position of treasurer of the institution, having succeeded her father. She was recommended for appointment by the incorporators of the bank.

The Duchesse d'Orleans, who is now making a cruise in the Mediterranean on her fine yacht Maroussia, is a very clever draftswoman, and a daily amusement of hers is the designing and execution of dainty little menu cards for the day's use. She never fails to produce these cards, whether at home or on the sea.

A new aspirant for legal honors is Mrs. Catherine V. Waite, a western woman, 71 years old, who will soon go to Denver and establish a law office there, with her husband as a partner. Mrs. Waite is the owner of large tracts of land, many horses and a block of real estate in Chicago. Her husband was at one time a judge in Idaho.

Lady Dundonald, whose husband, the earl, has been distinguishing himself with Buller in Natal, got into a quarrel with the town authorities of Abergele, Wales, recently over land needed to widen a road passing through the chief attraction of the place, an avenue of old sycamores on her land. On the town council's threatening to acquire the land needed by condemnation the countess had all the old trees cut down.

His "Dear Old Jim."

"Corbett is my friend and benefactor," says Mr. Jeffries. "I was once his sparring partner, and he treated me as a gentleman. Hence I have gladly agreed to fight him as a return for favors. I am bound by all the ties of friendship and gratitude to give him a chance to fight me." Was there ever such a touching instance of devotion? Mr. Jeffries will reward his old patron and benefactor by beating him into pulp and knocking his head off. One can fancy him saying, as he puts his terrible right into his friend's ribs, "Dear old Jim!"—Kansas City Star.

INK AS A WITNESS.

Results In One Case Which Amazed the Attorneys.

In a case in the supreme court it was alleged that interlineations had been made in the papers after they were filed, and the papers were submitted to expert chemists to decide whether the interlineations had been made after the papers were filed or at the time the paper was drawn. The process followed by the chemists was simple, though tedious.

Hypochloride of soda was the only chemical used by the expert, but the result was the same as that arrived at by the other experts. Tests were made on each line of the document. The soda bleached the ink, and, as the writing in some parts was done many years ago, the first drop of soda was placed on a line which was not in controversy. The writing slowly faded, and it was 51 seconds before it was bleached.

A drop on another interlineation faded the writing in 49 seconds, on another in 51 seconds, and the interlineations made when the paper was first written faded in about 50 seconds on an average. Suddenly the ink of one of the interlineations faded in 15 seconds, and the conclusion was at once reached that it was fresher ink than the others, as the ink had not had time to thoroughly permeate the fiber of the paper.

Several interlineations were found to fade from 13 to 16 seconds, and these were marked as having been made at a more recent date.

After all interlineations had been so marked, the next step was to ascertain as nearly as possible at what date the interlineations were made, and for this purpose many manuscripts in which similar ink was used on the same kind of paper were taken. The exact date of the writing of each manuscript was known, and soda was dropped on each, beginning with the date of writing of the manuscript in controversy. The time necessary to fade the ink gradually decreased from 52 and 50 seconds as the soda was dropped on the manuscripts of more recent years.

When the fading took place in 20 seconds, manuscripts but a month apart in writing were used, and the fading in 14 and 15 seconds was thus fixed in a certain month. The examining chemists knew nothing of the points in the controversy, and the report was made that certain interlineations were probably made in the specified month. The attorneys in the case were amazed, as the month named was that in which they believed the more recent writing had been done.—Indianapolis Press.

Uses For Bicycles.

There are many uses to which an old cycle can be put. It is said that a theater manager has made rather an excellent chandelier out of his old wheel. He also uses an old tricycle for producing the effect of wind, hail and railway trains. A navvy is said to have made a clock almost all out of parts of an old machine. The bell strikes the hours, and a length of solid rubber tire holds the pendulum, which is a bicycle fork. At one small place a man has turned a discarded wheel into a kind of pump, and the tires do duty for the pipe hose. Another has made a treadle sewing machine out of his wheel. A grocer has turned part of a cycle into a coffee grinding machine, and a bell ringer, being rather feeble in the arm, has an old cycle which he has raised and fixed in one position, and so by a pulley arrangement he can when gently pedaling ring the bell vigorously. Many folks use their old wheels for flower stands, and there is a man who is making quite a decent living by turning old bicycles into conveyances on which washerwomen can take home the weekly load.—London Globe.

The Crusades and Embroidery.

The crusades had a marked effect on the demand for embroidery, as besides the decoration of their cloaks and pouches the kings and their followers wanted gorgeously worked hangings for their tents and heraldic blazons for their banners. The last were difficult of execution, and new stitches were invented, and applique work was introduced about this time. The Spaniards are said to have learned the use of spangles and other metal and bead ornaments as applied to stuffs from the Saracens. Later precious stones and pearls were used, and in 1414 Charles of Orleans spent about £40 for 960 pearls which were to be used in ornamenting a great coat on the sleeves of which were embroidered the verses of a song beginning with "Madam, I am all joyous." The musical accompaniment of the words was also embroidered.—Spectator.

Worth Seeing.

A Newcastle laborer recently resolved to treat himself to a night at the theater, and, entering the pit by the back of the orchestra, he happened to see the double bass viol set up against a music stand.

Having never seen anything of the kind before, he leaned his arm on the orchestra rail and stood transfixed with amazement. The pit was filling rapidly, and an acquaintance, tapping him on the shoulder, said if he didn't take a seat they would soon be all occupied.

"Wey, wey, hinny," he exclaimed excitedly, "neever heed a seat. Aal I want is a look o' the chap that's gaan to put that fiddle conder his chin."—London Fun.

Bad Enough.

PARIS

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Daily at the Exposition

[From the New York Times March 16]

The New York Times will be published daily on the grounds of the Universal Exposition to be held at Paris.

The interest of the people of the United States in the Exposition, the very large attendance from this country already assured, and the cordial relations existing between the two Governments have seemed to us to justify this undertaking as a recognition by the American press of the world-wide influence and importance of the great French Fair to all interests of the United States, and we have sought to avail ourselves of this extraordinary opportunity for cultivating feelings of amity between the people of the two great republics.

The concession for the publication of an American newspaper on the grounds of the Exposition has been granted to THE TIMES by the French Commissioners. The paper will appear daily in its usual from—from eight to thirty-two pages—issued from a Goss four-deck, patented, straight-line newspaper printing press, capable of printing at a speed of fifty thousand newspapers per hour, printed on both sides, folded and counted. The press will be installed in the centre of the American to the Annex to the Building of Liberal Arts and Chemical Industries. The exhibit will give a complete demonstration of the manner of issuing an American newspaper, including the operation of a battery of typesetting machines, stereotyping, and the most approved modern American appliances, an exhibit which will be entirely novel to Europeans.

The Paris Exposition Edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES will be gratuitously distributed at the place of production by many thousands each day, and will besides be procurable at newspaper kiosks all over Paris, and generally distributed throughout Europe.

THE NEW YORK TIMES will be the only newspaper of the world published on the Exposition grounds, and will endeavor to maintain in its international character the ideal it has sought to attain in America.

Although THE NEW YORK TIMES enjoys exclusively the privilege of publication on the grounds, it will offer to the newspapers of the country the opportunity to exhibit the merits and quality of their own publications and to set forth the commercial importance and attractions of their localities.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Big Shipments.

The Steamer Eclipse will take another scow load of implements to Rice Lake from the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing company. This makes four scow loads which the Eclipse has taken to Rice Lake this season from this company. The implements are delivered at various points around the lake.

On The Up Grade.

Ratepayers who are now being served with their tax papers will notice that the taxes are on the increase. The large sums which are being so lavishly expended on the streets are responsible for the increase. It is time the ratepayers took more interest in municipal affairs.

Warning to Business Men

Notice is hereby given that Mr. Wm. Fair is the only one authorized to solicit advertisements for the folder which is being issued by the Orange Association of the County of Peterborough. Any one using the name of the society without authority will be prosecuted.

(Signed) SIDNEY E. WEIR,

He became judge of the Queen's Bench in 1877, and Chief Justice of the High Court in 1887. Armour's Island, near the lift lock, Ashburnham is the property of the judge.

Mr. Kilbourne in Town.

Mr. Kilbourne, the President of the Lakefield Portland Cement Company, was in town yesterday, a guest at the Snowden House. To the Times Mr. Kilbourne explained that the Company, besides securing the water power of Young's Point, has arranged for right of way for the poles on which to string wires for transmitting power through Douro to Lakefield. The work of constructing buildings etc., will be gone on with at once. Mr. Kilbourne spoke hopefully of the future of Lakefield, saying that this industry would assuredly attract others.

Nearly Drowned.

Yesterday as the Steamer Eclipse was on her way across Rice Lake Capt. Calcutt saw a skiff, which had been under sail, upset, and at once went to the rescue. The steamer arrived not a moment too soon, and found two Indians struggling in the water. There was a heavy sea on, and the men would assuredly have been drowned but for the presence of the steamer.

New Golf Shirt.

The members of the Golf Club, in order to distinguish themselves from the ordinary citizen, passed a resolution the other day appointing a committee of one (a well-known lawyer) to purchase shirts for the male members of the Club. The shirts came duly to hand and are superb. They show the players off to great advantage, and when the members are scattered over the links, the effect will be dazzling. The shirt is a check—a sort of a cross between the ordinary khaki uniform, and the dress of a Coontown base ball club. It should be worn to be appreciated.

Some wives object to being called the better half—they think they are the whole thing.

Large Peas.

Mr. Wm. Helm showed the Times a bunch of peas, unpodded, the largest we have ever seen. They were grown in Mr. Helm's garden on Bethune Street, Prospect Hill beauties, and have a very fine flavor. The seed was purchased by Mr. Helm at the market, and is known as the Strathcona pea.

Stoney Lake Boats

This week the steamers on Stoney lake have started on their regular summer service, and this year it is better than ever before, as a steamer connects with every train—making three boats up and three boats down every day. This week the steamer Empress goes up in the morning and comes down in the evening. The steamer Majestic goes up on the arrival of the noon train and comes down to connect with the morning train going south. The steamer Sunbeam goes up on the arrival of the evening train, and comes down to connect with the afternoon train.

For Burleigh Falls.

Yesterday a party of Rochester people, who were guests at the Snowden House over night, left for Burleigh Falls, for a few days' fishing. The party consisted of Messrs. C. H. Clarke, John West, W. S. Castlemen, Mr. John Dunn and two young ladies. They were a jolly lot, and made things lively while at the Snowden mansion. "Uncle" Charlie Clarke was the chief, and the way he discharged the duties pertaining to his exalted position was a holy terror. The genial proprietor of the hostelry was on the carpet most of the time during their stay, and related some hair-raising experiences in connection with the Gold Lake Hunting and Fishing Club. The stories so impressed Uncle Charlie and his party that they have sent in an application for membership, in which event the buttermilk tank will have to be greatly enlarged.

One of Life's Sorrows.

"Were you the smartest boy in your school?" asked the very bright boy.

"Why-er-no; not exactly," answered his father.

"Did you know as much as I do when you were my age?"

"I don't believe I did."

"Are you ever at this late day able to extract the cube root of a number without referring to a textbook?"

"No, no, I don't believe I can."

"That's all," said the very bright boy as he turned to his books. Then he heaved a sigh, and with a look of deepest reproach exclaimed. "Parents often turn out to be a terrible disappointment to their children nowadays." —St. Louis Republic.

The Glorious Twelfth.

They're goin' to celebrate the Twelfth again this year in town,
And I've about decided that 'Ill hitch up and go down;
For all the crops are doin' fine although they're needin' rain,
But things are sure to turn out right
—that's why we can't complain.
And so I think to spend a day on which to celebrate
The battle of the Boyne and King
Billy; good and great,
Will teach a man to do his best and fill his heart with cheer,
Which makes his toil seem lighter and will last throughout the year.
And so I'll drop the cares of life and simply run away
And reach town bright and early,
'fore the band begins to play.

The hired man's been workin' for a week' most every night
To wash and clean the buggy and to rub the harness bright;
He's goin' to take his girl, I guess,
to help him celebrate,
And I shan't blame him any if he gets home rather late.
For I have been right there myself, and recall each moonlight trip
I've taken with my sweetheart with the lines around the whip.
So I'll take the three-spring wagon,
and my team that's good and true,
And decorate the harness with the old Red, White and Blue.
And we all shall be most happy when we start upon our way
And arrive in time to cheer 'em when the band begins to play.

And when we pass along George Street,
all decked with colors fair,
We'll catch the spirit of the day that's floatin' in the air;
I spent the Twelfth there when a boy, and many a time since then,
My wife'll have to watch me or I'll do the same again.
We'll meet with friends and relatives
we have not seen for years,
And talk about the crops and things,
our hopes and doubts and fears.
And now and then we'll take the children 'round to where they sell
The lemonade and peanuts which they all enjoy so well.
And this all enjoyment in a quiet
sort of way,
But we can't control our feelings when the band begins to play.

For then the crowd will all break loose and those resounding cheers
Will prove that tulks we loved when young have not grown old with years.
We'll watch the orangemen in parade
and hear the speakers, too,
And cheer them as they tell about the country grand and true.
And after that is over we will bid
our friends good-bye,
With hopes to meet them all again
the Twelfth of next July.
Each tired face will be happy as we homeward wend our way,
When everything is quiet and the band has ceased to play.

Human Nature.

He lost a hundred dollars in a little poker game,
But never missed a single wink of sleep on that account;
The cards had gone against him! They alone had been to blame,
So he spent no time regretting the occurence or amount.

One day he lost a dollar and a quarter
One day he lost a dollar and a quarter
through a hole
In a corner of the pocket in the trousers he had on,
And he worried and he heaped curses on his luckless tailor's soul,
Thinking that he might have purchased with the money that was gone!

A Mother's Reasoning.

(A Poem asked for)

I miss the little laughing baby faces,
The loving eyes that always turned to me;
I miss the roguish ways and elfish graces
Of little forms that clustered at my knee,
Of rosy lips that left such happy kisses
Upon my ever-willing cheek and brow,
And, oh! the thousand nameless joys and blisses
That once I had, but only dream of now!
And yet I know full well if Time could bear me
Back to the days of proud young motherhood,
I'd miss the gentle presence ever near me
Of those who as my grown-up babies stood.
To be without my boy's strong reassurance,
To be without my girl's sweet sympathy,
Would be beyond my heart's most firm endurance.
E'en though my babies clung again
to me!
Well, motherlike, I miss the bonny tresses
That lay upon my breast in tangled curl;
Yet I would die to lose the love that blesses
My whole life, in my grown-up boy and girl Presbyterian Journal

THE CHINESE EMPEROR AND DOWAGER EMPRESS TAKE POISON

The Emperor is Reported Dead and the Dowager Insane from the Effects of Opium.

CHINESE ATTEMPT TO ISOLATE ALLIED FORCES

Sixteen Hundred of the Refugees Reported in the British Legation on Wednesday—Many Dead Bodies Lying Around the Guns in the Captured Native City.

London, July 6, 2.30 a.m.

The story that all foreigners in Pekin were murdered on June 30 or July 1, appears to be circulating simultaneously at Che Foo, Shanghai and Tien Tsin yet, as it is not confirmed by official despatches and is not traceable to the Southern Viceroys, who are still in communication with Pekin, there is a basis for the hope that it is untrue.

Correspondents of the Express at Shanghai gather details from Chinese sources, which, placed together, relate that when the foreigners' ammunition was expended, the Boxers and Imperial troops rushed the British Legation, and poured into the Courtyard with fanatical fury, the foreign troops were so hopelessly outnumbered that their fate was certain. The moment the mob broke, the courtyard was converted into shamble. Others of the invaders spread into the interior of the building.

Two Manchus who arrived at Shanghai, testify to the truth of the statement that Prince Tuan visited the pallace and offered the Emperor and Dowager Empress the alternative of pardon or the sword. The Emperor, they say, took poison and died with an hour. The Dowager Empress also chose poison, but craftily swallowed only a portion of what was offered her, survived.

London, July 6.

On the same day the Chinese Customs Bureau was destroyed, Sir Robert Hart, the Inspector of Customs, and his staff escaped to the legations.

There is intense indignation in Shanghai against the supposed action of the Powers in restricting Japan from sending an army to Pekin immediately.

The Powers are accused of being as guilty of murder as are Prince Tuan's fanatics, and Sir Robert Hart is blamed for not having informed the foreigners of the immense import of arms, especially a few weeks ago.

ANARCHY WIDESPREAD

Horde of Blood-Thirsty Celestials Marching Southward from Pekin.

London, July 5.—The oft-repeated story of the massacre of all the whites in Pekin is being re-told to-day, with circumstantiality that almost convinced those who have hitherto refused to credit the sickening tales. The only hopeful feature of the evil news is the fact that it comes from Chinese sources at Shanghai. But it is realized that, even if the tragedy has not yet been enacted, it cannot long be delayed, unless help comes from unknown sources. Even the holding of Tien Tsin against the overwhelming hordes now seems to be a very remote possibility, and the safety of other treaty ports is seriously threatened. A despatch from Che Foo, dated yesterday, voices a fear that, in view of the imminence of the summer rains, it will be impossible for the joint forces to advance to Pekin until the autumn.

According to reports from Shanghai, the Chinese army, on a march southward from Pekin, has reached Lofa. This is presumably Gen. Nieh Si Cheng's force, en route, to attack Tien Tsin. Another force of 30,000 Chinese from Lutai has appeared northeast of Tien Tsin, and is reported to have been driven back by the combined forces of Russia and Japan.

The losses of the internationals were heavy. The native city, when captured, was a horrible spectacle. Chinese bodies lay thick around the guns. The situation at Kwang Tung, or Eastern Province, grows worse. Li Hung Chang is said to be trying to raise a force of 200,000 militia.

Anarchy is widespread in the Province of Shan Tung, in spite of the efforts of Yuan Shikai, the Governor, to control the revolt. Happily, a band of 35 American and other missionaries reached Tsin Tau safe on July 3.

Viceroy Lieu is reported to be freely executing disturbers of the peace at Nankin.

The German Chamber of Commerce of Shanghai has warned Emperor William not to underestimate the gravity of the situation, but to send troops proportionate with the forces of the other powers.

The statement is published in Berlin that the Chinese have already taken Tien Tsin, but a cable despatch from Shanghai, dated July 4, shows that, according to the latest advices, the city is still in the hands of the international troops, though the Chinese forces continued their attempt to isolate them, as they did at Pekin. They were receiving constant accessions, many troops arriving from Manchuria. The despatch adds that Col. Wegnok, commanding the Russians at Tien Tsin, was almost exhausted. He had been three days and nights in the saddle, directing the operations.

COMMANDER WOUNDED

Foreign Troops Had Six Killed and Six Wounded at Pekin.

Paris, July 5.—The French Consul at Che Foo telegraphs that a Chinaman who left Pekin on June 25, reports that all the Ministers and residents were then assembled at the British Legation. The French, German and Japanese Legations were guarded by their own detachments, and M. Pinchon, the French Minister, and his wife, were well.

The other legations, the custom house and the missions had been burned. The foreign troops had lost 6 men killed, and had 6 men wounded, including the commander of the British detachment.

WORKING FOR THE PRESS

A FRENCH COMMITTEE TRYING TO WORK UP A WAR.

Has Arranged for Huge International Congress to be Held in Paris on July 31—Boer Envoys and Others to be Invited—Young Mouravieff is Popular with French Army Officers—New Mail House for Paris on Chicago Plan.

Paris, July 6.—The French committee organized to aid in obtaining the independence of the Boers have arranged for the international parliamentary to be held in Paris on July 31. Representatives of all the Parliaments in the world are invited to meet and discuss the independance of the Boers.

The French committee has decided to officially receive Mr. Cockran, the President of the American committee with the Boer envoys.

To Meet Austrian Minister.

The committee will also be the means of bringing the Boers in contact with Court Goluchowski, the Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs, who arrived in Paris tonight to have an interview with Delcasse.

The King of Belgium passed through Paris today.

Young Mouravieff Popular.

Colonel Mouravieff, son of the late Minister, has arrived at Marseilles, where he received a hearty welcome. He came back from his father's funeral to keep a promise made the officers of a neighboring garrison to be present at a military ceremony.

The French press is delighted at the appointment of Kovalewsky as Assistant Minister to Witte of the Russian Finances, and consider it a mark of friendship to France.

They Want War.

There is a regular organised agitation for interference on behalf of the Boers.

BLOWN TO AWFUL DEATH.

Were Trying to Pry Open a Large Box of Powder With Iron Wedge.

Freehold, July5.—Clerk Chamberlin, aged 25, and Walter Reynolds, aged 20, were blown to atoms at Chamberlin's farm at the DuPont powder works at Maxim, near here to-day. The men were using condemned powder to fertilize corn in a field and it was while prying the lid from a fifty-pound box of the powder that the explosion occurred. An iron wedge was used as a pry, and this struck a nail and made a spark that ignited the powder.

There was a terrific explosion and a shocking sight met neighbors who rushed to the scene. Fragments of the two bodies, not one of them weighing over three pounds, were scattered over a radius of five hundred feet.

Coroner Vanderveer, of Freehold was immediately summoned and held an inquest. The jury returned a verdict that the men died from the accidental explosion of a box of powder.

With the party is Mr. J. J. Welsh and family of six, and Mrs. Moses Couch, who goes to join her husband in the new country.

The party take with them two carloads of goods, which are being shipped at Lakefield.

There is now quite a large settlement of people from Apsley and vicinity in New Ontario.

ENGLAND WATCHING BRYAN

Expects the Pro-Boer Element to Speak at Kansas City.

London, July 5.—The people here, though declaring that President's McKinley's re-election is certain, take a keener interest in the Democratic National Convention at Kansas City, for by the proceedings there it is generally thought the strength of the anti-English, or, rather, pro-Boer element in America may be guaged.

WOMAN HIGHWAY ROBBER

Punched Her Victim and Took His Watch From Him.

New York, July 5.—For two weeks Henry Boegemann of Brooklyn, has been looking for a woman who held him up, punched his face, knocked him down and took his watch.

A good-looking young woman giving her name as Margaret Kleah was rounded up last night, charged with the robbery.

THE RUSSIAN EMPIRE.

RUSSIAN PRESS AND PEOPLE OPPOSE CONCERT IN CHINA.

Dissatisfaction at St. Petersburg Over the Idea of Russia Being Drawn into an Unfriendly Attitude Toward the Far Eastern Empire—Germany Blamed as Being Responsible for the Present Uprising—United Action in Restoring Order Opposed.

Vienna, July 6.— The average thoughtful Russian doesn't look with satisfaction upon his country being drawn as it has been, into an unfriendly attitude toward China. He had been found of flattering himself that, though the Chinese hated the Europeans, they liked the Russians, and it comes as a shock to realize that under certain conditions China can turn against even Russia.

The St. Petersburg press voices the public sentiment, therefore, when it greets with approval the government's communique, wherein the assurance is given that Russia is moving against the Boxers, but not against China.

Russia to Stand Alone.

The Svet declares that the communique "dispenses with all doubts and fears. We in China will guard only our own and Chinese interests, and will not work for those of other lands and peoples." The St. Petersburg Weekly lay the blame for all the present trouble on Germany, "who, under pretense of restitution for the missionary wrongs, seized Kiao Chou, of little worth, and thus rendered the integrity of the heavenly kingdom more than doubtful." The same paper believes the present revolt will only increase with the landing of increased forces of troops, and expresses doubt as to the feasibility of combined action by the powers in establishing peace again. This will be possible, it says, "only if to one power and only one is confided the work of controlling China and mediating between it and the other interested powers."

Corea Not Anti-Foreign.

The new Corean Envoy to Vienna and St. Petersburg, who presented his credentials to Emperor Franz Josef today, expressed in private conversation his conviction that the reports of an anti-Christian movement in Corea are incorrect. He is without recent information from home, but, although there may have been a single instance in which excesses against foreigners have occurred, he says that any talk of widespread hatred of Christians by the Coreans is an exaggeration. Such sentiment, he said, is not held by the people, and least of all by Emperor and government.

Franz Josef's Vacation.

Emperor Franz Josef leaves Vienna tomorrow morning for a two-months stay at Ischl.

OIL TANKS ON FIRE

In The Standard Oil Company's Yards at Bayonne, N. J.—One Hundred Men Supposed to Have Lost Their Lives—Fire Caused by Lightning

New York, July 5.—Lightning struck and fired the immense plant of the Standard Oil Company at Constable Hook, Bayonne, N. J., early this morning. Charles King, a yardsman, was killed by the bolt, which exploded two of the big tanks in the west end of the works. One hundred other men were in the yard at the time. Their fate is unknown.

The fire broke out immediately after a flash of lightning struck one of the big oil tanks. There was a terrific explosion, and the blazing oil shot into the air, rolling up immense columns of dense smoke. The blazing oil from the first tank soon communicated to two equally as large, and there followed two more terrific explosions. The tanks, which were almost like a continuous chain, then caught fire in rapid succession, and each caused a loud explosion.

The firemen, realizing that it was useless to throw streams on the blazing oil, directed their attention to the saving of a large number of stores in the business street in Constable Hook.

At 10.30 o'clock 30 of the Standard Oil Company's tanks had been destroyed. At that time the total loss was estimated at $2,500,000. The company has its own system of insurance.

None of the officials of the company at that hour believed that any of the 100 men reported missing had been killed or severely injured, but several had been painfully burned.

The stock of the Standard Oil Company closed Tuesday at 540 bid and 545 asked and opened this morning at 530 bid and 540 asked.

BOERS CAUGHT NAPPING

Canadians Surprise General Olivier and General Botha's Son—The Two Noted Leaders Captured

The capture of the Boer General, Olivier, by the Canadians, is thus told by Trooper J. T. Duguid, of the Mounted Rifles, formerly captain of the Cadet Corps of Harbord street school, Toronto, and a member of the 48th Highlanders.

"The Boers either surrender tomorrow or fight it out. Their time is up now. Lord Roberts, it is said, offered if they would surrender that he would only lead 40,000 men to Pretoria to take possession, but if they did not he would march every man into the Transvaal and let them have a good time, and that means that we could live on the country. The Boers will be turned out of their homes and their stock and goods confiscated. Just imagine the misery this would bring upon the Boers, but still I believe that that old Paul will not surrender, and I don't think that Roberts would be so hard.

"While we were in Kroonstad a party of Canadian Mounted Rifles was sent out on special duty, of which I was one. We left Kroonstad at 5 p.m., and trotted all night until 4 next morning. Then we stopped for 20 minutes and fed our horses, and as soon as they were finished we mounted and trotted on till 1 o'clock p.m. Then we fed again, had another 20 minutes' rest, and then we walked on until 4 in the afternoon. We then halted for an hour and then moved on, and about dark we surrounded a Boer house, went inside and captured General Olivier and General Botha's son, two very noted Boer leaders.

"They were asleep and in bed when we arrived, and were slightly surprised when Corp. Filson held his revolver to their heads while I pulled the clothes off them. Besides these two we caught several noted men and several of the Johannesburg police. We helped ourselves to what things were lying loose around the house, and I got the General's coat. Coming back five horses dropped dead beside the road, and the Canadians received great praise for the way in which we carried out our part of the program."

BOERS CAPTURE LIEUT. HUNTER

Part of the First Canadian Contingent Returning Home.

BOERS NOT YET CONQUORED

London, July 5.

Lord Roberts reports from Pretoria under date of July 5 that Lieut Rundle, of the Carbineers, and a patrol were captured by the Boers near Pretoria July 4. He also says trains are running to Greylingston from Natal; that several respectable Boers have surrendered recently; that a Soldiers' Home has been opened at Heidelberg, the inhabitants subscribing the initial expenses and that a total of 2531 stands of arms have been delivered to General Barton at Elskrdorp, Krugersdorp and Potchefstroom, all in the Transvaal.

London, July 5.

A number of members of the First Canadian contingent sent to South Africa sailed for home on the Allan line steamer Parisian to-day. They complained greatly of the treatment they were subjected to in the field hospitals. Of 1150 Canadian troops, 200 were stricken with enteric fever, mostly due to putrid water of Paardeberg.

London, July 6, 4.05 a.m.

The cordon around General Dewet appears still to be wide, at least he has not yet been cornered. Despatches from the front, except official ones, deal with trifles or vague probabilities.

The Daily Telegraph's Lorenzo Marquez correspondent attempted on July 4th to interview President Kruger at Waterval. Kruger was not there, but his deputy, State Secretary Reitz, said,—"We do not need to discuss peace. President Kruger wishes through me to repeat what he has said over and over again. The South African Republic will fight for independence as long as 500 burghers remain alive and even then will continue to fight; such is our decision.

FIELD HOSPITAL BURNED.

Eighteen Tents are Destroyed, and Wounded have Narrow Escapes.

Durban, July 4.—A despatch from the front brings intelligence of the destruction by fire of a complete British field hospital of eighteen tents. The hospital was in camp near Volksrust with the Eleventh Brigade in the open veldt. The Boers, as they retreated before General Buller, set fire to the grass. A brisk wind was blowing, and this drove the flames right down upon the Eleventh Brigade. The Bearer Corps were called out to extinguish the traveling flames by beating the ground in the fashion usually found effective. Unfortunately a trek wagon was in the way, and the oxen stricken with panic by the heat, glare and noise, refused to move an inch. Thus hampered the fire beaters were unable to cope with the flames, which then swept unchecked through the hospital, consuming everything in their path—tents, fittings and stores alike.

At the first signal of danger the wounded had been removed away from the line of fire. Some had to be carried on [illegible] the Bearer Corps, but the majority were able to walk. Had any man been left in the tents certain and horrible death would have overtaken him. As it was several men had narrow escapes. As soon as news of the disaster reached General Buller he sent out four bullock wagons, and in these the wounded were taken to Volksrust, where accommodation was found for them in the schoolroom of the town.

DESPATCH FROM GENERAL BULLER.

Lord Roberts will Shortly Have a Route Into the Heart of the Transvaal.

London, July 5.—The War Office has received the following despatch from General Buller—Standerton, July 5.—Clery, from Greylingstad, joined hands yesterday at Zuikerbosch, on the Rand River, with Hart from Heidelberg (all in the Transvaal.) He met with but slight opposition during the march."

The above despatch indicates that the junction of Generals Buller with General Hamilton is now complete, that the Orange River Colony Boers are separate from those in the Transvaal, and that Lord Roberts will very shortly have a railway line from Durban to Pretoria.

BOTHA'S SUPPLIES SEIZED.

Eleven Wagons Seized Near Pretoria by the British.

Pretoria, July 4.—There was some firing beyond Pienaarspoort yesterday, but neither the British nor the Boers appear to seek a general engagement.

Eleven Boer wagons, laden with meat and mealies, were seized at the front. Those in charge of the wagons declared that they were coming to the Pretoria market, but it is contended that the supplies they were carrying were intended for Commandant-General Botha.

About fifty foreigners, who were made burghers by the Transvaal Government during the war, have been given passes, and advised to get to the coast as quickly as possible. It is stated that after laying down their [illegible] as to arouse the suspicions of the British, and it was considered that it would be better for them to leave the country.

The railway is now the leading factor in the settlement here, the Netherlands Company has been surprised by the amount of traffic carried by the line within a month after the British occupation. There is urgent need for the completion of a quantity of unfinished engineering work in the shops here, and in order to have this done the British engineers offered to re-employ a number of the company's workmen who had been laid off when General Roberts seized the line. The offer was accepted, and the men resumed work for a few days, when a deputation said they would be better protected if they were commandeered. This was done, but a few days later there were some defections, caused by a Boer political agent, who persuaded a number of the workmen that it was unlawful to commandeer labor.

ANDREE'S SAFETY REPORTED.

Arctic Explorer said to Have Been Rescued in Far North.

Berlin, July 5.—The safety of Andree, the Arctic explorer who tried to reach the North Pole in a balloon, is reported by a Norwegian paper, which has a dispatch from Vardoe, north of Finland.

No credence is given this report here.

A MESSAGE FROM PEKIN

Boxers After A Cycle, Bound to Wipe Out The "Foreign Devils"—A Nigh of Suspense in Pekin

A direct message comes from Pekin, China, in a letter written by Miss Rutherford, a missionary of the New York Evangelical Society. On May 30 the missionaries were ready to take flight, as the Boxers were approaching the city. Miss Rutherford states that the agitation to kill all foreigners in China had been then going on for some months, but was expected to soon blow over. On May 28 the railway was destroyed at Tien Tsin, and the foreign population was then apprehensive lest it should be penned in Pekin.

When the railway was destroyed affairs looked unusually serious, and Miss Rutherford and her friends proposed methods of escape. She writes, "We thought we would each send a couple of trunks somewhere to be taken care of, so sent word to our Chinese neighbor, a heathen, asking him if he would store them for us, but he said he was afraid to do it. Then some of the servants proposed sending them to a pawnshop, and if we survived we could redeem them, which we thought a brilliant idea, so we sent them out to make arrangements, but they returned, saying the pawnshops would not receive them, so we will just leave them behind, if we have to go.

"The Boxers announced that they had suffered the foreigners for a cycle, (60 years) and they were determined to mark this feast by their extermination. We all knew that yesterday, the last day of the feast, would be the crisis.

"When we go out on the street we hear, 'He, he, foreign devil, the Boxers have come and you haven't much longer to live,' or 'There is one of those Christians. She will be killed soon.'"

The arrival of the Legation guard at Pekin only increased the danger of the missionaries. If there had been a battle between the foreign and the Chinese troops, Miss Rutherford states "the whole population would have been down on us, and we would have been wiped out within an hour, so we faced the danger and prepared everything.

"We each provided ourselves with a Chinese garment, had a small handsatchel with some money, and a loaf of bread and some biscuits. Then we sent a man whom we could trust to hire a cart to be handy for us to step into when we heard the first gunshot. We intended to wander about the streets at night, as the gates are closed at night, and are not opened until daylight. The cart being covered would keep us from discovery if our carter proved faithful. Well, there was no gun fired, the Chinese soldiers were ordered away, and our troops got in about 9 o'clock at night, and we felt a great weight off us. We immediately had a service of praise."

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 6 1900.

IN CHINA

That Europe will have to put out considerable force to restore a stable government in China and compel that respect for diplomatic usages upon which the peaceful intercourse of the nations rests, is now apparent enough. One Minister has been murdered in the open streets, and we are told that the others are in great peril; and on top of this comes the startling news that the relief force is not to be pushed through to Pekin until it is much stronger than at present. That is, Europe must stand by helpless while its embassies, defended with scant ammunition and almost as scant hope, are besieged by a revolutionary mob armed with Maxims and as ready to kill a Minister as a marine.

This is not a comfortable situation for great Europe with its invincible armies and its matchless navies. But it is one from which there is no escape, save in the rushing of troops to the scene of peril. At this time, it is a most fortunate thing that Japan has a well equipped army within easy distance of the Chinese coast; for we are face to face with a condition of things in which potential strength, located over the sea, has little or no effect. Nothing counts except men on the ground. A mob which will kill a Minister, knows nothing of the European Concert. Russia and Britain will both [illegible] from [illegible] and British about the corner in India. So long as the immediate peril is so great and the various powers of Europe so keenly and unanimously interested, there is little more fear of a disagreement, leading to the great war of partition, than is always present in the palmiest days of peace about Pekin.

WAR CLOUD IN SOUTH AMERICA.

Chile and Peru are likely to go to war again. Formal notice has been served on the Peruvians that her neighbor intends to retain possession of the two provinces of Tacna and Arica, now held as hostages for the payment of the indemnity exacted after the last war, when Peru was prostrate at the feet of the Chileans. She is still powerless to do more than protest.

Advices from Washington indicate that Peru has appealed to the United States to use her good offices in the interest of peace. Chile is working, through the Brazilian Government, to induce us to intervene; but we fail to see how our State Department can take sides in this local broil, or to arbitrate unless invited to do so by the two republics. We are already plunging headlong into a war in the far East that does not concern us.

To act as arbitrator for two South American nations would be proper enough and Secretary Hay may confidently proceed to exert all the influence his department possesses. Congress and the people of the United States desire peace among the South American republics. We are not seeking the partition of the other half of this hemisphere.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

A modification has evidently become necessary of the popular notion that China is a cake to be divided by the Western Powers whenever the latter shall become agreed as to their respective shares. The surprise caused by the weakness of China in the war with Japan may be followed by another surprise caused by the discovery that the 400,000,000 Chinese, after all, constitute a gigantic Power. The Pekin Government is said to have imported 20,000 Mauser rifles a month for the past three years, to say nothing of hundreds of Creusot guns, and the loss inflicted on Seymour's column shows that there are men in China who know how to use the weapons.

ACROBATIC COOKING.

MIRACLES DONE IN THE GALLEY OF AN ATLANTIC LINER.

Concocting Dishes While the Kitchen Is Trying to Turn Somersaults and the Pots and Pans Are Dancing Jigs With the Cooks.

Cooking on the high seas isn't so exciting a profession as it was in the old days, but even now it presents problems and situations that would drive a landsman chef to despair. It is one thing to sit down in dignified calm in a hotel kitchen and compose a symphonic entree, and it's quite another thing to clutch a rope swung across a kitchen that is trying to turn turtle and to master an entree that is attempting to dance a cancan on top of a plunging range. It would be a happy thing for stewards and cooks if every disgruntled passenger on a transatlantic steamer could, in rough weather, be forced to pay a visit to the galley and watch the efforts by which the meals with which he has been finding fault are prepared. The chances are that two minutes amid the fumes and heat of the galley would reduce him to a state of seasickness which would rob him of all interest in meals of any sort, but if he could wait long enough to receive a few mental impressions he would climb the galley stairs a humble and contrite traveler and accept food fit to eat as a miracle wrought in his behalf.

On the modern steamers galley arrangements have been improved to a degree that would make an old time sea cook open his eyes in amazement, but even under such conditions the cooking is difficult work. In the first place, room is necessarily limited, and every inch of space must be made to count, yet a large number of cooks and assistants are employed. One of the large steamers will have 30 men at work in its galley, and 30 men playing leapfrog about a microscopic kitchen and doing juggling feats with pots and pans and knives and rolling pins while the ship stands on its beam ends is a sight to bring tears to the eyes of a lover of a quiet life.

In these narrow quarters cooking is done on a scale larger than the ordinary saloon passenger realizes. The crew must be fed in port and out. So the cooks have from 500 to 600 men on their hands every day of the year. Then during the voyage the steerage, second cabin and first cabin must be provided for. The steerage passengers do not have an elaborate bill of fare, but about 3,000 small loaves of bread are baked for the crew and steerage every day, and that in itself is no small task.

The very sight of the baker's dough trough is enough to discourage a faint hearted cook, for flour is dumped into it by the barrel. One hundred and fifty barrels of flour melt away on a voyage like spring snowflakes, and 20 tons of potatoes dance merrily up the galley stairs to table hand in hand with 20,000 pounds of beef, while 10,000 eggs, more or less seasick, follow wearily. Then 156 gallons of fresh milk scorn the 1,000 gallons of condensed milk stored beside it and advise the 1,000 pounds of coffee to have nothing to do with it. The ghosts of countless chickens, turkeys, ducks and fishes haunt the larder where their slaughtered bodies hang in hundreds at a time. As for the incidentals, no one but the head steward knows the tale of them. Imagine all this food prepared in an apartment house kitchen addicted to handsprings, and you have the steamer galley situation.

Along the end of the room run the ranges. The ovens are divided into compartments which will hold firmly pans of varying sizes. On top of the stoves a steel bar runs along the front and back, and separate crossbars may be clamped to these at convenient intervals. Pots and kettles are hemmed in in this way, and to add to their firmness each is clamped to a crossbar with what looks like a large iron clothespin. All cooking utensils are made much deeper than would be necessary in ordinary cooking in order to avoid spilling of the contents in case of rough weather. The huge copper stock pots in which wholesale boiling is done are heated by steam, and all broiling is done over an immense charcoal fire. The bakers have a separate galley and ovens for themselves, and beyond them is a cold room where confections and pastry are made.

Everything is swept and garnished in a fashion to satisfy the heart of a Dutch housewife. The copper shines resplendent—but the smells! Ye gods, the smells! Let the seasick man who has held his breath and plunged madly up the companion way to escape the deadly whiff of air coming from the galley imagine that gust of odor intensified, concentrated, mixed with steam and smoke and multiplied by four, and he may have some idea of the atmosphere down in the galley.

A steamer kitchen is no place for any one with a tendency toward seasickness, and the first few voyages of a young cook's assistant are tortures. There isn't any fine glow of majesty about his martyrdom, and he doesn't get an atom of sympathy. His galley mates guy him, and his superiors bully him. He sounds a depth of seasickness beside which the state of the groaning passenger on deck in a steamer chair is rose colored and agreeable. Often one voyage is all that he can stand, and he bolts incontinently when the ship reaches port, but if he has the courage to suffer until he is thoroughly seasoned he overcomes his qualms and is ready to laugh at the next green hand.

Few accidents occur in the steamer galleys nowadays, when innumerable patents and safeguards are employed. Once in awhile a stock pot blows up from too much steam pressure, or a careless or unskilled cook is cut or burned or scalded, but such cases are rare. Ropes are stretched across in front of the ranges, and when the ship is plunging badly the cooks hold these ropes while working over the fire. Fortunately for the workers in the galley, when the weather is very rough a large percentage of the passengers lose their interest in food, so the work of the cooks is lessened, and this fact offsets the added difficulty in the preparation of the food. The galley is separated from the rest of the boat by water tight doors and can be shut off so securely that it is practically impossible except in case of serious accident, for water to reach the fires and put a stop to culinary proceedings.

It's Worse For a Woman

To suffer with skin disease than it is for a man, for a smooth skin and a clear complexion are essential elements of female beauty. When the taint of scrofula is in the blood it will be sure to show itself soon or late. Often its manifestations are as repulsive as they are painful. Many people have been cured of scrofula in its most malignant forms by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This remedy is remarkable for its power to purify the blood. It absolutely eliminates the corrupting elements. It makes the blood clean and rich. It increases the action of the blood-making glands, and so increases the quantity of pure blood supplied to the body.

"I will forever thank you for advising me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mrs. Jas. Murphy, of Fonda, Pocahontas Co., Iowa. "It has cured me of chronic scrofula, of twelve years' standing. I had doctored for the trouble until I was completely discouraged. I also had chronic diarrhea for twelve years. I am in good health now—better than I ever was in my life, owing to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took several bottles of the 'Discovery' before I stopped."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, a work for every woman, is sent free, on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps (to pay cost of customs and mailing only), for paper edition. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Short Story of the Day

My Parking.

I never saw a married woman yet that I could change places with," said I to myself one bright May morning as I took a seat on one of the benches in Drexel Park.

I had just dusted off the seat with my handkerchief and had seen two young girls smile at each other, and the thought had come to me that perhaps I did a few old-maidish things.

That thought rankled. I felt my forehead wrinkle. I resolved to look pleasant, and young, and happy. One makes so many good resolutions on one's birthday.

I tried to forget how old I was. I tried to forget that I had reached the shady side of life. And then I squared my shoulders and looked directly through my glasses and asked myself a few leading questions.

"Why was I alone, unprotected, and unloved at 50? Yes, 50," I said to myself distinctly—without a quaver—or thought I did.

"Why did I grow defiant when age was mentioned?"

"Why was I left out of the boarding-house cliques? Was it because I was so old? Had all the sunshine disappeared out of my life?"

Well, it was no wonder. The troubles had come so fast. I sat brooding.

I suppose the lilacs were perfuming the air, the birds twittering, the nursemaids congregating with the baby carriages, and that the trees, grass and shrubbery were just as green as they were the day before, but somehow I was deaf and blind to it all.

By and by a quick step sounded on the gravel walk, and a man sat down on a bench near me. He was an old man [illegible] than I, too, shall be 65 some day.

I looked him over carefully. He was well dressed and had an air of the world about him. He turned and caught my eye. I looked away. I suppose he studied me.

Then I heard a step and a voice. "Nettie, is that you?"

"Why, Sandy Laird! I didn't know you. But so many years have passed."

"Yes," said he, shaking hands. "So many years have passed. And how have they treated you?"

His voice was so sympathetic, and I wasn't used to sympathy—not then. I hadn't meant to, but before I knew it I had told him my tale of woe.

"I taught school in that same room in Kansas City for eighteen years. Then I had a frightful accident and lay in a sanitarium for months. My constitution struggled against death, but my spirit said 'No.' I was sorry for that constitution. My doctor said I needed a complete change, so I came to Chicago. I have been here for three years and over. At first I was unable to do anything except to go 'parking.'

He smiled at the word.

"And afterwards?" he questioned, with some of the old tenderness in his voice.

"And afterward I found some private pupils to teach."

"And now?" said he, and though he had a right to ply me with questions.

I readjusted my glasses and set my hat on straight.

"And now," said I. 'I go parking little, because my time is not my own. I have until the pupils that I must teach. I am on my way home now from giving a lesson, and stopped for a few minutes to rest. I am so glad to meet you here, too."

"Yes, it seems like old times to see each other," he replied. "What a long time ago it was that I proposed to you and you refused me, Nettie. Do you remember?"

"Yes."

My gloves lay on my lap. I picked the fingers out straight and felt provoked at myself because a deep flush dyed my cheeks."

"Three years after you refused me I married a pretty girl from a good old family. I am ashamed to say that I never loved her, but I hungered for a home, Nettie. And we had a home—a restful, well-arranged one, for my wife was had considerable taste. But Celia could not endure this Chicago climate. The doctor ordered her South in winter and to the seashore in summer. All these years she has had to take these trips. She can be here but for a few weeks each spring and fall after a real settled weather comes.

"I cannot leave my practice, for I have worked for years to build it up. I made money. My wife spends it. I have no home now.

"My mother predicted such a promising future for me that I had my hopes rather high, I am afraid. At her grave the other day the thought came to me, as it has many times before. 'What a different life mine would have been with Nettie by my side.'"

I looked away over the boulevard. My eyes were blinded with tears.

New Zealand Oddities.

The crow in New Zealand strikes as sweet a note as any heard in the woodland, says Henry D. Lloyd in The Atlantic. The robin has no song and no red breast; the native hen is the greatest of rat killers; there is a caterpillar which turns into a plant. These and some other productions of nature have done for New Zealand what the kangaroo and the ornithorhynchus have done for Australia—given it the suggestion of oddity and the marvelous. Rabbits and sweetbriers, introduced for pleasure, spread like wildfire, and it is an attraction to be duly advertised in the sale of land that it has been cleared of sweetbrier and fenced against rabbits, and then later the rabbit becomes a profit instead of a pest and is exported by millions to feed the English.

Amateur Photography.

Let me call attention to one of the most universally popular mistakes that have to do with photography—that of classing supposedly excellent work as professional and using the term amateur to convey the idea of immature productions and to excuse atrociously poor photographs. As a matter of fact nearly all the greatest work is being and has always been done by those who are following photography for the love of it, and not merely for financial reasons. As the name implies, an amateur is one who works for love, and viewed in this light the incorrectness of the popular classification is readily apparent.—Alfred Stieglitz in Scribner's.

Minnesota's First Book.

The Rev. S. W. Dickinson, an agent for the American Bible society, says that the first book printed in Minnesota was a Bible. It was printed in 1836, about 13 years before the first issue of a newspaper in St. Paul. The Bible was in the Ojibway language and was printed on the mission press at Lake Pokegama, Pine county, under the supervision of Rev. Mr. Ayer, who likewise had charge of the mission farm at that point.

PARIS
THE NEW YORK TIMES.
Daily at the Exposition

[From the New York Times March 16]

The New York Times will be published daily on the grounds of the Universal Exposition to be held at Paris.

The interest of the people of the United States in the Exposition, the very large attendance from this country already assured, and the cordial relations existing between the two Governments have seemed to us to justify this undertaking as a recognition by the American press of the world-wide influence and importance of the great French Fair to all interests of the United States; and we have sought to avail ourselves of this extraordinary opportunity for cultivating feelings of amity between the people of the two great republics.

The concession for the publication of an American newspaper on the grounds of the Exposition has been granted to THE TIMES by the French Commissioners. The paper will appear daily in its usual from—from eight to thirty-two pages—issued from a Goss four-deck, patented, straight-line newspaper printing press, capable of printing at a speed of fifty thousand newspapers per hour, printed on both sides, folded and counted. The press will be installed in the centre of the American to the Annex to the Building of Liberal Arts and Chemical Industries. The exhibit will give a complete demonstration of the manner of issuing an American newspaper, including the operation of a battery of typesetting machines, stereotyping, and the most approved modern American appliances, an exhibit which will be entirely novel to Europeans.

The Paris Exposition Edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES will be gratuitously distributed at the place of production by many thousands each day, and will besides be procurable at newspaper kiosks all over Paris, and generally distributed throughout Europe.

THE NEW YORK TIMES will be the only newspaper of the world published on the Exposition grounds, and will endeavor to maintain in its international character the ideal it has sought to attain in America.

Although THE NEW YORK TIMES enjoys exclusively the privilege of publication on the grounds, it will offer to the newspapers of the country the opportunity to exhibit the merits and quality of their own publications and to set forth the commerical importance and attractions of their localities.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

All of our claims have been more or less developed, and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida, at Cleora station, on the main trunk line of the great Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, and also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Magnetawan River

The beauty of Muskoka lies as much in its rivers as in its lakes. The Magnetawan is situated sixty miles north of Gravenhurst, at Burks Falls, on the Grand Trunk Railway, and opens up another an entirely new region to steamboat navigation, to the tourist, and particularly the sportsman, who can get with comparatively little trouble to a district which has hitherto been accessible only to those with ample means and time.

The very heart centre for sport, for rod and gun. Its rivers and lakes can be ascended and descended in canoes amid the best of sport, while the eye is fascinated by the fresh and unsullied wilderness of its forest haunts. Tickets and all information from

Statute Labor Cases.

Three statute labor delinquents were in police court yesterday morning. One man was over age, and another was a soldier and so escaped a fine. The third, however, was guilty and was fined $3 and costs. This was last year's statute labor tax.

Warning to Business Men

Notice is hereby given that Mr. Wm. Fair is the only one authorized to solicit advertisements for the folder which is being issued by the Orange Association of the County of Peterborough. Any one using the name of the society without authority will be prosecuted.

(Signed) SIDNEY B. WEIR,
County Secretary.

Imperialism.

One of the chiefest topics of discussion among thinking citizens is the rapid development of Imperialism, both in the British Colonies and in the United States. "The Future of Imperialism" is the title of a valuable and well-reasoned article in the July Canadian Magazine by John Lewis who is among the cleverest of Canadian journalists. An illustrated article on the Hull-Ottawa Fire and a Canadian story by W. A. Fraser are two other features of what is an excellent issue of our national publication.

A Place for Wild Fruit.

Mr. Gould, who resides in Chandos township, county of Peterborough, about sixty miles north of Campbellford, came here last week to visit friends, says the Campbellford Herald. Speaking of fruit he said he never in all his life saw so great a quantity of wild strawberries as there is to be seen in that locality, the roadside for miles being literally red with them. The [illegible] raspberries, [illegible] blueberries, [illegible] promise to be a more abundant crop than anything he has ever seen in many years.

Can You Tell Why

You have constant headaches, are nervous and sleepless at night and feel tired in the morning? Your blood isn't carrying the right materials to your nerves and other organs. Begin taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood enricher, and you will soon realize a change. You will feel better and stronger, will relish your food and enjoy refreshing sleep.

Nausea, indigestion are cured by Hood's Pills.

Hurt in Lindsay.

Lindsay Post.—A man named Stewart Pogue, an employee of the Edison Works, Peterborough, came near losing his life during the afternoon. While crossing the track at the north end of the course during a heat of the free-for-all, he was struck by Furi oso, and knocked insensible. It was at first feared that he had been killed. Dr. McAlpine rendered assistance, and found that his head had collided with the horses shoulder, causing a fearful bruise. How he escaped the shaft is a miracle.

A Popular Piano

When the town secured the Stanley Piano Company's Works, they made a big hit. The Company has become very popular, and is increasing its trade every day. The orders are coming in so fast that it is with difficulty that the demand can be supplied. As an instance of how popular the Stanley piano has become, the Company shipped this week half a carload of pianos to British Columbia, and two to Montreal, which Wednesday night's mail brought in an order for nine more of these celebrated instruments.

REPORTERS ROUNDS.

Local Happenings Picked Up Here and There by the Times.

—Next Thursday is the glorious 12th.

—Hay making in the country will soon be on.

—The assessors are now on their annual rounds.

—The S. O. E. Band played in the park Wednesday evening.

—The Stoney Lake cottages are now nearly all occupied.

—The man who hesitates is lost, but the woman who hesitates is won.

—Despite her name, the grass widow is usually far from being green.

—The Gun Club had a practice yesterday afternoon at Riverside Park.

—Prospects are bright for an enormous crop of raspberries and blackberries.

—A valuable marl deposit has been discovered between Lindsay and Orillia.

—The rain yesterday again filled the cattle pens on the market with water.

—A fine maskinonge was hooked yesterday in the Little Lake by Mr. J. Walsh.

—Maskinonge fishing is said to be good in the river between Nassau and Lakefield.

—St. Paul's Church choir will take a vacation from practice during July and August.

—Mr. Ed. Mann, the enterprising cheese box manufacturer, is placing new machinery in his mill.

—The Orangemen will attend divine service at St. Mark's church, Ashburnham, on Sunday evening.

—"If golf makes you tired, why don't you stop it?" "I can't, I paid so much for my new golf shirt."

—A cinder path is being constructed at Jackson Park, which will prove a very great boon to the bicyclists.

—Mr. Joseph Kelland has rebuilt his cottage on Stony Lake, which was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago.

—Lindsay Council has asked the Minister of Militia to give the town four cannon with which to ornament their parks.

—The annual excursion of the George street Methodist Sunday school will take place on Tuesday next to Stony Lake.

When you say your blood is impure and appetite poor you are admitting your need of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Begin taking it at once.

—The Smith street bridge, over which the town and Grand Trunk had a lawsuit, totally collapsed yesterday, and is now in the creek.

—Rice is scattered sparingly at weddings nowadays. The war in China has sent the price of it up from 2 7-8 cents to 3 3-4 cents a pound.

—After the inspection of No 5 Company was over on Wednesday night, Capt. Bennet entertained his men at the Crown Hotel. Capt. Bennett is one of the most popular officers in the Regiment.

—Inspector Walker informed the Times yesterday that it would be a couple of weeks before the result of the entrance examinations would be known. They will appear in the Times as soon as the papers are completed.

—The advance in the price of coal at this time of the year is ominous. If the price can be advanced twenty-five cents a ton with the mercury in the thermometer sailing through the nineties, what figure may not be reached when the frosts come and the snows fall?

—A pro-Boer in Toronto got himself into trouble with a crowd because he gave a German band 50 cents not to play God Save the Queen. The editor of this G. F. J., would often shell out double this sum if it would put a stop to some music that we know of and are sometimes obliged to listen to.

—We cannot take our wealth beyond the grave.
This is a lesson wise men all should learn.
'Tis only fools and spendthrifts who behave
As though their money was but made to burn.

—The G. T. R., must maintain workshops in the construction and repair of rolling stock, plant, and machinery of Whitby, and pay substantial damages to the town for not having done so in the past. Chancellor Boyd finds that the Grand Trunk, having absorbed the Whitby & Port Perry Railway, also assumed the agreement that that line had with the municipality.

—The new train on the Grand Trunk, the International Limited, whizzed into the Cobourg station on Sunday afternoon for the first time. Her average speed is 44 1-2 miles an hour, but at some parts of the road a speed of 65 miles an hour was obtained. This service is an important one from the fact that a through service with Detroit, Chicago and all western points has been established, and a break made of several hours in the time between Chicago and Montreal.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. James Campbell, of Keene, left Wednesday on a visit to Washington, D. C.

Mr. T. J. Wilson, merchant of Apsley, was in town yesterday and gave the Times a friendly call.

Mrs. John Crane leaves for Stony Lake to-morrow and will not be "at home" until the first Friday in September.

Miss Estella Hetherington, of Millbrook, is spending a few days with her cousin, Miss Bertha Might, George street.

Mr. J. H. Brandon, of Fenelon Falls, was in town yesterday, having come down with the funeral of the late Mrs. Carnegie.

Mr. D. Anderson and wife, of Toronto, were at the Snowden House to-day. Mr. Anderson was formally Crown Lands agent at Chandos.

Mr. M. Thwaite, of Oshawa, head Fishery Inspector for this district, was in town this week on business with the local deputies and on other official business.

The Times was favored will a call yesterday, from Mr. L. M. Forbert, formerly of the Chemong Park Hotel, but now of Calander, Parry Sound District. Mr. Febert will remain a few weeks.

Mr. Percy Earle, of the Actuary department of the North American Life Assurance Co., and son of Mr. Barton Earle, of town, has received word from England that he has been successful in passing the second examination of the Institute of Actuaries, and, needless to say, he has since been receiving the warm congratulations of his friends. Mr. Earle is the youngest candidate from Canada who ever passed this examination, and he is probably the youngest man in the world who has taken the degree. He is now entitled to the degree of A.I.A., but cannot accept it until he is twenty-one years of age. Besides being a most flattering evidence of his ability and mental gifts, Percy's success reflects credit on the Peterborough Collegiate, where he received his earlier training. He is one of the Institute's bright boys who promise to make a success in life.

A Snap.

Photographs, mounted on a heart shaped velvet pin, with steel, of all the Generals serving in the South African war—the nicest novelty out for 20 cents each. Also a large colored picture 18X24 for ten cents. Times Bookstore.

Inspection Now On.

A, B and C Companies, 57 Regiment, were inspected last evening, by Col. Montizambert. This afternoon the Regimental inspection will take place at 4.30 p.m., when the Regiment will parade in full force. Inspection will take place at Howden's field.

D[illegible]

Artificer Cooper, of the second Canadian contingent, whose death at Bloemfontein from enteric fever on June 24th was reported in the Times' despatches yesterday, was a Toronto man, and was a brother of Mr. Thos. Cooper, employed with Coughlin Bros., town.

At The Times Bookstore.

Parties desiring a copy of the Portfolio 'Glimpses of South Africa in Peace and in War' can now be supplied with same at ten cents a copy. The Portfolio ends with No. 18 and to get them all makes a nice large book, but those who only care to have a few numbers as a memento of the war would do well to take advantage of the reduction in price at an early date. Call or address Times Bookstore.

The Y. M. C. A. Camp.

The third annual boys' camp under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. will take place at Clear Lake from July 18th to 31st. It will be in charge of the secretary and physical director, assisted by several senior members of the association. This affords a pleasant and profitable vacation for the boys. On Wednesday evening a gentleman called at the building and asked for the privilege of paying the camp fee for some boy who could not otherwise go. This example is a good one and others interested in the young lads might follow the example.

The New Market Scales.

The new market scales will be open for business, it is expected, on Saturday morning. The new machine is modern, of great capacity and is a ready reckoner. It was made by the Gurney Co., Hamilton, who are setting it up, and will cost $225. This does not include the excavation, which will increase the cost to probably $300 or more. The scales are built for weighing loads not more than ten feet wide, so that farmers who have hay to weigh, will please take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

A Serious Runaway.

Stephen O'Reilly, of Ennismore, was conveyed to St. Joseph's hospital on Wednesday suffering from injuries, the extent of which cannot yet be stated. Mr. O'Reilly had delivered some hogs at the Kennedy cattle yards and had a boy holding his team. Just as the boy was handing the lines back to Mr. O'Reilly the horses suddenly started, and swinging to one side struck him and knocked him to the ground beneath their feet. They then ran away and the heavy wagon went over the prostrate man. Medical aid was summoned and O'Reilly was conveyed to the hospital. His inuries are internal and their extent is not yet known.

OUR SPORTING COLUMN

GOLF

THE LADIES AT PORT HOPE.

The Port Hope "Guide" says — "While others were enjoying themselves in various ways last Monday, the members of the Golf club were deeply interested in a game played between the ladies of Peterborough, under the captaincy of Miss Halliday, and the home team by Mrs. Burton. Shortly after ten the game began on our beautiful "links." Much interest was taken; hard and furious were the drives. Excitement in some instances ran high, and many magnificent shots were witnessed. Miss Daisy Hamilton is to be congratulated on her game, as she was the only one who won for Peterborough. Mrs. Davidson, too, played a very fine game and prevented Mrs. Edgar from being a winner. This contest ended in a tie, in fact they kept even all the time. When all the returns were handed in, it was found the home team was 14 ahead.

The lunch provided reflected great credit to the reception committee, and was indeed thoroughly relished.

The Peterboroughs have gone home determined to turn the tables when our club give them the return match, will take place at an early date.

How Many Men?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Will you kindly tell your readers exactly how many men Canada sent to South Africa, and oblige.

A. MACK.

Ans.—Canada sent 4,048 men to South Africa.

FISHING ON SUNDAY.

Sir,—Will you be kind enough to allow me space in your valuable paper. I would like to know what the Stoney Lake Cottagers association is doing, that they are not looking after their friend Mr. D. Breeze here, he is running around the lake with parties on Sunday fishing, and catching minnows. I think that it is high time that they had the islands incorporated so that they could have after their members and see that they do not break the law. Yours Truly.

ONE THAT KNOWS.

HIGH TAXES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir, I see that our taxes are going up, the Council appearing to be deaf to all appeals of economists.

Now, Mr. Editor, it is said that some of the present council are already in the field for the mayoralty and for Aldermen. All that I can say is, that I am much mistaken if the way things have been going is not a poor canvassing advertisement for them. Let new men, from mayor down come out, and their cake will be the poorest kind of dough.

By giving the above space in your valuable paper, I am, etc.

RATEPAYER.

SECRET COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir, Can the Times inform the public 1, Why is it that the Council refuse to open their committee meetings to the press; 2, Aldermen Denne or Dawson, both of whom I am told, aspires to the Mayor's chair, even moved in open Council to put a stop to these secret meetings? Kindly give this a space in your columns and oblige.

A TAXPAYER.

Ans.—1, We presume the only reason why the doors are closed to the press and to the public is because the Council does not desire the public to know what is going on. 2, Not that we are aware of.

THOUSANDS OF NATIVE CHRISTAINS MURDERED IN THE CHINESE CAPITAL

The Thirst For Blood Is Spreading Wherever There Arc Any Christains

"BE PREPARED TO RECEIVE THE WORST NEWS"

This Is the Warning From Shanghai, Confirming the Fears of the Civilizeg World of Chinese Butchery—Streets in Chinese Capital Said to be Running in Blood.

The Che Foo correspondent of the Express, telegraphing on Thursday, says—There is no longer any doubt that disaster has overtaken the Russian force of 55,000, that left Tien Tsin for Pekin on June 11. The Russians had a full field gun complement, and carried their own transport. As nothing has been heard from them for 24 days, it is assumed that they have been overwhelmed. Trustworthy news is received to the effect that all the country to the northeast of Pekin is covered with the corpses of men and horses of the western garrison. Fighting of desperate nature took place in the immediate neighborhood of Tien Tsin on June 30. Taku despatches say an attack in great force is expected at any moment. The Chinese commanders are waiting the arrival of more guns and reinforcements, before making an attack on the city. A despatch from Shanghai to the Daily Telegraph, July 5, says the loss of the allies up to June 29, totals 600.

A special despatch from Shanghai, dated Friday, says the position of the allies at Tien Tsin is being increasingly critical owing to lack of sufficient supplies, but only as a last resort will the town be evacuated in favor of concentration of the forces at Taku.

London, July 7, 2.40 a.m.

The Russian Government announces that it will give Japan a free hand to apply military force in China. The terms of this consent are summarised in the subjected despatch from St. Petersburg under date of July 6th in reply to an inquiry from the Japanese Cabinet in regard to the despatch of Japanese troops to China to render aid to the foreigners in Pekin. The Russian Government declared on May 27 that it left the Japanese Government fully at liberty of action in this connectin ando the Tokio Cabinet expressed its readiness to act on full agreement with the other powers. In consequence there is no doubt that Japan is preparing to embark 20,000 more troops Receipts of further horrors in Pekin are gathered by correspondents at Shanghai from Chinnese sources, especially of the slaughter in the Chinese Tartar City of thousands of native Christians, so that the capial reeks with carnage. The ruthless thirst for blood is spreading in all the northern provinces and wherever there are native Christians. The scenes enacted in the capital are reproduced in minature from these stories. Nothing farther comes regarding the legation forces except a repetition that they are all dead.

The correspondents assert that if the Chinese officials in Shanghai wish to throw light on the real state of affairs in the capital they could do so nd therefore the waorst stories are accepted as true.

Prince Tuan's coup de etat is described by the Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Mail as a sequence to the Grand Council of Ministers at which Yung Lu advocated the suppressinng of Boxers promptly. The Empress gave her whole support to Yung Lu and a scene of discontent ensued.

Prince Tuan passionately intervened, backed by Kang Yi. They rushed from the Council and their partisans raised the cry, "down with the foreigners."

The effect was electrical; the palace officials and most of the populace took up the cause of Prince Tuan, and his agents immediately put the Emperor and Dowager Empress under restraint.

London, July 6.—In response to enquiries, cabled to Shanghai, in regard to the situation at Pekin, the following cablegram has been received from an authoritative quarter—

"Shanghai, Thursday, July 5.—Prepare to hear the worst."

London, July 6.—There is a mass of wild rumors from the far East. Though so contradictory on most points it continues unanimous as to the consummation of the tragedy at Pekin. Consistent reports of the massacre of the whites are are now added the additional horrors that savage soldiery, butchered at the capital five thousand native Roman Catholic converts.

This comes in a Shanghai despatch of July 5, which only adds to the reports given by respectable Chinese who have arrived from Chian Fu, and who describe Pekin as an inferno, the streets literally running with blood. They confirm numerous stories of executions and untold tortures inflicted on isolated foreigners and European soldiers captured by the mob.

The authority of Yung Lu, the Chinese Imperial Treasurer, who advocated moderation was completely defaced by Prince Tuan, Kang Yi, and Tung Fuh Sian, who issued fresh edicts ordering the merciless extermination of all foreigners in the Empire.

CHINESE HOLD ALLIES IN CHECK.

Tien Tsin, July 6.—Those best informed in Tien Tsin consider the position of the foreigners in Pekin as almost hopeless. It is hopeless to attempt to force the way with the force available. Commanders are willing to resort to desperate means, but to attempt a forced march from Tien Tsin with the forces at hand means certain destruction to the army, besides slaughter of the civilians left at Tien Tsin.

Enough soldiers are necessary to defeat the Chinese army, maintain communications with the base of supplies and guard the hospitals en route. The water supply is an important problem in a country furnishing none except river wells, which are being poisoned.

The Chinese arec ommitting terrible atrocities upon the wounded. They are mutilating all the dead which fall into their hands. Gen. Tung Fuh Sian, with ten thousand of the best disciplined troops in the Chinese army—Mahommedans—are marching from the southwest towards Pekin. The army thereabouts numbers fifty thousand. The Empress fled to her summer palace.

The Mahommedan Boxers are fighting in Pekin. Ten regiments of Gen. Nieh's command north of Tien Tsin are reported and gone to pillaging the country. Residents declare that the Chinese commune was inaugurated by peaceable Chinese who have been the greatest sufferers from the foreign soldiers, who are burning the outskirts of Tien Tsin to deprive the enemy of shelter. The Boxers are destroying outlaying villages for loot. The smoke of a hundred fires can be seen in every direction.

Tien Tsin was not bombarded to-day for the first time in a fortnight. Families are returning to their homes within the concessions. Women and children will be sent to Taku as soon as the travel is safe. No unfriendly Chinese are visible in the streets. A few of the richest with their families are huddled, badly frightened in the outhouses for protection. Others are concealed in various houses about at the Europeans on the street.

The Chinese dead about Tien Tsin number thousands. Most of those who have been killed lie unburied in the fields

The river to Taku is full of floating bodies, and many have been washed up by the tide. Dogs are feeding on these bodies along the banks.

The foreigners in Tien Tsin declare that they owe their lives to the Russians, without whom the other small detachments must have been overwhelmed on that darkest Wednesday, when the Chinese were pressing on every side, and the bravest men were abandoning hope. The Russian commander, Colonel Wosack, arranged the main body with the civilians to make a sortie in the direction of Taku. Left four hundred Russians to defend the city and engage the attention of the Chinese, the intention being for them ultimately to sacrifice themselves. The arrival of the Americans saved the day. Their arrival proved a complete surprise.

Among the evidences of immense Chinese military preparations for war may be mentioned that arsenals and stores hitherto unknown have been discovered with ten million dollars' worth of arms and ammunition of the most modern type. These arms and ammunition have been destroyed.

In three arsenals outside of Tien Tsin several thousand troops under Gen. Nieh are holding the native city five miles north of Tien Tsin.

It is rumored that forty thousand Chinese will attack the place at noon to-day. The troops under arms failed to materialize.

Admiral Seymour was wounded slightly recently by a spent ball which struck him in the shoulder while in the house with Commander McCalla and Commander Tussig.

The hero of Tien Tsin is James Watts, a young Englishman, perhaps the best rider in China, who with three Cossacks ran the gauntlet to Taku with messages for reinforcements, charging through villages, under fire repeatedly. Several foreign commanders have recommended the quartet be decorated.

CLOUDS ON FINANCIAL HORIZON

New York, July 6.—A despatch to the Tribune, from London, says—

A sharp decline in consols and securities of all kinds is an indication that the financial world is depressed by the alarming news from China. Berlin is more deeply interested than London in Chinese bonds, which have fallen heavily, as evidence has been supplied that the Empire does not now possess anything that can be described as a responsible government. But, apart from these securities there is general depression, with rumors that another large war loan will be required for extensive military operations in the Far East and that the relation of the European powers are likely to be clouded by jealousies, and rivalries, when a serious attempt is made to arrange the terms for the occupation of Pekin.

AMERICAN VICTIMS OF THE FIENDS

New York, July 6.—It is said that Miss Mary Condit Smith, of this city, has been killed in the Pekin massacre. Miss Smith has for some time been a guest of Minister. and had been travelling with her sister, the wife of Lieut. Key, now stationed at Tokio, Japan.

Chicago, July 6.—Officers of the American Missionary Board in this city state that probably 17 or more of their representatives from the North China Missions are victims of the Pekin massacre, if the reports from Shanghai be correct. They were in convention at Tong Cho, 12 miles north of Pekin, when an attack was made on the town by the Boxers, and after some days of fighting, the building owned by the American Board, where the convention was in session, was burned. As no reports mentions anyone having been killed at this point, the officers here argue that the members of the gathering must have fled to Pekin in safety.

DENOUNCES HIS OWN LAND.

W. T. Stead Creates a Scene at May Sewell's Party in Paris.

Paris, July 6.—William T. Stead, the eccentric journalist of London, created a sensation at May Wright Sewall's inaugural tea at the national pavilion this afternoon. Accepting an invitation as a guest, Mr. Stead addressed the assemblage of women present and turned what was intended to be a purely social function in to a violent partisan demonstration against Great Britain.

Mr. Stead in advancing his views in favor of universal peace bitterly arraigned England for its war policy in South Africa and elsewhere. He bore testimony against Great Britain's policy in China, asserting that that policy was largely responsible for the Boer trouble.

He was particularly daring in his attack on the English government.

May Wright Sewall and Professor Geddes made eloquent addresses in favor of securing peace by arbitration, but their remarks were temperate and in good taste.

BAD WHISKEY.

Responsible For the Trouble Among the Canadian Indians.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 7.—Governor Lind today received a message from Koochiching, Minn. asking for 1,000 stand of arms and ammunition. George C. Frisbie, United States Consular Agent at Rat Portage, Ont., telegraphs to Governor Lind that he has already cared for some 30 destitute American refugees. The trouble is caused by the congregation of a large number of Canadian Indians to receive their annuities. They have gathered on the Canadian side, six miles below Koochiching. A number of traders have established "blind pigs" on the American side, and have been selling bad whisky to the Indians. Governor Lind will send 15 or 20 picked men from the State Guard to patrol the American side and prevent the traders from supplying the Indians with whisky. The state has 50,000 rounds of ammunition stored at various convenient points.

CROPS IN THE NORTHWEST

Much Needed Rains Have Revived Wheat and Saved Millions

Winnipeg, July 7.—Most of the members of the Legislature have returned from their homes and up on being questioned as to the appearance of the wheat gave a uniformly favorable report. The recent rains have been general all over the province and the wheat is experiencing a thorough reviving which promises to make the yield fully double of what was expected by the most hopeful a week ago. The other cereals have benefited even more than wheat and the oat and barley and root crops will be fairly good. The grass has sprung up and the wells and streams which were drying up have again filled up much to the relief of the live stock. Altogether the rains of the past week have saved milloins of dollars to the Province. The wheat in store at Fort William for the week ending June 29, was about the same as the corresponding week a year ago. Last year the amount was 1,700,000 bushels. This week the amount in store aggregated 1,394,000 bushels. The receipts are 20,000 bushels and the shipments 118,000 bushels.

A MILLION IN TWELVE YEARS

This Enormous Sum Said to Have Been Paid for Fire Insurance

Chief Rutherford, of the Fire Brigade, told the Times the other day that fully $90,000 per annum was being paid in fire insurance premiums in Peterborough, and less than $15,000 per annum is being returned to the people through fire losses. This shows a loss of $75,000 per annum, sufficient to wipe out our taxes entirely

The subject of municipal fire insurance is one that has engaged the attention of some of our best men. Peterborough is well adapted for municipal fire insurance. The buildings are low, and our system of waterworks is of the best.

The Times would be glad to have contributions on the most important subject.

HOLDS RUSSIA TO BLAME.

Germany Inclined to Make Politics Over China.

Refusal of the St Petersburg Government to Permit Japan to Land a Large Army for the Relief of the Foreigners in Pekin Resented in Official Circles in Berlin — Kaiser's Latest Utterance a Strong Contrast to Bismarck's Famous Words

Berlin, July 7.—The government seems inclined to place the responsibility for further loss of life in Pekin and Tien Tsin upon Russia's shoulders. A Foreign office official stated today that Japan had not sent 30,000 or 40,000 men to China, as had been proposed, because Russia had objected.

When asked where was the boasted harmon yo fthe powers he answered smilingly "The harmony of the powers is the practically always perfect."

The feeling in Berlin is most pessimistic regarding the foreigners.

KAISER'S LATEST SPEECH.

The Emperor's latest speech upon launching the new battleship proves his determination to command peace at sea as well as upon land was no idle boast. He said;

"The ocean is indispensable to Germany's greatness. Upon the ocean or beyond the ocean no important decision may henceforth be made without the consent of the Emperor and Germany. The German people did not fight and conquer thirty years ago in order to be shoved aside when weighty decisions in foreign affairs are to be made.

A comparison of these words with the celebrated utterances of Prince Bismarck is suggestive, for he said; "All Bosnia and Herzogovina are not worth the bones of a single Prussian grenadier."

BOERS ATTEMPT TO RETAKE FICKSBURG

The Fighting was Short but Fierce —Midnight Attack

PRETORIA AND NATAL CONNECTED BY RAIL.

London, July 7.

Paget is moving towards the heart of the country held by De Wet. Lord Roberts telegraphed to the War Office under date of Pretoria, July 6, 2.35 p.m. as follows—Paget engaged the enemy on July 3rd successfully at Pleisirfontein. He drove them out of a very strong position across Lelawkop to Bronessfontein, where he then remained for night. He followed up the enemy, and on the afternoon of July 4, was at Blaauwkopje, 15 miles northwest of Bethlehem. He reports that all of Steyn's Government officials, except the Treasurer-General who has gone to Bethlehem, which has been proclaimed the capital. Steyn himself is reported to have taken flight to the mountains. Buller reports the line to Heralberg restored, thus completing railway communication between Pretoria and Natal. Lorenzo Marques on Friday learned that the Boers are showing fresh activity. A British force is reported within 40 miles of Komatipoort.

Maseru, Basutoland, Thursday, July 5. —The Boers made a determined attempt to retake Ficksburg, (Orange River Colony), yesterday. They attacked the place at midnight. The fighting was short but fierce, lasting an hour, and the Federals were repulsed.

London, July 6.—The pressure of General Hunter's column operating from Frankfort is evidently making itself severely felt upon General De Wet and his commandos south of the Vaal. The desperate attack upon Ficksburg — not the first which has been made—shows conclusively that the enemy still clings to the hope of forcing a way back into the Ladybrand district, and that the necessity for doing so at once in order to avoid the British advancing from the north has become patent to the guerilla leader. General Rundle with the third, eight, and colonial divisions, holds a line of 70 miles from Ficksburg to Winburg, from the Basuto border mountains to the railway, and upon him depends the success of the campaign which Roberts has just inaugurated to suppress opposition in the Orange River Colony. Ficksburg, the most easterly point, in Rundle's somewhat long line, is close to the border of Basutoland, and commands the road leading along that border to Ladybrand, Wepener and other southern points. The midnight attack of the Boers on Wednesday last was evidently designed to force in the British right flank, recover Ficksburg and use it as a base from which to again raid the country east of Bloemfontein. Happily it was frustrated, and the enemy are still within the meshes of the net which Lord Roberts has cast around them. Some dissatisfaction is now beginning to be felt with the action of the British Commander-in-Chief in putting up so long with the irregular form of warfare which the struggle in that part of the theatre of war has degenerated into. In no country which has been successively invaded has it been the rule to allow the inhabitants to continue resistance to the point of mere brigandage. It is considered that if the proclamations ordering confiscation of possessions of those who keep up resistance after a certain time are enforced at once the men under De Wet will cease opposition, and considerable wonder is being excited by the hesitation of the Commander-in-Chief to adopt this course. It is quite likely, however, that he wishes to avoid any appearance of harshness and desires to give the Boers more liberty than, according usages, they are entitled to, that bitterness may not be engendered.

PENITENTIARY IN DANGER

A Plot to Release Welland Canal Dynamiters by Force—Detectives Have Been on Guard for Several Days—A Warm Reception Promised Should They Attempt the Trick

Kingston, July 6.—Reporters have learned that detectives have been guarding the penitentiary for several days past. It is said the Department of Justice has been made acquainted with a plot having for its object the forcible release of the trio of invincibles—Walsh, Nolin and Dulman. It is not known the form the attempt at rescue would take, but dynamite is feared.

The detectives have had conferences with the local authorities, and a policeman was instructed to assist them. For two nights a close watch has been maintained at the prison, and in the daytime due precaution and watchfulness is exercised. Should the plotters attempt to carry out their designs against the prison they will undoubtedly meet with an unpleasant welcome, as there are sufficient guards both inside and outside the walls to cope with any number who might appear to attempt violence.

The Welland Canal dynamiters are doing their work quietly about the prison, and are seemingly unaware of any efforts outside to secure their release by force.

OFEICERS DINED

A Merry Time at the Drill Shed Last Night

Lieut. Colonel Montizambert Congratulates the Regiment on the Good Showing—The New Commanding Officers—Speeches by Many Officers of Sister Corps.

The officers of the 57th Regiment entertainned Lieut-Col. Montizambert and officers of sister corps to a very eat dinner last evening. It was a very appropriate occasion for the officers to show their appreciation of kindnesses on the part of the District officer commanding, as well as to bring the officers in close touch with the officers of their sister corps.

The tables in the mess room had been very tastily bedecked by Mr. H. Long, and when presented to the gaze of the officers and their guests presented a very elegant appearance, to say nothing of the excellence of the viands and daintes, which were heartily enjoyed by those whose whose good fortune it was to be present.

After the wants of the inner man had been appeased the toast to "The Queen" was proposed by the chairman, Surgeon-Major Halliday, and rapturously responded to. The toast to the District Officer Commanding was neatly proposed by Col. Edwards in a few well chosenn words which ed the feeling of appreciation which went out from the hearts of the officers of the 57th to the D.O.C. for his many acts of courtesy.

Lieut.-Col. Montizambert in responding jokingly remarked that he had received a very warm reception in Peterborough, which he congratulated for having such a fine regiment as the 57th. He hoped that as it had pered under Col. Bell it would continue to develop under the nnew Commanding officer, Col. Edwards. He did not expect that it would be his good fortune to be placed in command if war war was declared against China, but if so he wanted no finer body of men than had been under his charge at the

The toast to "the Sister Corps" brought responses from Col. H. C. Rogers, of the Q.O.R., Surgeon-Major Young, Lieut. Bradburn of the Durham Field Battery and others.

During the evening the company were entertained with songs from Major Dennistoun, Capt. Hayes and Capt. Rev. J. C. Davidson.

The officers of the regiment can feel proud of the remarks of the D.O.C. and the Times hopes that next time that Col. Montizambert inspects the 57th that he will speak even stronger words of praise than he did last night.

DISCORD IN FRENCH ARMY

Gen. Jamont, Chief of General Staff Resigns—The Army Demoralized.

Paris, July 7.—General Jamont, Chief of the French Army resigned today because of the quarrel dating from the departure of the aMrquis de Gallifet and the threatened clean sweep of the war office by the new minister of war, General Andre.

General Jamont returned from a tour of inspection of the troops in the various garrisons of France in an uneasy frame of mind. The restless spirit of the various commanders due to the numerous changes was rapidly demoralizing the army.

Hoping to remedy the matter, General Jamont had a long conference with President Loubet, begging him to intervene and modify the actions of Minister of War Andre.

LOBUET REFUSES TO INTERFERE.

President Loubet, much disturbed, promised he would do so, and sent for Premier Waldeck-Rousseau. The latter refused to associate himself with any proposition looking to a comprimise, and General Jamont immediately resigned.

General Brugere, Military Governor of Paris, has been named as chief.

The wildest excitement reigns among the opponents of the government, because Generals with fine war records have been displaced or disgraced.

General Jamont in his letter of resignation said the instability of the general staff was incompatible with the direction of formation of the army when the country is on the verge of war.

The Chamber of Deputies when informed of the resignation, gave the usual forty votes majority in support of the government.

KILLED BY THE CARS

A Young Man From Lakefield Was Killed at New Hamburg.

A despatch from New Hamburg, Ont., dated yestefday, says,—About 4 p.m. to-day a young man, aged about 19, named Fisher, of Lakefield, Ont., met with a fatal accident. It appears that he and a companion were stealing rides on Grand Trunk freight trains. While attempting to board one going west, between Petersburg and Baden, he fell underneath the train and had both legs badly smashed. He was brought here for medical attention. Dr. Walters was quickly on hand and said amputation was necessary. Fisher was taken to the Berlin Hospital on the 4.40 p.m. train, but died shortly after reaching the hospital.

CHINESE MOBBED IN BERLIN

Germans Take Revenge for the Murder in Pekin of Baron von Ketteler.

Berlin, July 7.—As a significant incident it deserves to be mentioned that a number of Chinese studying here have left Berlin. The members of the Chinese legation here have been warned by the police to show themselves as little as possible upon the streets.

Several Chinamen were stoned today by a mob, and were rescued by the police with difficulty.

The German Counsul of Che Foo, telegraphing Tuesday, July 3, after reiterating that General Tung Fu Li Sian Prince Tuan have seized the entire power at Pekin, under the motto, "Extermination of the foreigners," adds:

"The Governor of Shan Tung is at Tsihan with 8,000 troops, ostensibly for the purpose of resisting a German attack. About 12,000 of his troops are on the frontier of Chili."

A TRUE FISH STORY.

Hundreds of Eels Caught in the Dickson Company's Raceway.

The water of the new raceway was shut off on Thursday in ordert o make some repairs, and when it had all run out, there was exposed writhering mass of eels. It wasn't long until the small boys were on board, and the fun began. The fish was captured and carried off in dozens, while many youngsters came back for the second load.

One of the Light and Power Company's men got two eels that measured together nine feet, while another secured a mud turtle.

NURSES ROB THE SOLDIERS

Thirty Invalided Soldiers Sail for Canada—Boys Complain of Bad Usage in the Hospitals

London, July 6.—Thirty Canadian invalids from South Africa, who have been in English hospitals under treatment for wounds and disease, sailed yesterday by the steamship Parisian for Canada. They were all glad to set sail for their native land.

Pte. A. H. Taylor, of the 43rd Ottawa and Carleton Rifles, one of the party, in an interview, speaking for his comrades, declared that a wholesale exaggeration had been made in reference to the supposed hospital scandal in South Africa. Pte. Taylor then referred the interviewer to his comrades for confirmation of his statement, and in conversation with several of them, confirmatory replies were given.

Another one of the party, however, when interviewed, declared that the patients were robbed by dirty, unprincipled orderlies, acting as nurses. Another said that he had been robbed of curios, money and khaki uniform. He also saw enteric fever patients flung from stretchers onto the floor of the field hospital in which they were confined, and left for hours absolutely unattended.

Of 1,150 Canadians who arrived at Cape Town with the first contingent, only 350 remain on active service. The majority of the remaining eight hundred had been stricken with enteric fever. This was due to drinking the putrid water at Paardeburg, where they fought so brilliantly.

At Standerton, on the 5th of July, the Strathcona Horse gave a gallant account of themselves. In the fighting at Vlakfontein they killed five of the enemy and captured a [illegible] [illegible].

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 6 1900.

THE KAISER'S WARLIKE SPEECH.

Kaiser Wilhelm has sounded the warlike note expected from him as a result of the murder of his Minister to China. He says he will not rest "until the German flag, joined to those of the powers, has been planted on the walls of Pekin." Germany is evidently prepared to declare formal war on China and to demand a large slice of territory as indemnity. It still remains to be seen how many of the other powers are ready to treat the present crisis in the same spirit. The United States is not in favor of turning the matter into a war conquest, though it is doing its full share in trying to rescue its citizens. In the meantime, there are signs of disintegration within the Chinese Empire itself, if any reliance is to be placed upon the report that all the provinces south of the Yellow River have refused to acknowledge the authority of the uprising Prince Tuan and have formed a new confederacy, with its capital at Nankin. If this portion of China remains peaceful the problem will be somewhat simplified, though it cannot be said that the prospect of a peaceful apportionment of territory among the powers would be improved by the narrowing of the region to be divided.

KRUGER'S MISCALCULATION.

President Kruger appears to be fighting now for terms of peace. His calculation probably is that complications elsewhere will so [illegible] both the attention and the [illegible] of Britain that she will be glad to [illegible] largely [illegible] in order to release her men now in South Africa. The explosion of the Chinese difficulty he may regard as practical intervention on his behalf; and hopes that fell with the surrender of Cronje may easily be rising again. It is hard to explain on any other theory the stubbornness of the Boer hostilities.

But, if this be the explanation, the Boer leaders are underestimating the value which Britain places upon a secure footing in South Africa. If the British Government had to choose between losing her South African hegemony and failing to get a fair position in the possible outside control of China, there is not a shadow of doubt as to the way its choice would fall. South Africa is on the way to India, and for that matter to China, too; and Britain would never give up control of the Cape route in order to secure a better position in China. For to lose "the Cape" would be to imperil India and still get any gains in China in real jeopardy. If a prudent man must decide whether he will permit a part of the foundation or use supplies to add another bit of superstructure, Paul Kruger knows as well as another which he will do. The fact is that Britain has now about all the territory she wishes to control. Her desire in China is not partition, but peace and trade. But Britain will never abandon India or give up any part of the elaborate system established to keep her connection with her Indian Empire secure.

It is the misfortune of the Boers that their ambitions collide with the very central purpose of the British Empire; and they cannot succeed by mere local success—they must see the downfall of that Empire before they can hope to establish an independent and armed oligarchy again beyond the Vaal.

Off the Track

This means disaster and death when applied to a fast express train. It is equally serious when it refers to people whose blood is disordered and who consequently have pimples and sores, bad stomachs, deranged kidneys, weak nerves and that tired feeling. Constipation is cured by Hood's Pills. 25 cents.

After Marriage

They are going to be together just as much as before; going to ride the wheel, take little pleasure jaunts, etc., enjoying everything together. Isn't that what many a young couple promise each other? And yet, how very soon the wife begins to say "No, I don't think I care to go. You go alone, dear." Young women don't reckon on the great physical changes which follow marriage. How can they when they are allowed to grow up in entire ignorance of vital physiological facts? They feel languid, weak and nervous. Sometimes there is headache and backache. The pulse no more leaps in answer to the thought of a spin on the wheel. Women who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, know how promptly the languor, headache, backache, nervousness and weakness are cured by this medicine. Many husbands write in gratitude to Dr. Pierce for the medicine which gives them back the wife's companionship, as it gives her back her health.

"All praise is due to you for your wonderful 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mr. John W. Coffman, of Hillsburg, Casey Co., Ky. "My wife suffered with female irregularity; was confined to bed every three weeks. After using two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription she was cured, and has not suffered any derangement since. Your 'Favorite Prescription' is a boon to delicate women."

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

A POPULAR INSTITUTION.

Results of Medal Examinations, Canada Business College, Chatham, Ont.

The results of the Annual Medal Examinations of this popular business college are just at hand. There were many contestants, all exceptionally well qualified, and consequently the competition was keen. Principal D. McLachlan in-forms us that the school year just closing has been the most successful in the history of the college, not only in attendance but in the attainments of the students. Many of the classes in the different departments were composed almost entirely of public school teachers, holding certificates of all grades. Notwithstanding the fact that the character of the work and the requirements have been steadily advanced, the results of the recent examinations show that the students have made remarkable scores.

Touch Typewriting has been made a distinct feature of this school for some time and in order to stimulate the students to make greater efforts, a special gold medal was offered for competition Mr. J. B. Jarvis, son of Mr. F. S. Jarvis, Manager Merchants Bank, Galt, Ont., won this coveted prize, as well as a special silver medal for speed typwriting.

Special mention is made of the fact that Mr. Ed. Rouse, a former public school teacher, secured the general proficiency gold medal in the business department, in addition to a special gold medal for the highest stand in mathematics, with a score in that department of 235 out of a possible 240.

Mr. H. J. Schissler of Victoria Harbor won the special silver medal for speed in Rapid Calculation, with phenomenal recore in addition.

Mr. W. E. Elliott of Goderich won the general proficiency gold medal of the shorthand department with a speed in shorthand of 151 words per minute, and this after but slightly over five months' study.

Other students of both departments secured diplomas on these examinations.

The following are the results.

A Boy's Comprehensive Prayer.

Just ahead of me in the train the other morning sat two young men who were telling the stories that are never old about the bright sayings of their children, says a traveler. One of them, however, had a brand new one about his 4-year-old Georgie. This youngster had been safely tucked in bed after a day of the most fatiguing play. He yawned while being undressed, and was all but asleep by the time he found himself between the sheets. His mother none the less insisted upon him repeatinng the prayer of childhood. He started sleepily, requiring prompting at the beginning of every line. Drowsiness had nearly won the mastery by the time that he had obediently got as far as "take my soul."

"God bless—" prompted his mother.

Georgie had a long list of relatives. There was a flutter of his sleep-laden lids as he lumped them all together.

"God bless the whole shooting match."

And he was asleep at last.

His First Shave.

It was the first time he had ever been shaved, except by his own hand. He acknowledged it himself afterward. No comic artist ever idealised a farmer in caricature for the funny papers that could hold a candle to him as he stalked into Simcoe Street barber shop yesterday morning and threw a carpet bag into one corner. He had chin whiskers, but the rest of his weather-beaten face was smooth. "How much for a shave?" he demanded of the boss barber. "Ten cents." said the barber. "Purty steep, ain't it?" "Oh, no; our regular rates." The countryman, who looked as though he came from Lindsay, fumbled in his trousers pocket, fished out an old purse, and counted his small change. "Be gosh! I'll go ye!" he exclaimed, with the air of a man who had thrown caution to the winds, and had made up his mind to go the limit. "Here's yer ten." "Wait till you get the shave." replied the barber. "We don't demand cash in advance." The shop was rather full, and the rural customer sat down to await his turn. He finally placed himself carefully in a chair, and the barber tilted it backward. The man from the country clutched the arms nervously. "Geewhillikins!" he ejaculated; "I thought I was goin' clean through to the cellar." As he settled his bill at the desk he remarked: "Well, that's the first time I was ever shaved by a barber. Next time I come to town I'll drop in on ye again."

How He Was Cured.

A South African farmer who had lost some cows by the cattle plague was fully pursuaded that he had himself been attacked by the epidemic. Forthwith he hurried off and consulted his medical man, who tried to laugh him out of the absurd notion, but to no purpose.

The farmer then went to an old, well-known practitioner, who, being a bit of a wag and seeing how matters stood, entered minutely into the details of the case, expressed his concurrence with the patient's views, and told him he could cure him.

The doctor thereupon wrote a prescription, sealed it up, and told the farmer to go to a druggist in the next town.

The farmer lost no time in going with the prescription, but was somewhat startled when the druggist showed him the formula, which ran thus.

"This man has the cattle plague. Take him into the back yard and shoot him, according to law."

A LAWYER'S ADVENTURE.

While Up the Lakes He Meets 'Bruin in the Forest.

A leading lawyer who resides not one hundred miles from Peterborough, and who is fond of the rod and gun, recently had an experience that is worth printing. He will probably gasp when he reads his story in cold print as it was being kept dark.

It appears that while out taking a stroll through the woods near Stoney Lake he met a bear. The bear was also taking a stroll. After they met they strolled together—the bear about ten feet behind the lawyer.

The lawyer says he took the bear for a calf. The second glance convinced him that it was bigger than a cow.

Their hurried stroll took them to the edge of a preciptous cliff, and there the lawyer halted. So did the bear. The lawyer licked his dry lips with a fevered tongue. The bear licked his chops with a large, red tongue a yard long.

Walking up to his desk at which his father was seated, he gravely laid down a nickel, with the remark, in a business-like town. "Papa, I want to pay you this as a retainer." The father pocketed the nickel and replied. "Very well; what can I do for you?" Thereupon the lad handed him a note, written by his teacher, to the effect that the bearer had been unruly in school and should be whipped by his parents. "Now, papa, you've got a retainer, and you've got to do the best you can to get me out of this." "Very well, my son," was the reply. "I'll make an appeal to the court, over which your mother will preside. Perhaps the court will be lenient." Despite the trick of the lad the plea for mercy failed utterly, and a good spanking was the sentence. The lawyer, however, declared that he could not stay by and see the sentence imposed upon his client.

PARIS

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Daily at the Exposition

[From the New York Times March 16]

The New York Times will be published daily on the grounds of the Universal Exposition to be held at Paris.

The interest of the people of the United States in the Exposition, the very large attendance from this country already assured, and the cordial relations existing between the two Governments have seemed to us to justify this undertaking as a recognition by the American press of the world-wide influence and importance of the great French Fair to all interests of the United States; and we have sought to avail ourselves of this extraordinary opportunity for cultivating feelings of amity between the people of the two great republics.

The concession for the publication of an American newspaper on the grounds of the Exposition has been granted to THE TIMES by the French Commissioners. The paper will appear daily in its usual from—from eight to thirty-two pages—issued from a Goss four-deck, patented, straight-line newspaper printing press, capable of printing at a speed of fifty thousand newspapers per hour, printed on both sides, folded and counted. The press will be installed in the centre of the American to the Annex to the Building of Liberal Arts and Chemical Industries. The exhibit will give a complete demonstration of the manner of issuing an American newspaper, including the operation of a battery of typesetting machines, stereotyping, and the most approved modern American appliances, an exhibit which will be entirely novel to Europeans.

The Paris Exposition Edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES will be gratuitously distributed at the place of production by many thousands each day, and will besides be procurable at newspaper koisks at over Paris, and generally distributed throughout Europe.

THE NEW YORK TIMES will be the only newspaper of the world published on the Exposition grounds, and will endeavor to maintain in its international character the ideal it has sought to attain in America.

Although THE NEW YORK TIMES enjoys exclusively the privilege of publication on the grounds, it will offer to the newspapers of the country the opportunity to exhibit the merits and quality of their own publications and to set forth the commerical importance and attractions of their localities.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

Hutch in the Rossin House Drug Store

HUTCH
10 CENTS

Thanks to the very high standard our Canadian Government demands in pharmacy, the druggists who practise in this country are an exceptionally gifted set of men and have anatomy, materia medica, etc., at their finger tips. Toronto is especially fortunate in this respect, and among those whose name is a synonym for rigid purity, and only the best in drugs, is George Harbottle, the proprietor of the Rossin House Drug Store. Mr. Harbottle was chatting with several friends the other night, and expressed some pretty outspoken views on Hutch. "Hutch," said he, in his terse, vigorous style, "is to my mind a perfect treatment for dyspepsia. It is quick, you don't have to wait an hour to be relieved from pain, and it is ultimately beneficial. We have several people who claim to be cured by Hutch after every other treatment has been tried by them. Everybody is taking Hutch, and some of our high civic notabilities are among its warmest friends. Hutch cures. When I have an efficaceous remedy I recommend it. I recommend Hutch every time."

Ten Hutch Ten Cents. All druggists, or by mail from the Woodward Medicine Company, Limited, 11 Colborne Street, Toronto.

Death of Mrs. [illegible]

The death of [illegible] of Mrs. [illegible] member for East Victoria in the provincial legislature will be deeply deplored by her many friends in Peterborough. DIED AT RAT PORTAGE

Particulars of the Death of Mr. William Robinson.

A few days ago the Times published a despatch sent to Hon. Geo. A. Cox, announcing the death of a Wm. Robinson, at Rat Portage. The telegram asked for instructions as to what to do with the body, and Senator Cox sent it to this journal through Mr. A. Cox, of town, knowing that if the notice appeared in the Times the deceased's friends would see it.

It appears from later information that the deceased at one time conducted a livery stable in Peterborough. His wife was a Miss Fannie Douglass, daughter of ex-Councillor John Douglass.

He removed from Peterborough to Winnipeg and then came back as far as Rat Portage, where he has been employed for the past two years with his own team, by the corporation in connection with the fire engine, and other municipal work. Robinson was said to be well off, having considerable money in the bank, as well as some property in Winnipeg, and a farm in Manitoba.

The deceased died without a will, his death being from heart failure, occurring on the street, in front of the Hilliard House, at 6 o'clock on Monday morning.

A CALIFORNIAN'S

Successful Experiments With Food.

A gentleman in Oak Park, Calif., at all first-class grocers.

Henry Puckman, took up the question of food, to see if he could recover from an old case of dyspepsia, from which [illegible] other remedies [illegible].

He started in with Grape-Nuts breakfast food and his dyspepsia quickly disappeared. He also left off the use of coffee and took Postum Food Coffee in its place. He writes that he has been put right, perfectly well, and going to remain so by continuing the use of the Grape-Nuts food and Postum Coffee.

It is worth anyone's trial, who desires to be well, to change the diet, and particularly to leave off coffee. Grape-Nuts food contains elements that rebuild the grey matter in the nerve centers and brain and give one a feeling of reserve strength and vigor. This food is perfectly cooked at the factory, [illegible] served instantly, and [illegible]

The Difference.

If you ask a man for an ad or a few locals, says a contemporary, he will tell you he don't believe in advertising—a paper is never read. But let him be caught hugging the hired girl or chasing a loose piece of calico up the street after dark, or struggling with a jug of "Tamarack" water, if the printing office is in the garret of a twenty story building, he will climb to the top and ask the editor not to publish it in the paper where everybody will read it.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Albert Valois Committed for Trial by County Police Magistrate Edmison. —Fishing Cases.

Albert Valois was committed for trial by County Magistrate Edmison on a charge of cohabiting with an imbecile. He declined to elect to be tried summarily, and the case will likely come before a jury.

County Magistrate Edmison was in Havelock yesterday hearing charges against parties of that village of having fish in their possession during the close season.

REGIMENTAL INSPECTION

The 57th Inspected Yesterday by Lieut.-Col. Montizambert.

The annual inspection of the 57th Regiment took place yesterday, by Lieut.-Col. Montizambert, District Officer Commanding. The companies' men inspected on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

The Regiment assembled at the drill shed at 4.30 p.m. and headed by the brass and bugle bands, marched to Howden's field, in the south part of the town, where they were put through many difficult evolutions, which were creditably performed, at the conclusion of which Col. Montizambert addressed a few words of a complimentary character to the men. The regiment then returned to the drill shed.

A NOTE OF WARNING.

This Great Family Journal Has a Word to Say About the Cattle Pens.

Once again we call attention to the conditions of the market cattle pens. The pens are a receptacle for stagnant water, which can only escape by evaporation, and is positively a menace to health. Common horse sense would have told the authorities that the cement floors should be a trifle higher than the level of the market square, and that some means should be provided for the escape of the water.

This Great Family Journal is deeply interested in this matter, for they are close to our office window, and the odor is anything but pleasant at times. If the object is to poison the G. F. J., the authorities could not take a better way of doing it. We however warn them that if an epidemic of disease should break out, we will put on full war paint and go after blood.

A Clever Youngster.

A well-known lawyer not one hundred miles from Peterborough has a son who he is sure will one day be a shining light at the bar. The other day the father was somewhat surprised to receive a call at his office from the young hopeful at an hour when he should have been at school.

The jurist realized that there was no time to ask for a stay of proceedings. Nor was there any use of accusing the hungry brute of contempt of court. Then an inspiration came to the lawyer. Lifting up his voice to the utmost limit he recited a political speech he had prepared for the approaching convention, to the amazed bear. The fatigue of the chase and the natural tremor of his tones may have given the speech a somewhat ragtime flavor, but he kept bravely at it.

The bear sat up with a what-are-you-you-givin'-us? look on his open countenance and stared hard at the lawyer. Then he yawned. Then he closed his eyes and dozed off, and awakened himself with a start, and dozed again, and finally, after a most prodigious yawn, turned tail and trotted back into the woods—leaving the Lawyer in possession of the field, and with a good sized chunk of the oration [illegible]

For the Golf Girl of 1900.

The golf girls has not only a wardrobe exclusively devoted to wear on the links, but there are numberless little novelties which are especially designed for feminine enthusiasts of the most ancient and royal game.

One of the latest gold novelties is a little three-inch candy bag made of bright plaid silk and filled with miniature gold clubs. The clubs are sterling silver, and they are made as stickpins, and are therefore of actual use to the golf girl.

The newest charm to dangle from the chatelaine is a silver gold ball. Touch a spring and it opens, and inside you find a tiny book of golf rules. The cleverly hidden little volume is generally bound in bright, red leather.

Gold scores are not only prettily bound in scarlet and green leather, but they are capped with silver corners and have attached to them a silver hook, so that they may hang from the belt like a chatelaine bag.

There are sachet bags for the golf girl and candy boxes galore. The sachet bags are fragrant with the perfume of sweet clover, and in shape they represent a candy bag. Some are made of stitched tan silk to look like leather, and others of bright plaid silk. One of the favorite candy boxes displays on its cover always popular Brownie in the role of a golf champion.

There is a large assortment of golf jewelry in the way of hatpins, cuff links, stickpins and shirt waist studs. And then there are the many desk appointments which suggest golf. The golf stick as a penholder and the mucilage bottle, which has the head of a golf stick for the brush handle, and the bottle decorated with a candy bag [illegible] in silver.

"Ads" That Win Trade

Every experienced advertiser understands that an immense number of people never know that they want things until they read that the things are for sale. Therefore merchants construct their advertisements so that what they want to sell will be conspicuous. It is a mistake to hide the essential part of an announcement in a mass of verbiage as a lure to reluctant readers. People like to read advertisements that are plain and straight forward. They do not need to be tricked. Advertise in The Times.

A Street Fair.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—Some time ago a Street fair was proposed for Peterborough, similar to the institutions held in western town in the United States. It appears however, to have stoped at this.

Now, what is our Retail Merchants Association doing? If this association is good for anything, it ought to take a matter of this kind up.

High Taxes

Editor Morning Times.

Sir.—I think it is a shame and a disgrace the way our affairs are managed. Our taxes are so high that it will soon be impossible to live here. It seems that the Council is perfectly satisfied with it all which means that we must turn them out or let things go on as they are.

Surely, Mr. Editor, when the ratepayers get their tax bills they will wake up, and protest. Let there be a new Council from the mayor down is what I say matters can be no worse.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Magnetawan River

The beauty of Muskoka lies as much in its rivers as in its lakes. The Magnetawan is situated sixty miles north of Gravenhurst, at Burks Falls, on the Grand Trunk Railway, and opens up another an entirely new region to steamboat navigation, to the tourist, and particularly the sportsman, who can get with comparatively little trouble to a district which has hitherto been accessible only to those with ample means and time.

The very heart centre for sport, for rod and gun. Its rivers and Lakes can be ascended and descended in canoes amid the best of sport, while the eye is fascinated by the fresh and unsullied wilderness of its forest haunts. Tickets and all information from

THE ALLIED FORCES WILL HAVE 50,000 MEN IN CHINA SOON

Refugees From Tuan Tsin Arriving at Shangnai Long Bombardment by Chinese

PRINCE TUAN SLAYS EOUR THOUSAND CHINESE

After Eighteen Days of Hopeless Resistance the Foreign Ministers, the Women, the Children and the European Guards Are All Massacred

London, July 9, 2.45 a.m. The foreign consuls at Shanghai met on 2nd and officially announced that the Legations at Pekin were safe on July 4. The foregoing statement, read with Consul Warren's despatch to the Foreign Office on Saturday, makes it possible to belief that the Legations will hold out for a number of days yet. A Che Foo despatch to the Express, says the Russians have landed 2,000 men at Taku, and the Japanese have discharged several transports. The Japanese pushed onto Tien Tsin, leading in the subsequent assault upon the native city, in which their commander was killed. Ten more transports are engaged at Japanese ports. With the 10,000 British India troops a float, and fresh Japanese contingent, it is quite probable that the allies will have 50,000 men ashore.

The disorders in the provinces appear to be increasing in volume. A Chinese army is within forty miles of New Chevang, and the foreigners are preparing to abandon their homes. The southern part of the province is swept by raiders, destroying all works of the white man except the spots garrisoned by the Russians. The proclamations have been posted in all villages near Che Foo, calling upon the loyal Chinese to rise and expel the foreigners for introducing among the pious Chinese an immoral religion. Refugees from Tien Tsin, arriving at Shanghai, say that only five civilian foreigners were killed during the long Chinese bombardment. The Courier mentioned in Consul Warren's despatch gives a strange picture, says the Daily Mail's Shanghai correspondent of how! 180 josties death in Pekin. Business, apparently goes on as usual. The shops and theatres are open and the streets are full of people. No Imperial troops except those of Gen. Tung Fuh Siang took part in the fighting. They did no looting. The Courier even asserts positively that provisions are being supplied to the Legations. Gen. Kawang Shi Kai, Governor of Shan Tung, a correspondent of the Daily Mail asserts that by July 11 the Boxers will disband and negotiations will be then made for peace.

NO LEGATION NOW EXISTS IN PEKIN

They Are Said to Have Been Exterminated and no Foreigners Left Alive

HORRIBLE MASSACRE

London, July 7.—"The massacre of the Foreign Ministers, the women, the children and the European guards at Pekin, after eighteen days of hopeless resistance, is confirmed," says a despatch from Shanghai, dated July 6th, and received in London to-day.

"When the ammunition and food were exhausted," continues the despatch, "the Chinese fiends closed in upon the Legations and butchered all those who remained alive. Afterwards they set the Legation buildings on fire and the remains of the victims were consumed in one horrible holocaust."

The despatch does not state the source, from which the news of this information was received. It is thought that this is indicated by another Shanghai despatch, however, which states that the taoti or officer in charge of several departments at Shanghai and vicinity, now admits that no Legation exists in Pekin. They are said to have been exterminated, and it is admitted that no foreigners have been left alive.

Reports of the atrocities committed by Prince Tuan upon the Chinese are appalling. He had four thousand leading Chinese butchered, it is said, for merely daring to petition him to control the orgie of blood and restain his followers. The despatch concludes with the announcement that ex-Viceroy Chi Li, Wang Wen Chao has been killed by the Boxers.

DISASTER OVERTOOK THEM

London, July 7.—A correspondent says there is no longer any doubt that disaster has overtaken the Russian force of 3,000 which left Tien Tsin for Pekin on June 11. The Russians had a full field gun complement, and carried their own transport. As nothing has been heard from them for 24 days, it is assumed that they have been overwhelmed.

Trustworthy news is received to the effect that all the country to the northeast of Pekin is covered with the corpses of men and horses of the western garrison. Fighting of a desperate character took place in the immediate neighbourhood of Tien Tsin on June 30.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN THE NATIVE QUARTERS

Hope That the Women and Children Have Been Saved—Japan is Given a Free Hand

London, July 7.—Reports from natives who left Pekin on June 24 continues to be received, but they are to a large extent mereal variations of the stories already published.

A despatch from Taku says that the last message from Mr. Edwin H. Conger, the United States Minister at Pekin brought there by runners, reads as follows—

"We are besieged. The provisions are becoming exhausted, and the situation is desperate. The relief force should advance and give us notice by signal."

Runners also contain the report of the burning of the native city of Pekin.

In London it is hardly doubted that the worst has happened, though the friends of those who were besieged at Pekin cling to the last slender hope that Sir Robert Hart, the Inspector-General of Customs, who was thoroughly trusted by the Chinese may have managed by the promise of bribes to induce the Boxers leaders to protect the women and children from the violence of the mobs.

JOB FOR JAPAN ALONE

Russian Government will give the Japanese a Free Hand in Crushing the Chinese.

London, July.—The Russian Government announces that it will give Japan a free hand to apply military forces in China. The terms of this report are summarized in the subjoined despatch from St. Petersburg.

In reply to an inquiry from the Japanese Cabinet regarding the despatch of Japanese troops to China to render aid to the foreigners in Pekin, the Russian Government declared on May 27th that it left the Japanese Government full liberty of action in this connection, and the Tokio cabinet expressed its readiness to act in full agreement with the other powers. It is in consequence, no doubt, that Japan is preparing to embark 20,000 more troops.

BRITAIN WILL BACK JAPAN

Go on and Suppress the Chinese, says the British Govt—Powers Willing.

London, July 7.—In the House of Commons the Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, Mr. William St. John Brodrick, announced that the Government of Japan had received assurances that the prompt despatch of a large force to Taku would be welcomed by Her Majesty's Government. No objection, Mr. Brodrick added, had been raised by any European power. As the negociations continued he was unable to say more, but he assured the House that the Government was fully alive to the exigencies of the situation.

THE EMPEROR'S REWARD

Will Pay a Thousand Taels for the Deliverance from Pekin of Any Foreigners.

Berlin, July 7.—Emperor William has telegraphed to the commander of the German squadron in Chinese waters to the governor of Shanghai, to the viceroy and to others, offering a thousand taels to anyone accomplishing the deliverance of any foreigners of any nationality whatever now shut up in Pekin, who is handed over to any German magistrate, and offering to pay the expenses of the publication of this offer in Pekin.

A DIPLOMATIC BUREAU

British Officials to Start for China, via Vancouver, to Replace Pekin Legation.

London, July 7.—A story is current that several foreign officers, officials and other Government representatives will start for China via Vancouver, immediately circumstances permit. It is presumed in some quarters they are intended to constitute a diplomatic bureau, which will temporarily take the place of the Pekin Legation.

HAVE NOT ESCAPED

Missionaries Still in Pekin, if not Massacred—Sixty Safe in One District.

New York, July 6.—Dr. Halsey, of the Board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian Church, has received this cable—

"Chi Nan—Hodges, Simcoes, Taylor, at Pao Ting Fu. Lowrie at Tien Tsin. Millers, Corea. None left Pekin. Shan Tung missionaries safe. Eiterich."

"This message," said Dr. Halsey, "that Dr. Cortlandt Van Rensellaer Hodges and his wife, Dr. G. Yardley Taylor and the Rev. S. E. Simcox and wife are at Pao Ting Fu, and have not made their escape. The Rev. J. Lowrie has escaped from Pao Ting Fu and is now at Tien Tsin, and the Rev. J. A. Miller and Mrs. Miller have escaped ad gone to Corea.

"The next statement is important, as it indicates that all the Pekin missionaries are still in Pekin. The final part of the message is still more important, as it shows that all the missionaries, some sixty in number, in the Shan Tung district, are safe."

THREATENS DECAPITATION

Li Hung Chang Doesn't Want the Peace Disturbed in His Province—His Proclamation.

Shanghai, July 7.—Li Hung Chang has issued a strongly worded proclamation, in which he threatens with instant decapitation any official who disturbs the peace in his province. At Tien Tsin the position is one of great gravity and danger.

BRITISH LEGATION BURNED

London, July 7.—A despatch has been received from Sir Robert Hart to the effect that the British Legation has been burned. His message of June 24 contained the information that nine soldiers at the British Legation had been killed and several wounded, and that the Chinese had cut the Grand Canal in order to flood the plain and so prevent any advance on Pekin.

A PRESENTATION

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick is Presented With a Handsome Buggy.

Last Thursday at the conclusion of the services in St. Mary's church, Chandos, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick was most agreeably surprised when Mr. John Minogue came forward and on behalf of the congregation read the following address—

Chandos, July 5, 1900.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, Young's Point.

Very Dear Father,—We, your people of St. Mary's Parish, take this opportunity of expressing to you our appreciation of your valuable services to us.

Indeed we feel ourselves highly honoured and kindly favoured by his Lordship, the Bishop of Peterborough, in giving us the services of one whose very estimable qualities fit him for a much more deserving field for his labours.

Since you have come among us, you have not failed to endear yourself to us, and now, dear Father, as a token of that love and esteem we bear towards you, kindly accept the little gift we are about to present to you.

We understand what fatigue there is in driving such a distance over the dusty roads to minister to our wants, so we have chosen as our gift a buggy, which we hope may suit you, and rest assured you have with it the kindest wishes of your people of Chandos.

Signed on behalf of the congregation by JOHN MINOGUE,
JAMES CLEARY,
RICHARD WOOLEY,
WM. O'BRIEN,
STEPHEN SCOTT,
SIMON MAHONEY.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick expressed his appreciation of the gift in suitable terms, warmly thanking his parishoners for the generous impulse which prompted the giving of so acceptable a present.

The buggy is a very handsome one, and is made by Armstrong of Guelph.

BANDSMAN ORDERED TO TAKE OFF UNIFORM

The 57th Band Forbidden to Play Last Night

IN THE BIG ORANGE PARADE

Last night there was considerable excitement and indignation amongst the Orangemen over an order from the commanding officer of the regiment forbidding the band to wear their military dress at the Orange church parade.

County Master Jones was seen by the Times. He was very indignant and said that when he heard that such an order had been issued, he rushed down to the band hall, and found the members very much excited and very indignant. He advised them to obey the order, and play in their shirt sleeves if necessary. Some of the members were for disregarding the order, and others said they would never put on their uniforms again.

Amongst the Orangemen there is much indignation, many refusing to believe that the Government would issue such an order. The Orangemen were kept ten minutes late in order to give the bandsmen time to change their dress. Many of them felt that if the band was permitted to play at the Catholic picnic all day in uniform (as they did on Monday last) they should have been allowed to play the Orangemen to church.

The Times called up Col. Edwards who said that he had no option in the matter. He only learned last evening that the band proposed to turn out for the Orangemen, and at once issued an order forbidding them to wear military dress. The following is the clause in the regulations relating to this matter.

Paragraph 3, part 2, Regulations and Orders Militia of Canada, 1898,—Bandsmen when dressed in militia uniform are forbidden to institute or take part in meetings, demonstrations or processions for party or political purposes.

Col. Edwards said in regard to the Catholic picnic that he was not aware that the band played there in uniform. Even had he known it, he claimed that it is doubtful if the regulations would have applied as it was for a charitable object, and not of a party or political character.

Col. Edwards added, further, that after consulting with Major Miller, it was decided to purchase a special uniform for the band, so that further trouble might be avoided. The new uniform will be worn on the 12th of July.

HALF A CENTURY

Death of Mrs. J. C. Bateman who has Lived in Peterborough Half a Century.

One of the oldest residents of this district passed away Saturday morning in the person of Mrs. John C. Bateman, who resided on the second concession of Smith, near Auburn. The deceased, who was a native of Magog, Que., where she was born in 1829, her maiden name being Miss Clements, came to Peterborough about fifty years ago. She was twice married, her first husband being the late James Armstrong, and her second the late John C. Bateman. She was the mother of twelve children, six of whom died in infancy. The survivors are: Wm. Armstrong, of Arlington, Oregon; Chas. Armstrong, of Harvey, North Dakota; George Armstrong, of Bonaccord street, town; Mrs. Jas. Montgomery, of Hall's bridge, and Albert Armstrong, of Prescot, by her first marriage, and Mrs. Wm. Sherin, by her second marriage. Mr. Jos. Clements, of Bobcaygeon, is a brother of the deceased. Mrs. Bateman lived to see thirty-one grandchildren and three greatgrandchildren. She was a Methodist in religion, and a lady highly esteemed by her many friends.

THE BOERS ARE STILL IN THE FIGHTING HUMOR

Attacked Gen. Buller's Escort Between Standerton and Heidelberg

PRESIDENT STEYN HAS FLED TO THE MOUNTAINS

Paget is in Hot Pursuit of the Desperate De Wet—Drove Him Out of Strong Position—Derbyshire Regiment Surprised in its Camp by Moonlight

London, July 9. Late news from South Africa reports that the Boers ineffectually attacked Gen. Buller's escort between Standerton and Heidelberg on Saturday as he was returning from a visit to Lord Roberts. The Boers attacked Ficksburg garrison at midnight on Tuesday but were driven off after 45 minutes fighting.

General Brabant on July 4 occupied Dornberg, between Senekal and Winburg, which served as a base for Boers assailing convoys.

Col. Mahon, of General Hutton's mounted troops on July 6 again engaged 3,000 Boers east of Bronkhorstspruit and drove them off. The British casualties numbered 33.

Commandant [illegible] tried to recapture Rustenburg on July 5 but was driven back.

Thirty-four of Strathcona's Horse, under Lieut. Anderson, were attacked by 200 Boers east of Standerton on July 6. The British soon took possession of a kopje on which they successfully withstood the attack of the enemy.

London, July 7. — Gradually telegrams are coming through which enable one to piece together the story of the Boers' raids upon the Bloemfontein-Pretoria railway. The story is one of local and temporary success, but ultimate failure on the part of the enemy; and whatever may be thought of particular incidents, there is on the whole nothing in it that is descreditable to British leadership in South Africa. Lord Roberts, for the sake of a great result, took a great risk when he made his dash for Pretoria, and the Boers tried—but on the whole failed—to profit by the chance he gave them. It is interesting to see how the story goes when a diary of raids is put together from the materials available. According to statements in the Times Heilbron has been occupied at the end of May, by Colville with Macdonald's Highland Brigade, the force fighting their way up from Ventersburg. It has already been suggested from reading certain statements in the official telegrams that the Highlanders were practically invested at Heilbron. The information now available shows that for the first week in June they were fighting on quarter rations, that De Wet captured a convoy and its escort during that time, and that the garrison was temporarily relieved by a convoy taken in by Methuen on the 7th, and again by another convoy on 18th. A mysterious action at Vredefort Road, known only by the casualty lists, proves to have been a fight between De Wet and about 1,500 men, under Major Haig, made up of drafts for various regiments on their way up the line. The fight resulted in Haig being driven from the railway. The Derbyshire Regiment was surprised in its camp by moonlight, on the night between the 7th and 8th. If the record is followed with the map it will be seen that De Wet very cleverly dodged Lord Methuen, who had the double duty of scouring Heilbron and guarding the flank of the line. When Methuen moved towards Heilbron De Wet rushed at the railway; when Methuen turned to the railway, De Wet let go his hold of it only to strike at another point. Altogether he has given a very fine example of the tactics of a guerilla leader, and the result of these frequent interruptions of the line must have been to make supplies rather short for the large army to the north of the Vaal.

London, July 7.—Lord Roberts telegraphs to the War Office under date of Pretoria, July 6, 2.25 p.m., as follows—"Paget engaged the enemy on July 3rd at Pleisirfontein. He drove them out of a very strong position across Lindeque's Drift to Bronkfontein, where he bivouacked for the night. He followed up the enemy, and on the afternoon of July 4 was at Blaauwkopje, 11 miles northwest of Bethlehem. He reports that all of Steyn's Government officials, except the Treasurer-General, who had gone to Vrede, are at Bethlehem, which has been proclaimed the capital. Steyn himself is reported to have taken flight to the mountains. Buller reports the line to Heidelberg restored, thus completing railway communication between Pretoria and Natal.

CANADA'S BRAVE BOYS

Lord Roberts Praises Warmly the Gallantry of Canadian Mounted Infantry—Held a Larger Force in Check

Ottawa, Ont., July 7.—Lord Roberts cables Lord Minto as follows—

Pretoria, July 6.—I have much pleasure in bringing to your attention the good work done by the first and second battalions, Canadian Mounted Rifles, who have been repeatedly conspicuous for their gallant conduct and soldier-like instincts. During the attack by the Boers on Kal Bosst. on June 22nd, a small party at Pencha Creek man of second battalion displayed greatest gallantry and devotion to duty, holding in check a force of Boers by whom they were largely outnumbered. Corp. oMrden and Pte. Kerr continued fighting until mortally wounded. Lance-Corp. Mills and Pte. Mills, wounded, continued to fire and held their ground. On June 19th a part of the first battalion, under Lieut Young, when operating with a force under General Hutton to north-west of Pretoria, succeeded in capturing two of enemy's guns and brought in a herd of cattle and several prisoners, without losing a man.

W. C. T. U. REORGANIZED.

Meeting of Temperance Workers—Officers Elected.

There was a very good attendance at the meeting in the Y. M. C. A., at which the Rev. J. G. Potter presided and Dr. Torrance assisted in the devotional exercises. Miss Wiggins, the organizer of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, delivered an address showing the need of greater interest in the temperance reform, and the special opportunities that women have in the home, when intelligently informed, of helping on the work. An appeal was made to re-organize the W. C. T. U. of Peterborough, and a very hearty response was made by the ladies. Thirty six of the ladies of Peterborough banded themselves together for aggressive service, and elected the following officers:—

President—Mrs. S. D. McPherson.
Corresponding Sec'y—Mrs. John Manning.
Recording Sec'y—Miss S. J. Robertson.
Treasurer—Mrs. G. B. Whitton.

There was anothe meeting Friday afternoon to complete organization and lay some plans for future work.

TO VISIT OUR LAKES.

Suggestion the Governor General and Party be Invited.

The Lindsay Post says there is talk of Parry Sound, Midland, Collingwood, Meaford, Warton and Owen Sound corporations joining in extending an invitation to His Excellency the Governor-General and Lady Minto, to visit the Georgian Bay district this summer. The suggestion is a good one, and if their Excellencies accept the people of Lindsay and Bobcaygeon might offer to introduce the Vice-Regal party to the beauties of the Kawartha Lakes while on their way back to the Capital—it would be unfair to do so while on their way north, as beyond doubt the scenery of the Georgian Bay district would appear tame and insiped after a glimpse at the varied beauties of our grand inland waters. We can afford to be magnanimous and need not fear the rivalry of any section of the Dominion when the facts are known. Lord Lansdowne, Governor-General, with Lady Lansdowne and party, made a tour of the lakes from Chemong to Lindsay in 1886 or 1887 as the guests of the Trent Valley Navigation Co.; they were charmed with the trip, and admitted that the scenery far surpassed that to be found along the Rideau. No doubt Mr. Boyd would gladly place one of his steamers or his pretty steam yacht at the disposal of the Vice-Regal party. By-the-bye Capt. Lang still treasures the handsome silk ensign received from the hand of Lady Lansdowne on the above occasion.

MYSTERY AT SUNDERLAND

A Farmer Finds a Rig Buried Beneath a Brush Pile in His Swamp—Has Some Person Been Murdered?

Sunderland July 7.—A man who is known as a farmer of the highest respectability, found a light wagon, taken apart and buried beneath a brush pile in his swamps, north of Sunderland. The wheels and other parts were fitted and the rig was found to be complete. Who put it there, and why, was it put there? are questions that are now agitating the public mind in that section of the country. It is further reported that three summers ago a stench was noticeable for quite a while rising from the swamp and a strange horse wandered around the locality for several days. It is not difficult to make a story out of these links. Forge them together and you have the following,—A peddlar, driving along this swamp road, was followed, or waylaid and murdered for his money, the body hastily and imperfectly buried in the swamp, the horse turned loose and the rig taken apart and hidden in a brush pile. A peddlar from the city, perhaps a foreigner with few or no relatives to search for him, might quietly drop out of existence this way and his disappearance be unnoticed. The next step should be to find the skeleton of the dead man.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 9 1900

GERMANY FOR WAR.

The German Emperor embraces the opportunity of war in China with undisguised eagerness. He does not wait to inquire into details, but on the report of the murder of his Minister in Pekin he has at once despatched a military force to carry "exemplary punishment and vengeance," with instructions not to rest till the German flag has been planted triumphantly on the walls of Pekin. He at least, has no doubts whether he is at war.

This is precisely the action that was to be expected. The German War Lord is not hampered by constitutional restraints and his military ambition fully corresponds with his absolute military authority. The reports from Pekin offer the pretext he has sought and he has lost no time in joining in the fray. We may expect a demonstration of the German naval and military power in China that will carry weight, and the Emperor will have his own ideas of reparation to enforce.

He tells his troops that they are to maintain good comradeship with the others they will come in contact with, but they are on Germany's errand. We may expect at least an equivalent force of Russians to assist in this mission of "civilization" and the French, the English and the Japanese are not going to be left behind. There may be a peaceful outcome to all this when these mutually jealous powers come to arrange a settlement, but experience is at fault if we are not near the edge of general war.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It takes a whole day to sing the Chinese national Anthem. If it took that long to sing "God Save the Queen," now, there might have been some sense in some of our parliamentarians refusing to help sing it.

* * *

"War is hell," said an American writer, and the reports from South Africa confirm it. But what shall we say of the tortures inflicted upon their captives by Chinese troops? The dismemberment and disemboweling of prisoners of war, practised by the disciples of Confucius, make war conducted by Christian nations appear kind.

Three Sisters and Three Brothers Will Wed at Once.

Columbus, O., July 5.—An unusual triple wedding will take place at Bellefontaine next Wednesday afternoon. Will Newell, a young farmer, will then lead to the altar Miss Myrtle Lakin, and the ceremony will be followed successively by the marriage of two of Mr. Newell's younger brothers to two younger sisters of Miss Lakin, all the weddings to be performed at the same place in the order of the ages of the couples.

INSANE IN ENGINE CAB.

Locomotive Ran Itself While Train Crew Fought a Madman

Phillipsburg, N. J., July 7.—James Stutts formerly of this place, one of the oldest engineers on the Central Railroad of New Jersey, became suddenly deranged while on his engine on the Highbridge branch last night, and attacked his fireman and conductor with an iron rod, while the engine was left to run itself.

The crew finally succeeded in taking the mad man from the train, and later removed him to his home at Bayonne.

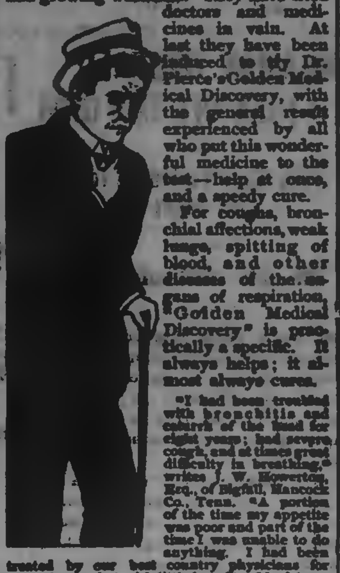
A SORRY SIGHT

It is, to see a strong man shaken like a reed by a paroxysm of coughing, which leaves him gasping for breath. People have suffered with bronchial affections for years, with obstinate, stubborn cough, and growing weakness. They have tried doctors and medicines in vain. At last they have been induced to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with the general result experienced by all who put this wonderful medicine to the test—help at once, and a speedy cure.



For coughs, bronchial affections, weak lungs, spitting of blood, and other diseases of the organs of respiration, "Golden Medical Discovery" is practically a specific. It always helps; it almost always cures.

"I had been troubled with bronchitis and catarrh of the head for eight years; had severe cough, and at times great difficulty in breathing," writes J. W. Howerton, Esq., of Bigfall, Hancock Co., Tenn. "A portion of the time my appetite was poor and part of the time I was unable to do anything. I had been treated by our best country physicians for several years but with little benefit. I had been reading about your medicine for a long time but hadn't much faith in it. Last spring concluded I would try it, and before I had taken one-third of a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I began to mend. I continued taking it until I had taken several bottles. Took Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets also. Now I feel like a new man, and can do as hard a day's work as any one."

Short Story of the Day

Mr. Biglow, who is a little, round, rosy man, rejoicing in the possession of a little round, rosy wife and a little, round, rosy boy 7 years old, had a hard time when he was a boy himself—by his own account—and in the matter of toys most especially so.

"I never even saw a mechanical steamboat when I was a little lad your age," he told his son. "The nearest I ever came to it was a damaged tiger, with one end of his old striped tail knocked off, which was the reason why my Aunt Maria got him for 10 cents—and 10 cents was big money, too, more than I could earn doing chores in three days."

"Wasn't your papa good to you?" asked Biglow, Jr.

"My papa died before I was big enough to talk to him. Don't you know I told you how he was killed in the war, and showed you his picture with all his soldier clothes on and his great long sword and everything? But you bet he'd have been good to me."

"Tell me about the tiger."

"Well, there isn't very much to tell about that tiger, only it was christmas and I found it in my stocking with the rest of the things."

"What things?"

"Well, now, let me see if I can remember. I'm pretty sure there were some big, red, juicy apples and some hickory nuts and two big sticks of peppermint candy and a pair of yellow and blue mittens and a jackknife. You'd think that was a pretty punk assortment if you found that in your stocking some Christmas, wouldn't you, sonny?"

"I'd like it. I wish you'd get it for me."

"What?"

"Oh, everything. I haven't had any apples for ever and ever so long, 'cause mamma says they ain't good this year; an' some hick'ry nuts, too, an' some candy."

"You had a box of candy yesterday."

"Yes, but they were choc'lates, an' I don't like choc'lates very well. I'd won't never get me any stick candy; she says it arranges my stomach. And why don't you buy me a knife, pa?"

"I'm afraid you'd cut yourself with it. Maybe when you get a little bit older I will. Just think of the things that you have got—your train of cars running around by itself on a track and all those lead soldiers and water color paints and stone building blocks and puzzle maps and your airgun and all the rest of the things. My! If I had been lucky enough to have had any one of your layout I'd have been the happiest kid in seven countries. You young chaps nowadays have all the fun there is going, and we used to have to plug along with just what we could scare up. I tell you, when I got that tiger I thought I was heeled, and I guess I was, too."

"Tell me about that tiger."

"Well, it was a tiger about like that rabbit that you got Easter, only its head wouldn't waggle. It had glass like some of the stick kind. Mamma eyes and red flannel tongue, and when you pinched the little platform it stood on it roared just like a slate pencil when you move it straight up on the slate."

"I wish I had a tiger like that."

"Why, you had your rabbit and he was stuffed with candy and shook his head and didn't have a broken tail, but you didn't seem to think much of him."

"I know, but he wasn't a tiger, and he hadn't got any tail at all. Rabbits don't hav etails."

"I think I'd sooner have no tail at all than a broken tail, wouldn't you?"

"Not if I was a tiger I wouldn't. I couldn't lash my sides when I was crouching for a spring if I hadn't got any tail, and I couldn't lash it a little if I had one that was just broken."

"Well," remarked Mr. Biglow, thoughtfully, "that might be an advantage. I hadn't considered it in that light. I don't see why a toad shouldn't have use for a tail when you come to think of it. He would have some way then of expressing his emotions and keeping the flies off."

"But, papa, a toad don't want to keep the flies off. He likes to have them settle on him and then he licks them with his tongue and eats them. But didn't you have any fun when you was a little boy?"

"Nothing like the fun you have. We didn't have any parks to go to with elephants to ride on, and our papas didn't take us to shows about three nights in a week. If they had I bet we wouldn't have sneered at the man who pulled a mile or two of ribbon out of his mouth and made roses blossom under his hat like some boys I know of—we would of thought that was great."

"What did you do, then?"

"We just had to get along with 'snap the whip' and 'pom, pom, pull away,' and marbles—"

"Mamma won't let me play marbles for keeps, an' I've got the best shooter, an' I won a glassie an' two comicks an' five miggs from Hal Benson, an mamma made me give them all back. What else did you do, pop?"

"Sometimes we played Injuns an' made us bows 'n' arrers from willow boughs, and shoot—say! I could hit a knothole in the barn at 20 yards, and once I knocked over a woodchuck at more than that, and had him skinned before he came to. And when it come to a sling-shot there wasn't anything alive from a grasshopper to a squirrel could get away from me."

"Gee! I wish I had a good sling-shot!" exclaimed the boy. "I wonder if they wouldn't let you shoot at the squirrels in the park—if you got up early before anybody got around?"

"They'd put you in jail," said the father. "Don't you ever try to shoot at those pretty little squirrels. If the park policeman don't whale you for it, I will. I don't suppose you'd ever hit one, though. You boys nowadays can't do anything that would amount to a row of pins. You want to be cuddled all the time. I'd like to see one of you climb up to the top of a sixty foot elm and swing by you heels, head down, the way I've done many a time."

"Will you let me climb the big willow 'round the corner, pop?"

"I should hardly say I would. If I had six or eight more like you sonny, I might think about it; but seeing you're the only one I'd kind of like to keep you. No, sir; you climb that willow and I'll simply skin you. If you can't have a good time with your [illegible] racket and balls and your velocipede and your roller skates and all the rest of the things I've been lavishing on you to try and bring a faint expression of approbation to your supercilious little mug you'd better quit trying to be amused and go to studying your Greek Grammar. I guess when I was a boy like you I'd get more enjoyment out of a day's swimming than you seem to get out of all the scientific toys and games that the best thought of the country can produce."

"Did you have a good place to go in swimming?" asked the little boy.

"Did I?" repeated the father. "We had a crick with a sandy bottom, 4 feet deep and shelving, and a high gumbo bank on the deepest side. And we made a long tobboggan slide in the gumbo, so that after we'd wet it down good once or twice, all we had to do was to sit down and let go and go scooting and kiting down a mile a minute until we struck the water. I tell you that was good on a hot day!"

"Gee!" said the boy, with sparkling eyes.

"And then we'd plaster ourselves with the gumbo mud until we were covered over half an inch thick, and then sit in the sun and let it bake dry; and the sandflies and bugs couldn't touch you, and you wouldn't blister or anything, and after awhile you'd look as if you were a native from Timbuctoo, and then you could sit down on the slide and s-in down and wash off again as good as you please. And then we used to hunt wild bees' nests and get their honey, and gather wild cherries and plums and go nutting in the fall, and help gathering the peaches, and when it got cold enough we'd go skating down the crick, and—"

"Gee!" said the little boy, enviously, "I don't see that you had any kick coming."—Chicago Record.

AN ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

The Proposal to Connect a Number of Towns Taking Form.

It is said that prospects for the early commencement of the building of the proposed electric railway to pass through this village seems to look quite favorable. On Monday, Mr. D. Carlaw received a blue print (map) pointing our the proposed route, which it is likely to run from Brighton to Havelock. The following are the names of principal points along the proposed line, viz.—Brighton, Hilton, Orland Codrington, Norham, Warkworth, Meyersburg, Campbellford, Healey Falls, Trent Bridge and Havelock. Carlaw is working hard to make the proposed road a success for which he deserves much credit. He is of the opinion that the above named route is the best one to be operated. But there are a number of persons in this village who argue that the C. P. R. will build their proposed road through the back country and that one terminus will be the village of Norwood; and in this case Norwood instead of Havelock would be the best point to connect with the C. P. R. Mr. Carlaw expects that the representatives will be along in a few days when the matter will be finally settled.

KAISER'S EYE ON HOLLAND.

Germany said to be Seeking Dutch Seacoast

London, July 6.—Frederic Harrison offers an ingenious explanation of the Kaiser's anti-Boer attitude in the July number of the Positivist Review. He says;

"The Emperor dream is to make Germany a great naval power, but ships and money are nothing without a coast, and the eyes of the German statesmen are fixed on the unique seaboard of Holland. If the Germans had found it necessary, they would have demanded for the German Uitlanders a Dutch franchise and then proceed with imperial unification in the name of civilization. The ground would be then made easy, as then Europe would laugh at Great Britain's protest with derisive jeers.

"England has lost its ancient birthright to ever again utter such words as freedom, independence, and justice at the [illegible] forum of Europe."

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

SATURDAY'S BALL GAME

Peterborough Wins at Bowmanville in a Ten Innings Game.

The Peterborough Baseball team journed to Bowmanville on Saturday to play a scheduled game in the Midland League. The boys left here accompanied by just two supporters, but they went to win, and the two sports are now satisfied that they witnessed the greatest exhibition of baseball that has ever been played by amateur teams.

Bowmanville have a very fast baseball team, and one considered invincible on their own grounds, having never suffered defeat there until Saturday last. Our boys were also out to win, and there resulted one of the fastest games that has been seen this year in the Midland League.

The home team all deserve praise for their very splendid work, and it seems almost unfair to make special mention of any particular one, but standing out clearly, is the work of our old veteran Danny, who certainly must have pitched a wonderful game, having struck out eleven men. Mulhall and Earls were in the game all the time, and gave the good citizens of Bowmanville such an exhibition of base running as they have never before seen. Connors was working at first bag, as may be seen, he having accepted 17 chances, with no errors.

In the first innings, Peterborough went to bat and were successful in scoring four runs, which sent their stock away up. In the second they tallied another run, and then Bowmanville steadied down and gave the home team a dose of white wash. Peterborough for the next five innings getting nil, while their opponents were steadily piling up their score, until at the end of the eight the score stood a tie, 6 all. It was then that Bowmanville grew confident, and their rooters rooted, but to offset this there were a number of Oshawa sports present, and they did root for Peterborough, right royally.

Peterborough went to bat for the first half of the ninth, and were retired without scoring. Bowmanville followed, and they also failed to score, (still a tie.) In the tenth innings, Earls spat on his hands, grabbed the bat, and walking leisurely up, he gave the plate a tap, swung the bat over his shoulder, and kind o' took a squint at the left field fence. Bang! the sphere went sailing over the fence, exactly where Earls had his eye. He started around the circuit, making a home run, but owing to an existing ground rule, he was placed back at second, however, he stole third, and came home on a hit by Graham. Bowmanville went to bat, and Bennet knocked out a long fly, which Earls gathered in grand style. Danny struck out Martin and Colwell, winning the game.

PRINCE CHING IS DOING HIS UTMOST TO PROTECT FOREIGNERS

The Capture of Pekin is the Key to the Situation---Legation Not Destroyed

SOME CHEERING NEWS RECEITED FROM CHINA

A Chinese General Takes Provinions to the Legation and Protects Them From the Boxers—Japan Will Place an Army of 23,000 Men in the Field at Once

St. Petersburg, July 9. Authorative information just obtained confirms the report that Russia has consented to, and is even desirous that Japan should actively co-operate in the pacification of China. Russia places no limit on the number of Japanese troops to be employed, and only stipulates that this agreement is not to constitute a mandate whereby Japan will obtain a privileged position. Japan, it is added, must co-operate in the work of pacification on same conditions as the other powers.

London, July 10. The Times this morning, says—Some Chinese officials are evidently desirous to have it believed in Europe that the Legations in Pekin are still under the protection of one section of the Chinese army, but that only makes it more remarkable that they should not employ the only convincing argument by allowing direct communication between the ministers and the outside world. We do not wish to insist too strongly upon this aspect, but these circumstantial rumors lack the confirmation so easily supplied if they are true.

London, July 10, 3.25 a.m. With the foreigners in Pekin probably safe amidst civil war, with Prince Ching on their side, with the Powers and their forces constantly increasing, the outlook in China is now rather more hopeful than it has been for a mouth past. It appears from the cantrous statements given out by Taotai Sheng in Shanghai, that the reason of the heavy guns bearing on the Legation at Pekin, were not used, is that Prince Ching, who is served by 10,000 troops, seized all the artillery and ammunition. Sheng likewise intimates that Yung Lu, commander-in-chief of the northern army, is assisted with Prince Ching in opposing Prince Tuan's furious designs and dictatoral ambition. Sheng, who appears to be the sole Shanghai conduct of Pekin news, cheers the foreign consuls by the confidential communications, but takes excessive precautions to prevent the Chinese from thinking him friendly to the foreigners. Prince Ching seems to be standing for Prince Tuan's mordinate ambition.

From a foreign view point the capture of Pekin is the key to the situation, as there is a fear, says the Daily Mail's Shanghai correspondent, that delay now means 100 recruits for the Boxers for every soldier for the allies in the land.

Two couriers arrived in Tien Tsin on July 1 from Pekin. One brought a letter from Sir Claude MacDonald to the same effect as that previously received from Sir Robert Hart.

The couriers confirm the reports of the death of Baron von Ketteler. They say that Prince Ching is doing his utmost to protect hte foreigners but that the native feeling against the whites is strong. Two high officials opposed to the Boxers are reported by the couriers to have been assassinated. Sir Claude MacDonald's letter is dated four days earlier than that of Sir Robert Hart.

London, July 9.—Admiral Bruce has sent a telegram to the Admiralty Department from Taku, under date of July 7, to the effect that there are grounds for hoping that Prince Ching with his army is at Pekin protecting the Legations against Prince Tuan's army and the Boxers.

Yokohama, July 9.—The Government has finally decided to immediately despatch 25,000 men and 5,000 horly despatch 25,000 men and 5,000 horses to China.

The newspapers, in endoirsing this action, point out that should the foreigners at Pekin perish, Japan could not be absolved from blame.

Kiel, July 9.—The German East Asiatic squadron sailed this morning for China. Emperor William and Prince Henry of Prussia witnessed the departure of the warships.

Brussels, July 9.—A Shanghai despatch [illegible] a Chinese newspaper asserts that Prince Ching's troops have arrived at Pekin to revictual the Europeans and defend them against the rebels.

MISSIONS LOOTED

Boxers Continue to Endeavor to Incite the Population of Che Foo to Revolt.

Berlin, July 9.—The German consul at Che Foo cables, under to-day's date, that the American mission at Tung Lu and the Catholic mission at Ching Chu Fu have been looted. He adds that the Boxers continue their endeavors to incite the population of Che Foo to revolt.

Li Ping Hong, the former governor of Shan Tung, with 8,000 men, has gone northward from Nankin, the governor of which place requested him to withdraw.

TWO LEGATIONS SAFE

Imperial Troops Protecting the Foreigners from the Rebels and Boxers.

Washington, July 9.—The following telegram was received last night by Minister Wu, from Sheng, Director General of the Imperial telegraphs at Shanghai, dated yesterday,—

"July 3.—Two Legations in Pekin still preserved. All Ministers safe. Rebellious troops and rioters make attacks, but suffer many losses. Imperial troops are protecting, but meet with difficulty in doing so. It is feared that food and ammunition are exhausted."

STILL FULL OF FIGHT

Guns Landed from the Terrible do Good Service for the Besieged.

London, July 9.—The latest news from Tien Tsin is contained in a news agency message dated Friday, July 6, reporting a renewed Chinese attack that morning, with twelve guns. The allied force replied with the guns landed from the British first class cruiser Terrible, and a mixed force of one thousand men made a sortie, under cover of the fire of the naval brigade, and attacked the Chinese, who retired after seven hours' fighting.

Earlier despatches record severe Reports from Tien Tsin, from Chinwhen the Chinese developed unexpected strength, and did considerable damage with artillery. At the bridge near the French settlement there was hard fighting at close quarters, the Russians with a Gatling gun eventually compelling the Chinese to retire, though the Russians suffered heavily. The operations, however, were in no way decisive, later messages showing the Chinese are still full of fight.

HAVE THEY STRUCK OUT?

Combined Force of Russian and Japanese Said to Have Defeated the Chinese.

London, July 9—The correspondents at Shanghai say that a combined force of Russians and Japanese have left Tien Tsin, following the railway as far as Langfang, aund from thence swept swiftly to the west, attacking the Chinese 18 miles north of Tien Tsin and killing 1,000 of them.

Reports from Tien Tsin,f rom Chinese sources, say a great battle has taken place, in which the Chinese lost heavily. The allies at Tien Tsin are short of provisions and suffer considerably from sniping.

BRITISH TROOPS MAY GO

The War Office Said to be Preparing to Send 40,000 Men to China.

London, July 9.—It is understood that the War Office is preparing to despatch nearly 40,000 men to China. These are to be drawn from India, South Africa and England, chiefly the latter.

The Government has been purchasing arms and ammunition for some time, and recently ordered 20,000,000 rounds of rifle ammunition.

BRITISH PRISONERS FREED

Eight Hundred British Prisoners Are Put Over The Border by The Boers —Gen. Buller is Lnoking Well

London, July 9.—The War Office has issued the following despatches from Lord Roberts.—

"Pretoria, July 7.—Gen. Buller arrived this morning. He looked very well, and is apparently none the worse for the hard work he has gone through during the past eight months.

"The General commanding at Ladysmith telegraphs that 800 British prisoners, belonging to the Yeomanry and the Derbyshires, have been put over the Natal border from Secretary Reitz's advance party, and have reached Acton Holmes, en route for Ladysmith. No officers accompany the men."

"Vlakfontein, July 7.—A convoy passed Greylingstad to-day. Before reaching a defile in the hills the Boers shelled the advancing columns. Col. Thorneycroft's men occupied the hills to the right of the narrow pass, keeping the Boers back on a ridge to the left, while the infantry deployed in plain sight and the artillery occupied a position under the ridge. The Boers worked their guns rapidly, but the Howitzers replied with effect and drove back the Boers over the ridge. The convoy passed safely, and when the force began to retire the Boers again advanced with a gun on the ridge. The British left field battery replied. The first shell forced the gun to retire."

The Strathconas, after seeing a convoy safely through Rustfontein defile, near Greylingstad, left eighteen of their number watering their horses on this side of the defile. One hundred Boers, concealed in the long grass on a kopje, opened fire. Reinforcements hurried to the scene, and the Strathconas brought a maxim into play and knocked several Boers off their horses as they were retiring. The enemy decamped.

ANOTHAR BIG WAR IN THE SOUDAN

A New Mahdi has Appeared With 10,000,000 Followers

A HOLY WAR TO FOLLOW

London, July 9.—England is getting worked up over the tidings that a new African mahdi is preparing his 10,000,000 followers for a holy war, which may break out this year. This successor of him who fell in the Soudan is Senussi, and he lives just now in Joffo, south of Tripoli. This cloud on the North African horizon has been gathering for some time. It is by no means generally known that at any moment a cyclone of Moslem fanaticism may sweep over Egypt, Algeria, and Tunis. This is in the north. And further south in the tragic continent, owing to the same cause, civilisation in Nigeria and the French Soudan may be put back for another generation. The rapid expansion of a Mohammedan secret society, with its inevitable Jehad, of holy war, among the Arabic, Barber, and negroid races of the western and central Soudan, is a factor in current life in the dark continent which at any moment may assume terrible importance.

The year that Gordon's life went out at Khartoom (1885) the followers of Senussi were estimated at about 3,000,000. Since then the movement has grown so enormously that probably over 10,000,000 sons of the prophet are sworn members of this organisation. Far away from the "White Man's Africa," buried in the heart of the long sandy wastes that spread in endless silence from Tripoli to Lake Tchad, are being accumulated vast stores of the most modern war material., without the possibility of interference by the Christian powers most concerned —England and France.

Joffo, the headquarters of the new Mohammadan Messiah, is 500 miles west of the Nile and about 700 from the North African littoral. It lies a point due south of Tripoli and a little to the east of the caravan route to Bornou.

There is reason to believe that at the front in South Africa, among the Indian bearers there are several representatives of the new Mahdi, who have enlisted to report upon the events of the war. The most extraordinary feature of this conspiracy is that some of its members declare that they have acquired the strange secret of brain telegraphy, whereby they are enabled to send messages over vast distances.

As a military force his followers are infinitely superior to the ill-armed Soudanese whom the Anglo-Egyptian army defeated at the Atbara and Omdurman.. Twenty thousand Manliched rifles, it is said, have been bought at Liege, Belgium, for the new Mahdi. Every one of these weapons was landed at Tripoli and carried on camel back to Joffo. The Italian war office has lately been offering for sale a number of its disused field guns. Several have been bought and curiously enough, shipped to Tripli. Always Tripoli, for there the Sultan of Turkey regines supreme, and that astue monarch is too wise to run foul of the leader of 10,000,000 of the most reckless fanatics that Islam ever enrolled.

What is the policy, what are the aims of this truculent Moslem? In a word, to revive a great militant Mohammedan empire in North and Central Africa, and incidentally to turn out the two unbeliving powers. It is one of the qualifications of a great leader to bide his time. Senussi has [illegible] for a quarter of a century.

20,000 AMERICANS TO MARCH ON PEKIN

Troops to be Sent from Phillipine Islands at Once

STATES THOROUGHLY AROUSED

Washington, D. C., July 10.—The Chinese Minister, Wu, today visited the State department and made a strong plea for the detail of a strong force of American troops to act with the allied powers and push away through to Pekin.

He urged that in view of the fact that no information of the death of the foreigners at Pekin had been received from an authoritative source every effort should be made to get the military relief to them.

Army officers say it is possible to send from the Philippines a body of 20,000 men without disaster to the situation in the islands. One officer who has given the subject a good deal of thought said;

"What is there to protect in any section of the Philippines to compare with the necessity for relief at Pekin.

"The Filipinos may break out again. What of it? They can only fight among themselves and they can do little damage to property afterall the havoc wrought by the long campaign carried on by the Spanish troops succeeded by our soldiers.

"We can spare a large force from that under General MacArthur and can spare it at once.

Her Timely Warning.

"We had timely warning of the atrocities likely to be committed by the Chinese, and the error was made in not sending troops when the first signs of disturbance appeared. It is, perhaps, not too late even now.

"Certainly to the minds of army officers, the lives of our diplomatic representatives, his family, and the missionaries and their families and friends are worth fighting for.

"What is gained by this delay? It is affording the Boxers and the malcontents from the imperial army a chance to strengthen themselves. They can fortify where a week ago there was a free road. They have built obstructions to an army which ten days ago might have proceeded without substantial hindrance. It is not to be presumed that our troops will accomplish this without loss or without hot fighting, butthat is what we maintain a force on land and sea for."

ANOTHER MANILLA REBELLION

Was All But Successful—Uncle Sam's Big Contract in the Philippines.

Manila, July 9.—The following has been released by censor.

General Ricard was captured in Manila on Sunday and General Eastrella on Saturday. Both have been operating to effect an uprising.

There is considerable excitement and unrest among the people. Several attempts have been made at incendiarism and a number of armed bodies of natives have been committing outrages in the suburbs. These however, have been dispersed or captured by the police patrols.

General Ricard's followers appeared in the Tondo market and attempted to incite an uprising among the people, but the latter declined to take part in any revolt.

General Ricard's capture is looked upon as an imporatot, although he is repudiated by the former insurgent leaders in Manila.

Status of Peace Efforts.

The apparent obstacles to the progress of the peace movement among the farmers insurgents resulting from Senor Paterno's publication of an article advocating, apparently, a protectorate, but really independence, were removed by the termination of Paterno's parole and the forbidding of the meeting he had called. Paterno later took the oath of allegiance and was released.

Buencamino is in no way connected with the Paterno movement. He is hopefully confining his efforts to his original purpose, realizing that it is imperative to effect peace before entering the political field.

Various Reforms Promised.

The following provisions will be embodied in any and all events in the form of civil government which the United States wil. establish in the archipelago.

Amnesty and individual rights will be guaranteed; the fact of having served with the insurgents will not render the Filipinos indligible for service in the native militia; the government will eventually establish religious liberty equal to that which obtains in the United States, and will return properties held by the United States belonging to individual insurgents to accept amnesty; claims for property distroyed will not be allowed; rebel funds received in the future by virtue of surrender will be deposited on account for the succor of needy Filipino officers and soldiers since the outbreak of hostilities and of their families and of their widows, the United States duplicating such amount to be used for similar ends from insurgent funds captured in the past to the extent of the captured funds, a committee of Filipino controlled by the authorities disbursing these sums.

Buencamino is embodying the foregoing amnesty proposals in a message to the Filipinos throughout the country, which he is spreading as far as possible by means of native emissaries.

Hope is entertained in high quarters of the ultimate success of the efforts for peace.

HUTTON IS ATTACKED BY LARGE BOER FORCE

Cut Them off Without Much Difficulty---Lieut. Young Slightly Wounded

THE CANADIAN MOUNTED RIFLEMEN IN ACTION

Drove Boers From the Railway---Captain Nelles and Twenty-Six Men Were Slightly Wounded---They Formed Part of Gen. Hutton's Division

London, July 9. Lord Roberts to-day telegraphed to the War Office from Pretoria as follows, —The officer commandinng at Heilbron reports that State Secretary Stighmant, State Attorney Dickson and members of the Council Vantander Kuppervergen came in yesterday and surrendered.

Hutton was attacked yesterday in a position he was holding, by a large number of Boers. He cut them off without much difficulty, the five-inch guns with him being found most useful. Our only casualty was Lieut. Young, of the first Canadian mounted troops, slight scalp wound. The enemy left several wounded on the ground and sent a flag of truce with a request that they might be received in our field hospital. I regret to say that Capt. Currie and Lieut. Curry, of the Imperial Light Horse, who were reported wounded in my telegram of yesterday, were both killed. One squadron of this distinguished corps pressed a very large force of the enemy in a gallant attempt to carry off a wounded comrade, to which they attributed the heavy loss sustained. In addition to the officers, a farrier, sergeant and three troopers were killed, and sergeant-major, three sergeants and seven troopers wounded.

London, July 9.—The following despatch from Lord Roberts has been received at the War Office—

"Pretoria, Sunday, July 8.—As the enemy for some days has been threatening our line of railway by trying to get round our right flank I despatched Hutton July 5 with mounted infantry to reinforce Mahon, and with orders to drive the Boers to the east of Bronkerspruit. These orders were effectually carried out during Friday and Saturday by Mahon, who was attacked by some three thousand men with six guns and two Maxims. Our casualties were—

"Wounded, two officers, including Capt. Nelles, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, slightly, and twenty six men.

"Steyn left Bethlehem on the night of July 4 for Fouriesburg, between Bethlehem and Ficksburg, accompanied by Christian De Wet and other Free State Commanders, with troops reported numbering 3,000 men.

"Hanbury-Tracy, commanding at Rustenburg, reports that a party of Boers under Limmer called on him yesterday to surrender the town and garrison. Hanbury-Tracy replied that he held Rustenburg for Her Majesty's Government, and intended to continue to occuy it. The enemy then opened fire with artillery and tried to take the heights commanding the town, but did not succeed owing to the good arrangements made by Hambury-Tracy and his officers. Eventually they were driven off with the assistance of Holdsworth and his Hussars, who made a rapid march of 48 miles from the neighborhood of Zeerust, with the Bushmen under Colonel Airie, on hearing Rustenburg was likely to be threatened. The enemy suffered heavily, and five men were captured. Our casualties were two men killed and one officer and three men wounded."

Canadian Losses in the Fight.

Mortally—466, Pte. H. R. B. White, Waterville, N. S.

Slightly—Capt. C. M. Nelles, Royal Canadian Dragoons; 336, Pt. T. H. Harriett, Manitoba Dragoons; 334, Pte. H. Palmer, B Squadron, R.C.D.; 388, Pte. S. J. McGregor, Brandon Infantry; 412, Pte. B .R. Armstrong, 3rd Regiment C.A.; 253, Lord, is also included, but is unknown. No 253 is L. A. Rea, Winnipeg? The rest of the wounded are Manitobans, except Pte. Armstrong, who is a son of Col. Armstrong, of St. John, N.B.

Capt Nelles is a native of Brandfort, Ont., where he began his military career as a member of the Dufferin Rifles. With this regiment he served with great gallantry throughout the Northwest rebellion of 1885, earning the medal attached to that war and in addition the Jubilee medal. After the conclusion of the rebellion Capt. Nelles took a course at Aldershot, from which school he graduated, with honors, about four years ago. On his return to Canada he joined the Royal Canadian Dragoons and was attached to that corps at Stanley Barracks in Toronto and to that in Winnipeg. On the breaking out of the South African war Captain Nelles joined the second contingent, going out as adjutant.

London, July 9.—With a hundred thousand men holding the lines of communications and conquered territory, and close upon another hundred thousand engaged at the front almost continuously, it is evident that the South African war is not yet at an end. The guerilla warfare which is now being waged is proving quite as trying to the British forces as the more weighty operations of the earlier war days. General De Wet is not yet cornered, but like the ubiquitous leader that he is, continues to dash to and fro, engaging first one British force and then another, and always escaping after his blow has been delivered. His area of action is, of course, becoming very much circumscribed, as the British columns surrounding him slowly converge upon his stronghold. An illustration of this fact is seen in the announcement that the Boers have been compelled to abandon eight hundred British prisoners. These captives were no doubt hampering the movements and consuming the stores of De Wet who, owing to the [illegible] the cordon surrounding him was unable to send them to join their fellow-prisoners in the Transvaal, and consequently decided to get rid of them by delivering them up to the authorities in Natal. This again is an indication that the Boer guerillas are being pressed back upon the Drakenburg mountains, forming the border of Natal, in which it is likely they may before long make their last stand. The movement of General Paget upon Bethlehem, within fifteen miles of which he arrived on Wednesday last, evident disconcerted the enemy, for, according to a despatch from Lord Roberts, Steyn and De Wet, with 3,000 burghers, quitted the place on the same day, and moved southward to Fouriesburg, midway between Bethlehem and Ficksburg, the next British post, and close to the Basuto border. His object is not only to avoid capture by Paget, but quite possibly to reinforce the Boers who on Tuesday attempted to break the British line at Ficksburg with the purpose of making a second attempt to penetrate southward. Failing this he will in all likelihood fall back along the border of Basutoland to the mountains, where immense pains may be required to oust him. Gen. Botha still hangs upon the flank of Lord Roberts at Pretoria, and recently grew so bold as to make an attempt upon the railway south of that place with 3,000 men, being defeated by General Hutton's mounted infantry and driven off with ease, though with some loss to the Canadian Mounted Rifles, who appear to have figured prominently in the affair. General Buller has taken advantage of the restoration of the railway from Durban to Pretoria to make a journey to the latter place in order to hold a consultation with the Commander-in-Chief as to the methods to be pursued in order to bring De Wet to book. When Lord Roberts' despatch left Pretoria, Rusttenburg, sixty miles due west of Pretoria, in the district through which Generals Hunter and Baden Powell advanced from Mafeking, was being bombarded by the Boers, which shows that opposition in this quarter has not yet been effectually stamped out. Various skirmishes in widely separated parts of the field indicate also that the Boers are still of a mind to carry on resistance to the uttermost extent.

CHINESE ARE DIVIDED

Prince Ching Heading a Counter-Revolntion at Pekin—Protecting The Legations Against Prince Tuan

London, July 9.—The more hopeful feeling engendered by Saturday's news from Pekin was further strengthened this morning by Rear Admiral Bruce's endorsement of the previous rumors that Prince Ching, who is said to be heading a counter-revolution at Pekin, is fighting in behalf of the Legations against the usurper, Prince Tuan. If the Admiral's hope turns out to be well founded this turn of events is of the utmost importance, as it is felt here that in some such division among the Chinese themselves lies the best hope of the safety of the foreigners. If the powers can find allies in China itself it will [illegible] this task of [illegible], and those acquainted with the country believe that if the diplomatists are able to induce such a man as Li Hung Chang or Chang Chi Tung to send forces to the assistance of Prince Ching the hordes of revolutionaries will disperse as quickly as they have been collected, and a way to Pekin will be opened without great delay. With all due allowance for the uncertainty in regard to their reliability, the authorities here feel that the latest messages from the far east give distinct hope. If, as suggested, the native sympathizers are able to keep the besieged Legation [illegible] supplied with provisions [illegible] [illegible] may [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 6 1900.

OURSELVES

During the past year, due mainly the increased demand, but partly to combines and trusts, nearly every commodity in common use, has rapidly increased in value.

About three months ago the Canadian manufacturers of white paper met and formed an association for the advancement of prices, and the newspapers were notified that the cost of white paper would be immediately increased 25 per cent. A few weeks latter the Hull fire destroyed the big paper mills of the E. B. Eddy Co; and close on the heels of that disaster came the burning of the Laurentide paper mills. These were the largest paper mills in Canada, and their destruction reduced the paper output to about one-third of the normal amount. The natural result of this has been to double the value of white paper. This increase in value, added to the postage recently imposed by the Ottawa government makes a difference of at least one dollar a year on every copy of the London Daily News printed and sent through the mails. For these reasons, therefore, The Times was obliged to alter its make-up and and size somewhat, it being next to impossible to procure paper of the proper size. We are now however, assured of a supply of better paper, which will tide us over until the market becomes steady again, when we will resume our regular size and make up.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

These Chinese towns have perfectly ridiculous names. Why can't they call themselves something sensible, Bobcaygeon for instance, or Jermyn, Cobourg, Bashink or Katchewanook.

ROYAL NAMES A HOODOO.

One of the Strongest Superstitions of the English Navy.

One of the very strongest and most ineffaceable of all superstitions in the royal navy, a superstition that is almost as strong today as ever it was, is that vessels bearing the names of royal personages are doomed to ill luck, and, strange as it may seem, there is an undeniable historic basis for this feeling.

Some of the most terrible disasters ever known in connection with our navy have concerned war vessels with royal names. Two vessels called the Royal James came to disastrous ends. One of these exploded, and some 800 officers and seamen perished. The other ship so named was actually carried out of the mouth of the Thames by the Dutch Admiral de Ruyter under circumstances disgraceful to those in charge of the craft.

Then there is the forever memorable disaster to the Royal George, an unlucky ship previously, that turned over and sank in sight of crowds at Spithead, over 1,000 souls, among whom were 300 women, being sacrificed. And second only to this hideous disaster is that which afterward befell the Royal Charlotte, which, after a career of much vicissitude, was consumed by fire off Leghorn, over 800 of the very flower of the navy perishing with her.

When in 1893 the Victoria, a new vessel and the very triumph of modern invention so far as naval architecture went, was rammed and sank at once in sight of the whole fleet and when hundreds of lives were lost, there was not a sailor, however matter of fact he might be, who did not remember the dire fate of the royally named craft. These instances are only the greater ones. A score of smaller ones are reeled off by every royal navy man.—Tit-Bits.

THE DREAM OF MOTHERHOOD COMES TRUE WHEN Dr. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION IS USED.

Mrs. Axel Kjer, of Gordonville, Cape Girardeau Co., Mo., writes: "When I look at my little boy I feel it my duty to write you. Perhaps some one will see my testimony and be led to use your 'Favorite Prescription' and be blessed in the same way. I took nine bottles and to my surprise it carried me through and gave us as fine a little boy as ever was. Weighed ten and one-half pounds. He is now five months old, has never been sick a day, and is so strong that every body who sees him wonders at him. He is so playful and holds himself up so well."

Short Story of the Day

A Prospective Fee

"The oddest fee I ever received," said the well-known clergyman with by a young man a number of years ago. Early one evening I received a call at my home from a young couple who desired me to marry them. Their dress and deportment denoted that they were from the country. In fact, they told me they were, and they had come to the city to be married in style. I told them to stand up, and soon pronounced them one.

"There was an awkward pause after the ceremony, during which the groom shifted uneasily from one foot to the other. Finally, after a violent effort to clear his throat, he said:

"'I suppose this yere thing costs something?'

"'It is usually the custom to give the minister a fee,' said I, smiling.

"'Wal, how much is it?' he asked, anxiously.

"'Anything you may please,' I answered.

"'Then I'll tell ye what I'll do,' he said, brightening up. 'I've jes' got money enough to git us home. But me an' Mandy ar' thinkin' of goin' into the chicken business an' we'll send ye a chicken.'

"'That will be perfectly satisfactory,' I answered, trying hard to laugh. 'Send it to me any time for my Sunday dinner and I shall be more than pleased.'

"'But, say!' he burst out, 'I ain't got it yet! Mandy's Aunt Sue was given a setting of eggs the other day, and she said that if she could borrow a setting hen somewhere and had good luck she would give us a couple of young chickens ter start us in the business. If things go all right an' we git them thar chickens, we'll send ye one of the first ones tha two raise if the hawks don't catch 'em all.'

"Two years later I was surprised to receive by express a bedraggled chicken. I paid the express charges of $1.25 before I realized the situation.'—Detroit Free Press.

Private John Spoiled It.

On the floor of the house, at least, Hon. Amos Cummings of New York has proven a failure as a friend of the injured birds, and all on account of irrepressible John Allen of Tepelo, Mississippi. Representation Lacey's bill to prevent the importation of the feathered tribe under discussion, says a Washington correspondent, and Mr. Cummings was telling how wicked the English sparrows were.

"Only the other day I was walking through the capital grounds, when I saw a poor little robin surrounded by sparrows that were picking it to pieces. At my approach the sparrows flew away but the robin was unable to use its wings. I picked it up and took it to my home, a short distance away. There I gave it a drink of brandy and it died a moment later. Under its wings—"

"If it were the same stuff you gave me yesterday, I wonder it lived a moment," broke in Private John.

Mr. Cummings looked reproachfully at Mr. Allen and sat down, while the house roared. What was under that robin's wing will never be published in the Congressional Record.—Cleveland Leader.

The Illustration a Failure

A charge of watch robbery was preferred before the late Sir James Ingham, says the Argonaut, by a gentleman against an individual who had traveled in the same carriage with him from Bournemouth, but in the end it was found that the watch had not been stolen, but had been left at home by the prosecutor. To mollify the innocent man Sir James said: "It is a most remarkable occurrance. To show, however, how liable we all are to make these mistakes I was under the impression when I left my house at Kensington this morning that I had put my watch (which, I may mention, is an exceedingly valuable one) in my pocket, but on arriving at this court I found that I must have left it home by mistake." While business was proceeding an old thief at the back of the court went out, jumped into a handsome cab, drove off to Sir James Ingham's residence, and, by representing himself as a bona fide messenger, obtained possession of the watch, which has never been heard of since.

Carter Saved the Money.

It was a clever trick which Senator Tom Carter, of Montana, worked on his colleagues during the closing hours of the Senate when he delivered a beautiful political speech and got the same into the record. There had been a shutdown on unanimous consents, and consequently it was not possible to get the customary "leave to print," says the Chicago Journal. The Senate was waiting on the House, which was in a fierce wrangle over the hydrographic appropriation, and some one had just moved to take a recess. Carter got up and claimed the attention of the chair for a moment.

"I think it is in order before we adjourn," he began in that smooth unctuous voice of his, "to call upon the gentleman from Oregon to explain the recent Republican victory out there." And then Tom went on, tastefully, pleasantly, enteraininigly, so much so that before anyone realized it he was in the midst of a stump speech and had the attention of the Senate and galleries. It was too late to make a point of order on him and no one cared to.

The speech becomes a part of the record, and in his campaign for re-election this fall will be circulated to every voter in Montana under the Government frank, with an incidental saving to Senator Carter of some $3000.

THE FORCE OF HABIT.

Showing How Completely One Habit May Supplant Another.

"Habit is a curious thing," said Mr. Joggleton, "but the completeness with which one habit can be supplanted by another seems more curious still.

"I had a chair that I had used for years and which, as I was firmly convinced, was by long odds the most comfortable chair ever made. After breakfast, when I read the paper, I used to sit in that chair, and after dinner at night I settled down into it, with a cigar, in peace and happiness and thought there never was a chair that combined so many good points as to height and pitch of seat and slope of back and all that. I had never seen a chair that suited me so well.

"But one day this chair was tipped over or something or other happened to it, I don't know what, but something so serious that it was put out of commission. With our usual conservative slowness we put off from day to day and from week to week getting that chair repaired, and, as a matter of fact, it was two or three years before we had it fixed up and brought into use again. Meanwhile I had singled out another chair which I came commonly to occupy. This didn't begin to be at first so comfortable as the old one had been, but gradually its objectionable points disappeared, and I'm blessed if it didn't begin to develop good points that I had never suspected in it, and I came at last to look upon it as a very comfortable sort of chair indeed. But at last the old chair—the good old chair—was fixed up again and brought back into use, and the day it appeared I looked forward to settling down in it at night with all the old time comfort.

"But when, with all those pleasant anticipations, I came to sit in it again I did not find the pleasure that I had expected. It was too high or too low or the seat sloped too much or something, I don't know what. It wasn't as it used to be—to me. I tried it once or twice more after that and then gave it up and went back to the new chair. My new habit had become firmly fixed. I liked the new chair better, and now as I settled down in it its good points were at once emphasized and softened and rounded into completeness, and I accepted it in full as the chair of satisfying comfort and wondered as I looked across at the other what I ever could have seen in it to make me like it so much.

"Such is the force of habit."—New York Sun.

THE CENTRAL CANADA EXHIBITION AT OTTAWA.

With an immense number of new attractions an increased prize list, and a programme of specialties which cannot be beaten, the Central Canada Exhibition this year cannot fail to be a greater success than ever before.

One of the greatest attractions will be the spectacular at night, the Battle Paardeburg in which so many of our gallant Canadian soldier boys in South Africa, laid down their lives for their country and their Queen. Messrs. Hand and Teale of Hamilton, who have for so many years so successfully conducted the pyrotechnical displays have designed this master piece specially for the Exhibition and notwithstanding the enormous cost it will be produced every night. It is also the intention of the management that in case the war in South Africa is over by that time to have the same Canadian regiment which behaved with conspicious gallantry at this battle, to take in this scene, an event which will greatly heighten the interest in the spectacular.

A large number of other splendid attractions have already been secured, although the list is by no means yet completed. Among others, Miss Lillian Shaffer, the champion lady rider of the world, will give an exhibition of her peerless horsewomanship including her wonderful feat of jumping over a hurdle 6 feet 4 1-2 inches high, modern chariot racing a race with Tom Shark the riderless wonder, riding mounted astride in New woman costume and many others.

Prof. Ed. R. Hutchison and Miss Retta Danzelle will appear in their wonderful balloon ascension and the double drop from the clouds from their monster air ship in which the parachutes fall 400 feet before opening. The effect of seeing two human bodies sailing through the air is very thrilling and should not be missed.

Another interesting feature of the programme will be Prof. N. E. Sutherland with his wonderful ten trained horses. With these he will give exhibitions of chariot races, driving four-in-hand, running and hurdle races and other interesting feats. At night beautiful lighted chariots will be used, thus heightening the effect of this feature.

The demand for space for the exhibition proper is greater than ever this year and there is no question but what the exhibits will be more attractive and numerous than ever before. Any person desirous of obtaining information in connection with the exhibition should apply to Mr. E. McMahon, who will

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

Young, Lord Roberts says, when operating under General Hutton to the northwest of Pretoria, succeeded in capturing two of the enemy's guns and brought in a herd of cattle and several prisoners without losing a man.

A Sad Death

There passed away on Sunday afternoon, Miss Lauretta Jane, youngest daughter of Mr. Robert Watt, 19 Rutherford Street. The deceased was only 17 years of age. Early in the spring she contracted a cold, which settled on her lungs, and which developed quick consumption. Of a kindly and loveable disposition, Miss Watt had made friends who will deplore her demise. She was a regular attendant at All Saint's church and Sabbath School, only a few weeks ago the marriage of her elder sister took place, when those who participated in the happy event little expected that death would so soon enter the home. The funeral will leave the family residence to-day at one p.m., interment taking place in the English Church Cemetery at [illegible], Cavan.

To Make Business Good.

For everything that is made to be sold there is a buyer. The purpose of advertising is to bring buyer and seller together. The greater the number of prospective buyers who are reached by an advertisement the larger is the percentage of actual buyers. The art in advertising is to tell the largest number of people where they can get what they want, and in the plainest words. It is the testimony of the most experienced and successful businessmen that the newspaper is always the best medium for reaching people. This makes it the cheapest. Everybody reads the Times.

Her Right.

A true story is told of a little girl the daughter of a Peterborough clergyman, who was ailing, and in consequence had been put to bed early.

"Mamma," said she, 'I want to see my dear papa."

"No, dear," said her mother. 'Papa is not to be disturbed just now."

"I want to see my papa!"

"No," was the answer, 'I cannot disturb him."

Then the four-year-old parishioner rose to a question of privilege.

"Mamma," said she, 'I am a sick woman, and I want to see my minister!'

A Serious Mistake.

Conductor Fred Haskill was telling the boys in the back parlor of the Snowden House last night of a swapping yarns at Broad street station yesterday morning. "A funny thing happened at Harrisburg the other night,' said one. "You know my run is from Jersey City to New Orleans, and the Western sleeper is uncoupled at Harrisburg. This is the last car on the train. The porter in this car and the one in the next car ahead are great chums, and this night, after the passengers had all gone to their berths, the porter in the last car gathered up all the shoes and took them into the car ahead, where he could shine them and chat with his friend at the same time. Well, there was no great harm at that, for it was a warm night, the doors were open, and he could hear his bell from where he was sitting. At Harrisburg the last car was uncoupled, and we were soon on our way South. About an hour afterward the porter of what was then the last car came to me with a long face, and said the other porter had left all his shoes behind. There we were, going toward New Orleans with the shoes of a lot of people bound for Pittsburg and the West in our car, but there must have been the old scratch to pay when those people woke up in the morning, and found they had no shoes. Of course, the company had to make good, but it was funny, just the same."

CHINESE HIDE IN BERLIN

Fear of Mad Revenge for Von Ketteler's Murder.

Berlin, July 10.—It is authoritively stated that negotiations regarding Japan's offer to land an army in China under a mandate to restore order and relieve Pekin never even reached the stage of discussing the expenses incurred.

The Chinese residents of Berlin have kept carefully under cover since the news of Baron von Ketteler's murder was confirmed. They have adopted European attire, even sacrificing their pigtails, and are procuring wigs.

The Chinese Minister is apparently frightened worst of all. He is reported to be sick abed.

Prince Henry's request for the command of the east Asiatic naval force has finally been refused by the Kaiser.

The Orange Procession.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The Orangemen of the County naturally feel sore, the way they have been treated by the Militia department. This is supposed to be a country of equal rights and privileges, and when we find the band playing in uniform at a Catholic "demonstration' and prohibited from doing the same at a Protestant church procession then I think there is a large sized African hidden at somewhere. The government made no votes on Sunday.

AN ORANGEMAN

The Band and Orangemen.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was much surprised to learn, by reading the Times that the band was not permitted to play the Orangemen to Church on Sunday evening in uniform, and at the same time were allowed to play at the Catholic pic-nic all afternoon and evening a few days before. I know of many Roman Catholics who feel very much annoyed that this hair splitting should be permitted. I am a Roman Catholic and lest our Orange friends should feel that we are elated, I would say that I believe I am voicing the opinion of a very large majority of my fellow Catholics when I say that I regret exceedingly that Col. Edwards thought fit to enforce the militia order in the case of the Orangemen and omit doing it in the case of our demonstration on Dominion Day. The Catholics of Peterborough want no favors from Col. Edwards or anybody else.

A CATHOLIC.

Head to the North.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Permit me to say, through your columns, that the reason why sleeping with the head to the north is conductive to health is, First, when the electric polarity of the body is at equilibrium health is maintained. On the other hand any interruption of this equilibrium of electrical polarity produces sickness. People who live north of the equator should sleep with the head to the north and those south of the equator should lie with the head to the south, because the atmosphere electrical currents of the earth always flow from the poles towards the equator; now, the natural flow of the electrical currents of our bodies is from the head toward the feet, hence in sleeping with the head toward the north, the electrical currents of our bodies are in accord with the earth's currents, and we thereby escape any interference with our electrical equilibrium, which we would be subject to in case [illegible] I ran counter to, or across ours.

J. B. K.

Sixteen to One.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Will you please for the benefit of the unenlightened, kindly explain through the Times the proper meaning of 16 to 1 as advanced by Mr. Bryan the Democratic candidate for President of the United States.

G. B. M.

Ans.—"Sixteen to one" means, as the phrase is used by Mr. Bryan, the unlimited coinage of silver at a basis of one-sixteenth the value of gold—that is, 16 ounces of silver to equal in value one ounce of gold. The actual values ranger very much lower. In the past four years it has taken more than 30 ounces of silver to equal an ounce of gold in value. Sixteen to one, therefore, undertakes to double the value of silver arbitrarily. A coin with 50 cents in intrinsic value is to be declared worth a dollar and the government must give a gold dollar for it if it demanded, under Mr. Bryan's plan. The only way to prevent that would be to suspend gold payment—and that, as we understand it, Mr. Bryan is not willing to propose.

LEGATIONS AT PEKIN SAFE EXCEPT GERMAN

Prince Tuan Said to be Responsibe for all the Present Trouble

THE WORK OF PRINCE TUAN HAS BEEN CHECKED

Feeling That Foreigners in Pekin Will be Saved—Prince Ching Gets Aid and the Empress is Once More in Control Decides to Side With the Powers

Washington, July 10. The following official despatch was received here to-night from China,—Che Foo, July 10,—Secretary of State Shang Tung Government wires has reported that on the fourth of July all legations in Pekin were safe except German Fowler Consul.

Senekal, Orange River Colony, Monday July 9.—An extended reconnaissance today resulted in the discovery that the Boers have evacuated their positions around Senekal. Numbers of them appear to have gone towards Ficksburg and the remainder in the direction of Bethlehem. The British commanders express the opinion that the retirement of the Boers foreshadows a speedy end of the war in this section of the country.

London, July 10.—General Hutton's mounted infantry, including the Canadian Rifles, were not allowed to remain long unmolested in possession of the ground near Bronkhurst Spruit, which they took from the Boers on Friday and Saturday last. On Sunday the Boers returned to the attack and made a determined effort to recapture the lost position. They were not, however, successful, being driven back without much difficulty. The work performed by Hutton's brigade is of some importance. Bronkhurst Spruit, which the force occupies, is 47 miles from Pretoria, and now marks the nearest point east of that place where the Boers may be found. The enemy are thus held at arm's length and prevented from creeping round the right flank and attacking the communications of Lord Roberts, which they were attempting when engaged by Hutton. It is interesting to note that Bronkhurst Spruit the scene of the recent fighting in which several Canadians were wounded, is rather a notable place in the history of the Transvaal. This place was the scene of the opening episode of the war in 1881, when without any declaration of hostility the Boers concealed behind boulders near the road, shot down 270 men of the 97th Regiment under Col. Anstruther. It is another instance of that irony of fate which has been so often observed in the present campaign that the Boers have suffered defeat upon the scene of their own treachery twenty years ago.

Important news comes from Senekal. Fearing that the southward advance of General Paget upon Bethlehem, which has probably now been occupied by the British, would cut off their retreat to the mountains, the Boers at Senekal have abandoned the position they have held for so long, and are probably concentrating at Fouriesburg, whither General De Wet retreated upon Bethlehem. The point at which they appear to be concentrating is dangerously near Ficksburg, the extreme right of General Rundle's line across the Orange River Colony which the Boers may in all likelihood attempt to break. It is clear that the pressure of the converging British columns is becoming too strong for the Boers, who are being rapidly driven back into a narrowing area. Very soon they will be in that corner among the mountains in which Harrismith lies, and there is every prospect that they will be captured should they not succeed in piercing the line around them.

THE BOER ARMY

Official Figures Regarding the Strength of the Boers.

London, July 10.—John Williams, an Englishman, formerly well known in Johannesburg mining circles, acted as chief officer of the commissary department of the allied armies of the Boers from the time the South African war commenced until the British forces entered Bloemfontein. In his official capacity he had statements furnished to him of the exact number and disposition of Transvaal and Free State forces.

In a private letter to a friend in Durban, Natal, Mr. Williams says that soon after the war began the Boers had 61,151 men in the field, distributed as follows.

Ladysmith, investing town	7,000
On the Tugela	14,000
Helpmakaar	800
Swazi border	1,000
Komati Poort	1,000
Mafeking & Kimberley, investing	6,000
North of Mafeking	2,000
Tuli	2,000
Cronje had at first 7,000, but before Magersfontein he drew 4,000 from Mafeking and Kimberley	7,000
Basuto Border	1,000
Stormberg and Bethulie	[illegible]
Colesburg and Norval's Pont	7,000
Cape Colony rebels	5,000
Natal rebels	351
Hollanders on line of railway	2,000
Total	61,151

On March 13, when Lord Roberts entered Bloemfontein, Mr. Williams says there were only 28,000 Boers in the field, distributed as follows:

In Natal	[illegible]
Investing Mafeking	[illegible]
The commanders which retreated from Stormberg and Colesberg	[illegible],000
On the line of railway (Hollanders)	4,000
At and about Warrenton	3,500
The force which retreated on the British advance into Bloemfontein	4,500
Force opposing Plumer's advance	1,500

Between these two estimates there is a discrepancy of 33,151, which Williams accounts for as follows. Captured, 6,5000; sick, wounded, and killed 8,000; in all, 14,500, and the balance of 18,651 is attributed to general shrinkage in the forces.

These figures may be relied upon as absolutely accurate, for certainly if any one were in a position to know the exact strength and disposition of the Boer army it would be its chief commissary officer.

MOTHER AND SON DIE OF RABIES

Pasteur Serum, Given in Good Time, Failed to Save Life.

Paris, July 11.—The Paris newspapers tell of the horrible agonies of a mother and son who died of rabies, although after being bitten they received the full treatment at the Pasteur Institute. The Pasteur serum, given in time, absolutely failed, and the doctors agree that these were the most horrible painful deaths ever witnessed.

That they might note whether the serum would change the phenomena attending hydrophobic death, the doctors gave no anaesthetics, though the tortures lasted three days. This is now denounced as an criminal cruelty.

MACFARLANE CONVICTED

He is Tried Before Judge Weller and Found Guilty.

The charge of perjury laid by John Montgomery against John Macfarlane, came to trial yesterday before Judge Weller, in the County Criminal Court.

The circumstances of the case are already familiar to our readers. Both men were in the employ of the town, as drivers of town teams connected with the fire department. They quarrelled, and Montgomery had Macfarlane up for using abusive language. This the latter denied under oath, with the result that a charge of perjury was laid against him. At the preliminary trial Police Magistrate Dumble found sufficient grounds for committing Macfarlane, and yesterday the case came before Judge Weller at the Court House.

A number of witnesses were examined, and the evidence was clearly against the prisoner.

The Judge, after reviewing the evidence, adjudged the prisoner guilty, but on account of his young family, and with the concurrence of the Crown, he let him off on suspended sentence. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, for the Crown; D. O'Connell, for defence.

NOXON'S WANT TO CHANGE

Company Would Locate in Peterborough if Encouraged.

Mr. Wm. Fair, of the Times staff, who was at one time general sales agent for the Noxon Bros. Manufacturing Company, Ingersoll, received a letter yesterday stating that the company were seeking a new place in which to locate their works. The present premises in Ingersoll are entirely too small for their constantly increasing business, and they are therefore prepared to negotiate with Peterboro with a view to having their works removed here.

The Company employes a large number of skilled machines, and are a very desirable industry to secure.

The Board of Trade should at once open negotiations with the company. We understand that the conditions are such as will make it comparatively easy for Peterborough to secure this industry.

PATAGONIANS IN REVOLT

They Descend Upon Punta Arenas and Almost Destroy It, Killing Fourteen Chilian Soldiers.

San Francisco, Cal., July 9.—According to officers on the steamer Dolphin, which reached this port last night, from New York, Punta Arenas, at the entrance to the straits of Magellan, has been almost destroyed by the Patagonians. The natives made a descent upon the place, killed 14 of the Chilian soldiers and set fire to the buildings. A delegation came out from the post, and after telling their woes, Captain O'Brien, of the Dolphin, asked for some fire arms and powder. The Captain presented them with a three-inch gun and a quantity of ammunition.

ANOTHER ARMY SCANDAL

Lord Wemyss and Colonel Eustace Balfour Resign.

London, July 9.—The resignation of Lord Wemyss the honorary colonel, and Col. Eustace Balfour, the commanding officer of the crack London Scottish Volunteers, as a result of their desire to protest against the government's treatment of the volunteers in the service, has created a sensation.

Colonel Balfour is a brother of the Cabinet Minister of that name, and Lord Wemyss has probably done more for this branch of rGeat Britain's defences than any other man. The trouble arose over the War Office refusing to give a capitation to the London Scottish because they were unable, owing to having 148 men at the front, to put 50 per cent. of their strength in camp for the manoeuvres. Lord Wemyss, writing to Lord Lansdowne frankly tells him he has ignored the original intention of the volunteer force and has changed its character and constitution.

BRITAIN'S THIRD WAR

Thirty Thousand Ashantis Bar the Path of the British Force Advancing Upon Kumassie.

London, July 9.—The Colonial office has received the following despatch from Col. Willcocks, dated Fumsu, Ashanti,—

"Three companies of troops joined Col. Burroughs' regiment at Dompoassi, at the exact hour appointed, thus upsetting the plans of the enemy, who offered no resistance. Burroughs attacked Kokofu July 3, but failed to take the town. Lieut. Brownlee of the West Indian Regiment and five soldiers were killed, and 32 were wounded, including several officers slightly wounded. Proceed to Bekwai to-morrow. About 30,000 Ashantis are awaiting our approach at Kumassie."

Later, the Colonial Office issued the text of a telegram from the Governor of the Gold Coast, Sir Frederick Mitchell Hodgson, dated Akwaboaso, July 1st, which said he crossed the Ofin River with the force that left Kumassie, accompanied by Lady Hodgson and other Europeans. A special service officer and an assistant inspector died of wounds and hardships. The journey, he adds, was very severe.

ENGLAND FEARS INVASION

Bantry Bay, in Ireland, Being Put Into a State of Defence.

London, July 11.—The French military papers have recently been discussing the feasibility of a French fleet landing a force at Bantry Bay on the Irish coast. In consequence of these speculations the British Government is displaying feverish haste in getting the point indicated in a state of defence.

Berehaven fort, hitherto virtually a derelict, has been manned by a garrison of 200 men, and the artillery is being armed with five quick-firing guns. Preparations else-where are also being pushed. No more striking illustration of the panicky feeling prevailing among the British authorities is possible.

In the year 1896 a French fleet under Admiral Hoche landed in Bantry Bay, England evidently fears that history will repeat itself.

SEARCH FOR ANDRE

Numerous Expeditions Fitting Out to Hunt for the Explorer.

Kansas City, July 11.—Evilyn B. Baldwin of Kansas of Arctic Fame today stated that Captain Ernest Andre, brother of Polar aeronaut, had just written him that several European expeditions have been fitted out to look for traces of his missing brother and his companions, Strindberg and Fraenkel.

Baron von Toll will head the Russian expedition, which is to search the Arctic coast of Europe and Asia. It will start from Norway, proceed by way of Nova Zembla, pass the ensuing winter at Cape Chelyuskin, Taymir Peninsula and search ing the Siberian coast during the summer of 1901, endeavor to reach Bering Strait.

This dangerous passage has not been attempted since its accomplishment by Baron Nordenskold in 1871-72.

Captain W. Bode will this summer take a party of Germans to Franz Josef Land and communicate with the Italian expedition under the Duke of Abruzzi.

A Swedish and a Russian expedition will operate in Spitzbergen.

Three expeditions, one a Swedish under Professor Vatthoff, a Danish under Prof. Andrup and an English under Captain Robertson, have already started for the east coast of Greenland.

GRAND PRIZE TO CANADA

For Its Forestry, Fish and Game and Mineral and Agricultural Exhibits at The Paris Exposition

Ottawa, July 10.—Hon. Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, has received semi-official notification that Canada has been awarded the Grand Prize for its forestry, fish and game and mineral and agricultural exhibits at Paris.

The jurors have examined the exhibits of an educational character, also cheese, trunks, leather, furniture and stoves.

The favorable comments heard indicate that the highest prizes will be given for these, but it is not sufficiently definite to say just what the awards will be.

Mr. Tarte writes that Canada has also secured five first prizes, one second prize and one third prize in the fruit exhibit, where the displays were ranged by provinces. An offer has been received on the part of a representative of one of the French manufacturers to purchase the exhibit of Canadian manufactures to be used as commercial samples. Many times the entire exhibit of the manufactures of this country could have been sold at invoice prices. Mr. Tarte further states that the Canadian commissioners have received enquiries from representative men in all parts of the world regarding stoves, heating apparatus, lumber, leather and boots and shoes.

Regarding a story that Mr. Tarte is about to sail for Canada with his family, and that Mr. Hector Fabre has been appointed chief commissioner in his place, a member of the Cabinet gave the statement a denial, adding,—"I received a cable this morning from Mr. Tarte, but he made no mention of leaving Paris. If he had any intention of starting immediately for Canada he would have said so."

ATE PARIS GREEN

A Well Known Farmer of Ops Township Kills Himself.

Samuel McGinnis a well-known farmer residing with his brothers David and Richard on lot 21, con. 11, Ops, on the Emily boundary, was found dead in the barn Sunday morning at 6 o'clock. Indications went to allow that it was clearly a case of suicide. The deceased was generally spoken of as "big Sam McGinnis." He was an industrious, hard-working man, but addicted for many years to periodical drinking bouts. The farm of 250 acres worked by the brothers is kept in model shape, and is said to be one of the best tilled farms in the township. The deceased had been in poor health for the past year. Of late he has been unable to work owing to an bad attack of rheumatism, and having always been a very healthy and active man, his enforced idleness and unaccustomed suffering preyed upon his spirits and rendered him gloomy and discontented, but his actions gave no indication of his rash resolve to end his troubles in so tragic a manner.

On Friday, owing to the heat, he spent the day in the barn, and slept there that night. Saturday he also spent in the barn, and did not return to the house for supper, but the family heard him walking about the kitchen some time during the night, and supposed he was getting something to eat. Next morning Richard and David rose early as usual to feed the stock, and on entering the barn found their brother cold in death. Paris green scattered about the floor and staining his thick beard left no doubt as to the means the unfortunate man had taken to end his life.

BETHLEHEM CAPTURED BY BRITISH FORCES

Clements and Paget Take Possession of the Town on July 8th

THE BOERS HAVE NOW ABANDONED SENEKAL

General De Wet and His Raiders Are Gradually Being Driven Into a Corner—Attempt to Retake Bronkhorst Spruit on Sunday Was Defeated

London, July 10. The War Office has issued another casualty list from South Africa, showing that during the week ending July, there were killed, wounded or captured fifteen officers and 194 men. Invalided home, 73 officers and 1396 men. The total casualties as result of the war are 48,158 officers and men.

London, July 10. Lord Roberts has sent the following despatch to the War Office—Pretoria, July 10.—Clements' and Paget's forces entered Bethlehem July 7th. The former on nearing the town sent in a flag of truce, demanding its surrender, which was refused by De Wet, when Paget, making a wide turning movement, succeeded in getting hold of the enemy's most important position, covering the town. This was carried before dark by the Munster Fusiliers and Yorkshire Light Infantry. The following morning the attack was continued, and by noon the town was in our possession, and the enemy in full retreat. Our casualties were four officers and 32 men of the Munsters wounded and missing. Capts. MacPherson and Weakes, and Lieut. Boyd, Rochefort Scottish Rifles, slightly wounded. Seven men of the Yorkshires wounded, 1 killed, two wounded of Imperial Yeomanry. Paget reports that but for the accurate practice of the Thirty Eighth Royal Artillery and the Fourth City Imperial batteries the casualties would have been many more. Baden Powell reached Rustenburg during the evening of July 8th, without opposition. He found all quiet there, and public confidence entirely satisfactory there, thanks to the prompt and bold grasp of the situation taken by Major Hanbury Tracy.

The district west of this is somewhat unsettled owing to the small force which attacked Rustenburg being still in that neighborhood. Measures are being taken to meet this. Further information regarding the capture of Bethlehem has not been received from Clement. He states that the country there is broken and difficult, consequently his and Paget's cavalry were unable to make any wide turning movements. Clements attacked one position while Paget attacked another. The position assailed by Clements was gallantly captured by the Royal Yeomanry, who captured one of the seventy-seventh guns lost at Stormberg. The list of the casualties has not been issued, but Clements states they are few considering the strength of the positions assailed.

Hunter's cavalry, under Broadwood, reached Bethlehem July 8th. Hunter with his main force was within 8 miles of town when Clements despatched his report.

London, July 10.—Chinese official sources furnish another surprise this morning in announcing that the Dowager Empress, who had been reported within two weeks to be dead, to have been poisoned, and to have become hopelessly mad, has resumed the reigns of power. The date given is June 30, the same on which the wholesale massacre of foreigners is said to have occurred.

The telegram of Sheng, the Administrator of Telegraphs and Railroads, to the Chinese Minister at Washington, Wu Ting Fang, saying the Imperial Government was protecting the legations, appears to fit in with the despatches from Shanghai of this morning, particularly with reference to the alleged directions given by the Dowager Empress, relative to the protection of foreigners. At the same time, people continue to ask, if the legations are protected, why the Ministers are not permitted to communicate with the outer world.

Sheng's expressed fears that the food and ammunition of the legations have been exhausted are counteracted by the news that Prince Ching, the commander of the Manchu Field Force, is revictualling them. Besides this, it is now known that in the last resort, there are available for food several hundred ponies, usually kept within the walls of the British legation.

In the meantime, according to the legation of Japan here, the Japanese by no means share the general opinion that the advance on Pekin must be indefinitely delayed. The officials assert that the Japanese have no intention of halting at Taku or Tien Tsin, but propose to advance on Pekin during the present week. Their military authorities express the opinion that the 20,000 of their troops, in addition to the international forces already available, will suffice to force an entry into the Chinese capital.

Emperor William despatched the German cruiser Buzzard from Kiel for China this morning, while the German cruisers Geier and Seeadler have been ordered to proceed to China as rapidly as possible from their American and Australian stations, respectively.

London, July 10.—It has been learned by the Associated Press, that the Chinese Legation here, though apparently unable to communicate directly with Pekin, is getting news from there indirectly. The officials of the legation declare the present trouble is entirely the work of Prince Tuan, and that the Government, the Dowager Empress and the Chinese generally, are against the Boxers. The officials also say they have reason to hope that the situation at Pekin is improving, and that Prince Ching will succeed in protecting the foreigners.

They scout the stories of the massacre of the people in the legations, and the poisoning of the Emperor and Dowager Empress, and express the opinion that Prince Ching, and the loyal viceroys could best be assisted by the prompt despatch of international reinforcements, and the promise of help in the formation of a strong government.

WAR WILL END WELL

Letter Received From Home by a Chinaman Which Says Boxers Will be Suppressed and Christianity Will Triumph

Chicago, July 10. — Chicago Chinamen are beginning to receive by letters and papers the first news from home of the trouble now existing in the northern provinces of their native land.

One of the most intelligent Celestials in Chicago is in receipt of a letter from his brother, who is an officer in the Chinese navy. Although the letter was written several weeks ago, at the first outbreak of trouble, much more was written as to what would probably take place has transpired.

In regard to the contents of the letter he said,—"Thus the bloodiest war known in its history is now brewing in China. I have no doubt. The man who is now in charge of the military affairs in the region where the Boxers abound is well versed in the arts of modern warfare. Before this war ends I should not be surprised if 1,000,000 Chinamen were killed. How many foreigners will meet death I cannot conjecture, but the number will be great. Ever since the Chinese learned a lesson from Japan they have been training themselves in the arts of warfare. They have as fine guns as any government, and well trained men behind them.

"My brother writes me that the great majority of Chinese in the southern provinces are against the ruling powers and the Boxers. There is a large class in China called Pensioners who will be with the Government, and as they are well-trained soldiers they will do terrible execution.

"I would like to see the trouble settled without war, but if it must come, it will be a good thing for the future of China. The ignorant Chinaman is of the belief that the missionary is sent there to rob him of his land, and, consequently, this war will be for the home. The Chinaman has seen where Russia, France and Germany have taken parts of their country and the taxes greatly increased under European rule. He is going to fight for his home and his life, but he will not fight with knives or swords, as a great many people suppose. The Chinaman is slow to anger, but when once aroused, nothing can stop him.

"China needs a change, a good religion to sweep away all these old superstitions. I believe the day is not far distant when the southern part of China at least will be Christianized."

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 6 1900.

WHAT TO DO WITH CHINA.

Unfortunately the probabilities are in favor of the truth of the Shanghai dispatches announcing the massacre of the legation officials in Pekin, with their guards, and all other foreigners in the Chinese capital. Sensational and unreliable as the rumors from this source have been, some of the worst have been confirmed by later despatches. It is natural that the truth should be distorted while passing through several hundred miles of Chinese territory, but there is only too much reason for crediting the report said to have been brought by several Chinese servants who have escaped to Shanghai.

If the representatives of all the foreign powers have been killed, the horror is in some respects unprecedented in international history. Individual foreign representatives have been murdered in Oriental countries, as in the case of the Afghan outrage that caused the sending of General Roberts' expedition to Kandahar, but there has been no case in which the ministers of all the great nations have perished in an outbreak of this kind. The Indian mutiny and the seige of Lucknow furnish a partial parallel, but in that case relief finally reached the beseiged English residents before it was too late. In the Pekin affair the unfortunates no doubt held out with all the bravery of their respective nationalities, but the succor they hoped for, did not come. Even now it is impossible to move on Pekin, for the military experts at Taku and Tien Tsin declare it would be suicidal to attempt such an expedition with less than 50,000 men.

The question of administering proper punishment and restoring order in China is one not easily solved. Most of the European powers will probably be in favor of a war of vengeance and a demand of territory as indemnity. But it is doubtful whether even the slaughter of several hundred thousand Chinamen would have any great effect in impressing the rest of the nation with the power of the white nations. Life is cheap in China, and the death of any number of men does not impress survivors as it would in a Western nation. Neither does the loss of a province trouble the other provinces. Patriotism and race solidarity are unknown sentiments to the Chinaman. His sensibilities lie in other directions.

Probably the vengeance that would most deeply affect the whole of China would be the carrying out of the suggestion that the graves of the ancestors of the imperial dynasty at Pekin be deliberately desecrated. That would send more of a shudder through ancestor-worshipping China than the slaughter of any number of Chinamen. It would probably impress the natives more thoroughly with the power of the foreigners than anything else that could be done, and, in connection with the necessary military invasion, would be an effective means of inspiring fear and compelling peace.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In a recent interview in London, Lord Wolseley is quoted as saying: "China possesses every requisite for overrunning the world. She has a population of 400,000,000, all speaking the same language, or dialect readily understood from one end of the empire to the other. She has enormously-developed and still more enormous natural wealth awaiting development. Her men if properly drilled and led, are admirable soldiers. They are plucky and able to live on next to nothing. Moreover, they are absolutely fearless of death. Behind with the foundation of millions upon millions as these men are capable of being made, and tell me, if you can, where the end will be."

In reference to the morganic marriage of Archduke Franz Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, and Countess Chotek, our talented Contemporary, the Peterborough Independent says: "This is a marriage for love, and after a while the Duke may make a marriage for the purpose of raising a heir of the right grade. It is not a bad idea, having a marriage for high class breeding purposes, and another for love. Only there is this about it, why confine the plan to royalties. If the system is good for raising royalties, is it not of vastly more importance to apply it to the whole human race. The improvement of the race is very much needed and as a first step in the right direction, why not have the regular legal marriage on strictly scientific principles, and if a man could afford to have two families, then have his morgantic marriage on any principle he likes, or entirely without principle if he wished.

THE DREAM OF MOTHERHOOD COMES TRUE WHEN Dr. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION IS USED.

Mrs. Axel Kjer, of Gordonville, Cape Girardeau Co., Mo., writes: "When I look at my little boy I feel it my duty to write you. Perhaps some one will see my testimony and be led to use your 'Favorite Prescription' and be blessed in the same way. I took nine bottles and to my surprise it carried me through and gave us as fine a little boy as ever was. Weighed ten and one-half pounds. He is now five months old, has never been sick a day, and is so strong that every body who sees him wonders at him. He is so playful and holds himself up so well."

The Japs Laughed Last.

The presence of the Japanese Crown Prince in Paris, has reminded some one of a good story.

It was at the time of the exhibition in 1867. A Japanese embassy went to Paris to treat for three ports in France, in return for which France was to have three in Japan. The negotiations proved short and amicable.

"Make your choice," said Japan; "we will choose afterwards."

The Minister of Foreign Affairs selected Yokohama, Yeddo and Han-Yang.

The embassy made no objection; they simply smiled and went on their way.

Some time afterward Japan sent word that the three ports mentioned were agreed to, and in return Japan desired Havre, Marseilles and Southampton.

This last named gave the French officials fits. They never laughed so much before and certainly never since. Southampton a French port. No, it was too good. Gently, but unmistakably, they explained the situation.

"Why, Southampton is in England," they replied.

"We knew that," came the cool response; "but then Han-Yang is in Corea."

Whereupon the French officials collapsed.

Since Willie's Going Barefoot.

There's mud upon the carpet, and there's mud upon the stairs.
And there's mud inside the porch and kitchen too;
There are streaks of muddy footprints everywhere that Willie goes.
Yes, he tracks mud in the house the whole day through.
He keeps his mother busy cleaning mud from every room.
And the hired girls kicks up an awful row.
Whilst [illegible] happy boyhood days are brimming o'er with fun,
For little Willie is going barefoot now.

It does no good to scold him.
Though fifty times you've told him,
To stop and clean his feet, but yet, somehow,
He slides in through the door.
Leaving footprints on the floor,
For Little Willie is going barefoot now.

There are slivers every evening that his mother has to find,
And stone-bruises that she has to doctor too;
There are toes that have collided with a stone which she must bathe,
And with arnica and liniment make new.
There are scratches by the dozen where the thorns and briars took hold.
When he scooted through the pasture for the cow;
And there is music in the gloaming when his mother pulls them out,
For Little Willie is going barefoot now.

His mother says she'll whip him.
The hired girl won't [illegible] him,
There's bound to be an everlasting row.
The devil is to pay.
There'll be trouble so they say.
'Cause little Willie's going barefoot now.

He mums up the clean white sheets upon his little bed.
With his dusty, grim, mud-becovered feet.
And everywhere he [illegible] from the cellar to the roof.
His little muddy footprints you will meet
He never stops to wipe his feet—the saucy little thing—
And there's jawing in the kitchen when the mop is brought in play.
For Little Willie is going barefoot now.

His father says he'll bless him.
The hired girl will 'dress him;'
His mother says she never will allow.
Such footprints on the floor!
Oh! there's trouble sure in store,
For Willie, since he's going barefoot now!

Big Fire at Liverpool.

Liverpool, July 9.—An alarming fire broke out to-day at the sheds of the Elder Dempster & Co., at the Liverpool docks.

Large quantities of palm oil caught fire and blazed fiercely. The flames spread to the company's steamers, Benguela, Rosy and Oron, which, however were towed to places of safety, and the flames on board of them were extinguished.

Drowned Bodies Found

New York, July 9.—The bodies of a number of drowned seamen still clad in their oilskins were passed last Wednesday by the Schr. E. E. Birdsall which has arrived here from Fall River, says a Philadelphia special. Several of the bodies stood upright in the water, and at first sight the crew of the Birdsall thought they were alive. All the bodies were drifting seaward. There was nothing on their clothing to indicate what ship they had manned, and it is thought that the vessel broke up on the shoals between Shinnecock and Southampton, L.I.

ENTIRELY WITHOUT MERIT

The Town Again Stuck With the C. P. R. Suit.

This town has again been stuck for a heavy bill of law costs, the suit against the Canadian Pacific Railway having gone against the Corporation.

The learned Judge said that the case was "entirely without merit," which means that the Council has made an ass of itself. The following is the case, as reported in the Globe:—

Judgment in action tried without a jury at Peterborough. In 1883 the plaintiffs were the owners in fee of Island No 1, in the Otonabee River, opposite the town. On the 4th June, 1888, the Town Council passed a resolution recommending that authority be given to defendants to construct a siding connecting the mills and factories in the Dickson raceway with the main line, upon certain conditions, etc. On 24th October, 1888, a further resolution was passed by the Town Council permitting the defendants "to take gravel and soil from the island in the River Otonabee at Peterborough for a roadbed without charge, for their railway, at or near that point, . . . but that nothing in this resolution shall be understood or construed as giving the said railway company any right or property in the said island beyond the right of way." On the 1st September, 1888, the defendants obtained the authority of the Privy Council to construct the siding or branch line referred to in the above resolutions, and having procured and paid for the right of way, proceeded to construct it in 1888-9, and expended upwards of $12,000 in so doing. No claim was made by the plaintiffs upon them of any kind until shortly before this action, which was begun on 17th August, 1899. The plaintiffs asked that their title to the lands covered by the right of way might be established, and that it might be declared that defendants' only title was as tenants at will to plaintiffs, and that in default of defendants executing an acknowledgment of plaintiffs' title the plaintiffs might be declared entitled to possession. The defendants set up that their occupation was by a license from plaintiffs under which they were to expend moneys in doing certain acts for plaintiffs' benefit, which they had done at great expense, and that plaintiffs were estopped from contesting the defendants' right to retain possession of their right of way, and defendants counter-claimed for a conveyance. Held, that plaintiffs should be left to the remedies provided by the railway act; their claim was entirely without merit; the intention of the resolution was to give defendants a free right of way over the island to some mills and factories which (it was to be assumed) were a benefit to the town. The Mayor appeared before the Privy Council in support of the application of defendants, and the latter took all proper steps and spent several thousand dollars in building the spur and compensating persons affected by it. If plaintiffs contention is right, their proper and only remedy is compensation under the railway act. But, if they are estopped by their acquiescence and by the expenditure of money at their request, they cannon succeed in the action. The defendants have not shown themselves entitled to a conveyance. Both action and counter-claim dismissed with costs. Edwards, Q.C., for plaintiffs. E. D. Armour, Q.C., and Angus MacMurchy for defendants.

DEFENSE OF KUMASSI.

Sir Frederic Hodgson's West African Natives Held at Bay Over Two Weeks.

London, July 9.—For over ten weeks, besieged by hordes of black barbarians, Sir Frederick Hodgson gallantly held his own in the fort at Kumasi, and finally succeeded in breaking through the hostile lines.

Terrible though the task has been—and rendered all the more fearful by the fact that with Sir Frederick Hodgson is his wife, Lady Hodgson—nevertheless, it has been one in full accord with the spirit of the man. Nature intended Sir Frederick to be a soldier; circumstances compelled him in his youth to pursue the quiet paths of peace. He opened his career in the post office at St. Martin's; there he worked in the telegraph department, but practically all his spare time was devoted to the volunteers—he was a captain in the 24th Middlesex Rifles and the mainspring of the corps.

His military enthusiasm was not dulled by administrative routine in climates of bad repute. On the Gold Coast only five years he raised a smart corps of volunteers and became its first commandant The labor he has spent on mastering the details of the fighting profession is now bearing good fruit.

After waiting many years the Volunteer has at last gained a chance to prove his true value to the empire. We have witnessed his work in South Africa; Ashanti is another page of the same lesson.

Sir Frederick Hodgson, who is now fifty-one, left the Home Civil Service eighteen years ago. Activity of disposition and alertness of mind marked him out early in his career. A Postmaster-General was required for British Guina, our colony in the northeastern coast of South America. It was offered to Mr. Hodgson and accepted by him. Georgetown, the capital, labors under a reputation of dullness which is not deserved, for it has months of glorious weather. Mr. Hodgson stopped for eight years in British Guina until he was transferred to the Gold Coast. From 1888 to 1898 he was Colonial Secretary at Cape Coast Castle. He was then appointed Governor and commander-in-chief of the Gold Coast Colony.

But the Ashantis in spite of their utter indifference to human life and to human suffering, are by no means a race of utter savages. They are described as being intelligent, industrious and cleanly. Before we destroyed the city in our first expedition in 1874 it consisted of broad, well-kept streets and houses of admirable construction and artistic finish. King Koffi's palace was built of stone and covered five acres. It is now in ruins, overgrown with rank vegetation. Many of the better houses also have never been rebuilt.

The four years of Western civilization it has enjoyed has hardly left a mark on the city beneath the banyan tree. Again have the war-drums, those horrible cylindrical instruments polished black with human blood and garnished with human jaw-bones and skulls sounded the dance of death. Hithertoo the flood of fanaticism has been checked by devoted valor. Sir Frederick Hodgson has fought a splendid fight, and if British pluck and British strategy can avail against the overwhelming masses of Ashantis, the flag of England will ever fly over the fort of Kumasi.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

.. After the Feast ..

If people will partake of the inner man comforts too heartily they will eventually suffer. When too much food is crowded into the stomach the gastric juices are unable to dissolve it, consequently a mass of undigested food is left upon which the resolvent liquids act feebly. This matter turns sour and ferments, the same kind of action goes on in your swill pail on a hot summer day, and the poison generated permeates your system through the blood. When the foul taint reaches the brain it causes minute congestion of the delicate tissues there and a furious headache results. Nausea added to these horrors completes a not too pleasing list. Now it is possible to eat as much and as varied nourishment as one likes, Hutch makes it an easy matter. The action of Hutch is simple because it is natural. It induces the secretion of the gastric juices, the food becomes dissolved, it promotes assimilation, the wheat is separated from the chaff and what is beneficial to the body retained and by being slightly cathartic it expels all excrement, the chaff as it is thrownaway, as it were. Another feature peculiar to Hutch is that it does not weaken. Purgatives, cathartics, etc., induce constipation and necessitate increased doses to be effectual. Hutch strengthens the entire system and every organ is toned up in like degree. Thus you will find that instead of increasing you will probably have to lessen the doses of Hutch.

Keep Cool.

"Hints for hot weather' always crop out in the newspapers during heated periods like this," said a doctor to this G. [illegible] yesterday morning. "A great [illegible] and [illegible]. The only thing to do is to keep the blood cool, and then there will be no danger of heat prostration. All drinks should be avoided, even ice water. Water that has not been iced, while, perhaps, not so refreshing to the palate, is much more satisfying internally. Buttermilk is good, and so is lemon juice. But it is better not to put any more liquid into the stomach than is absolutely necessary. I didn't start to preach a hot weather sermon; what I intended to say was that if people only knew it they could keep cool all over by keeping the wrists cool. If you feel unbearably hot just place your [illegible] under the ice cooler and let the water play over the wrists for a few moments. It's really better than a bath."

Lieut. Young, brother of Dr. Young, Water street, received a scalp wound in an encounter with Boers in which the Canadians, and especially those under him, were especially valiant. Dr. Young's many friends will hope that his brother's wound is not serious.

Extraordinary Drinks.

[illegible] Peterborough people are [illegible] on cooling drinks, and cooling drinks are the main subject of conversation wherever men and women congregate. Hades Powells, alcohol high and low balls, 'horses' necks, stone fences, shandygaffs, snowflakes—those are the odd names for certain popular mixtures containing alcohol. They are made for the most part of a tallglass, a plenty of cracked ice, a lemon peeling or a lime, a lump of sugar and a noggin of whiskey or gin. Santa Cruz rum punches, maidens' kisses—a simple thing of cream of lime, maraschino, chartreuse and benedictine —saint juleps, alabamas, rickeys, and brandy and sodas are other drinks that are ordered frequently by those who wish to compel their blood, to quench their thirst, or simply to forget it.

A Chance for the Boys.

One hundred boys wanted to sell badges for the Orange celebration on Thursday, July 12. Boys can easily make from $1 to $2 each. Apply at Times Bookstore [illegible].

Boys Scrapping.

Two young boys, not yet in their teens, had a desperate fisticuff encounter at the corner of Water and Macdonnell streets yesterday, shortly after midday. They were parted two or three times, but came together as soon as the peacemaker got away.

The Decorations.

The town is in gala dress just now, the decorations for the 12th being almost completed. They reflect the greatest credit on Messrs. J. J. Turner & Son, who have shown that they can decorate a whole town as easily as they can a hall or banquet room.

A Narrow Escape.

On Monday evening last Mr. Robert Walton, an old and respected citizen, had an experience that he will be slow to forget. While fishing in the river near Nassau he slipped off a plank he was standing on, and fell in. He was carried down stream by the swift current, but although well advanced in years, he had not forgotten how to swim, and thus saved himself, not, however, until he was well nigh exhausted.

"Ads" as Models of Style.

Long ago a literary Scotchman, 'Kit North," predicated that advertisements would become models of composition that because every word must be paid for, big advertisers would try to escape the useless expense of redundance, fine writing and mere space-filling. "Ad" writers are learning the art of expressing themselves in the fewest, plainest and most direct words—an art which is held to be a fundamental requisite to success in many forms of pure literature. Everybody read the Times.

The Road Roller Sank.

On Saturday night the road roller, while working on Albert street, in the south end, took a sheer China-ward. It got off the road and began to sink in the mire.

There was consternation amongst the men who were working it, as the ponderous machine gradually sank. The Town Engineer was notified, and a large force of men was put on to keep the roller from disappearing altogether. After working all Saturday night and Sunday, the machine was once more on terra firma.

Dog on Ice.

When a cat lies with her back to the stove it is a sign of storm, but when a dog lies on a piece of ice, no one knows what to predict. The unusual spectacle of a dog spread at full length upon a cake of ice attracted a full share of attention at the rear of the Times building yesterday. The ice had been dropped off early in the morning, and cool rivulets were trickling from it to the gutter. The dog waddled languidly, his tongue hanging out, and his tail between his legs, the sorriest victim of heat to be seen in a day's tramp. He looked at the ice, came nearer, sniffed it in evident enjoyment then in raptures of delight ran its tongue over its cool surface. As a cat capers in catnip the dog capered around the ice. Then he turned twice and stretched himself upon it. Several passer-by seemed to envy him and his cool position.

Men in Shirt Waists.

It sometimes breaks the force of a disposition to discuss the question whether men should not appear in the streets in shirt waists that the matter has not been brought up before the condition of the weather is such that it might look more like the impulse of midsummer despair than the result of cool deliberation. It could be argued in the premises that as it has not been spoken of until the thermometer is beginning to play tag with the hundred-degree mark, there may be a corresponding falling off in support of the idea just as soon as the temperature conditions become less suggestive of caloric. Still even this possible objection should not stand in the way of those who believe the adoption of the fashion would be a wise step in masculine dress reform. No great victory is to be won without a struggle, and despite everything if there are pioneers in the cause who honestly believe in the shirt waist for men let them take off their coats and fight for the next hot day. This G. F. J. believes that if it is right and proper for women to appear in shirt waists, it should also be right and proper for men.

"COMMONLY USED DRUG"

Dr. Wood Refers to Coffee.

Dr. Jas. Wood of Philadelphia, speaking of the effect of coffee, says: 'These symptoms bear silent but impressive witness to the terrible injury is being wrought by this commonly used drug.'

If health is worth anything, it is worth looking after carefully. Any person who drinks coffee and has any sort of ailment that can be traced back, through even a very long line of disturbances, to the nervous system, may depend upon it that coffee is the cause of the difficulty.

The drug contained in coffee has a direct action upon the nerves, differing in different people. The effect may show in one person in the shape of dyspepsia, in another person in weak eyes, in another palpitation of the heart, in another, kidney or bowel trouble, in another, bad complexion or eruptions on the skin, in another, a general feeling of lassitude and weakness at times. All of these and a long list of other disturbances come directly from a disturbed nervous system, and that is the gray substance that is contained in the nerve centers and in the brain—has been destroyed, to an extent, and not replaced from the blood.

This is the exact work of coffee with highly organized people. Such people feel the loss of coffee for a time, unless something is given to take its place. This is the mission of Postum Food Coffee; it not only furnishes, when properly made, a delicate coffee flavor in itself, but carries with it the phosphate of potash and other elements required by Nature to rebuild the nervous system and re-construct the tearing down work that has been going on from the use of "drug coffee." (We use the words "drug coffee," because all regular coffee is in reality a drug, all regular coffee is in reality a drug, and its continued use, will, in ninety cases out of a hundred, bring on trouble of some kind.)

Postum Food Coffee is sold by all first-class grocers.

Mrs. Bickle's husband predeceased her by several years. Three sons and two daughters survive her. The former are Messrs. Geo., James J., and Harry, of Smith, and the latter are Mrs. Payne, of Lakefield, and Mrs. Norrish, of Smith.

The Town's Lawsuit.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—It is time for a change, without doubt. Our Council has proved itself worthy of the confidence of the people, and new and better men must take their places. Let us elect a mayor and Council next year who will have backbone enough to protect the town from going into fool lawsuits.

A DISGUSTED RATEPAYER

The Orange Parade.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am pleased to know that the Orangemen propose to resent the action of the military authorities in stopping the band from playing in uniform for the Orangemen at the church parade, but allowing them to play at the big Catholic demonstration on July 1st. Let us have fair play, Mr. Edwards.

AN ORANGEMAN

A Dollar Uniform.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The officers of the 57th Regiment has generously appropriated $40 with which to purchase uniforms for the band. As there are 40 members in the band, the uniforms will cost a dollar each.

The idea of this (?) gift to the band is a sort of a sop to the bandsmen who refused to accept the explanations of the military authorities, and who realize the unjustice of their actions.

THE CHINESE DEFEATED THE ALLIED FORCES AT TIEN TSIN FRIDAY LAST

The Fight Lasted Six Hours and was Fought With Great Determinatiod

ADMIRAL SEYMOUR HARD PRESSED BY CHINESE

Siege of Tien Tsin Still Continues and Another Relief Column Will Have to be Sent—More American Troops Were Landed at Taku

London, July 12, 3.30 a.m.

The Chinese situation again bears a most ominous aspect. Eighteen days ago Sir Robert Hart despatched his last message, declaring that the situation was desperate and since then no word has come from the Europeans in Pekin.

According to the Daily Mail's Shanghai correspondent Li Hung Chang has received an Imperial decree ordering his immediate departure for Pekin, presumably to break the news of the Pekin tragedy to the European powers and in his usual role of negociator with Europe in difficult matters to endeavor to act as mediator to avert the vengeance of the powers.

To add to the grimness of the suggestion all advices from Tien Tsin go to confirm the reports of the perilous condition of the allied forces and the optimistic Chinese rumors. Unless reinforcements speedily reach Tien Tsin other disaster may be expected.

The daily Mail's Tien Tsin correspondent telegraphing July 11 says,—"The situation is about as bad as it can well be. I only trust that we shall not soon want relieving ourselves. A forward movement is impossible. From thirty thousand to forty thousand troops are wanted and there are only 10,000 here. The foreign troops are working well together, but it is inconvenient that there is no supreme commander. In some quarters the feeling is let us rescue Pekin and then clear out in favor of Russia."

London, July 12.

The Express this morning published a despatch from Tien Tsin dated Friday last, via Che Foo, saying,—"Gen. Ma has defeated the allied forces and reoccupied the Chinese arsenal after inflicting great loss upon the defenders. The engagement lasted six hours and was fought with great determination on both sides. The Chinese were eventually able to utilize the effective guns of the fort abutting on the city walls, near the Taotis Yamen, the allied troops suffering severely from lack of heavy guns and cavalry. The Japanese commander sent an urgent appeal to hurry reinforcements, as the allies were in imminent danger of a general defeat.

Washington, D.C., July 11.—The following cablegram has been received at the Navy Department from Admiral Remey—Che Foo, July 10, Secretary Navy, Washington—"Arrived yesterday two battalions 9th Infantry and one battalion marines. Colonel Meade: landed to-day to proceed to Tien Tsin. Allied forces at Tien Tsin engaged in maintaining their defences. Ordered Solace here to take sick and wounded to Yokohama Hospital. Oregon proceeded soon to dock at Kure, towed by chartered steamer and convoyed by Nashville. Just learned from Admiral Seymour at Tien Tsin foreigners there are hard pressed." REMEY.

London, July 11.—It has been learned by the Associated Press that the British Government is making arrangements to send 100,000 troops from India to China in the autumn.

London, July 11.—The despatch from Admiral Remey confirms the apprehension already expressed in this despatch, that Tien Tsin would have to be relieved a second time. The foreigners there are pressed hard by the Chinese, and their prospects of reaching Pekin and bringing off the ambassadors and missionaries are as remote as ever. The powers of Europe have as hopelessly underrated the strength and armaments of China as England did those of the Boer Republics, and it seems that they are about to have more striking demonstrations of this fact before the tumult is quieted. Not long ago it was thought that a handful of marines, 2,000 in number, would be able apparent that 50,000 men with plentiful to force a passage to Pekin. Now it is artillery will scarcely be sufficient to perform the task. John Chinaman has profitted exceedingly by the lesson administered a few years ago by Japan. He has been learning how to shoot, and can actually plant shells with accurate fire underneath European guns. The allies at Tien Tsin are having daily exhibitions of good artillery practice and present the somewhat humiliating spectacle of nearly 20,000 men besieged and surrounded by soldiers who several times during the present reign have been "scattered by handfuls of blue jackets. The truth is that Europe has engaged in a serious task and one which will cost each of the nationalities as much trouble as the Boers are causing Britain. A war waged against four hundred million people offer possibilities that are infinite, and it may be that after staying the appetite of the Chinese the western world will after all be glad to let China go her own way without proceeding with the partition thought to be imminent. The statement that the British Government will send 100,000 men to China from India in the autumn must be taken with a grain of salt. England's action depends upon the duration of the Boer war, and when that war is over there is no reason why troops should not be sent from South Africa. If it is not over, however, it is scarcely likely that Hindostan will be denuded of troops and left a prey to the evils now prevalent in China and which may occur in Britain's Eastern Empire the moment her soldiers turn their backs

EXHAUSTED BY FIGHTING

Allies are Sustaining Heavy Losses at Tien-Tsin.

London, July 11.—Although Shanghai to-day repeats the statement that both the Emperor and Dowager Empress are alive and telegrams from Chinese officials again testify to the safety of the Legations they no longer stimulate hope here and pessimism will prevail as long as the authorities who on their own showing are able to get messages to the coast fail to send confirmation of the safety of the foreigners from some member of a legation at Pekin. In the disappearance and reappearance of prominent people at Pekin, and the efforts apparently making to shift the blame from one to the other, and in the attempts to represent themselves as victims of instead of principals in the recent occurences, London sees only preparations for alibis and defences in view of the approach of the troops of the powers and the tragedy they may discover on reaching the Chinese capital. According to a despatch from Shanghai the fighting at Tien Tsin July 6 was the heaviest that has yet occurred, the Russians alone burying 200 men. The allies are becoming exhausted by constant fighting.

A despatch from Canton says Li Hung Chang is keeping excellent order there. Robbers and pirates are executed publicly and frequently and the people are cowed and afraid to disturb the peace

FOREIGNERS OUT OF DANGER

Governor of Shan Tung Says the Revolt is Decreasing.

Berlin, July 11.—The German Consul at Che Foo telegraphs that the Governor of Shan Tung announces that according to reports, on July 4, the foreign Ministers at Pekin were out of danger and the revolt was decreasing.

Chinese statements have so far proved very unreliable, and as the Governor of Shan Tung may have reasons for immersing the danger of the foreigners the above despatch must not be swallowed bolus bolus.

TROOPS FOR CHINA VIA C. P. R.

Confidential Communication Received from British Admiralty.

Montreal, July 11.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company have received a communication from the Admiralty office in London making enquiries with regard to the transport of troops over the Company's system to Vancouver.

The officials of the company have communicated to the Admiralty authorities the information asked for, but the negociations are of a purely confidential character as yet. It is not known to what extent the Imperial authorities propose using the great Canadian road as a military highway, but it is extremely probable that it will be utilized for transport purposes during the trouble with China.

JAPAN'S POSITION

Could Not Subdue China Single Handed—Did Not Seek Mandate.

Paris, July 11.—It is stated that Japan never sought a mandate to go ahead in China. On the contrary, that country was anxious to avoid any such mandate, owing to a lack of funds sufficient for the purpose. The situation was far different from the previous war, China is now strongly armed and prepared to fight, and the restoration of order will prove a most difficult and costly task, far exceeding Japan's resources. English diplomacy has departed from its traditional reserve in putting forward Japan as the European mandatory, without previously requesting Japan's consent. The correspondent is convinced that M. Delcasse, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, knew this when he was speaking on the subject in the Chamber of Deputies, but he was two diplomatic to declare it bluntly. It is thought now that it is known to be a certainty that Japan only desires to act on an equal footing with the other powers, that the situation has cleared for harmonious joint action.

THE FIGHT AT TIEN-TSIN

Further Details of the Battle on July 3rd and 4th.

London, July 11.—According to a special Chefu despatch, the fighting around Tien Tsin on the 3rd and 4th was the severest yet experienced. The British losses alone were 30 killed or wounded. The Chinese had 15,000 men attacking simultaneously from the west, north and east, and made excellent practice with over 100 guns. The defenders numbered 14,000, with scant supplies, and it was only the presence of the newly-arrived Japanese and Russian guns that prevented a disaster. One Russian company of infantry, numbering 120 men, had 115 killed or wounded. The German contingent also suffered heavily. By the evening of the 4th the situation was very critical. The allies narrowly escaped total defeat. Providentially, when things were at their worst, a torrential rainfall compelled the Chinese to retire.

SIGNS HIMSELF EMPEROR

Prince Tuan's Pretensions Shown in a Recent Letter.

London, July 11.—According to the Shanghai correspondent of the Express, it is war to the knife between the Dowager Empress and Prince Tuan. In a recent edict the latter, boldly discards his masque and signs himself as Emperor. He warmly commends the prowess of "his faithful Boxers," and in flowery language appeals to their cupidity and fanaticism. In the same decree Prince Tuan appoints Prince Tsuan, the "Iron Capped." Prince Tsaiabs, his Imperial clansman, and Kangyi, to command the three chief wings of the Boxer army.

DEAD EMPEROR SPEAKS

Kwang Su, Supposed to Have Been Poisoned, Sends a Message.

London, July 11.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing yester day, Tuesday, says—"A message has arrived here from Emperor Kwang Su, dated July 2, by couriers from Pekin to the Viceroy of Nankin, who forwarded it here. It is addressed to the Russian, English and Japanese Governments. It deplores the recent occurrences and solemnly affirms that the foreign Governments are mistaken in supposing that the Chinese Government was protecting the Boxers against the Christians. The Emperor further implores their aid in suppressing the rebellion and upholding the existing Government.

"In a separate despatch to the Japanese Government, Kwang Su expresses deep regret for the murder of Legation Chancellor Sugiyama.

"These despatches are taken to indicate that the Emperor is in seclusion and is ignorant of the seriousness of recent events."

JAPAN'S PREPARATIONS

She Will Soon Have Sixty-Three Thousand Troops in China.

London, July 11.—The Chefu correspondent of the Express telegraphs under date of yesterday—"The Japanese force is equipped with 36 heavy mortars and 120 field guns and has pontoons and balloons sections. It is expected either Marshal Nodzu or Marshal Oyama will take command. The plan of campaign contemplates operations extending two or three years.

"A further force of 13,000 men will be landed at Taku a week hence, and an additional 10,000 soon afterwards. Before the rainy season is well advanced Japan hopes to have 63,000 troops in China

WHO KILLED VON KETTELER?

Two More Stories as to How the German Embassador Met His End.

London, July 11.—Another report of the assassination of Baron von Ketteler, the German Minister, is to the effect that he was murdered by a Manchu regiment, which was nominally commanded by Prince Ching, who is apparently trying to protect the foreigners. The Chinese say that the regiment had got beyond Prince Ching's control. If this is true it discounts Prince Ching's ability to aid the Legations.

The Chinese version of the origin of the outbreak, as published in Shanghai, is that Baron Von Kettler was hated by the Pekinese, who, taking advantage of the disturbed condition of affairs, shot him out of revenge, thereby causing a conflict between the Chinese troops and the Germans, the latter of whom destroyed the Tsung-li-Yamen. The infuriated soldiers, under Prince Tuan, then gained complete control over the Dowager Empress.

London, July 10.—A despatch from Tien Tsin, dated July 3, via Chefoo, July 7, says it is reported from Chinese sources that the Europeans in Pekin have seized the fourth Prince's palace commanding the British Legation, where the native Christians are sheltered.

London, July 11.—The repulse of the Chinese on July 6, as cabled Monday, has been confirmed. A Shanghai despatch, dated Monday, states that severe fighting continues. The chief difficulty of the allies has been the inadequate water supply, the river being in a pestilential condition, but the advent of the rainy season has partially remedied this. On the other hand, the rains are impeding transport.

London, July 11.—The Times' Shanghai correspondent says that Emperor William's offer of a reward of 1,000 teals for every foreigner rescued from Pekin has been published in Shanghai, where the natives read it with general incredulity.

London, July 11.—A despatch to the Times from Odessa says it is reported that Turkey has refused to allow the Russian volunteer cruisers conveying troops to China to pass through the Bosphorus or Dardanelles.

There are 123,000 Russian troops in the Vladivostock and Port Arthur military districts, and, in addition to those ordered to proceed to China by sea, 7,000 are going overland.

RESPONSIBILITY DISCLAIMED

Chinese Minister Says Troubles were Caused by the Bombardment.

Washington, D.C., July 11.—Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese Minister to this country, came to the State Department in person this morning and delivered to Secretary Hay a copy of a cablegram received by him purporting to be from the Chinese Imperial Government, believed to have originated at the Chinese War Department, disclaiming responsibility on the part of the Imperial Government for the Boxer troubles and asserting that the engagement at Tien Tsin was the direct result of the bombardment of the Taku forts by the foreigners.

Paris, July 11.—At a Cabinet Council to-day the Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Delcasse, read a telegram from Tokio confirming the news that Japan will send immediately to Taku a complete division of 19,000 men.

A despatch from Che Foo, dated July 7 says the Orphanage at Shan Tung has been pillaged.

GHASTLY SKELETONS EVERYWHERE IN INDIA

Country Overrun with Gaunt Men, Women and Children.

HONORS OF GREAT HOSPITALS.

Bombay, July 11.—I have just returned from another and more extended tour of the famine districts and with mine own eyes have verified the worst stories I have ever heard of the suffering and distress of these people. Children wandering about like chips adrift on the sea, people dying along the roadside through sheer lack of food, jackals and vultures feasting upon human flesh—all these things are only too true.

The land swarms with multitudinous living skeletons. I have grown accustomed to the sight of stomachs hollowed out like basins. There is nothing romantic in this form is suffering, for starvation, in its visible form, is simply and only hideous.

The death rate is appalling, despite the fact that the Government is doing its level best to save human live. The money raising and sent by England is doing a lot of good, but the money thus sent is not yet sufficent to cover the widespread distress nor the multitude of wants on the part of the natives charge of the relief works.

The scenes I have witnessed are heartrending in the extreme, and serve to emphasize the fact that the help of the American people is sorely needed. The money sent here from the United States and Canada through the Christian Herald is doing an amazing amount of good.

Fearful Odor in the Air

At the poorhouse, near Nodiad, I found 1200 people, many of them down with the cholera, dysentery and other diseases common to a famine poorhouse. The place was fearfully malodorous, and the patients in the hospital were shamefully neglected.

The condition of things at another poorhouse, about fifty miles from Nadiad, was ifinitely worse. The stench of dead bodies filled the air. Our very clothing was impregnated, and we carried the dreadful odor away with us.

Cholera patients were wallowing in the mire. One woman, whose mind had driven away, sat staring vacantly at the scene of misery all around her. Out of 574 patients admitted in sixteen days, all but thirty had died.

Nothing but dirt and rags was visable while the microbe-laden dust, the heat and the filth rendered the place really intolerable for human habitation. The people were unwashed and altogether miserable. The native officials mean while acted as if they had a terrible grudge against the inmates of the hospital for not dying off quickly enough. There was an absolute lack of system and a shirking of work on the part of all the employers. Although this poorhouse had been running five months, it looked as though the whole establishment had been put together within the night, without the slightest regard for cleanliness or order. The food was dished out to the patients on their cots... One feeble patient, turning on his cot, lay down on his food.

Hundreds of Unburied Dead

At the poorhouse in Ahmedabad my attention was first directed to 200 applicants, who were seated around the gate without shelter, and who, the suprintendent said, would be kept there 24 hours under observation, to determine whether they developed signs of cholera.

Our of 145 patients in the hospital 18 had that day been incinerated. That evening in walking through the wards we discovered six dead bodies on the cots.

The next day I called again and found five more dead bodies on the cots, and in response to an inquiry learned that those who died after the corpses are removed in the morning remained on the cots in the hospital until evening, when the time came for the burning of the dead. At the sight of a flock of vultures one of our party got out of the carriage to ascertain the occasion for the gathering of the winged scavengers, and found in a ditch two dead bodies about to be consumed.

All this territory and more, too has just been covered by D. Louis Klopsch, who, with untiring activity, has carried out his determination to ascertain for himself and for the thousands of American people who contribute to the Christian Herald Famine Relief Fund the true state of affairs in this blighted land.

Braved all Famine Danger

At Viramgam, way up country near the borders of Rajputana, Dr. Klopsch took his life in his hands and went through the cholera and smallpox camp who gathered around the carriage, through an interpreter, telling them that America is stirred with the story of their suffering and that if they could hold on yet a little longer relief on a much more gigantic scale would come to them from across the ocean.

Crowds surged forward to prostrate in Oriental style at the feet of the speaker or to clasp his knees. It was a truly pathetic sight to see these stalwart men, women and children, reduced by famine to a shadow of their former selves, trying to express to the men who was ignorant of their vocabulary, the gratitude which filled their hearts and to which their faces gave eloquent though mute expression.

Within the last few days Dr. Klopsch has received a letter from Lord Northcote, Governor of Bombay Presidency, promising a speedy investigation into the matter of employing certain women on relief works, in violation of the Famine Code.

In this letter Lord Northcote says, "May I once more thank you and your countrymen most warmly for all you are doing, and assure you that India will never forget the kindness and generosity of the American people."

CAPTURE OF BETHLEHEM HAS IMPORTANT BEARING

The Finish of Gen. De Wet's Raid is Probably in Sight

DE WET PRESSED TOWARDS DRAKENSBERG HILLS

Official Despatch From Lord Roberts Tells of the Movement Upon Bethlehem and Its Capture by Paget and Clements—Opening of Railway to Ladysmith May Follow

London, July 11.—With the British in possession of Bethlehem, the headquarters from which the Boers under Dewet have been operating in the Orange River Colony, it should not be long before the final act in the drama south of the Vaal takes place. Bethlehem is the terminus of the railway leading from Ladysmith through Van Reenan's Pass and via Harrismith into the State. It is likely that one of the next British moves will be to advance down this railway towards the Drakensberg mountains and occupy Harrismith about 30 miles away. This will bring the British in rear of Van Reenan's Pass still held by the Boers, and if a simultaneous attack upon the pass is made in front by a force from Ladysmith it cannot any longer be defended and must be vacated. The railway from Ladysmith would then be opened and the force under Lord Roberts operating around Bethlehem would be given a short line of communication which would dispose of the many difficulties which are now being encountered owing to the necessity of conducting wide operations with wagon transport. Moreover the railway once wholly in possession of the British, Dewet would be invested in a small corner of the State to the south with no possible outlet. The end of Dewet's raid is evidently in sight, and a few days more should see the stamping out of the war in ex-President's Steyn's country, for it would be a miracle if the Boer leader were at this juncture to force his way through the several British lines which surround him. With the good news that Bethlehem has fallen comes other news not so good from Pretoria. It appears that the enemy has appeared to the west of that place and is causing trouble in the Rustenberg district. The situation in the Transvaal at present seems to be that the Boers are in front and on both flanks of Lord Roberts at a distance of fifty or sixty miles, waiting an opportunity to dash in upon his communications, and there is no doubt that the veteran of Kandahar is having his vigilence taxed to the uttermost. With the exit of Dewet and Steyn from the field, however, a forward movement which will cause precipitate retreat on the part of the Boers may be looked for.

GREAT BRITAIN'S SORROW OVER CHINESE HOSTILES

Bitterly Realixes the Helplessness of The Terrible Situation

GREAT DISCONTENT EVERYWHERE

People no Longer Speak of Spheres of Influence in China, but of Saving Europeans—The African War no Longer a Subject of Interest.

London, July. 9.—By the average Britisher the present situation in China is generally referred to as a "crime of the powers;" This view is shared by almost everybody not connected with the Foreign Office. With the uncontradicted reports that the helpless European women and children were tortured to death at Pekin there has come home to all classes, all papers and all parties a keen, sickening sense of Great Britain's helplessness. Some go even farther, and describe Great Britain's attitude as one of ignominy unequaled in her history. It must not be gathered that this self-criticism excludes equally severe criticism upon the other powers concerned.

The preponderance of criticism is only directed against the home government in the hope that it will bring some result. The cry is; "What was the good of Lord Salisbury saying the international understanding is harmonious when that harmony will not avail to let Japan step in and save the lives of our Minister and the men women and children in his charge?"

Change in Public Sentiment.

The events and rumors of the week have completely changed the public attitude toward China. It is no longer a question of spheres of influence and the maintenance of British power in the Far East, but it is a matter of saving human lives, if possible, and if that is baffled an overwhelming desire for a speedy and terrible revenge. Emperor William's stern invocation of vengeance has had a heartfelt echo in Great Britain, and there are indications that the Foreign Office is awakening to the strength of this feeling and is taking such steps that international harmony shall not in future interfere with independent action when great emergencies arise.

The naval stations have become centres of activity and ships and troops are hurrying eastward. Parliament will be asked for a additional million pounds for navy and inefficient vessels will be finally ordered to be struck off the efficient list.

The attitude of the United States toward China is but little understood and is generally believed to be controlled by the political considerations of the anti-election period. It is hoped that Japan's star will now arise in the East and save the situation, and the popular demand is that whether or not Russia agrees Great Britain shall speedily take herself strong enough to unite with Japan if the exigencies of the situation demand such action. The nation is tired of "harmonious accord" that is barren of result. It is useless to speculate upon how far Lord Salisbury will be able to meet this popular demand by means of the negotiations at present progressing, though hypotheses regarding their outcome fill countless columns in the British papers.

Affairs in South Africa.

While the news from China continues to completely overshadow events in South Africa, these have by no means ceased to be worthy of record. When it is understood that the last month's casualties, from June 5 to July 5 amounted to over 2,000 men including 1,300 deaths, it will be realized that the latter chapter of the war though comparatively unheralded, has been terribly grim. "When it is going to end?" is the question heard on all sides. The measure of the organized Boer resistance is evidently no criterion of what the cost will be to Great Britain in precious lives. Unless Lord Roberts is planning some move in which the news is carefully kept in England, it seems likely that there are still many weary weeks of guerilla fighting ahead of the British forces.

The political feature of the week was the defeat of the government in the House of Lords, by its own supporters, over the proposition to appoint a commission to inquire into the losses sustained by the Irish landlords. This, however, is merely a repetition of what happened last session, and cannot be taken as any sign of defection among the conservative peers upon topics outside of the Irish land question. The liberals voted with the government, but Erin's representatives overwhelmed them.

Government's Lack of Pluck.

The Duke of Abercorn a brother of Lord George Hamilton, Secretary of State for India, brother-in-law of the Marquis of Lansdowne, Secretary of State for War, and a Tory of the deepest dye, speaking during this debate, voiced what is frequently heard outside of the House of Lords by frankly saying he wished the government had more pluck. In the House of Commons this lack of pluck is scarcely noticeable. This week A. J. Balfour, the government leader, with little grace, turned a complete somersault under the pressure of those who wanted to increase the number of the committee appointed to investigate Mr. Burdett-Coutt's charges of maladministration of the hospital service in South Africa. These charges continue to create no end of discussion, and still hang over the government like the sword of Damocles.

One of the most noticeable features of the debates under this head was the transformation of Mr. Balfour. He has been noted for his imperturbable good humor, but he has become irritable and graceless, in addition to losing the grip he formerly held on the House.

BRISK FIGHTING IN LUZON

Eleven Americans Killed During the Week.

Manila, July 12.—The last week's scouting in Luzon resulted in eleven Americans being killed and sixteen wounded. One hundred and sixty Filipinos were killed during the week, and eight Americans, who had been prisoners in the hands of the rebels, were surrendered and a hundred rifles were turned over to the United States officials.

The enemy ambushed a wagon train between Indang and Naic. The Third Infantry lost nine men while on an expedition to punish the Ladrones in the delta of the Rio Grande.

In the Antigua province of Panay a running fight of three hours' duration resulted in the killing or wounding of seventy of the enemy. There were no casualties among the Americans.

The insurgents are slowly accepting the amnesty provisions. In some instances the Americans are suspending operations in order to give the rebels an opportunity to take advantage of the decree.

GREAT MORTALITY IN INDIA

In Last Week in June 10,229 Died of Cholera and [illegible] from Famine.

London, July 12.—The Secretary of State for India, Lord George Hamilton, has received the following from Viceroy of India, Lord Curzon of Kedleston.—

"This rainfall has been fairly general this week in Bombay, Deccan, Berar, Khandeish, the central provinces, the Gangetic Plain and the Punjab, but has been much below the average for these tracts, except in Southern Deccan. Little or no rain has fallen in Rajputana, Guzerat, and Central India.

"The cholera mortality continues high in Bombay. The May mortality there was appalling. The number of persons receiving relief is 6,073,000."

The Governor of Bombay telegraphs to the Foreign Office as follows.—

"There were 10,229 deaths from cholera and 5,502 fatalities in the famine district during the last week in June. The total deaths among the numbers on the relief works in the British district were 5,384. The number on the relief works is increasing rapidly in consequence of the drought. The number on gratuitous relief is increasing throughout the afflicted districts."

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 6 1900.

A DIFFICULT TASK.

Admiral Beresford, like so many other prophets who presume to foretell the future of China, suffers from the popular illusion that a partition of the Empire could be accomplished as easily as the division of a pie. He takes no account of the friction which would ensue between the partitioners, nor of the possible disputes over the boundaries of spheres of influence, and the objections and resistance the Chinese themselves might make to parceling out process do not seem to be worth consideration by this self-confident prognosticator. The subjugation of the 400,000,000 Chinese, however would be a task that the strongest of Powers might shrink from. The Celestials might give way before the conquerors, as the waves part before the prow of a ship, but they would also close behind him like the trackless waters of the ocean. Fighting China would be like buffeting a boundless sea in which the adventurer would surely be ultimately engulfed.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The powers don't seem to be quarreling so much about the "open door" in China these days. It isn't a question of getting in so much as of getting out just now.

Oom Paul is again to the front with a declaration that the Boers will fight to the bitter end. This relieves Great Britain of the embarrassing fear that Oom Paul meditated calling the game before it was finished in order that he might catch a train.

The Chinese are said to have cut the Grand Canal, with the object of flooding the plain and blocking the onward march of any of the Powers upon Pekin. If this desperate strategical act has been resorted to it was only in imitation of one of the most celebrated deeds in the annals of Chinese warfare. Away back in the days previous to the conquering of Pekin by the Manchu invaders a great Chinese warrior, General Li, let the Yellow River overflow its banks, drown even thousands of his own army, and deluge a [illegible] citadel that stood in the way of his rebellious march on the capital.

Emperor William has offered 1000 taels (about $800) for every foreigner who shall be rescued from Pekin. Thus the safety of the imperiled foreigners in the Chinese capital has literally become a question of "heads or taels."

LOCAL NEWS-LETTERS.

OMEMEE.

The country and crops are looking at their best. Haying has begun.

Farmers are offering big pay for the harvest months.

The Times Bureau of Employment office should be more extensively advertised in this section as farmers are anxiously seeking help for the harvest and it is difficult to get.

Our Emily L.O.L. district, famous for being well uniformed, composed of the best young men and progressive farmers, will again favor Peterborough by a full turn out of about 400 or 500, accompanied by the Omemee Citizens' band, noted as one of the best in playing Orange tunes.

Omemee is to have the celebration here next 12th of July, without fail, and it will be a mammoth one.

Rev. Mr. Kennewin and Rev. Mr. Langfeldt preached very acceptably and profitably to the Orangemen on last Sabbath. There was a very large turnout.

Mr. Jas. Graham, proprietor of the Commercial House, is doing a very large business.

Isaac Richardson and Bert. McQuade are purchasing a large lot of all kinds of livestock.

CHINESE CATHERINE DE MEDICI

London Chronicle Says the Empress is Steeped in Secret Murder.

The London Daily Chronicle has the following to-day of the Dowager Empress of China, who has played such a prominent part in bringing about the present crisis in that country.

Tsi-Hai is the Catherine de Medici of China, steeped as deeply in secret murder as ever was that vicious Italian royal personage. For her shocking crimes alone she merits desposition and incarceration for the rest of her life. She should be deported to Penang or Borneo. The instant Pekin is captured her person should be seized, unless she takes refuge, as it has long been hinted she intended to do when the final catastrophe came, under Russian protection. The corrput and cruel palace clique should be deported with her. Tsi-Hai betrayed her country in the Japanese war. Enormous sums of money intended for armament for the navy and army were diverted by her and squandered on her own pleasures. When Li Hung Chang received the lion's share of the enormous sum, said to amount to nearly £4,000,000, needed quite as much as her troops and ships, to secure the success of her plans, Tsi-Hai received enormous sums in "presents" from Li Hung Chang. She is not an imperial widow; she has no right to hold the reins of power. Foreigners will not be safe in China while she is at large. It is the duty of the British Government, whose subjects have been not once nor twice but thrice murdered by her tools to declare that she shall be removed to a safe place where she can do no more harm. Her dangerous mischief has exceeded the limits of the patience of powers of civilization! Let her follow King Bomba, the Mahdi, and the late tyrant of Abyssinia into oblivition.

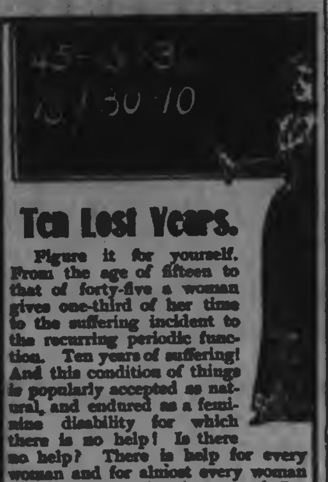
—Mr. William Mackie, who has been ill for some time past, died very suddenly at his residence in Port Hope on Sunday forenoon while sitting in his chair. Deceased was a native of Port Hope and was for many years in the hotel business.



Ten Lost Years.

Figure it for yourself. From the age of fifteen to that of forty-five a woman gives one-third of her time to the suffering incident to the recurring periodic function. Ten years of suffering! And this condition of things is popularly accepted as natural, and endured as a feminine disability for which there is no help! Is there no help? There is help for every woman and for almost every woman perfect healing in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It insures regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It is a temperance medicine—non-alcoholic and non-narcotic.

"I was so weak I did not have breath to walk across my room," writes Miss Isabel Miller, of New Providence, Calloway Co., Ky. "My periods occurred too often and the hemorrhage would be prolonged and the loss of blood very excessive. I also had spells which the doctor said were fainting fits. I did not gain strength from one monthly period to another; was very weak and nervous all the time. Was confined to my bed for three months and the doctor told me I would never be any better. I lived in this way from sixteen years old to twenty-three. I was at last advised by a kind friend to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which I did, and before I had taken two bottles of it I could work all day. I took in all six bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and about five vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. I used no other medicine. I have never had a return of this trouble since."

THE CHINESE VIEW OF IT

HOW A BOXER REGARDS THE SITUATION IN CHINA.

Why His People Object to the Civilization and Improvements of the West—They Only Want to be Left Alone.

A Chinaman in England, who is a member of the Boxers' secret society, which in China is making war upon foreigners, gives the Oriental side of the subject which has now plunged the Middle Kingdom into a state of anarchy.

"Western civilization," says this Boxer adherent, "is to us a mere mushroom. It is a thing of yesterday. Chinese civilization is unnumbered thousands of years old. We consider ourselves at least 2,000 years ahead of you.

"There was a time when we had, like you, our 'struggle for life,' our race for wealth, our ambition for power, our haste and hurry and worry. We, too, had our clever inventions—gunpowder, printing and the rest—but we have lived long enough to understand how essentially unnecessary all these things are.

"We have also had our periods of doubt, fanaticism and dissension in matters of religion. We have had our martyrs, our reformations, our nonconformists, our intolerance and finally our toleration. Yes, thousands of years ago.

"But, I say, we have outgrown it all. From the experience of past centuries we have learned wisdom; from the mistakes and disasters of our ancestors we have learned that none of the things for which we strove were really worth striving for.

"Our passions and ambitions have settled down into a calm desire for happiness in this world; our religion is reduced to a philosophy of life which the test of the last 2,000 years has proved to be absolutely sound.

"We believe that the best thing to pursue in this life is happiness, and we teach our children that their happiness can be secured only by the performance of duty, by the observance of moral and business obligations, and by surrounding oneself with a circle of equally happy friends and relatives.

"If a Chinaman prospers beyond the lot which falls to his kindred he finds his greatest happiness in sharing his good fortune with them. And in China we never cease to work. There is no such thing as 'retiring from business.' Work is part of our pleasure, because it is part of our duty.

"We believe in making the best of this life, which is the only one we know anything about for certain. That is the be all and end all of Chinese philosophy.

"All through China you will find the same level, uniform spirit of content. You may think we live lives of ignorance and squalor and idleness, but I assure you it is not so. We are as well off as we want to be, and no man can improve on that.

FORCED TO KILL FOREIGNERS.

"Now, these being our circumstances, you of the western world come to us with what you call new ideas. You bring us your religion, an infant of 1,900 years. You invite us to build railroads so that we may fly from place to place at a speed which for us has neither necessity nor charm. You want to build mills and factories, so as to debase our beautiful arts and crafts, and produce tawdry in place of beautiful textures and hues which we have evolved after ages of experiment.

"Against all this we protest. We want to be let alone. We want to be free to enjoy our beautiful country and the fruits of our centuries of experience. When we ask you to go away you refuse, and you even threaten us if we do not give you our harbors, our land, our towns.

"And now, having carefully considered the matter, we, of the so-called Boxers' Society, have decided that the only way to get rid of you is to kill you. We are not naturally bloodthirst. We certainly are not thieves. But when persuasion and argument and appeals to your sense of justice are of no avail, we find ourselves face to fact to put you out of existence.

"Consider your missionaries. They come, as I have said, with a new religion, upon the main questions of which they are divided bitterly among themselves. They tell us that unless we accept their doctrines we shall suffer eternal punishment. They frighten our children and the more weak-minded of our older people, and create all kinds of dissensions between families and individuals. No wonder that we will not tolerate them.

"If we wanted your railroads and machines, we could, of course, buy them; but we do not. We have no use for the. Yet you say you will force us to buy them whether we will or no. Is that just? I say it is an impertinence—an outrage.

"A good deal is made of the fact that we are not soldiers. Well we have ceased to be soldiers because we have become civilized. War is a barbarism. The effect of our having arrived at our present state of civilization in the two present state of civilization is that we have increased and multiplied beyond every other race on the face of the earth. In spite of our great mortality (which seems to be very shocking to you, although we recongnise in it only a wise provision of nature), the Chinese race is increasing at a greater rate than any other people in the world.

CHINESE THE WORLD'S MASTERS.

"We could if we chose overwhelm the rest of mankind. That we do not do so is due to the perfection of our civilization, our philosophy and our morals. We number 400,000,000 human beings, and who could withstand us if we chose to assert our power? Do you think we are unconscious of it? On the contrary, we understand it only too well. Let the white races of the earth appreciate the fact that we and not they are its masters.

"There have been 20 so-called successful invasions of China. But what has happened? Have invaders dominated the Chinese? No. The conquered have absorbed their conquerors. All have become Chinese. The very Jews who have come among us have been absorbed by our race—a thing which has never happened elsewhere.

"Let us repeat that all the forces which divide men in the west have practically no existence in China. Politics, religion, private ambitions, the necessity for expansion, land hunger, gold hunger—all these have no existence in China. You think that because the Chinaman is inert, careless and simple, he is a child. There never was a greater mistake.

"He has learned the secret of being happy. His life is placid, and nothing troubles him so long as his conscience is clear.

"There you have our character in a sentence. Let us alone and we will let you alone."

SELFISH, CALLOUS, COWARDLY

Are Qualities That Characterise the Modern Chinaman.

The modern Chinamen, says one who has lived many years in the Celestial empire, is the most selfish of mankind, callous as an animal, with only a relic of a conscience, disinclined to fight because he thinks of himself first, and utterly corruptile because money is to him the supreme protection, but nevertheless a strong man with a clear head for affairs, and with a strong faith, though it is in the civilization and not in any creed. His most earnest hatred is neither for the bad nor the good, but for all who threaten or who despise that civilization, among whom he reckons, not without reason, all foreigners especially the English and the Russians. He fears both these, wishes ill to both, and, if it were convenient would inflict on them mortal injury. This convenience is, however, his first care, and it is probable that though they are brave men the first leader who will make good Chinese soldiers is the leader who will inflict torture for cowardice.

In the ordinary details of life the Chinaman is kindly, he is the most strenuous of workers, because if he were not, the awful crowding would crush him, and as upright as a conscienceless man of clear brain ever is. When cheating would diminish business, he never cheats. He is the most accomplished liar in the world, but he does not love lying, does not think of it, as a Hindoo does, as a pleasurable intellectual exercise, but lies exactly up to the point, where as his native shrewdness tells him, lying is convenient for his interests. He is boastful as a Frenchman is, because he believes his civilization is perfect, and being an Asiatic and without anything to measure himself by, except himself, his boastfulness is grandiose and to Europeans comic.

Beware of Midsummer Folly.

A famous jest of Sydney Smith is related in Lady Holland's Memoir to the effect that the terribly scandalised a very proper old maid by replying (probably to that venerable remark, "It is hot enough for you?") 'Heat, ma'am! it is so dreadful here that I findt here is nothing left for it but to take off my flesh and sit in my bones." And sweltering humanity must just now feel like echoing that extravagant but expressive declaration; or, if one know his Thomson quote the lines from "The Seasons."

All conquering Heat, O, intermit thy wrath!
And on my throbbing temples potent thus
Beam not so fierce! Incessant still you flow,
And still another fervent flood succeeds,
Poured on the head profuse . . .
. . . And hotter hours approach.

Such extreme heat and humidity as have characterised the past week are apt to lead suffering mortals to the extreme in their endeavors toward securing relief. To-day, as a universal holiday and recreation time for the hosts of pleasure seekers, will undoubtedly witness many irrational acts due to midsummer pressure. It would be wise for everybody to recollect the hygienic laws of moderation which should prevail in regard to the too common faults of overdrinking, overeating and over-recreating. These laws are too familiar to need recapitulation, but a plea for extra caution may be put forth to some purpose. It is now, too, about the time when holiday makers commit many criminal acts of folly in their boating and other forms of amusement than drowning accidents, for instance, are usually due to indefensible rashness. Bathers should beware of too reckless abandonment in the water, and even expert swimmers should not be foolhardy in "showing off" their accomplishments. In a word, let everybody take quiet, normal, moderate enjoyment in outing or at home, and more than ever look to the hygienic choice and use of their drinks and diet and to the character of their recreation.

Triumph of Love.

Sitting in his summer tepee,
Smoking an imported cob-pipe
From the wilds of old Missouri,
Sat "The-Man-That-Never-Laboured,"
Chieftan of the Ru-ta-Ba-Goes.
As he sat the lodge flap parted,
Like the frost hair of the dudelet,
In the geometric middle,
And, enshrouded in his blanket,
"Catch-the-She-Wolf" stood before him,
Ere the chieftan could invite him
To a seat on terra firma.
The afore-named painted warrior
Bravely pulled himself together,
And with pathos thus addressed him—
"Mighty chieftan, hear my prayer,
Listen to my supplication!
Do not fire me from your presence
With a kick anent the breech-cloth!
I am mashed upon your daughter,
On the Princess Slant-Eyed Phyllis;
Just completely gone upon her.
And I'm certain from her symptoms
She reciprocates the goneness.
I have come to crave your blessing,
Come to ask, as a humble wooer,
For a quit-claim deed unto her—
Come to ask if you'll permit me
Now, henceforth to call you paw-paw!"
Peered the chief beneath his eyebrows,
'Cause he couldn't peer above them,
Spat and barely missed the blanket
Upon which he sat cross-legged,
And in tones of zero coolness
Thus addressed the timid bucklet—
"Can you vow that you'll support her
In the sumptuary manner
To which she's been accustomed?
Can you purloin chickens for her?
Can you pay noctural visits
To the smokehouse of the paleface
And abduct the hams and side-meat
And the other big attachments
Which her appetite so yearns for?
Can you buck the game of faro,
Keep your feet warm at draw poker,
Shoot the crap-de-Africanus,
And engage in other pastimes
That will keep her purse from wilting?
Then the lover sighed quite often,
Each successive sigh some deeper
Than its airy predecessor,
And replied—"Alas, I cannot!
For I am a member of the Y. M. C. Association
And have conscientious scruples
'Gainst the vices you have mentioned."
Then the naughty chieftan snickered
In a real contemptuous manner,
Aimed a swift kick at the wooer
But it failed to make a landing
As the buck shot through the doorway
Like a streak of Jersey lightning!
But the cause of true love triumphed
And eventually he bought her
For a plug of store tobacco
And a pint of long-range whiskey,
With the promise that he'd try to Overcome his pious scruples.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

The beauty of Muskoka lies as much in its rivers as in its lakes. The very heart centre for sport, for rod and gun. Its rivers and Lakes can be ascended and descended in canoe amid the best of sport, while the eye is fascinated by the fresh and unspoiled wilderness of its forest haunts.

A Pointer for Peterborough.

The Peterborough Council should ponder over the following with a view to imitation.—Hamilton, O., cleared above expenses and interest for the last fiscal year $6,975.99 from its gas works, $3,219.14 from the electric light plant, and as much more from the waterworks. The utilities it owns are valued at $[illegible]. Population, 17,[illegible].

A Railway to the North.

The people of the whole north country are unable to get to Peterborough to-day on account of the difficulties in the way of transport. The result is that hundreds who would otherwise come to town are not with us to-day. Orange celebrations are being held in Bobcaygeon, Apsley and other points. Surely some effort should be made to get a railway into the immense area of country to the north of Peterboro.

Dressed for the Twelfth.

The town presents a truly charming appearance this morning in its many colored areas of bunting, flags and appropriate mottoes in honor of the glorious 12th of July. The work has been done by Messrs. [illegible], the professional decorators, whose efforts to make the town as attractive as possible for the great orange celebration deserve the greatest praise.

The Boys' Camp.

The Y.M.C.A. boys' camp this year promises to be a success. Quite a large number have already sent in their applications. On the envelopes and writing paper to be taken out the picture of last year's camp is reproduced. As they are not to be shown before the departure of the party, the friends of the boys will look forward to a letter from "camp."

Miss Madge Davidson has gone to Baldwinsville, N.Y., to spend a few weeks.

Miss Dutton and Miss Dora Dutton, left yesterday for a month's visit to friends in Barrie and Big Bay Point.

To Make "Ads" Attractive.

A business establishment can no more afford to be careless and slip-shod in its advertising than in any other department. Just as good window-dressing is essential to the success of a store, so is freshness, novelty and whatever attracts favorable attention necessary to the best results in advertising. There is nothing hap-hazard and accidental about an alluring window display. Not less care should be given to the advertising display. Everybody reads the Times.

A Snap.

The very thing for Stony Lake Cottagers and Campers. It will carry the voice half a mile to a mile and a half. Made in two sizes. Price $1.25 and $1.00. Every Cottager should have one.

Secret Committee Meetings.

The Lindsay Post, in copying a letter which appeared in the Times in regard to secret meetings of Council Committees, says:—"[illegible] Peterborough has occupied [illegible] enviable position among municipalities owing to the fact that it has had no railway debt to provide for. The rate has been 17 and 18 mills and the town has been a cheap place to live in. The council copied Lindsay's plan of holding secret committee meetings, which met with severe criticism in the press, but it is still adhered to."

The Times' Megaphone.

Photographs, mounted on a heart shaped velvet pad, with easel, of all the Generals serving in the South African war—the nicest novelty out for 25 cents each. Also a large colored picture 18X24 for ten cents. Times Bookstore.

A Unique Window.

The window of Messrs. E. Brown & Co., is attracting much attention. It is a thing of beauty, and shows that the dresser is a man of rare ideas. It represents a gentleman of the African persuasion, paddling down a stream, on the green banks of which are deposited a quantity of salmon. These fish the voyageur is supposed to have caught. There is one thing sure, Ed. didn't catch them, for as a timrod he is not a pronounced success. This [illegible] has fished in the same turbulent stream with Ed. many a time, and the only bites either got were of the mosquito variety.

Amen and Amen.

Archbishop O'Connor, of Toronto, has forbidden the holding of picnics here, after under Roman Catholic auspices. In making this announcement to his flock on the first Sunday in July, Rev Father Bergin, Weston, according to Saturday night, "expressed his hearty approval of the decision of his ecclesiastical superior, as in the past the church had been prodigal of its picnics, to which Protestants were asked to subscribe, and which they were invited to attend. This the Protestants did with great liberality, yet such Protestants had picnics the Catholics neither subscribed nor attended." Continuing, Saturday Night remarks; "This is quite true. It was not a self-respecting attitude for Roman Catholics to assume. Many a church has been built in Ontario for our Catholic friends largely by the contributions of Protestants raised at picnics and bazars and that sort of thing. Moreover, the picnic business is apt to lead to rather questionable performances, which certainly justifies Archbishop O'Connor in forbidding them to wear the name Roman Catholic. The Irish Catholic Benevolent union, according to the recent order, cannot hold a picnic or demonstration, nor can any organization parade itself in picnic form as an annex of the Roman Catholic church. The Ladies Sodality of the Roman Catholic church, if it holds a picnic, must have no man at it. Archbishop O'Connor is a stern disciplinarian, but certainly those of us who have watched with other than Roman Catholics eyes the picnics organized, apparently under Roman Catholic auspices, cannot but declare that the order is one that is both prudent and Christian, inasmuch as it does not forbid picnics, but does prohibit the use of the name of the historic church in connection with the selling of canes and cakes—and occasionally of strong drink—as if such performances were a part of the creed."

Now let Archbishop O'Connor put to shame such of his Protestant brethren as do not blush to hold, for the profit of the church, lotteries and work games of chance which are denounced by the criminal code of Canada and punishable with fine and imprisonment when conducted by private parties for personal benefit. It is a disgrace to Canada that an exception is made in the code in favor of criminal practices by the church and benevolent societies, and nothing short of an outrage that any church should ever take the youth by the hand and give him his first lesson in criminal, gambling practices for the enrichment of the church coffers.

The Trent Valley Canal.

The Trenton Courier disposes thus summarily of the contention of Port Hopers that the terminus of the canal should be at that town, rather than at Trenton, as planned.

The Dominion supplementary list has $300,000 for construction of Murray Canal, part of the Trent Canal system. The Minister, Hon. Mr. Blair, stated the cost of completion on original route (which means the sections from Trenton to Hastings, from Peterboro to Lakefield, from Cameron Lake to Simcoe Lake and from Orillia to Waubaushene on Georgian Bay) is $3,500,000. This should put Port Hope statisticians to blush for their misleading statements that the Port Hope route would cost less by three and a half millions than the Trenton route. It is absolutely absurd to entertain a thought of canal by Port Hope. Very true, the cut through the ridge of gravel between Rice Lake and Lake Ontario could be cut, but at enormous expense, for it would have to be at bottom of canal 75 feet wide, at top of canal rip rap banks 100 feet wide, then roadways of 50 feet on each side making width of cut at level of canal 200 feet wide, then after that the hill 200 feet high or over would require a cut of two feet wide to ten high, or over 400 feet more wide, or in all a cut of over 600 feet wide and 200 feet high. There would be a mountain of material there to be removed, and where could it be dumped? The only place we know of would be to fill up Rice Lake, turn the Trent River down Smith Creek and wash out Port Hope.

But difficult as the cut would be and costly as the right of way through Port Hope would be, its construction would not count in comparison with the difficulty of a stormy, shallow lake that could not be navigated by canal barges, and would necessitate transhipment into sailing vessels, a condition that would effectually nullify the canal as a through route between the West and Montreal.

Another misleading statement is their representation of distance. They say from mouth of Otonabee to Port Hope is only 19 1-2 miles and from the same point to Trenton is 58 1-2 miles, meaning thereby that the route by Port Hope shortens the distance to Montreal. What are the facts? The Port Hope route requiring a deflection to the west through Rice Lake and then back again down Lake Ontario and through Brighton Bay and Murray Canal, is 37 miles longer than by the Trent River route. The Dominion Engineers are not such "gumps" as not to see the absolute impracticability of the Port Hope section. The fact that the margin of cost in transportation between rail and water route would be overbalanced by transhipment at Port Hope should forever settle the question. But we contend the forever increased insurance and the cost of the necessary breakwater to enlarge the harbor would more than swamp the total cost by the river route, not to mention the commercial advantages of the river route for manufactures and settlement.

Mr. Rollins advanced to 9 11-16 and took North Smith, Oakdale, Daisy D, Cedardale. At 9 5-8c Mr. Kerr took Mt. Pleasant and Fleetwood.

Warminster and Maple Leaf went to Mr. Rollins at 9 11-16 and at 9 5-8c Young's Point, North Dummer and Stony Lake sold to the same gentleman.

Mr. Cook and Mr. Fitzgerald made a big effort to get in the next bid, and the latter caught the President's ear first. He offered 9 5-8 and took Crown Hope, Myrtle, Otonabee, Peterborough and Lang.

Mr. Whitton went 9 5-8 and procured Warsaw, Darlington Union, but Westwood and Villiers refused.

Westwood and Villiers immediately sold to Mr. Jones at 9 11-16.

The 12th of July.

Sir,—Let the citizens add to the beauty of the town on Thursday by hanging out bunting. Let everybody who has a flag put it out. Thousands of visitors will be with us, and let us put on our best clothes.

A. CITIZEN.

How the Tax-Payer is Plucked.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Whenever anything is said concerning civic officials by ratepayers, either that there are too many or that higher salaries is paid than is paid by private corporations the individual or taxpayer is usually dubbed a crank or a strife-maker and the argument is at once set up, pay good salaries and get good men. No one can deny the fact that Peterborough is in any sense lacking in civic officials, for like the Government we are officialed to death. This in itself is an evil, but when we have the combined evil of too many and inefficient it is indeed a sorry position for the taxpayer. Somebody says, what is the matter now. Well, we turn to the local daily press for the facts and the proofs. We have a council who appear to be totally incapable. The members knew perfectly well that the two law suits which the town has just lost—one against the Grand Trunk and the other against the C. P. R.—were without hope. They must have known what everybody on the street knew, that these suits were "without a particle of merit," as Judge Armour puts it. Yet they go ahead. It is not their province to know or care as to whether the town wins or loses. They cannot shoulder the blame off of Mr. Edwards. That official no doubt did as he was told.

Now, I say, let the people make a vow not to vote for any of the present council ever again, either for the mayor or for the council. Let us get men who have some regard for their duty. The present council is a body that does its business in the dark—behind closed doors—evidently because their deeds are evil.

The people are becoming aroused, and I am sure will see to it that the present disgraceful state of affairs will not exist longer than the present year.

WORST NEWS LOOKED FOR NOW FROM CHINA

Impossible for Powers to get Direct News From Any of Their Legations

CHINEST' ARE PILLAGING IN PORT ARTHUR NOW

The Fearful Wave of Revolt Sweeps on Over Manchuria—The Railway Wrecked and Niu Chwang Sacked and Burned While Powers Look on in Apathy

London, July 13, 4.10 a. m.

A terrible veil of silence enshrouds Pekin and there is not one but believes the worst has happened. It is taken for granted that all the powers have exhausted every means to get direct news from their Legations and the fact that their efforts have been in vain leaves but one interpretation. The Chinese representative in Berlin denies the statement that Li Hung Chang had sent to him a hopeful telegram. He says that on the contrary no direct telegraph has been received by him from Li Hung Chang for some time past. The day's news is again restricted to the usual crop of untrustworthy Shanghai rumor, the most serious of which reports the correspondent of the Express is to the effect that the Europeans are directing the Chinese military operations.

Che Foo, July 8. — Sunday — An artillery duel is proceeding at Tien Tsin. The Chinese guns are so masked that the allies find difficulty in locating them.

Tien Tsin, Wednesday, July 4.—The late Chief of Police of Port Arthur has arrived here. He reports that the Chinese have sacked and burned Niu Chwang. He further asserts that the Chinese are wrecking the Manchurian railway and are also pillaging the unprotected outskirts of Port Arthur.

London, July 12.—3.55 p.m. — The British Admiralty has received the following despatch from Vice-Admiral Seymour,—

"Tien Tsin, Saturday, July 7.—The Chinese continue fighting, often shelling the settlements. They are extending their lines along the Lu Tai An Canal to the northeast and are appearing in greater force west of the city.

"Yesterday we bombarded the city and immediate suburbs, which stopped the Chinese gun fire for some time. The French settlement and station are most subject to attack. To-day there was another bombardment.

"Am steadily getting up more guns. Ten thousand troops are now here. More are required, but both the Russian and Japanese are expected

Che Foo, Monday, July 9.—It is reported on good authority that Prince Tuan has become insane.

In consequence of the movements of the rebels towards Tsin Tau the Germans have withdrawn some of their troops from Taku to protect Tsin Tau.

The women and children from New Chwang have arrived here.

Tien Tsin, July 4, via Che Foo, July 8, and Shanghai, July 11.—A homogeneous army of half the strength of the allied forces could do better work than is being done by the allies. The operations are dangerously handicapped, and the safety of the city is imperilled by lack of organization and the want of one commander to control all the forces. The representatives of the several nations manage the military and civil affairs of their Governments largely without co-operation. The ranking officer of each nationality has absolute jurisdiction over the operations of his Government's troops. Questions of policy are discussed daily at international conferences, which have not the power to enforce the wishes of the majority.

Admiral Seymour's method of commanding is to make requests. The other commanders generally follow them, but there have been instances of the ranking officers holding aloof from operations of which they disapproved.

Gains for the Chinese.

There is great need of more troops. The present force of 10,000 men is attempting to hold a line fifteen miles long around the city. There is also great need of rebuilding the railroad to Taku and getting artillery equal to the guns with which the Chinese are daily bombarding the allies' position. The week's work resulted in a substantial gain for the Chinese. The allies lost fifty or sixty men, and accomplished nothing.

Yesterday furnished a new illustration of the weakness of the present methods. A majority of the commanders had agreed that it was imperative to attack the native city beyond the foreign settlements, and to destroy the artillery therein which menaced the settlements. The attack was fixed for four days ago, but was postponed because the Russian commander considered his men unfit for the duty after their recent work. It was again fixed for yesterday morning, but was postponed because credible reports were in circulation that 10,000 regulars from the northwest had reinforced the Chinese.

In the meantime the Chinese had removed two big guns from the fort near to the native city, and had planted four in the open near the east arsenal, two miles away. These shelled the city for four hours, sending in more than one hundred missiles. They got the range of the public buildings and of the club houses used as hospitals and dropped explosives all about them. Fortunately most of the shells were defective, and failed to burst, and the others had a small radius of effectiveness.

Wasting Many Days.

In the absence of a concerted plan the Russians sent a few companies of Cossacks with two field guns, and the Japanese battery of six 3-pounders and two companies of infantry supporting the English 12-pounders from H.M.S. Terrible to silence the Chinese pieces. The Terrible's guns failed to get an effective position, and the Russians had one gun dismounted and four men killed early in the engagement. The Japanese were confident that they had silenced the guns in the open, but it appeared to the onlookers that these guns fired the last shots as the Japanese were retiring. The Russians lost heavily, and the Japanese had one killed and twelve wounded. The Chinese threw a few shells into the city this morning to show that they were still alive. A British officer described the situation as chaos. He said.—

"We have wasted many days in politeness, and it is time we did something."

Apathy Causes Wonder.

There is no disagreement among the commanders, but in the absence of a definite head several of them are disposed to follow their own methods, and they simply abstain from operations contrary to those methods. The foreign population is greatly aroused concerning this apparent apathy. While the city is being bombarded, they are likely to suffer heavily, and they cannot understand the apparent negligence of the Governments for urgent relief and why reinforcements are not coming on faster. The Americans are particularly dissatisfied because, though they have one of the smallest representations, their interests are second to none. One experienced officer said,—

"It is impossible to realize at home that there has been more real war here than in Cuba or the Philippines."

The Germans have occupied and raised their flag over the Imperial University at Tien Tsin. The officers of the University are Americans. The Viceroy deeded the property to them. Consul Ragsdale has protested against the action of the Germans.

PESSIMISM IN LONDON

Belief Now Settled That the Pekin Horror Has Occurred—Fears For Tien Tsin.

London, July 1.—The character of to-day's news only tends to confirm the pessimism in London concerning the fate of the international colony at Pekin. Observers see in the edict from Pekin and other information emanating from Chinese official sources only attempts to gain time, and desperate anxiety on the part of someone to make an apology for the outrages committed at the capital.

The latest news from Tien Tsin considerably intensified the general alarm. The lack of cohesion among the allies, and the consequent failure to make headway, render the situation there critical.

BRITISH DEFEATED BY BOER FORCES

Mitral's Nek Captured With Heavy Loss to the British

200 BRITISH TAKEN PRISONERS

London, July 12.

Lord Roberts reports to the War Office under date of Pretoria, July 12 as follows.—The enemy having failed in their attack upon our right rear, as mentioned in my telegram of July 9, made a determined attack upon our right flank yesterday and I regret to say succeeded in capturing Mitral's Nek, which was garrisoned by a squadron of the Scots Greys and two guns of a battery of the Royal artillery and five companies of the Lincolnshire regiment. The enemy attacked in superior numbers at dawn, and seizing the hill commanding the nek brought a heavy gun fire to bear upon the small garrison. Mitral's Nek is about eighteen miles from here, near where the road crosses the Crocodile River. It was held by us in order to maintain road and telegraphic communication with Rustenburg.

The fighting lasted more or less throughout the day, and immediately on receiving information, early this morning, of the enemy's strength, I despatched reinforcements from here under Col. Godfrey of the King's Own Scottish Borders. Before, however, they reached the spot the garrison had been overpowered and the guns and a great portion of the Squadron Greys had been captured, owing to the horses being shot, also about ninety men of the Lincoln Regiment. The casualties have not been received, but I fear that they are heavy. Simultaneously an attack was made on our outposts near Durdepoort, north of the town in which the Seventh Dragoons were engaged. The regiment was handled with considerable skill by Lieut.-Col Low, and kept the enemy in check until they relaid on their supports, and would probably have suffered but slight loss had not our troops mistaken some Boers in the bushes for them. Smith Dorrien had a successful engagement with the enemy yesterday near Krugersdorp and inflicted heavy loss on them. Buller reports that the Boers, who were destroying his line of railway near Paardekraal were driven off yesterday after a short action. Hart reports from Heidelburg that the surrendering of Boer arms and ammunition continues in that district.

London, July 12.

Lord Roberts' despatch reporting still another unfortunate occurrence throws a search light upon the state of affairs in South Africa. There has been some comment recently regarding the virtual absence of progress by the immense army under command of Lord Roberts, but few could have been found to believe that the scattered Boers were able to inflict such a defeat so near Pretoria. Instead of the surrender of all of the remaining Boers being imminent, they have succeeded in inflicting a serious defeat, and capturing two guns and some 200 men. It is evident that Gen. Botha has a considerable force, that he is able to press Lord Roberts' forces at half a dozen points around Pretoria. From the Springs to the southeast of the city northward to Middleburg and Durdesdoort and thence southward to Mitral's Nek and Krugersdoorp.

Lord Roberts omits to give the name of the command conceded, giving rise to the belief that worse remains to be told. Even if the mishap be not more grave than his information at present implies it proves that the situation is still serious and that there is no possibility of any troops being spared from South Africa for China, but on the contrary that it will still take a long time to clear the country of the Boers.

News has reached London that Lord Roberts has been suffering from a serious bowel complaint and that Lady Roberts was hurriedly summoned from Bloemfontein. Lord Roberts, though now better, is still weak.

HUGHES A HARD FIGHTER

Col. Sam Hughes Receives More Praise From Surgeon Major Worthington —He is now Second in Command of General Warren's Column

Sherbrooke, July 12.—Surgeon-Major Worthington, with Gen. Warren's column, writing from Faberspruit, Cape Colony, on May 27 and 31, says,—

"We came on here after the relief of Douglas yesterday without much opposition, captured a few rebels, arms, ammunition, wagons, etc. Douglas had been in the hands of the rebels for seven months. They acknowledge six killed by our guns; there may be more.

"Colonel Sam Hughes is second in command and is really a capital man for this sort of work,—a hard worker, lots of dash, pushes right along with his scouts, and regards every man as a rebel. Any opinion I may have had of him previously was only from hearing others decry his ability. For this work it would be hard to beat him, and the loyalists regard him very highly for the work he has done.

"Had a hard time yesterday morning, May 30. The Boers endeavored to rush the camp at 5 a.m. and capture the guns. Our men drove them off, but lost heavily. I had 30 cases to look after, besides what the other medical officers had. I had several amputations, head cases, abdominal cases, etc., and am going to trephine two men this afternoon.

"General Warren, I heard, had said it was the closest call he had during the war, and the tightest hole he was ever in. If the beggars had had any gumption they could have cleaned us out. One of our Maxims killed 13 in one spot in a garden. All our horses stampeded, but some have been recovered. I did not have a bite to eat until 6 p.m. and have been up all night.

"There is a lot of fighting before us yet. This surprise was due to treachery."

FEAR CHINESE HORRIBLE DEATH.

Foreign Women Ever Prepared to Commit Suicide.

THEY ALL CARRY POISON.

And When Venturing on the Streets have the Poison Always at Hand—The Awful Fate of the Europeans in China makes the World Stand Aghast.

London, July 12.—The awful fate which may have fallen the women and children of foreigners at Pekin makes London stand aghast. The danger of the men at the hands of the rebel hordes would have caused a thrill of horror, but the human heart quails at the possibility of the death which have befallen the weaker members of the Legations.

The European Government were warned of the pending troubles two weeks ago. Instead of heeding the urgent appeals from their representatives in the disturbed portions of China, they turned a deaf ear to the pleadings.

Escape from Torture at Hand

The situation was so threatening in Pekin early in May that the ladies of the British Legation when venturing on the streets, even under strong escort, always took the precaution to carry poison, that they might, if forced to it, be able to escape a fate worse than death in the event of falling into the hands of the Chinese.

Even this significant fact was reported to the Foreign Office, but it seems not to have aroused the Government to a realization that the situation really critical. The Government now knows that if the women and children have been murdered, the women probably did not suffer the nameless outrages which the infuriated barbarians are accustomed to inflict.

GLORIOUS TWELFTH CELEBRATED IN PETERBOROUGH

An Immense Gathering of Orangemen and Their Friends.

THE PROCESSION WAS ONE OF THE LARGEST

Ever Seen in Peterborough—The Town Beautifully Decorated with Flags and Bunting—Speeches at the Park.

The Orange demonstration yesterday was one of the largest and most successful ever held in Peterborough. Thousands of visitors from all parts of Eastern Ontario, were in town, and many of the lodges brought bands of music along.

Early in the day, the local Orangemen assumed their headquarters, and about 9 o'clock lined up and paraded to the different stations to meet incoming lodges. The Grand Trunk brought train load after train load—all specials—while the C. P. R. regulars were also crowded. The first to arrive was the C. P. R., from the east at 7 a.m., and from that time forward the reception committee was kept busy. There was about 600 Orangemen and their friends from Omemee alone, where one or more of the largest lodges hailed from.

The threatening appearance of the sky must have deterred many from coming into town and the celebrations at Bobcaygeon, Norwood and Trenton, probably drew numbers who would otherwise have augmented the crowd in Peterborough.

Too much credit cannot be given Messrs. Turner & Son for the way they handled the decorations. They were superb, and elicited unstinted praise from everybody.

To the Committee who so successfully managed the celebration much credit is due. They all worked like Trojans, and everything was perfect. County Secretary Weir was a busy man, and made no mistakes. The members of the Committee were—County Master Joseph Jones, Chairman; Sidney B. Weir, Secretary, and Messrs. J. B. McWilliams, W. A. Kindred, John Beggs, T. G. Armstrong, Robt. Wilson, Joseph Batten, Geo. Sloan, Geo. W. Hall, J. W. Miller and Geo. Bartley.

The procession was miles in length, and was witnessed by thousands, who pronounced it the best ever seen in Peterborough.

A Monster Procession.

Promptly at two o'clock the procession was formed at Central Park, and paraded as follows:

UNION JACK.
GRAND MARSHAL, J. B. McWILLIAMS.
COUNTY MASTER, JOSEPH JONES.

CAVAN DISTRICT.
MANVERS DISTRICT.
CARTWRIGHT DISTRICT.
CLARKE DISTRICT.

NO. 5, VERULAM.
NO. 6, LAXTON

HALIBURTON DISTRICT
KINMOUNT DISTRICT.

The route of the procession was George to Hunter, Hunter to Aylmer, Aylmer to Charlotte to George, George to Brock, Brock to Water, Water to McDonald, McDonald to the Park.

The Speeches.

At the Central Park an immense gathering of Orangemen and citizens in general assembled to listen to the speeches of the day. In front of the stand the 57th Regimental band took their position and agreeably interspersed the several speeches with pleasing selections. On the platform were seated Grand Master Holland, Mayor Kendry, M.P., County Master Joseph Jones, Deputy County Master Joseph Batten, Past District Master Robert Weir, Past Grand Master Collins, of Ontario East, Revs. Torrance, Kilgour, Potter, Bastow, Thompson, Wagg, Elliott, and in company with many others an extremely aged member of the order in the person of Wm. Montcrief, of Lodge 47, Otonabee, who yesterday celebrated his 78th celebration of the glorious 12th.

MR. JOSEPH JONES,

the popular and genial County Master made a very capable chairman of the proceedings, and in his opening address expressed unbounded pleasure in the presence on this auspicious occasion of Grand Master Holland, whom he felt sure would have something to say interesting alike to Orangemen and others a little later on. He then introduced who was enthusiastically received, and on behalf of the corporation, the town and himself, the Mayor extended a hearty welcome to all visiting Orangemen and friends. He was pleased to see that the efforts of the organizers of this grand celebration had proven creditable alike to the order and the town of Peterborough. He emphasized the grandeur of the decorations, which had been executed in a masterly manner by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, and he never remembered having seen the town so well dressed in gala day adornments. He was pleased to remember that Orangemen and sons of Orangemen had and had held some of the highest legislative and civic honors in the Dominion, three of whose premiers had been members of this distinguished society. In conclusion he personally heartily welcomed one and all, and hoped to be in a position to do so again on a similar occasion in the near future.

MAYOR KENDRY, M.P.,

REV. MR. POTTER,

of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, was the next speaker. The Rev. gentleman congratulated the order on the magnificent demonstration of both morning and afternoon, and he felt it a duty to express his sympathy with the society's work in the past, while to-day he rejoices at the intense interest its members manifest in the country's prosperity. It is no longer necessary to strive for liberty of conscience as of old, still, all should ever remain faithful to the privileges and principles we enjoy, and endeavor to secure the same to others. It is a significant fact, he continued, that thousands of Britons are to-day in South Africa, fighting for the principles for which Orangeism stands—civil and religious liberty—and endeavoring to extend to the sons of Holland the enjoyment and maintenance of true freedom. In conclusion, he thought that Canadians should feel grateful for the principles of freedom of conscience and speech which they enjoy, and hoped the Orange order would ever continue noble in its defence of what is true and righteous.

REV. J. BASTOW,

pastor of the Baptist church, said this was the first Orange parade he had ever seen, and he must congratulate the order upon its magnificent appearance. It was a great pleasure to have once a year the grand old patriotic recollections brought so vividly to mind in such a stupendous manifestation of personal and religious liberty as displayed by to-day's proceedings.

REV. MR. THOMPSON, of Ashburnham Methodist church, eulogized Orangemen as the "flower of the land." No other body, he claimed, can arouse public enthusiasm to such a pitch as the followers of King William, who include all kinds and conditions of men banded together in one brotherhood to steadfastly maintain the principles of civil and religious liberty.

REV. MR. WAGG

remarked that when a small boy he had the honor of carrying a banner on the 12th; he had seen many celebrations, but none so large as this one. He was pleased to consider that in the Orange order are to be found honorable and conscientious men, who are following in the footsteps of such grand old martyrs as Luther, Knox, Calvin and Latimer—men who are willing to-day to sacrifice their lives if necessary in defence of faith, truth and their country.

REV. MR. ELLIOTT, of the Baptist Mission, said that outside of Toronto, he had never seen a larger or better celebration than furnished to-day. He recognized in Orangeism a synonyme for liberty of conscience, and a society which will advance the interests of the British Empire. Such an institution has his fullest sympathy.

GRAND MASTER HOLLAND,

of Ontario East, received a perfect ovation on rising to speak. His first task, he said, was to express on behalf of himself and visiting Orangemen, supreme gratification at the magnificent reception accorded them by citizens and local Orangemen. He attributed the phenomenal success to several causes. First, without the indefatigable efforts of County Master Jones this grand demonstration would have fallen far short of its present magnitude. Secondly, the open-handed course adopted by the Mayor and Corporation of Peterborough, seconded by the warm heartedness of its citizens have been a means of rendering this occasion one long to be remembered. These have combined to produce the greatest and most successful Orange demonstration ever held in the most beautiful town in Ontario. He did not believe any other organization could arouse such intense enthusiasm as is displayed on ever recurring Twelfth of July. This he attributed to a universal sympathy aroused by the principles inculcated by the great prince, whose name Orangemen bear, including a liberty to worship God according to one's own conscience, and equal rights to all men, with special privileges to none. Another fact, continued the speaker, is that this is the 210th anniversary of that glorious event which gave total defeat to absolute monarchy, made the British a dominate nation of the world, and the greatest Empire ever known. Is it any wonder than that we have adopted the Prince of Orange's name as the exponent of true principles of constitutional and religious liberty? No one need fear oppression under a Protestant regime; the Roman Catholics are freer to-day than they would have been under a James II; true liberty of conscience rides hand in hand with Protestantism. Continuing, the speaker urged each brother Orangeman to follow in the footsteps of William of Orange, whose love for the Holy Bible sustained him in all hours of difficulty and danger, and proved his guiding star and comfort when he went down into the dark valley

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 6 1900.

WHO IS PRINCE TUAN.

Prince Tuan, who appears to have superseded the Empress Dowager Tsehsi in the exercise of dictatorial powers in China, has been hitherto one of her supporters in the conspiracy by which the Emperor, Kwang Su, was kept in seclusion and his authority usurped. They had compelled him to sign a decree continuing her regency, and quite recently had had signed a decree, also prepared by them, designating Pu Chun, the son of Tuan Yi, Prince Tuan, as the heir to the throne.

Prince Tuan, it should be explained, is the son of Prince Tun, who was the brother of the former Emperor Hien Fung and of Prince Chun, the father of Kwang Su, the actual Emperor who was an adopted heir. He is thus a first cousin and of the same generation as the Emperor, and his son is eligible to this inheritance by the designation of the family council.

If Tuan has, as reported, caused the death of the Emperor Kwang Su, his son would succeed; the former regency would cease and Prince Tuan would have himself constituted regent during his son's minority. This is presumably what has occurred and it explains the new usurpation.

THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH CELEBRATED IN PETERBOROUGH.

Its members are able to join hands with the tens of thousands of Canadian Orangemen who stretch from one end of this broad Dominion to the other. From the struggling little lodge of 1829 has grown a great organization to-day more than 4,800 primary lodges, besides District, County and Provincial Grand Lodges. Since the first institution of the Orange Order in Canada there has been a steady and solid growth until the present moment, when the Order is inculcating and spreading its principals of loyalty, liberty and true patriotism in every province of the Dominion.

Mr. Gowan, who has by the way a relative of the present Senator Gowan, came to Canada from Ireland early in the twenties and settled in Brockville, where he afterwards founded a newspaper. For many years he represented the counties of Leeds and Grenville in Parliament. He was educated at Trinity College, Dublin, and was well known as a writer and orator of no mean ability.

About 1828 he secured from the Grand Orange Lodge of Ireland power to establish lodges in Canada, and shortly afterwards the first Canadian lodge was established, as has just been stated, at Brockville. Previous to this it is true there had been several lodges formed in the Maritime Provinces among the soldiers of the British regiments stationed there, but these were of a temporary and transitory character. The establishment of the Brockville lodge was quickly followed by the formation of several other lodges in the vicinity, and in 1830 the first Grand Orange Lodge of British America was formed with Mr. Gowan as the first Grand Master. The membership of course was very small, but the members were active and enthusiastic, and during the next few years the growth of the Order was steady and gratifying.

Mr. Gowan continued to hold the office of the Grand Master for a number of years until a feud arose in the Order between the adherents of Mr. George Benjamin of Belleville and the adherents of Mr. Gowan. The former who was the political godfather of this brother Orangeman, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, established a second Ontario Grand Lodge, and for a year there was considerable strife between the Belleville and Brockville sections of the Order. However, the following year the trouble was patched up and the two parties again united in a single Grand Lodge.

In the turbulent days of 1837 the Orangemen took a prominent part, as was also the case during the Fenian raid some thirty years later. In loyalty to their sovereign and in promoting the supremacy of law, order, and constitutional freedom the Orangemen of Canada have ever lived up to the avowed principals of the Order.

During the early years of its history in Canada, Orangemen had its ups and downs like every other organized society, to which a large section of the people are constantly and bitterly opposed. However, the Order had a gradual and steadily growth, and by twenty years after its first establishment at Brockville it had come to be recognised as an important power in the land.

With the growth in numbers of the Association and the spread of the order down into Quebec, the friction between Orangemen and Roman Catholics became more violent. The annual 12th July demonstration precipitated on quite a number of occasions lively street fights between the Orangemen

ROBERT WEIR.

Bro. Weir is an Irishman by birth, having been born in the County of Monaghan, Ireland. He joined the Orange association in 1852, and for 48 years has been a consistent and enthusiastic member of the Order. He has filled all the important offices in the gift of his brethren in this district, having been seven years District Master and seven years County Master. In the Grand Lodges Bro. Weir is a familiar figure, having attended 48 Grand Lodge meetings, and had the honor of having been twice elected Grand Master of the Royal Black Knights of Ontario East, and for a like term held the signal position of M. W. Grand Master of British North America of the R.B.K. Bro. Weir was for nine years a member of the High School Board, and for some years a member of the Town Council, having been last year again returned as an alderman.

THE GLORIOUS TWELFTH CELEBRATED IN PETERBOROUGH.

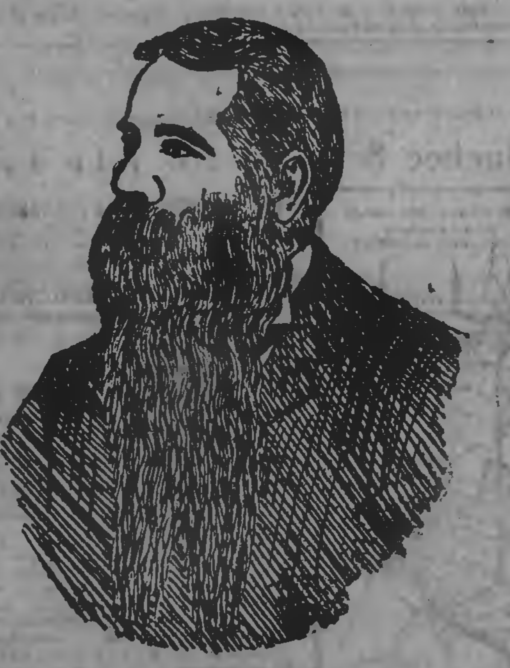
and Catholics. At Ottawa and Montreal bloody noses and battered heads were common adjuncts of every Orange celebration. At Ottawa in 1849 an attempt was made to prevent the Orangemen from marching on the 12th. But all the loyal Orangemen of Carlton County turned out to a man and marched into Ottawa armed with pitchforks, muskets, revolvers and old weapons of every description. The Orange celebration was held in Ottawa as usual that year. The sons of King William cleaned out the town.



J. B. McWILLIAMS,
PAST JUNIOR GRAND MASTER, ONTARIO;
PAST GRAND LECTURER, ONTARIO EAST;
PAST COUNTY MASTER, a position which he held continuously for a period of 15 years.

The Montreal riots of more recent years are still fresh in men's memory. In 1878 an Orangeman named Hackett was set upon by a mob of anti-Protestants in Victoria Square Montreal. Enraged at Hackett's action in flauntlets are still visible in the buildings the mob fired upon him, with fatal effect. The marks of some of the bullets are still visible in the buildings facing Victoria Square.

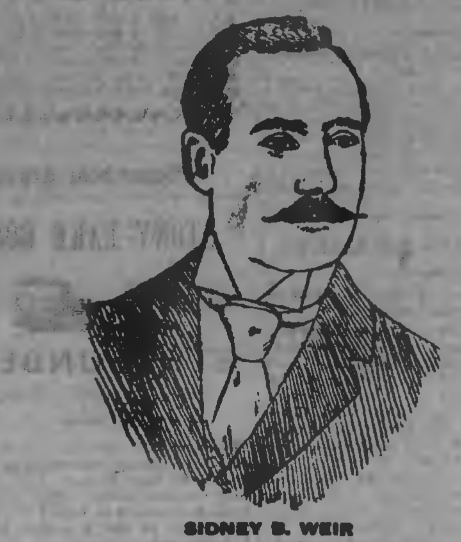
The excitement which followed this murder was intense, but, though there were several lively rows, there were no further fatalities. The Orangemen from all over the country, many of them armed, came to attend the funeral. Further trouble was feared if the Orangemen attempted to march in the funeral procession, but happily the precautions of the civic authorities and the large number of the Orangemen themselves prevented a disastrous riot.

PRINCE OF WALES' VISIT.

Perhaps the most interesting event in the history of the Orange Order in Canada is in connection with the visit of the Prince of Wales to this country in 1860. The Duke of Newcastle, nominally a Protestant, but at heart a Roman Catholic, was in charge of the royal party, which proceeded up the St. Lawrence to Kingston. There the Orangemen had assembled in force and an Orange arch had been erected along the proposed route of the royal procession. But the Duke of Newcastle was not minded to pass with His Royal Highness beneath any Orange arch. Word was sent to the Orangemen to remove the arch. The Orange blood was up in an instant. A prompt refusal was sent to His Grace, while the Orangemen gathered on the wharf and shouted their time-honored slogan, "No Surrender." The Duke stubbornly refused to allow the Prince even to land, and the Royal party passed on to Belleville. There they were greeted by hundreds of Orangemen assembled on the wharf who, as Duke approached, hurled at him the same cry, "No Surrender!"

Belleville, too, was passed by, and the Prince came to Toronto, where a landing was made. The Duke of course still refused to pass under any Orange arch, but he was outwitted by the Orangemen, who were just as determined that he should. The route of the Royal procession was so arranged that the Duke was driven under the arch before he recognized what he was. The Orangemen were triumphant and the Prince himself greatly enjoyed the discomfiture of the Duke.

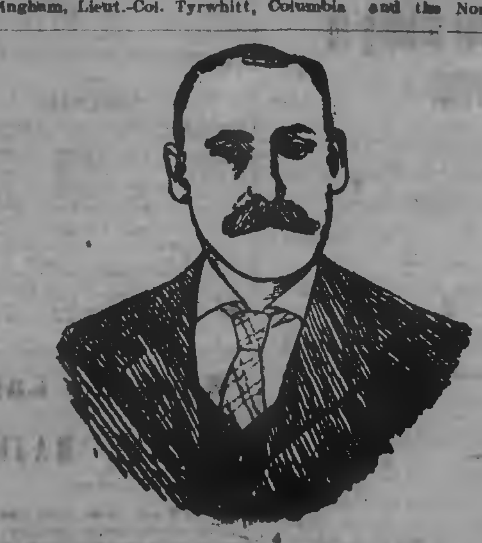
The first attempt to incorporate the Loyal Orange Association of British America was made in 1857, in the old Parliament of Upper and Lower Canada. But the opposition of the Roman Catholics and other anti-Orangeists proved too strong and the bill was thrown out. Subsequently three other attempts were made to secure incorporation, but there were similarly abortive. It was not until 1890 that the act of incoporation was passed. There was very strong opposition to the bill brought in by the Hon. Clarke Wallace, but by good tactics in rushing the bill through before its opponents had a chance to organize their opposition, and with the active co-operation of Sir John A. Macdonald, the second and third readings of the bill were carried by a majority of 17. Among the men whose names appeared on the preamble of the bill were N. Clarke Wallace, M.P.; E. F. Clarke, M.P.; W. Fitzgerald, Q. C.; Lieut-Col. A. J. Armstrong, Lieut-Col. Honorable Mackenzie Bowell; M.P.; Rev. Chas. E. Perry, Major Jas. Bennett, Jas. L. Hughes, Oronhyatekha, M.D.; Senator Clemow, Robert Birmingham, Lieut.-Col. Tyrwhitt, M.P.; Alexander McKay, M.P.; Edward Cochrane, M.P.; W. A. McCulla, M.P.; Alexander McNeill, M.P.; George Taylor, M.P.; Chas. Fairbairn, M.P.; and many of the prominent Canadians.



SIDNEY B. WEIR
County Secretary, Past District Master

MISS MARY CULLUM,
W. M. Grand Lodge Ladies' L.O.B.A.

R. W. BRO. FRANK SCHULTIZ,
G. M. Grand Lodge Manitoba.



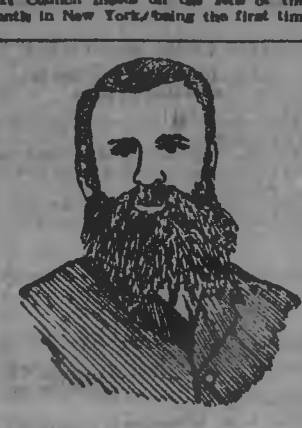
W. A. KINDRED, District Master

The Orangemen Association in its organization is the most democratic of all societies. It is the most promptly responsive to the will of its members. Commencing at the election of officers of the primary lodges in December, of district lodges in January, of county lodges in February, of Provincial Grand Lodges in March, and of the Grand Lodge of British America in May there can be a complete change of every office within six months. All power and authority emanate from the primary lodges in the first instance.

The constitution of the association has furnished a splendid example for the politicians of the Dominion in connection with the scheme of Canadian Confederation and in connectio with that greater scheme of Imperial Federation which is now attracting so much attention. Indeed in many respects Canadian statesmen have followed the lead of the framers of the present constitution of the Orange Association.

Some years ago the system of having one Grand Lodge for all British American was found to be unsatisfactory. In 1860 a scheme of Provincial Grand Lodge was devised and carried into effect. One Provincial Grand Lodge was given to Nova Scotia, one to New Brunswick, one to Prince Edward Island, two to Ontario, and within the last few years Provincial Grand Lodges have been formed in British Columbia and the Northwest Territories. The plan of Confederation is based on the same system.

Carrying out this system still further a Triennial Council of Orangemen of the World has been formed, thus setting the example of the British empire of the grander scheme of a great Imperial Federation. This Triennial Council is composed of the Grand Lodges of Ireland, England, Scotland South Africa, the Provinces of Australasia, New Zealand, British America, which includes Canada and Newfoundland, and the United States. The next Council meets on the 24th of this month in New York, being the first time that the council has ever assembled in the United States.



JOSEPH BATTEN,
Deputy County Master.

IMPORTANT FEATURES.

Among the important features of the Orange Association are its subsidiary organizations which have been formed during recent years. These include the Orange Young Britons, an active and aggressive body of young men whose charter is subject to the authority of the parent organization; the Ladies' Association which is closely allied to it has which does not receive its powers from the G. O. L. of British America; and the Loyal True Blue Association, also composed mostly of young men.

One word in conclusion as to the real objects and designs of the Order. By many these have been greatly understood and by others misrepresented. From the name it bears—being connected in everyone's mind with the history of parties in Ireland—some are apt to suppose that its sphere is necessarily confined to that country; not reflecting that an instrument which has been chiefly used there to suppress rebellion, repel invasion and secure domestic tranquility may be found equally efficacious to loyal men to all countries in protecting their lives, liberties and properties.

The Orange Association lays no claim to exclusive loyalty, of exclusive Protestantism; but it admits no man within its pale whose principles are not loyal and whose creed is not Protestant.

In a word, the aims of the Orangemen of Canada is the glory of God, the welfare of man, the honor of their sovereign and the good of their country.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

of the shadow of death. There can be no better way, he declared, of building up the society than by becoming a living example of the order's principles; if our fellow citizens cannot find in our lines that which commends Orangeism to them, all the sermons and books on the subject will be wasted. The speaker next reviewed the grand work accomplished by the ladies' branches of the order, whose Grand Mistress will shortly visit Peterborough. In conclusion, he urged each Orangeman to ask of himself wherein he falls short of the life, character and principles of William of Orange, and to so govern his actions as to provide credit alike to himself and the society of which he has the privilege to belong.

THE 57th BAND

In dismissing the vast assembly, County Master Jones complimented the band on their neat appearance in their new uniform, and tendered them hearty thanks for the very creditable manner in which they had filled their engagement, despite the little difficulty regarding uniform which had unexpectedly cropped up at the last moment.

The band then played the National Anthem, after which the crowd dispersed to all quarters of the town.

At the conclusion of the speeches, cheers were given for the Queen.

GROWTH OF ORANGE ORDER.

By Hon. N. Clarke Wallace M. P., Worshipful Grand Master.

Over seventy years ago in the town of Brockville Mr. Ogle R. Gowan and a small band of his loyal fellow-townsmen established the first Orange Lodge in British America. That was the beginning of the Orange Order in Canada. Brockville Loyal Orange Lodge No. 1 is still in existence, but to-day

BOERS GROWING TIRED.

All Steyn's Chief Executive Advise Their Leader to Surrender—Notables Return to England.

London, July 12th.—Five residents of Cape Colony, Professor Devers, R. P. Botha, Dr. Dewet, P. Duplessis, and the Rev. A. Moorees, who claim to be loyal subjects of the Queen, but who are accused of being delegates from the conciliation congress, which met at Graaf Reinet last May, were turned out of Hotel Howard in Norfolk street yesterday.

They arrived on Saturday night and were assigned rooms in the absence of the manager. When he returned on Sunday he discovered the pro-Boer guests and sternly ordered them to leave.

PEACE SEEMS NEAR

Pretoria, July10.—The British success at Bethlehem has considerably improved the prospects for peace, it is said. The whole of the Government of President Steyn, of the Orange Free State, has surrendered, except President Steyn himself. These Free State officials, who are British prisoners, with President Steyn, for the purpose of attempting to prove to him the uselessness of the continuance of the struggle, which can only produce bloodshed, without any counterbalancing advantages. The collapse of the forces of Gen. De Wet is expected daily. The Boers here say that the men hav etaken a solemn oath never to personally surrender, but they are beginning to see the unfairness of sacrificing life to personal wishes. If is expected that when Gen. Botha learns of the defeat o this colleagues he will gladly enter into conferences looking to the establishment of peace. The need o future civil administrations is urgent and the necessity for their appointment is becoming daily more apparent intelligent administrations, with a knowledge of the people, could undoubtedly greatly aid in the future settlement of difficulties, inasmuch as a frank feeling in favour of submission is prevalent among the Boers.

Where Has It Gone?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Can you tell me where all the money is going to that the public have given for the wives of the men that have gone to the front? My dear husband went with the first contingent, and all I have got from the patriotic fund is the small sum of $6 for myself and three chicks. The Soldiers' Wives League used to give us $7 a month, but now I'm told the Patriotic Committee has all to do with it, and yet they are two separate funds. I'm not starving, but if we are entitled to more why should we not get it.—

A SOLDIERS WIFE.

Ans.—We cannot tell. Perhaps some of those who took such a leading part in getting in this money, can give some light on the matter.

The Town Lawsuits.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I have read in the papers the judgments in the last two cases, which our aldermen brought against he two Railway companies which operate in our town.

In Peterboro is G. T. R., the Railway company when building the Loop line diverted the creek on Smith street, closed up the old channel, and opened a new one, they tore away the old bridge and after 14 years calls for repairs—

The aldermen demand that the Railway Company should for all time keep this bridge in repair, they company refused, saying we give you a new one for an old one, we never agreed to keep this bridge in repair, and the law does not require us to do it. We put you to no expense and there is no just reason why we should assume the duty of keeping up your bridge on your highway.

Judge Street saw it in the same way, and dismissed the action with costs.

The other case shows less ground if possible, for a law suit.

Some years ago the town applied to the Government and were given the island in the river. The C. P. R. wanted to run a spur line up to the Dickson mills, and applied to the Council for leave to pass over the island. The council desirous of helping the mill property which was so helpful to the town, granted a right of way over the island and also granted permission to use the gravel and soild of the island to build the embankment with. The company expended $14,000 to build the line—the island was used up in constructing the embankment and is no longer seen except in very low water.

Then after many years the aldermen looking for material for law suits, remembered that they never gave a deed to the C. P. R., so they went to court and asked the court to declare that the company were only tenants at will, and that the council had a right to turn them out, at any time, for that is what a tenancy at will means.

The case went to trial and the Judge gave his judgment dismissing the action with costs.

The Judge said that the embankment was built with the permission of the council—that it was an expensive, permanent work, that the permission meant a permanent grant of the right of way, and that good faith and common honesty would not permit repudiation of their act—the town got the benefit of this line, the island was gone and there was nothing to fight about, but a shadow, and if the town had any right they should seek them under the Railway act.

This also be said in the other case.

The long and the short of it is that the court declared that the actions were brought in the wrong court.

That there was no legal claim, and that there was no moral or equitable claim;

Result—Exposure and disgrace for the town.

Costs to be paid—probably $600. Increased taxes to be paid by the already over burdened taxpayers.

Further evidence of in competence on the part of those who are intrusted with the towns business.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING

A Lad Named O'Brien Killed in Wednesday's Storm.

A lad named O'Brien, about 13 years of age, while going out to the pasture for the cows, was struck by lightning and instantly killed on Wednesday evening, about a mile from Omemee. The lad not returning, a search was made and he was discovered dead in an open field.

THREE DARING BURGLARIES

Committed During Wednesday Night in Peterborough.

Three burglaries in one night is not a desirable record for Peterborough.

During Wednesday night some person or persons forced an entrance into W. Morgan's barber shop on George street, by breaking in the back door. A dozen razors and a pair of clippers were taken, and a grip belonging to Mr. Green, a commercial traveller, which had been left in the shop, was slit open and the contents rifled. The razors were subsequently found in the creek at Sherbrooke street.

Then the office of the head elevator man, Mr. John King, at Meldrum's elevator was entered by the glass being smashed in the door. Here the till was opened and two two dollar bills and a ten cent piece secured.

The third burglary was at the Oxford House, at the C. P. R. station, where a window in the rear was broken but nothing was missed. This is supposed to have been the work of tramps.

A DASH F R SAFETY

Canadian Presbyterian Missionaries in Chuwang are Escaping Southward.

Rev. R. P. Mackay, secretary of the Foreign Missions Board of the Presbyterian church, issued the following statement last night.—"In answer to the cablegram sent to the Amercian Consul at Che Foo by Dr. Warden on the 3rd of July, the following answer came yesterday,—'McClure cabled thirtieth. Later, Chuwang burned. Honan missionaries escaping southwards. Not coming Che Foo.' The Canadian Presbyterian Church has three stations in the Province of Honan — Chuwang, about 250 miles inland from Tien Tsin; Changye, about 80 miles northwest of Chuwang, and Hsinchan, about 80 miles southwest of Chuwang. An unsigned cablegram came on the 13th of June reporting all well in Honan. Doubtless the word 'thirtieth' should be 'thirteenth.' That would give time for sending to Che Foo this message that came to-day reporting that later the mission premises were burned and the missionaries were escaping southward. They would travel to Siangyang, a distance of about 250 miles overland, and then on the river Han to Hankow, and thence to Shanghai. The probability is that the missionaries from the other stations would accompany them, and as they are traveling in a known country under the leadership of a civil engineer and his staff, the chances of safety are good, but as the distance is so great we may not hear for two weeks or more of their arrival at Shanghai."

COSSACKS CAPTURE SIX KRUPP GUNS KILL A NUMBER OF TIEN TSIN BOXERS

Boxers Have Mounted Six New Guns in Position at Tien Tsin---300 Chinese Killed

BOXERS BOMBARDED LEGATIONS ON JULY 7th

American Consul is Very Anxious—Says That Fears for the Worst are Entertained—Consuls at Shanghai Offer Money for a Letter Reporting Massacres at Pekin

London, July 14.

The scanty cable despatches received today ad dnothing to the knowledge in in London of the Chinese situation. It is stated positively from Canton, that Li Hung Chang will remain there until allied troops have defeated Prince Tuan's forces, and will then go north to lend his powerful aid iin arranging the terms of peace, co-operating with Prince Ching Yung Lu and the other Viceroys. Li Hung Chang considers that he can best control and direct the Viceroys from Canton, and also keep in check the turbulent province of Kwang Tung. All the foreigners and missionaries have evacuated Wen Chau and have arrived at Ning Ho. Large bodies of Boxers appeared at Wen Chau and threatened to exterminate the foreigners and Christians. They also distributed banners, badges and inflammatory anti foreign appeals. The Tien Tsin correspondent of the Express, telegraphing under date of July 9, asserts that the Chinese are daily driving in the allies. They have mounted, says the correspondent, twelve fresh guns in advantageous positions, with which they are sweeping the streets of the foreign settlement, the incessant fire rendering position after position quite untenable. The Daily Mail's St. Petersburg correspondent says that in the last six hours' battle outside of Tien Tsin, the Cossacks captured six Krupp guns, and killed a number of the Tien Tsin Boxers. The Chinese lost 300 killed, including General Kek.

Washington, July 13.—The Department of State has received a despatch from Consul-General Goodnow at Shanghai saying that the Governor of Shan Tung wires that the Boxers and soldiers were bombarding the legations for a final attack upon the 7th of July. He is extremely anxious for the safety of the Ministers and friendly Chinese in Pekin. The Consul adds that fears of the worst are generally entertained.

The State Department has also received a despatch from Consul McWade at Canton saying that the Viceroy Li Hung Chang, has engaged quarters upon the Chinese steamer Anping, but that the date of his departure for the north is as yet undecided.

London, July 13.—There is no change in the Chinese situation. The allies are still besieged at Tien Tsin, and the fate of the legations at Pekin is still unknown. True, a despatch which to all intents and purposes is bogus, reiterates the new threadbare rumor that the foreigners have been massacred, but no confirmation of it can be ontained. Another despatch of an official nature says that on July 7th the assailants of the Legations were preparing to make a final attack, but as this may have been beaten off, it is still too early to conclude that a massacre has taken place. All that can be done is to wait until such time as the real state of affairs in Pekin London, July 13.—There does not appear to be any justification for the statement that official confirmation has been received here of the massacre of the international colony at Pekin. The report sent out to-day by a news agency of this city saying an official message has been received in London that all the foreigners in Pekin were murdered July 6, was said to have originated at the Japanese Legation, but inquiry there failed to confirm this.

Official circles regard the statement as being merely a reiteration of the morning's rumors, especially as an interchange of inquiries indicated that none of the Embassies and Ministers had anything fresh corroborative of the story. Lord Salisbury presided at a lengthy Cabinet meeting this afternoon, at which it is understood important decisions in regard to China were reached and that already instructions have been sent to Simla to prepare another division consisting of four British and four Indian regiments with their complements of artillery for service in China.

Shanghai, July 13.—The Foreign Consuls are offering large sums for the production of the letter which a Chinese merchant is said to have received from Pekin, dated June 29, and saying the Legations had been demolished and the foreigners killed. The merchant, however, declines to show it, alleging that he fears punishment from the Chinese officials.

Rioting is reported to have occurred at Ning Po, but no confirmation of the reports has been received.

Tien Tsin, July 6, 10 a.m., via Chefoo, July 9, and Shanghai July 11, 6.45 p.m.—Yesterday afternoon the Russians moved a strong force of all arms to attack the Chinese camp on the Lutai canal east of the walled city and half way across the plain, east of the Russian camp. The posted artillery on the hills, but did not reach the Chinese, whose four guns on the railroad fort replied effectively, and the Russians retired rapidly.

In the midst of the fighting two locomotives left the railroad yard and steamed rapidly towards the east arsenal. The Chinese used six guns in firing on the locomotives, but although several shots struck close, they were unable to destroy the engines.

The whole movement was a ruse to recover the locomotives, which were greatly needed.

The troops held the attention of the Chinese while the locomotives were being repaired and the engineers were getting up steam. Even the Chinese snipers failed to observe the movement. It is now possible to begin the repair of the railway at this end.

There was the usual shelling to-day.

New York, July 13.—Every white missionary and every native preacher in the Tien Tsin district hitherto unaccounted for has reached Chefoo, according to a cable to the Journal and Advertiser from that latter city.

London, June 13.—A news agency report says that an official message received in London states that all the foreigners in Pekin were murdered July 6.

THEY LEAVE TODAY

IMPORTANT EXPEDITION TO OUR BACK LAKES.

One of The Most Noted Hunting and Fishing Parties of the Season—a full description of each member of the party by one who knows them Like a Book.

During the excitement of the great South African War, and also that of the serious trouble in China, it did not become generally known in town that a large expedition is now being formed to invade our northern lakes, preparations for which have been in progress (quietly) for some weeks. On or about July 14th this expedition will leave here under the command of—

Field Marshal, John Watt.
Admiral Rolly Hill.
Commissary Dept., Bob Bradburn.
Nutmeg Cunningham.
Lock Master, Chas. Faber.

and the usual retinue of servants, &c., A few words will suffice to give an idea of the make up of the party, and their outfit.

Field Marshal Watt is well known on the banks of the Otonabee, being skilled in the ways of the nimrods, and having had several years campaigning, will be found no doubt, the right man for the place—a good hearted, jovial story teller, and not addicted to the truth when necessary to make a point.

Admiral Rolly Hill is a gentleman who needs no recommendation at the hands of the Times. From the time he was a little boy, his great delight was to run away from school and go for the water as a young duck. Many and daring have been the feats he has performed—riding swift running logs over precipices, through whirling waters; eating pork and beans, singing as he works—songs that charmed the wild beasts on the shore, and a natural born speechmaker—no better man for this part of the command could well be picked upon. The fish in the lakes recognize him, and he has to wear a mask to go anyway near their haunts—in fact what he don't know about skidding, kidding, camping-out, stalking moose && &c., remains to be told.

Bobby Bradburn—The General could not have found a man, unless Kitchener himself, that could as well fill this bill. Versed in all the ways that pertain to a successful trip, from a long-handled frying pan, to a double faced axe—ropes, old stewpans, &c., he like all others is a guest at this business, and were the powers to allow him, would require not only one but four large transports to take the outfit. He has forgotten nothing — not even fireworks, or flavoring, and has a good supply of sounding lines, oils for the [illegible] and bandages for sore and broken limbs. In fact what Bob don't know, he will soon find out.

Nutmeg Cunningham—"Boys, oh Boys" but he is a dandy! He can look you in the eye and tell you a prevaricator without as much as a blush. The firm is loath to allow him even this short breathing spell, as his place is hard to fill, Drummers will soon recognize the fact and worry the Governor. He will have full charge of the ammunition waggon and Long Tom,—the large gun captured from the enemy at Washago. He will be armed with gimlets, cork-screws, and other dangerous weapons.

Lock Master Faber—This is a gent who is to be well-known to be appreciated He is a full-fledged American, altho' sailing in Canadian waters, can tell a good fish yarn and also other kinds, and is a 42nd cos to Gen. Grant. Few people suspect we have such talent lying around apparently unused or appreciated.

Altogether the party is a perfect one, and no doubt will give a good account of themselves on their return.

SIX CANADIANS MISSING

Further List of Our Men Who May be Prisoners of the Boers.

Ottawa, July 12.—Another cable received this morning under date of yesterday from the General Officer Commanding at Standerton, contains the information that the following are reported missing—

157. Private J. Norris.

A cable from Sir Alfred Milner this morning reports the list of casualties at Rietfontein among the First Battalion Canadian Mounted Rifles on the 7th of July, already officially reported. In the former list, however, Private Henry B. White was reported as mortally wounded, while this time the name is given as J. B. White, who is merely mentioned as wounded. In the list of to-day there appears too, the name of 412 Private C. S. Strong, but reference to the nominal roll shows that there is no C. S. Strong in either battalion.

Corporal Thomas Mills' next of kin is given as Mrs. H Mills, of Newmarket, Ontario.

Private J. J. Griffith's next of kin is given as Mr. J. Griffith, of Hagersville, Ontario.

A LONG CAMPAIGN

FRANCE TO TAKE VIGOROUS ACTION IN FAR EAST.

French Government Informs Budget Commission That It Will Require Nineteen Million Francs for the Campaign in China —Preparations for Elaborate Naval and Army Reviews—President Loubet Receives Archbishop Ireland.

Paris, July 14.—While the Minister of Foreign Affairs has openly expressed pleasure over the telegram handed him by the Chinese Minister in Paris from Li Hung Chang stating on July 10 the rebels were gradually dispersing from the vicinity of the legations in Pekin, it is generally believed that M. Delcasse had other reasons for feeling sure of the safety of the French Minister and his family. It has leaked out that the government has privately informed the Budget commission that it would need at least 19,000,000 francs for the Chinese campaign. Only a little more than half of the sum has been asked for openly. It is evident that France will take serious action in the far East.

General Voyron's nomination as Commander-in-Chief of the China expedition is practically admitted. For the chief of the French naval forces the chief of the French naval forces Admiral Pottier, who distinguished himself at Crete and in the Grecian-Turkish war, stands an excellent chance.

Naval and Army Reviews.

Every preparation is being made for the great naval review soon to be held off Cherbourg. President Loubet, the Presidents of the Chamber of Deputies and Senate, the Premier and his Ministers, and all public dignitaries will be present. The army review on July 14 will also be a magnificent spectacle. The Shah of Persia will accompany President Loubet to the grounds.

HODGSON'S HARDSHIPS

Marvellous Escape From Perishing by the Wayside After He had Escaped From the Ashantis—Lady Hodgson Shared the Dangers aud Privations

Accra, July 13.—Sir Frederick Mitchell Hodgson, governor of the colony, who recently arrived here, after having been besieged at Kumassie by rebellious tribesmen, bears signs of the hardships and privations to which he had been subjected.

In the course of an interview with him he said he considered his escape the most marvellous on record. He attributed its success to the secrecy maintained in the route chosen. The carriers who accompanied him became so weakened by starvation that everything was abandoned and the party subsisted on plantains. They endured great hardships.

Fortunately, the rains were not heavy. Had it been otherwise, all would probably have succumbed. Lady Hodgson pluckily shared all the dangers and privations.

THE MISSIONARIES BLAMED FOR THE WAR

They Mean Well But Only Incite the People

BOMBARDMENT A BIG MISTAKE

It is Said That a Million Soldiers Will be Required to Subdue the Empire—This is the Opinion of Chinese Counsel.

San Francisco, July 9—In regard to the present situation in China, Ho Yow, the Chinese Consul General in San Francisco, a diplomat only second in importance to the Chinese Minister in Washington, whose predecessor was, in fact, Ho Yow's brother-in-law says;

"The origin of the whole trouble is interference with our religion in China. I do not question the worthy intentions of the missionaries who has gone there, but they have made a mistake of trying to convert a people who are not educated as a race to the point of religious toleration.

"Good missionaries merely waste their energies and incense the people. Studying the history of the world, we find that almost every great war has been brought on by differences in religion. There is another cause for the present uprising, aside from the purely religious work of the missionaries in proselyting China to their faith.

"It has so happened in China that whenever a missionary has been injured or killed in the country the nation which he represented has made the tragedy the occasion for asking grants of land from the Chinese government.

"I do not mean to say that they were not right in demanding an indemnity for such misdeeds, but this course, in the eyes of many of our people, who are extremely suspicious, has been misconstrued and misrepresented.

"I am positive from the despatches I have received that it was the original intention of both the government and the Boxers to respect the Pekin legations. Otherwise it would have been easy to attack them before June 20. I am sure th egovernment was trying to put forth every effort to protect them.

"To-day I cannot speak so confidently. The bombardment of the Taku forts has changed the whole aspect of the situation. As soon as the tidings of that act of hostility reached Pekin I fear that the forces which up to that moment had been hel din control by the government would become frenzied and beyond control, for they would reason that they were to be punished anyway, and all reason for restraint would then have been gone.

"From a political point of view it seems to be a fatal mistake on the part of the powers to have taken that aggressive step before they had landed sufficient forces to be able to support it or follow it up. They stirred up a beehive when not in a position to accomplish anything. Instead of relieving the legations in Pekin, they aggravated the situation, stirring up an ignorant and maddened populace to frenzy.

"What effect a different policy would hav ehad on the Chinese is, I think exemplified in the attitude which Li Hung Chang, China's most progressive and influential statesman, has taken toward your admiral, Kempff, who refused to join in the bombardment.

"Li has invited the American admiral to accompany him on his mission to Pekin for the purpose of pacifying the Chinese and he has expressed the derise that the United States should act as an intermediary in the settlement of the troubles.

"Admiral Kempff made a fine demonstration of wisdom in declining to join in precipitating hostilities at Taku, and he has by his conduct won the confidence of the Chinese for his nation. At the same time he showed good military judgment, for an act of aggression was as useless as it was dangerous to the interests back of it.

"In my opinion the powers would need an army of about 250,000 men to subdue this one northern province by force. Should there be a general uprising throughout China, before they could do any sort of policing for that great territory, with its 400,000,000 people or bring them under subjection, they would require not fewer than 1,000,000 soldiers and many millions of dollars would be wasted and millions of lives would be lost before the entire country could be brought under subjugation.

"These zealots are not open to reason, as they are possessed by strange superstitions.

"Very many of the Boers, probably by far the larger number, have never in their lives seen a European face, and believe implicitly the horrible things told about foreigners.

"The Chinamen are well armed and they are well supplied with weapons of the latest pattern, many of them manufactured in our own great arsenals.

"Shan Tung province is notable for its men of fine physique and stature. This province could probably lace in the field nearly 10,000,000 men closely approaching or nearly approaching 6 feet in height. Whatever China may have been in the past, she is no insignificant enemy to cope with to-day Her strength is formidable, and if it is expended upon invaders the result will be terrible slaughter.

"If the numbers of the legations have been murdered you cannot bring them back to life by killing in turn. A peaceful adjustment of the differences might be had compensation secured. Such a policy would save many lives and enormous expenditures on the part of injured nations.

BRITISH LOST 200 MEN IN DURDEPOORT AFFAIR

Gen. De Wet With 10,000 Boers Holds Strong Position 15 Miles From Bethlehem

VERY HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE AT NITRAL'S NEK

The Scots anb Lincolns Surrounded and Decimated, Their Ammunition Gone, Fixed Bayonets and Waited for the Boers to Approach

London, July 14.

Lord Roberts has said nothing further concerning the Nitral Nek affair. Pretoria despatches, however, show that the Lincolnshires lost half of their officers, including Col. Roberts, who was wounded and taken prisoner. Stragglers continue to arrive at the camp, but few further details can be gathered. The British fought stubbornly until night fall, when the cavalry turned their horses loose. The Boer report of the engagement places the British casualties at over two hundred in the Derdepoort affair mentioned in Lord Roberts' despatch. The men in the front rank of the Boers wore khaki uniforms and helmets, and the Dragoons passed them unsuspecting, under the impression that they were Hussars. The mistake was not discovered until the Boers opened a heavy fire when the Dragoons were within 400 yards. British prisoners who have escaped to Kroonstad report that General De Wet's force of 10,000 men with ten guns expelled from Bethlehem by Gen. Clements and Gen. Paget, have taken up a strong position 15 miles southward, in the hills around Relief Nek. President Steyn is reported to be with them. Another case of Boers wearing khaki is reported to have happened at Lindley on June 26th, when they surprised a picket of 25 men of Yorkshire Light Infantry, 13 of whom were killed or wounded.

Pretoria, July 12.—Colonel Mahon, reinforced by Gen. French's brigade, yesterday, took all the positions held by the Boers in the neighborhood of Rietfontein. A number of Boer dead were found. The British casualties were trifling.

Details are now at hand regarding the disaster to the Lincolnshire Regiment on Wednesday. It appears that five companies were ordered Tuesday to proceed and hold the pass through Magaliesburg, in the neighborhood of Daspoort Fort. They arrived in the afternoon at the pass, where three companies with two guns took up a position, and camped for the night, leaving two companies on a plain south of the pass. The eastern hill was rugged, Rocky, and inaccessible, but further east apparently approachable from the main ridge.

At daybreak yesterday the Boers appeared on the eastern kopje, and opened a heavy fire. Confusion ensued. The Colonel ordered the men to take up a position on a kopje west of the gap. From this point a hot fire was kept up during the entire day. Two guns under the escort of the Scots Greys placed in advance of the main body were captured after a stout resistance.

Nearly every man was killed or wounded. A Maxim gun was brought into action early in the day. The fire was too hot and the menwere forced to retire. A sergeant, aided by seven volunteers, saved the gun. There was a continuous fire all along the line, the Lincolnshire Regiment men vigorously replying. About three o'clock in the afternoon the Boers appeared to the left of the position occupied by the British. An officer and fifteen men attempted to charge them, and fourteen men were killed or wounded as the result. Three companies were practically surrounded, but they kept up a steady fire unwaveringly, until towards nightfall, when their ammunition gave out.

The latest arrival from the scene states that at the time of his escape the men were taking a good position under cover, and with fixed bayonets were awaiting the approach of the Boers.

It is understood upon good authority that the Boers have employed armed natives. Two of the natives leaped from cover when a small party from the Lincolnshire Regiment stepped up and demanded their surrender. A soldier stepped forward and shot both of the natives dead. One officer who succeeded in making his escape had an encounter with an armed native.

It is feared that the losses of the British were numerous. About thirty of the British soldiers straggled back to camp to-day. According to all accounts, a great force is being assembled to prevent further progress of the Boers.

A RUN OF HARD LUCK.

Havelock Man Who Had His Throat Cut With an Axe.

Mr. Fred Hilton, of Havelock, who went to the Toronto General Hospital yesterday, had been the victim of a run of hard luck. On May 11th, while chopping wood, he accidentally cut his throat with an axe, the wind-pipe almost severed. The wound was dressed by the local doctor, and the patient was doing nicely until he caught a bad cold on June 8th, which developed into bronchitis. He recovered from this, but a few days ago he visited a dentist, and while in the chair chair received a wrench, which re-opened the wound. He was brought to the General hospital yesterday, and is in a somewhat critical condition. Food is being administered to Hilton with a silver tube.

BASS AND MASKINONGE.

A Fish Hatchery for Bass and Maskinonge Badly Needed.

Some time ago there was an agitator in favour of a fish hatchery on the Otonabee, between Peterborough and Lakefield, but the matter evidently has dropped out of sight, yesterday Dr. Hinds of Pittsbourgh, Pa., who has been out north, dropped into the Times office, and in discussing the subject of summer resorts, said that no better place existed for a hatchery than the Otonabee River. He said it would mean wealth to this neighborhood the stocking of the streams with Bass and Maskinonge. reason why Stoney Lake should not be made the best fishing place in America.

The cost of operating a hatchery is not great, and by constantly depositing spawn in these waters, there would soon be no such thing as poor fishing. Dr. Hinds thinks that only the natural fish of these waters—Bass and Maskinonge—should be hatched.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 6 1900.

A NEW TERROR TO PUBLIC MEN.

The camera fiend is bad enough, and there is continual protest against him by every person in whom the public takes an interest. But the biograph fiend, who is threatening the peace of notables, is much worse Kinetoscope are about to be put within the reach of every one. A London concern has established a studio where people may go to have moving pictures taken of themselves, just as they now go to be photographed, and a cheap apparatus for the reproduction of the frames is sold, which while not so good as those used in the theaters and nickel-in-the-slot devices yet answers the purpose. The manager of the studio says that it is in demand for weddings. The bride and bridegroom, bridesmaids, best man, and all the rest are photographed while the wedding ceremony is being performed, and the happy pair and their friends have copies of the films as souveniers of the occasion. But this is not the worst. A cheap biograph machine has been invented by which a person may take hundreds of snap shots of any one whom he chooses and reproduce them. It is but natural for the owner of a few biograph strips to what other films for his machine. But the worry to public people will be great. They will be the sufferers. For instance, instead of Governor Roosevelt's children being photographed in bathing, the biograph fiend will take snap shots of their movements and reproduce them on the screen as living pictures. The aim of the fiends naturally would be to secure statesmen in the most undignified attitudes possible. It is to be hoped for the sake of their peace of mind that the biographs will not be made cheap enough to be within the reach of every one.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

What at least half a dozen stalwart Liberals in the field seeking nomination in West Peterborough, it certainly looks as if considerable political lumber were required this year if only for fences.

Eating and Sleeping.

Food supplies the substance for repairing the wastes of the body, and gives strength. Sleep affords the opportunity for these repairs to be made. Both are necessary to health. If you can't eat and sleep, take Hood's Sarsaparilla. It creates a good appetite ad tones the digestive organs, and it gives the sweet, restful sleep of childhood. Be sure to get Hood's.

Billiousness is cured by Hood's Pills. 25 cents.

The Truth 'bout the Philippines.

As almost everything that comes from the Philippines is subjected to a strict official censorship the public is eager for any scraps of authentic information as to what is transpiring in that archipelago. Earnest E. Wheelock of Philadelphia, who is just home from Manila, where he was formerly secretary of General Merritt and also secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, gives anything but a cheering account of affairs in the islands. He says that the American people have been grossly misinformed and that our maladministration in the Philippines is recognised by all European residents.

According to Mr. Wheelock, "the misapprehension of the people of the United States regarding the Philippines is only equaled by the ignorance of the Filipino of what constitutes good Americanism. In the opinion of leading merchants and business men of Manila it is "more unsafe in the interior of Luzon at the present time than ever before. Roving bands range the country and in ambush waiting to pick off small detachments of Americans or plunder some caravan". Although the war supposed to be over martial law is enforced with the utmost vigor in Manila.

Mr. Wheelock gives an account of the administration of martial law which, if true, is most discreditable to the authorities. If what he states be untrue it can be easily shown that he is a calumniator.

MATRON AND MAID.

Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske has joined the antivivisection society in New York.

The widow of Benjamin Wood and her sister and daughter have assumed entire control of the New York Daily News and will hereafter edit and publish it.

Mrs. Frances M. Wolcott has secured an absolute divorce from Senator Edward O. Wolcott on the ground of desertion. No evidence was introduced for the defense.

Mrs. A. L. Vrooman Wood of Minneapolis has been appointed judge of the decorated china to be exhibited at the Paris exposition by the National League of Mineral Painters. The selection of Mrs. Wood was made by Commissioner General Peck.

Miss Eva Hooper of London is now on her way to Australia, where she is to organize the kindergarten work in the public schools of Victoria and to give kindergarten training. Miss Hooper recently spent about a year in this country studying the schools.

Mrs. Humphry Ward suggests the establishment in every town of Great Britain of an organization to study Christian dogma and Christian history with the aid of such books as Harnack's "History of Dogma" and Schurer's "The Jewish People In the Time of Christ."

Mrs. Alexander Capperton, who died in Kirkhill, Scotland, the other day, was one of the few links connecting the present with the time of Sir Walter Scott. She entered his service when 16 and was with him when he died and received a lock of his hair from Mrs. Lockhart.

A woman has been appointed assignee of the savings bank at Hinsdale, N. H., by the supreme court. She is Miss Cora A. Wellman, who has occupied the position of treasurer of the institution, having succeeded her father. She was recommended for appointment by the incorporators of the bank.

The Duchesse d'Orleans, who is now making a cruise in the Mediterranean on her fine yacht Marousia, is a very clever draftswoman, and a daily amusement of hers is the designing and execution of dainty little menu cards for the day's use. She never fails to produce these cards, whether at home or on the sea.

A new aspirant for legal honors is Mrs. Catherine V. Waite, a western woman, 71 years old, who will soon go to Denver and establish a law office there, with her husband as a partner. Mrs. Waite is the owner of large tracts of land, many horses and a block of real estate in Chicago. Her husband was at one time a judge in Idaho.

Lady Dundonald, whose husband, the earl, has been distinguishing himself with Buller in Natal, got into a quarrel with the town authorities of Abergele, Wales, recently over land needed to widen a road passing through the chief attraction of the place, an avenue of old sycamores on his land. On the town council's threatening to acquire the land needed by condemnation the countess had all the old trees cut down.

The Pen in the Hand is worth two in the Mind.

If you have "a good mind to write to Dr. Pierce" take pen in hand and begin. Then you'll avoid the experience of Mrs. M. P. Davis, of Honaker, Russell Co., Va. She writes:

"For seven years I was confined to bed most of the time. I had ulceration of internal organs and female weakness. I had four doctors and they said I could not be cured.........After the doctors said I could not be cured I wrote to Doctor Pierce for advice.........I followed the advice he gave.........I feel better than I ever did. My friends say I do not look like the same woman. I am sorry I did not take Dr. Pierce's medicine when I first began to have poor health. I could have saved what I paid to humbugs."

No one ever regretted writing to Dr. Pierce for advice. Many have regretted not writing sooner.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free, and so obtain the opinion and advice of a specialist in diseases peculiar to women. All correspondence private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, is sent free on receipt of stamps to defray cost of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth. Address as above.

Her Gallant Cavalier.

"I think him the very embodiment of chivalry and gallantry," said Ethel Hunt, enthusiastically.

She was a dark cheeked, diamond-eyed girl of 18, with braids of the blue-black hair coiled around the back of her small Green-shaped head, and a color as rich and velvety as the side of a July peach.

"Humph!" said Aunt Sara. 'I've heard girls talk before. And it generally ended in the same thing."

"For shame! Aunt Sara," cried Ethel, coloring up to her eyelashes. "I only mean, of course, that he is a very agreeable companion."

Now this Aunt Sara of our little Ethel was no spectacled spinster of an uncertain age, no portly, pillow-shaped widow, with the photograph of her dear departed husband worn, locket-shaped upon her bosom—but a pretty young woman of four or five-and-twenty, with bright blue eyes and hair all streaked with golden gleams, who was engaged in the congenial occupation of making up her wedding clothes.

"An agreeable companion—of course," said Aunt Sara. "Look, Ethel, do you think white Maltese lace or French blonde with a heading of Roman pearls, would be prettiest for this berthe?"

Aunt Sara knew when to drop a subject and when to hold on to it. But while Ethel was stitching the quilting the French blone on to the white silk dress, her young aunt's mind was upon the topic she had apparently abandoned.

"The disagreeable fellow," thought Aunt Sara. "He has somehow heard that Ethel has money, and he is determined to win it. If she could only see him in the true light; but I know what a perverse thing a woman's heart is, as sure as I attempted to tell her what he really is, she'd make up her mind that he is the finest and least appreciated personage on the face of the earth. And I did so want her to keep her heart whole until Everard Grafton comes to be Charles' groomsman! Everard Grafton is worthy of a princess!"

And Miss Sara Martell sat and sewed away in absorbed silence, without speaking a word for the unprecedented period of 15 minutes.

"They say he is perfectly intolerable at home," she said to herself. "Clara Waters was there once and heard him rating his sisters fearfully because the beefsteak for his late breakfast was a little overdone. If only I could manage it that Ethel should see him in his true light."

She sat and thought a while longer—and suddenly the color bloomed into her cheek, the dimples into her chin. She started up.

"Ethel," she said, 'I'm sure you must be tired sitting over that everlasting stitching. "I've got to go over to Susy Morand's to borrow a pattern; it will be just a pleasant walk for us."

"To Miss Morand's!" Ethel was vexed with herself, but she could not help the tell-tale blood that surged into her cheeks. "Isn't it rather early! Only 9 o'clock!"

"Early! Not a bit. Susy and I are so intimate, we don't mind curl papers and callico wrappers. Get your hat and come along, quick."

But, in spite of her exhortations to speed, Sara Martell smiled to herself to perceive that Ethel Hunt lingered long enough in her own room to change her black lace butterfly bow of rose-colored ribbon, and to rearrange the dainty tendrils of silky black hair that dropped so carefully over the low, broad forehead.

"She thinks we shall see Julian Morand," she thought to herself. "Well, perhaps we shall. I am putting myself entirely into the hands of Lucy and Chance."

But when they reached the Morand mansion, instead of ringing formally at the front door, Miss Martell went around to the back porch, a pretty little entrance, all shaded with honey-suckles and trumpet vines.

"I always go in here," said she, nonchalantly, in reply to Ethel's remonstrating glances. "Sue Morand and I are just like sisters."

Sue Morand, a blooming girl of 18 was in the kitchen making apple pies.

"The pattern! Of course, you shall have it!" she cried. "Just wait a minute until I get it."

"I'll go with you," said Sara. 'Ethel, you'll not mind waiting for us here?"

"Not at the least," said Ethel. And she sat down at the window, where ivies, trained in bottles of water, were creeping like green jewels across the crystal panes of glass.

"Sue! Sue!" She started as the voice of herpreux chevalier of the evening before came roaring fown the back stairs. "Confound you all, down there, why aren't my boots blackened! Sue! Mother! Nell! what's become of my breakfast! You must think a man has nothing to do but to lie here and wait all day for lazy folks to stir around."

There was no reply as he paused, apparently expecting one. "Mother" was down in the garden under a big green sunbonnet, gathering scarlet-cheeked tomatoes for dinner. "Nell" was in the front yard picking red-veined autumn leaves out of the gold and russet drifts that day like treasures of precious stones upon the grass.

Sue was shut up among the mysteries of "patterns" innumerable, with Miss Sara Martell. Ethel Hunt sat coloring and half frightened, the sole auditress of Mr. Morand's objurgations.

"I know there's someone down there!" he shouted. "I can hear you breathe and your dress rustle. Just like your ugliness not to answer a fellow. Do you hear, Sue! Black my boots, quick. I'm waiting for them!"

And "bang, bang," came the useful articles of wear in question down the winding stairway that led into the kitchen.

Poor little Ethel! She half rose up, then sat down again, piteously undecided what to do—and even while she hesitated, with color varying like the red and white of the American flag in a high wind, the door at the foot of the stairs flew open and in stalked Mr. Julian Mirand, sallow and disheveled with unkempt hair and beard, fretfully curved mouth, and a most unbecoming gown, faded pearl-colored nether garments and stockinged feet thrust into red morocco slippers.

"I say you!" he snarled out, 'why don't you—"

And then perceiving to whom he was actually adressing himself, he started back, turning firy red.

"Miss Hunt!"

And with a downward glance at his toilet, he fairly turned and fled, the skirts of his Turkish dressing gown floating like red orange meteor and terrified though she was, Ethel Hunt could not resist the temptation to break into a peal of hearty laughter.

Then, then, was her ideal among men her gallant cavalier, her "Sir Launcelot" of fancied perfection, snarling at his mother split kindlings and picked ditioned bear, flinging old boots down the stairs at them. Tumbling out of bed at 9 o'clock in the morning, while his mother split kindlings and picked tomatoes out in the vegetable garden! Like some Chinese idol, so fell Mr. Julian Morand off his high pedestal in the estimation of Miss Ethel Hunt.

She told it all to Sara Martell when they were safe at home.

"Aunt Sara," said she, 'I am thoroughly disenchanted!"

Miss Martell shrugged her shoulders and mentally thanked her lucky stars.

"I could have told you as much before," she said. "These Adonises are like cheap calico—they will neither wash nor wear! Wait until Everard Grafton comes."

"And who is Everard Grafton?"

"The nicest young fellow in the world—after my betrothed husband."

When Mr. Grafton came he so far justified Aunt Grafton's encomiums that Ethel was willing to leave the rest to Fate.—New York Press.

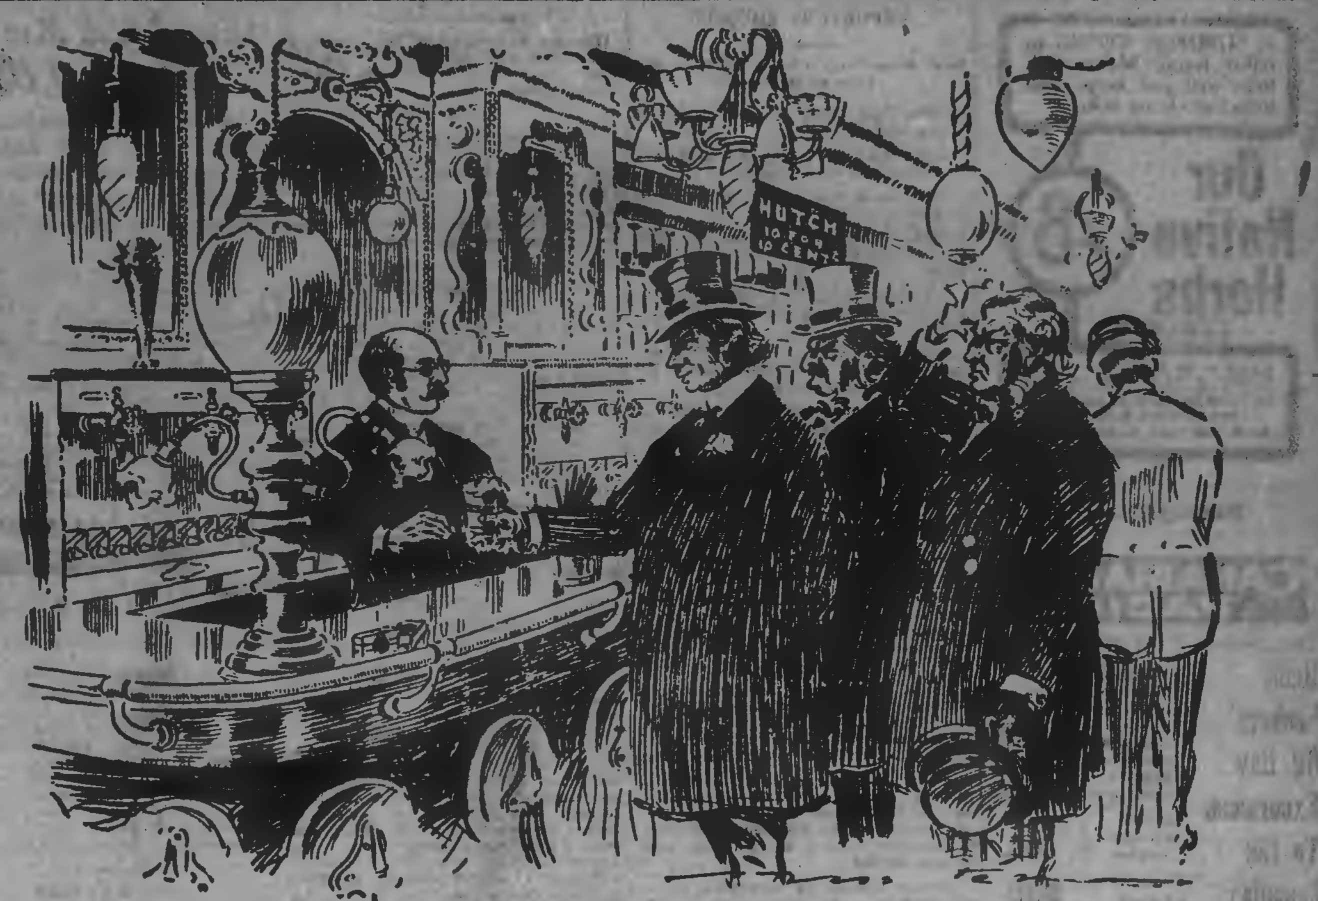
The Mother Speaks.

A Poem Asked For

It is kind of you just to look in, my dear,
Yes—I see that the List you've read
Nay, I shan't break down—see, my eyes are clear,
And I've not yet humbled my head.
But it came such a shock—no word to prepare—
And life grew grey in a breath,
For I, somehow, fancied my boy was too fair
To be summoned so soon by Death.

They say it's a glorious thing to fight
And fall, for the country's sake;
To strangle the wrong, and establish the right—
But what solace in that can I take?
I gave them the one whom I held most dear,
Of their victory victim to be;
And what do they reck of this young career
That was all the world to me?

Ah! I've tried so hard since I heard it, my dear,
To whisper—"His will be done!"
But I think of the shadows of year after year,
When the light from the earth has flown!
I shall hear the shout of the nation's joy,
Of the welcome home, three times three!
But all I shall know is—my boy, my boy,
Can never come back to me.



George Bingham, whose exceeding genial personality is well known to the people of Toronto, is the proprietor cf that well-appointed drug establishment, known as Bingham's Pharmacy, situated on Yonge street. Mr. Bingham, "George" as he is familiarly known to a large circle of personal friends, is naturally an authority on drugs and their preparation, and has a reputation of selling exclusively only pure and efficacious compounds. To a reporter who dropped in to ask about the condition of the drug trade, Mr. Bingham said: "I find that the old lines continue about as usual, but that the seller of the season is Hutch. The demand for Hutch has been, and is, simply enormous. Everybody is buying Hutch. I am able to recommend it as I know the ingredients, and I do simply recommend it from my positive knowledge that only the purest drugs are used in its compounding, and that its efficacy is beyond peradventure. A great many people ask me about Hutch, and when they take it, invariably report favourably as to its action. Only the other day a man dropped in here who stated that his partiality for a glass of beer and biscuits and cheese before retiring occasioned him a nasty taste in the mouth the next morning after indulging. I stated that Hutch should prove beneficial and he bought a ten-cent package. He came in a day or two afterward and thanked me. Said Hutch was the finest thing he had taken in years. We often have prominent politicians and eminent clergymen our customers and they all say that Hutch is really a remarkable cure." Mr. Bingham's time being taken up just then, the reporter left with the idea that Hutch pretty nearly constituted the drug trade, and that a really sterling preparation was meeting a deserved recognition.

A Barber's Revenge.

"Does a barber ever deliberately and with malice aforethought give a man a bad shave?" asked the inquisitive customer as he settled comfortably back in his chair, and a Times reporter quietly listened. "Well, that's a rather leading question," replied the barber, "I can only speak from my own experience. In confidence I will admit to you that occasionally I have done my very worst. For instance, I shaved a man yesterday who will have a sore face for a week as the result of it. He has been coming here for about six months, and nothing has ever suited him. He is a chronic kicker. We can stand that kind when they tip generously, but this fellow had never given up a cent over the price of his shave. I last made up my mind to get square, and I did yesterday morning. He kicked and squirmed in the chair, but I had him where I wanted him, and I let him have it, good and hard. That doesn't often happen, though." And the representative of the g.f.j. vowed that he would deal liberally with his barber.

Nervousness is cured by making the blood rich and pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla. It gives the sweet, refreshing sleep of childhood.

Mr. Smith sent the boy to Inspector Walker for a hearing.

A Good Move.

The Ontario Department of Public Works has issued plans and specifications of the ice house and cold storage buildings, for which the Government will give grants throughout the province. The system requires that cold storage buildings shall be reliable, durable simple and construction, easy to maintain and within reach of persons of limited means. The building on the plans presented will cost for labor materials $210. Peterborough should take advantage of this offer.

A Cavanville Wedding.

A pretty wedding took place at Cavanville last week, at the residence of Mr. Robert Hutchinson, on July 9th, when his eldest daughter, Sadie, was married to Mr. Robert H. Patterson, of Nelson, B.C. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Archdeacon Allen, of Millbrook. The bride, who was attired in her travelling suit, looked charming. Miss Essie Hutchinson ably assisted the bride, the groom being supported by Mr. George Hutchinson, brother of the bride. Little Miss Edith Hutchinson, youngest sister of the bride, acted in the capacity of flower girl. The happy couple left on the evening train for Peterborough, mid showers of rice and good wishes.

The Times at Summer Resorts

This morning Times is sent to summer resorts and residences addressed to individuals at thirty cents a month. Persons visiting the lakes and other places may have the Times addressed to them for as short a period as one week.

Freezing Weather in July.

Would cause great discomfort and loss, but fortunately it is seldom known. A vast amount of misery is caused at this season, however, by poverished blood, poor appetite and general debility. These conditions may be remedied by enriching the blood and toning the stomach with Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine seems to put new life into the whole physical system, simply because of its wonderful power to purify, enrich and vitalize the blood, create an appetite and invigorate the digestive functions. We advise you to get a bottle and try it if you are not feeling just right. It will do you more good than a six weeks' vacation. It is the best medicine can buy.

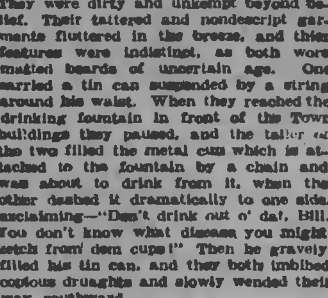
Afraid of Disease.

They were two of the most disreputable specimens of the genus hobo one could well imagine. People stopped and stared at them in wonder as they strolled down Water street, looking for all the world as though they had stepped out of a picture in one of the comic papers. They were dirty and unkempt beyond belief. Their tattered and nondescript garments fluttered in the breeze, and their features were indistinct, as both wore matted beards of uncertain age. One carried a tin can suspended by a string around his waist. When they reached the drinking fountain in front of the Town buildings they paused, and the taller of the two filled the metal cup which is attached to the fountain by a chain and was about to drink from it, when the other dashed it dramatically to one side, exclaiming—"Don't drink out o' dat, Bill. You don't know what disease you might ketch from dem cups!" Then he gravely filled his tin can, and they both imbibed copious draughts and slowly wended their way southward.

IS CATARRH YOUR LIFE'S CLOUD?—Eminent nose and throat specialists in daily practice highly recommend Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, as safe, sure, permanent, painless and harmless, in all cases of Cold in the Head, Tonsilitis, Hoarseness, and Catarrh. It gives relief in 10 minutes, and banishes the disease like magic. 50 cts. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

THE WOMAN AND THE SPHINX.

The mystery of womanhood is full of deep unanswerable enigmas. Why should women be compelled to suffer simply because they are women? Why is it that the source of their highest joys is at the same time the cause of their greatest wretchedness. The very attributes which make it possible for women to be happy wives and mothers also render them liable to the utmost physical misery and pain.



The sufferings of body and mind caused by some weakness of the distinctly feminine organs are so almost universal among women that the question might well be asked: "Is this Nature's punishment for the crime of being a woman?"

The true answer is No! These sufferings are neither natural nor necessary. They would not exist if the organism was healthy. No woman ought to endure such troubles. There is no need of it. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a perfect and positive cure for feminine weakness and disease.

Help is at hand for those who choose to take it. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will infallibly cure womanly ills. It is designed for that purpose alone. It acts directly and quickly on the organs involved and restores them to health and vigor. This is proven by the triumphant record of tens of thousands of cures. It is successful when all else has failed. After the abhorrent local treatments of the doctors have proven useless, the "Favorite Prescription" does its marvelous work, bringing comfort and happiness. It is the one thing that can always be depended upon.

It gives health and strength to the special organs and nerve-centres; heals inflammation; stops weakening drains; promotes functional regularity, and restores the normal, vigorous and painless condition which Nature intended.

It is the only medicine of its kind invented by an educated and experienced physician. It is the only medicine which makes baby's coming safe and comparatively painless. It has had a larger sale than any other like medicine. Get it at your druggist's and do not be persuaded to take a substitute.

"When I wrote to you about two years ago, I was indeed an invalid," writes Mrs. Ellie Mabus, of Mabus, Choctaw Co., Miss. "I could not describe all my suffering. At times I had a sensation of bearing down weight low down across me. I also suffered a great deal with my back. I could not walk any great distance without pain. Had constant drain, a frequent desire to urinate; also had palpitation of the heart. After receiving your advice, began treatment with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I kept this up several months and am now in the best of health. Many thanks to you and your wonderful medicines."

"I have been taking your medicines, and they always help me," writes Mrs. Callie Whitaker, of Livermore, McLean Co., Ky. "Mine was a very bad complicated case of female trouble, but I do believe I would have been in my grave if it had not been for your wonderful medicines. I have taken 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I suffered mostly with my head and lower bowels, especially at my monthly periods. I would have to go to bed and use hot applications and drink all kinds of teas. I had three of the best physicians I could get. One doctored me for twelve months and I was worse when he quit than I was when I began with him. The other only helped me temporarily. I will always speak well of Dr. Pierce's medicines, and will heartily recommend them to all suffering women."

Any woman who would like to know more about this medicine and about her own physical make-up should send 31 one-cent stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., to pay the cost of customs and mailing only, on a free paper-bound copy of his 1000-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," or, 50 stamps for cloth cover.

"Every Well Man Hath His Ill Day."

A doctor's examination might show that kidneys, liver and stomach are normal, but the doctor cannot analyse the blood upon which these organs depend.

Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies, vitalizes and enriches the blood. It cures you when "a bit off" or when seriously afflicted. It never disappoints.

Rheumatism—"I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla has no equal for rheumatism. It has done me more good than any other medicine I have taken." MRS. PATRICK KENNEY, Brampton, Ont.

Bad Cough—"After my long illness, I was very weak and had a bad cough. I could not eat or sleep. Different remedies did not help me but Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and I am now able to attend to my work." MINNIE JAQUES, Oshawa, Ont.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

At The Times Bookstore.

Parties desiring a copy of the Portfolio "Glimpses of South Africa in Peace and in war" can now be supplied with same at ten cents a copy. The Portfolio ends with No. 18 and to get them all makes a nice large book, but those who only care to have a few numbers as a momento of the war would do well to take advantage of the reduction of price at an early date. Call or address Times Bookstore.

Arrested for Fraud.

A man named Wm. Revington, of Carp, near Ottawa, was arrested on Wednesday for defrauding the Ontario Bank out of $500 on March 20, 1899. It appears that Revington had been conducting quite an extensive business. Until March 1899 his notes had been endorsed by his brother George Revington, a wealthy farmer. When the note for $500 was presented to the bank by Wm. Revington, it appeared to bear the usual endorsement, and was considered perfectly good. It was subsequently found that this note had been endorsed by George Revington, jr., a son of Wm. Revington, and hence the charge of fraud. The bank will probably get its money back.

Fountain Pens.

We have received an importation of fountain pens, direct from the makers in England. They are the largest and best assortment of fountain pens ever shown in Peterborough. Will be sold at greatly reduced prices. Times Bookstore.

On a Fishing Jaunt.

This afternoon there is likely to be trouble for the fish in the waters in the vicinity of Young's Point. Messrs. A. St. A. Smith, of the Bank of Toronto, and E. C. Complin, of the Commerce, are going out to try their luck. The former has already a well-earned reputation as a fisherman, and has been known to bring down half a wagon load as a result of a few hour's labour. It is said that he moves strategically on the fish, and surrounds or drives them in corner where they surrendered en masse. He has became so well known, of late, by the fish, that he has to wear a mask when approaching the water. Mr. Complin has his spurs to win in the line, and we predict for him, under Mr. Smith's able tutorship, a speedy graduation.

CINNAMON COATED

Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills are coated like a Cinnamon drop, very small and delightful to take.

SPORTING COLUMN

Baseball.

The request made by the Peterborough Baseball Club to have the league game, scheduled to take place on Thursday next, postponed until the following Saturday, has been refused. Our boys wanted to run an excursion on Saturday, which could not be arranged for the earlier date. COUNTRY NEARLY CLEARED.

General Clery Only Found One Laager on His Line of March

Witpoort, Transvaal, July 16.—General Clery's column, which has moved easterly, is now encamped here. During the march the mounted infantry engaged 300 Boers, shelling a ridge occupied by the burghers. It is anticipated that this movement will clear the country from Standerton to Heidelberg, as the troops found but one remaining laager, from which the Boers retired hurriedly. Witpoort is a few miles north of the Natal-Pretoria railway, and thirty miles east of Standerton, in the Transvaal. The above despatch shows the worthlessness of the rumor that Gen. Clery was retreating towards Natal.

London, Eng., July 14.—The press view of the Grave's Gallery was held yesterday. Three new military paintings by the famous artist, Mr Canton Woodville, attracted particular attention. One of them "The Dawn of Majuba Day, 1900," is of peculiar interest to Canadians. It represents the Boer laager at Paardeberg, with the Canadians gathered on the near-by heights and cheering at the sound of the "cease fire," after their famous dash which brought about Cronje's surrender.

SHOOTS RAPIDS IN A WASH TUB.

Bernard Cooney Performs the Bowser Trick in the Swift-Running Housatonic.

Derby, Conn., July 14.—Bowser and his boat will have to divide honors with Bernard Cooney and his washtub. Mr. Cooney read about "Bowser's" plan to shoot the rapids of Niagara Falls in his wonderful boat and was seized with the idea of winnnig a little glory for himself. He selected the dangerous rapids in the Housatonic River. Cooney was spending the afternoon with friends at the upper end of the lake.

Cooney, scorning specially constructed boats for his purpose, tossed a big washtub into the stream 300 feet above the rapids. With a shout he swam out and crawled inside the queer craft.

The current sent him whizzing toward the rapids. The mad waters hurled the old tub about like a cork and it bumped against rock after rock until it was shattered. Cooney was lost sight of for a minute and it was thought he would drown, but he was reached with difficulty and saved.

CHINA'S BIG ARMY IN FORMIDABLE ARRAY

How the Men arc Divided up in the Provinces.

THEY ARE STRONG NUMERICALLY

Interesting information relative to the Chinese army is given in a report just completed by the Office of Military Information of the War Department. "The total strength of the standing army of China cannot be exactly ascertained," the report says, "and if a statement of the number of men belonging to it could be given it would be of little value, as many of the men who are carried on the rolls are neither armed nor equipped and a great number of them are not even performing military service, but are following their usual civil avocations.

"In the present plan of organization each province furnishes and to some extent maintains an independent army corps. These troops are divided into eight banners of from 10 to 12 army corps each, three of which are 'superior' and five 'inferior banners.' These eight banners nominally contain about 300,000 men, but the number maintained on a war footing is from 80,000 to 100,000 only. The Imperial Guard at Pekin contains about 10,000 men."

"The nationalities comprising the banner force are three in number, viz. Manchu, Mongolian and Chinese, the latter being the descendants of those natives of Northern China who joined the Manchu invaders during the period of their contest with the dynasty in the early part of the seventeenth century.

"The soldiers are distributed under each color according to their nationality. There being three nationalities each banner is subdivided into three parts 'Ku-Saipy.' There are, therefore, 24 Ku-Sai, three in each K'i. The Ku-Sai and more administrative that tactical units. Under one or other of these divisions all living Manchus and all descendants of the Mongolian and Chinese soldiers of the conquest are enrolled.

"These banners constitute, in fact, the population of Pekin, with offshoots in various provincial, and a certain number of the adult males of this force receive pay as members of one or the other military corps into which they have from time to time been organized, in addition to the pittance they receive as soldiers of the banner.

"The various corps are divided into separate [illegible], numbering [illegible] men each in the infantry and 150 in the cavalry. The greater part of the banner forces have not received any modern drill, adhering to their old custom of practicing with the bow, and performing various athletic and even acrobatic feats. This is not remarkable, considering that success in these exercises is the qualification for the pension paid by the Government to every male Manchu.

"Up to a comparatively recent period nothing has been done to make these troops efficient. Many of them were armed with only bows and arrows and a kind of iron flail, and such as carried firearms possessed only the old national matchlock. A portion of these forces have been armed and trained after European methods. There may be in all 50,000 or 60,000 of the banner forces that have received modern arms and more or less military training.

"The Ying-Ping, or national army, called also the 'green,' flags of 18 corps, one for each province, under the Governor or Governor Generals. Its nominal strength is from 510,000 to 660,000 men, of whom about 200,00 are available for war, never more than one third being called out.

"The most important contingent is the Tien-Tsin Army Corps, nominally 100,000 strong, really about 35,000, with modern organization, drill and arms, employed in garrison duty at Tien-Tsin and at Taku and other forts.

"The militia is divided as follows. 'The Brave'—organizated about the middle of the nineteenth century. The men are enlisted for life. 'The Lian Dishiyum'—troops of later organization. They do not constitute a separate unit, but are attached to the 24 divisions of the eight banners, with which they are supposed to be trained for period each year. 'The Luin'—territorial militia, which is called upon for local service. The men are all Chinese and are enlisted for life.

"The Ying-Ping is recruited by voluntary enlistment. With the exceptuntary enlistment. With exception of trained contingent referred to this national army is not likely to be of much use. It seems, moreover, that in the past the Chinese Government has discouraged giving this part of the forces any modern efficiency; for, being under the control of the Viceroys of the provinces, they might be in the hands of these powerful vassals a source of danger instead of security to the Imperial Government.

"In Northern China the two-humped camel is the principal means of transport. But they are not very satisfactory, for though good beasts of burden when carefully nursed and driven they cannot withstand cold and [illegible] wind or extreme heat."

PUT AWAY THE GROWN

LI HUNG CHANG MIGHT HAVE BEEN EMPEROR

But Emphatically Refused the the offer of tht Crown of the Flowery Kingdom with the Crown Prince still in China.

London, July 16.—Li Hung Chang, the Celestials who has had more ups and downs during his long carer in the Flowery Kingdom than any other citizen of that country, might have been the ruler of China had been seen to act in consonance with the people who desired his elevation to the throne in order to bring the country out of chaos. Li may have been guilty of acts not strictly honest, according to the tenets of other countries yet he has always come to the front in time of trouble, and his people repose confidence in his great ability as a statesman. The latest proof of the hold he has on his constituency is his summons to act as a mediator between the Dowager Empress of China and the foreign powers. This circumstance gives on opportunity to place on record an important matter that occurred during the Governorship of the late Sir John Pope Hennessy at Hong-kong, in which certain prominent Chinese officials were mixed up. At the time referred to Russia had been more than unusually aggressive on the Chinese Siberian frontier, and the Chinese officials called into the conference the late General "Chinese" Gordon, for the purpose of asking his advice as to the defenses of the Chinese Empire.

Gordon was on his way to Tien-Tsin and Pekin, and stopped at Hongkong, and as he had conceived the idea of placing his old friend and fellow-campaigner, Li Hung Chang, at the head of Chinese affairs by making him the Emperor, he sought Li to sound him on the subject in order to see just how far he could trust him to second the scheme. Gordon imparted his views to Sir John Pope Hennessy, who, of course could not, in accordance with the importance of his position take an active part in the disturbance of the country with who mhis own was at peace, but Hennessy allowed his private secretary, with the aid of a prominent Chinaman in the Government service, to become the medium of communication between Gordon and the resident Cantonese colonists. One Sunday evening a conference between the "conspirators" was held at Hongkong, participated in by many representative Chinamen, and to this assemblage "Chinese" Gordon expounded his views in relation to the desirability of upsetting the reigning dynasty and placing Li Hung Chang upon the throne. The interpreter upon the momentous occasion was an official, "loaned" to Gordon for the time by Sir Hennessy. The project was viewed with doubt by many of the conservative Chinamen present, but the majority were in favor of it, and expressed themselves as willing to give Chang their support, in case he would declare himself in favor of enlightment and commercial development throughout the empire. This was very encouraging to General Gordon, and he at once started for Tien Tsin to find Li Hung Chang to who mhe wished to unfold the plot. To Gordon's dismay, he found the great Chinaman averse to the scheme, and emphatically declined to be a party to it. He literally "put away the crown." Gordon made no secret of the disappointment attending his venture, and so expressed himself to those who had assisted him in south China. It must be a source of inward satisfaction to Chang, however, that he might have been the ruler of his country, notwithstanding the fact that the "Catherine of China," the Empress Dowager, has never let an opportunity slip to humiliate him in the eyes of his countrymen, and it must be sweet incense to him to remember that whenever China is in trouble the pulic mind naturally turns to him to get it out.

THE WILYRUSSIAN FOOLED THEM ALL

The Secrets of the Chinese Troubles Coming Out.

CHINA AND THE POWERS

The Open Door Policy was not Backed up by Force at the Proper Time—Full History of the Diplomacy.

London, July 16.—A Government publication has recently been issued here. It consists of only a few printed sheets, and is entitled "China No. 2, 1900."

The six pages of which this publication consists contain a reprint of the correspondence between the United States and other Governments respecting foreign trade in China, and, whether regarded as a contribution to political history or as a brilliant example of modern diplomacy, with its pitfalls and its successes, this document is one which will repay the attention of the student of current affairs.

The history of the publication is simple. The British Government has during the three years given repeated assurances to Parliament of its firm adherence to the policy of the open door in China. Under this principle it is understood that the treaty ports and other trading centers of China should be made available for the trade of all countries on equal terms; and, further, that any territory based or based or about to be based by this or any other country should be thrown open to the traders of the world on the same terms as it is open to the nation by which the cession was obtained. The principal involved is an excellent one, provided it is adhered to by all alike. If one nation refrains from accepting its principles its value to the others is proportionately reduced.

The Real Situation.

The open door has, however, nominally at least, been occupied in principle by the majority of the Powers in China. Hong-kong is a free port, and as much open to the trade of the whole world. Kiao Chau, Wei-Hai-Wei and Talienwan have all been proclaimed available as markets for the world's produce, and Port Arthur is at present the only Chinese port in the possession of a foreign nation which is closed to the merchants of other countries.

The neglect of Lord Salisbury's Government to take steps to insure the carrying out of its open-door policy prompted the President of the United States to take action in the hope of arranging an understanding between the Powers interested in China for the mutual observance of the principles laid down; and in September last year a series of letters of inquiry were sent out from Washington to the European Powers, [illegible] this intention [illegible] the United States Government to adhere to the following principles in regard to China.

1. Not to interfere with any treaty port or any vested interest in any leased territory it may have in China.

2. To insist on the levying of equal taxes by the Chinese on all merchandise entering or leaving such ports.

3. Not to levy higher harbor dues on the vessels of any nation than those levied on her own.

With this modification was sent the request that the Powers addressed would accord their agreement to these undertakings, so as to insure uniformity in the conditions affecting international trade in China.

All The Powers Agreed.

In due course this circular note was acknowledged by each of the Powers, and Great Britain, France, Germany and Japan announced their approval of the principles laid down and their willingness to be bound by them on condition that all Powers concerned would give their adherence to the same. The effectiveness of the undertaking therefore hinged on the Powers being unanimous.

Eventually replies were received from Italy and Russia, thus completing the record. The former Power agreed to abide by the conditions without any stipulations. The reply of Russia is so important and so instructive that I append the gist of it in full.

After acknowledging receipt of the inquiry on the part of the President of the United States, Count Mourvieff wrote.

"In so far as the territory leased by China to Russia is concerned the Imperial Government has already demonstrated its firm intention to follow the policy of the open door by creating Talienwan a free port, and if at some future time that port though remaining free itself should be separated by a customs limit from other portions of the territory in question, the customs duties would be levied in the zone subject to the tariff upon all foreign merchants without distinction as to nationality."

The Russian reply concludes as follows.

"With the conviction that this reply is such as to satisfy the inquiry made in the aforementioned note the Imperial Government is happy to have complied with the wishes of the American Government, especially because it attaches the highest value to anything which may strengthen and consolidate relations of friendship existing between the two countries."

Swallowed in one Gulp.

On receipt of the response from Russia the United States Government informing each that all the others had accepted the proposals originally made, and that the President therefore held that the pledges given, subject to the unanimous consent being obtained, had become final and definitive.

On receipt of this communication Lord Salisbury, whose capacity for fathoming the depths of Muscovite diplomacy to be no greater than that of President McKinley, wrote on the 5th of April last.

"The successful termination of the negotiations carried on by the United States Government in the matter has been a source of much gratification to Her Majesty's Government."

And a communication bearing out this claim was sent round by the Foreign Office for publication in the press.

As a matter of fact there is no agreement in existance between the Powers on the subject of the open door in China. The pledges given by the signatories to the negotiations were accorded conditionally to a unanimous understanding being arrived at. The Powers have not been unanimous in their adherence to the principles laid down, inasmuch as Russia has distinctly refrained from pledging herself to observe them, and M. Mouravieff's dispatch, if carefully examined, will be found to consist of skillfully handled verbiage, which, while intended to carry with it an air of adherence to the points suggested, binds Russia in reality to nothing of the sort, and a perusal of the extracts given above will show that Russia refers to the opening of Talienwan as a proof of her intention to follow the policy of the

LANDED AT QUEBEC ON THE S. S. PARISIAN

Twenty-Seven Invalided Canadian Soldiers arrive Home from South Africa.

NAMES OF THOSE WHO HAVE RETURNED

Stories about Mitreatment in Military Hospitals Emphatically Denied--Chicken Stealing Case--Water did the Damage Could Not Stop Them

Montreal, July 14.—The correspondent of the Montreal Star, who went down to Father Point in order to meet down to Father Point in order to meet the returning invalids from South Africa and journey with them on the Parisian to Quebec, thus describes the Canadian soldiers and their experiences.

BOARDED THE PARISIAN

I boarded the aPrisian at Father Ponit and was the first to welcome the boys back to Canadian soil. Contrary to expectation, I found them all well without a single exception, in the best of health, and apparently ready at once to resume their positions on farm, in office, in workshop and behind the counter. Instead of cripples, I found strong, robust, ruddy faced fellows, with broad shoulders and fingers as straight as the pine trees on their native land. The voyage over has done them a world of good, and all have gained considerably in weight during the ten or more days they have been at sea.

The boys are 27 in number, and with one exception belong to the first contingent. The exception is a member from the Mounted Rifles. Shortly after his arrival at the front he was taken sick with a very severe attack of enteric fever, and was later sent to Netley hospital, England, for treatment. He has apparently recovered, although his eyesight in not as good formerly.

LIST OF THE INVALIDS.

The draft is made up of the following persons, only one of the number being from Montreal.

Sergt. W. Ackhurst, Halifax, in command.

Corp. Harry G. Heig, Ottawa, fever.

Corp. F. Norman Ray, Toronto, fever.

Corp. Jos. Sutton, Hamilton, wounded in battles at Paardeberg; sunstroke at Oodfontein.

Pte. J. W. Cartwright, second Canadian contingent, Ontario, fever.

Pte. H. S. Cairns, Ottawa, fever.

Pte. Herbert Lovett, New Brunswick, wounded at Paardeberg.

Pte. Victor F. Marinette, Windsor, Ont., wounded at Paardeberg.

Pte. Geo. J. Graham, London, Ont., fever.

Pte. Jno. McLeod, New Brunswick, fever.

Pte. F. J. McNabb, Nova Scotia, fever.

Pte. J. R. Ray, Vancouver, fever.

Pte Anthony H. Taylor, Ottawa, fever.

Pte. J H Coleman, Otawa, wounded at Paardeberg.

Pte. Robie Harvey, New Brunswick, fever.

Pte. Joseph Letson, New Brunswick, wounded in battle.

Pte. Dan Farguson, New Brunswick, injured at Belmont.

Frank Bath, Halifax, sunstroke.

Pte. Geo. Chapman, Fredericton, N B. feaver.

Pte. R. Bruce MacFarlane, New Brunswick, wounded at Bloemfontein.

Pte. W. Woodt, Ottawa, fever.

Pte. J. Hartnett, Halifax, fever.

Pte. Chas. R. Nickel, Montreal, heart failure.

Pte. J. F. May, Prince Edward Island, wounded at Paardeberg.

Pte. F. McIngeristrom, Toronto fever.

Pte. C M Creighton, New Brunswick fever.

Pte. M J McCarthy, Prince Edward Island fever,

AN EMPHATIC DENIAL.

The boys give a most emphatic denial to the stories published in several Canadian newspapers to the effect that they were badly treated in the English military hospitals. The reverse, they say, is exactly what occurred. Their wants were well loouked after, and they received every attention from the English surgeons and nurses. The food and nursing were all that anybody could desire. They were surprised to hear that unfavorable reports had been circulated in Canada regarding their treatment at Netley, Woolwich and Plymouth, and they, therefore, authorized me to state in most emphatic terms that such reports were entirely unfounded, misleading and malicious.

IN THEIR OWN INTERESTS

In regard to the published statement that although convalescent they were not permitted to leave the English hospitals on furlough, they said that in thus restricting them the English military authorities had acted in their best interests, for it was useless to obtain a furlough unless one had money, and just then most of them had veryl ittle of that very excellent and useful commodity.

AFRICAN HOSPITALS.

In regard to the field hospital service in South Africa, the boys whom I interviewed informed me that on the whole it was very satisfactory. There were occasions, however, when communications were cut. Then the hospitals became overcrowded, and at such times great physical discomfort and lack of proper attention were to be expected. The occasions were few, however, when such untoward events occurred, and the hospital service was as a rule well conducted.

Some time before leaving England, the boys to a man expressed themselves as desirous of returning to the front. The medical officer, however, would not hear of it, and ordered them to Canada.

THE CHICKEN STEALING CASE.

A number of very interesting stories are told by the boys. In regard to the punishment meted out by the Imperial authorities to the Canadian volunteer who commandeered the chicken at Sunnyside, they state that the worst thing he had to do was to shave the officers. He was a barber by occupation, and after taking the chicken, which, by the way, he had to give up, was made to work at his trade for fifty-six days, instead of soldiering.

ALL FOREIGNERS KILLED AMMUNITION GONE

After a Gallant Defence A Breach was made in the Wall And all Murdered.

Shanghi, July 15.

An official telegram was received tonight from the Governor of Shooting stating that a breach was made in the wall after a galant defence and all the ammunition had given out, all foreigners were killed.

London, July 16.

It seems impossible to intertain any longer the least doubt as to the fate of the European in Pekin, the associated press learns that Lady Harr wife of Sir Robert Harr, director of Chinese Imperial Maritime Customs. On July 5, received the following telegram from her husband. Our people including the woman are in the legations prepare to hear the worst (the European government have received, their representive at Shanghi. A despatch from the Governor of Shooting, July 3 reporting that the European troops made a sortie from Pekin and killed 200 of General Tung Fuh Siangs forces and that the Boxers were mounting guns to make a breach in the defence ,under date of July 12, the Governor of Shooting wires as follows. Native soldiers and Boxers have been attacking the legation for some hours, but have not yet effected an entrance they are now all bombarding with 1 large [illegible] to make [illegible] [illegible]. [illegible] I fear that all the ministers of the government as well are in great danger the government is intensely anxious. finally came the news from Shanghai the breach had been made and the foreigners killed all the dates probably refer to a much earlier period, but the presumption is that the successive dispatches give an out line of what has happened. The Europeans having reached the end of their resources, made a desparate sortie and there bravely met their fate, the details of the horrible story will probably never be known. Admiral Seymour dispatches give the latest news regarding the situation at Tien Tsin, telegrams to the associated press show the operations on July 11 were a brilliant success the Japanese cavalry and a mobile mounted battery did splendid work, four hundred Chinese were killed and six guns captured. At noon the settlement were again vigorously shelled from the native city, and the hospitals and other buildings were hit. The moral effect of the successes of the allied forces upon the Chinese is believed to be very great. The following is the text of an appeal of Americans in China assembled in mass. At a writing in Shanghai to their fellow citizens at home. Urgent is the government to send adequate forces to act effectively in concert with the other powers at present the American forces are quite [illegible] to the interests involved.

LORD SALISBURY'S ADVICE.

There is unquestionably much truth in Lord Salisbury's article in the New York Journal on "How Missionary Martyrs Imperil All Nations." When the missionary of the middle ages went among heathen tribes, there to preach the gospel and meet a martyr's death, the country whence he went sent no armies to avenge him. The Jesuit missionaries who first went to China knew that no matter what cruelties might be inflicted on them, Europe would do nothing to protect them. To-day, however, the missionary does not go as a "soldier of the church," which can aid him only with prayers, but as a citizen of some nation whose government is in honor bound to protect him to the extent of its power and to punish those who have done evil to him.

Consequently Lord Salisbury is quite right when he said that the modern evangelist who so conducts himself that his zeal leads to martyrdom, incurs the danger of exposing the lives of the native converts he may have made and may cause the shedding of the blood of merchants or travlers of his own nationality, and of the soldiers and sailors who may meet with death while avenging their murdered countrymen and seeking to prevent the repetition of such outrages.

These remarks about the dangers of an excess of zeal are made, of course, with special reference to China, while acknowledging that no man can be more devoted and more free from secondary motives than the missionaries of different nationalities and creeds who are laboring in that country, yet Lord Salisbury intimates plainly that it is to their presence and their labors that the existing dreadful condition of affairs in China is partly due. He says it is not because the missionaries are preaching the Christian religion among the people so indifferent on the subject of religion as the Chinese that Chinese converts are slaughtered, but it is because the Chinese "have got the idea that missionary work is a mere instrument of the secular government in order to achieve the objects it has in view." This is admittedly a mistaken idea, but it prevails extensively in China and has to be reckoned with in doing missionary work in that country.

But no matter how carefully missionaries may avoid excess of zeal, they cannot carry on their work as they are conducting it now without running counter to that mistaken idea of the ignorant Chinese. The evangelists of the middle ages were preeminently teachers of religion. To make converts by preaching the gospel was their mission. If that were all modern missionaries were doing it is quite possible there would be no hostility to them in China. But they seek to educate men and women as a preliminary to the spread of Christianity. They preach science and knowledge as well as the gospel. In doing that they run counter to venerable prejudices. They arouse the bitter hostility of influential classes. They are not an "instrument of the secular government," but they are the instrument of civilization, and the advent of civilization as understood by white men is what many Chinese object to greatly.

All civilized nations have for many years taken the ground that men have a right to go to heathen lands as missionaries and have a right to protection while here. The right of missionaries to drive at certain places in China is a treaty right. It is safe to assume that no civilized nation will change its views on this subject, even through the presence in China of the most cautious and considerate missionaries causes trouble there. Nor is it likely that there will be a lack of men and women who, actuated by high religious and humanitarian impulses, will go to semi-civilized lands to preach the gospel and civilization. If missionaries are not forbidden to go they will go, and the people among whom they may go must be taught, no matter how many soldiers it may take to do it, that those missionaries must not be tortured or killed. That should be done so effectually now in China that it will not be necessary to repeat the lesson.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Some people complain that the milk they get from certain Peterborough milkmen don't get as much cream on it as it ought to. There may be a very good reason for that. We were told a party who kept his milk on ice; his milk can leaked and let the ice water run up into the milk. People can't be too careful.

School Teacher's Headache.

It's not a new variety of headache. It's the old pain consequent on conditions which result from study, confinement, and careless eating. It is only one symptom of a derangement of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures headaches by curing the diseases which cause them.

"I was troubled with very frequent headaches, often accompanied by severe vomiting," writes Miss Mary Belle Summerton, of San Diego, Duval Co., Texas. "Bowels were irregular, and my stomach and liver seemed continually out of order. Often I could eat almost nothing, and sometimes absolutely nothing, for twenty-four hours at a time. I was entirely unfit for work, and my whole system seemed so run-down that I feared a severe sick spell and was very much discouraged. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and did so with such satisfactory results that before finishing the third bottle I felt perfectly able to undertake the duties attending public school life, and continued to do so. I most heartily advise those suffering with indigestion, and its attendant evils, to give this great medicine a fair trial."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets keep the bowels healthy.

WE CURE STRICTURE

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with this disease—many unconsciously. They may have a smarting sensation, small, twisting stream, sharp cutting pains at times, slight discharge, difficulty in commencing, weak organs, emissions, and all the symptoms of nervous debility—they have STRICTURE. Don't let doctors experiment on you, by cutting, stretching, or tearing you. This will not cure you, as it will return. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT absorbs the stricture tissue; hence removes the stricture permanently. It can never return. No pain, no suffering, no detention from business by our method. The sexual organs are strengthened. The nerves are invigorated, and the bliss of manhood returns.

WE CURE GLEET

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are having their sexual vigor and vitality continually sapped by this disease. They are frequently unconscious of the cause of these symptoms. General Weakness, Unnatural Discharges, Failing Manhood, Nervousness, Poor Memory, Irritability, at times Smarting Sensation, Sunken Eyes, with dark circles, Weak Back, General Depression, Lack of Ambition, Varicocele, Shrunken Parts, etc. GLEET and STRICTURE may be the cause. Don't consult family doctors, as they have no experience in these special diseases—don't allow Quacks to experiment on you. Consult Specialists, who have made a life study of Diseases of Men and Women. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will positively cure you. One thousand dollars for a case we accept for treatment and cannot cure. Terms moderate for a cure.

CURES GUARANTEED

We treat and cure: EMISSIONS, VARICOCELE, SYPHILIS, GLEET, STRICTURE, IMPOTENCY, SECRET DRAINS, UNNATURAL DISCHARGES, KIDNEY and BLADDER Diseases. CONSULTATION FREE. BOOKS FREE. If unable to call, write for QUESTION BLANK for HOME TREATMENT.

CAN'T SWEAR IN WASHINGTON

Two Men Caught in the Act Are Haled to a Police Court.

Washington, July 14.—The Washington police are conducting a crusade against profanity. Two men who had been caught were arrigned in the police court to-day. One of them, Norman Brockenbro, had been detected by a policeman in the act of using the word "damm" and others too ugly to mention. The case was clear, and Brockenboro confessed that he was a habitual offender. He was fined $5.

The other case, that of Philip Jennifer, was more complicated. Jennifer confessed his crime, but pleaded that it was not a habit with him. He was very much irritated at the heat and various other things, and yielded to temptation. Jennifer said that he never swore in cold weather, and even in summer he was very temperate in the use of profanity, being an almost total abstainer. He was asked if he ever swore in the presence of his wife and children, and assured the Court that he did not. He was released on his personal bond.

A FLAG INCIDENT

Mayor Payment Disapproved of the Flag Being Hoisted at City Hall.

Ottawa, July 13.—The flag was hoisted over the city hall Thursday morning by the order of Ald. Butler, chairman of the property committee. The attention of the Mayor was called to the matter by a number of citizens who thought that as the flag had not been raised with the consent or knowledge of his worship, it should be taken down.

Interviewed on the subject, the mayor said it was unfortunate that Ald Butler should have given any such order without consulting him. The flag was displayed on national holidays, such as St. George's St. Andrew's, St. Patrick's and St. Jean Baptiste, but the 12th of July was not a national holiday, neither was the Orange order a national society. The flag did not fly in honor of the C.O.F., the A.O.H. or any other society, and there was no reason why it should have been unfurled yesterday. For the good feelings and harmony which existed between the creeds, however, he had decided to allow it to remain in the interests of peace and for the purpose of not precipitating a riot. He had interviewed several Irish Catholics, who all advised that as the flag was up it should be left undisturbed.

Take This Letter to My Mother.

Take this letter to my mother,
Far across the deep blue sea;
It will fill her heart with pleasure,
She'll be glad to hear from me.
How she wept when last we parted,
How her heart was filled with pain,
When she said, 'Good-bye, God bless you—
We may never meet again."

Take this letter to my mother,
It will fill her heart with joy;
Tell her that her prayers are answered
God protects her absent boy,
Tell her to be glad and cheerful,
Pray for me where'er I roam,
And ere long I'll turn my footsteps
Back toward my dear old home.

Take this letter to my mother,
It is filled with words of love;
If on earth I'll never meet her,
Tell her that we'll meet above;
Where there is no hours of parting,
And is peace and love and joy,
God will bless my dear old mother,
And protect her only boy.

WELLAND CANAL EXPLOSION

Maude Gonne Denies That She Furnished Funds for the Dynamite Outrage.

New York, July 13.—Maud Gonne sends the following to a daily paper in Paris.—American and Canadian papers have published a story according to which I am supposed to have furnished funds for Welland Canal explosion. Owing to my having been abroad this has only just come to my knowledge, and I write to say it is totally untrue. In making this rectification, however, I do not wish for a moment to be supposed to be in any way condemning or disapproving the at that long suffering patience of Providence and thinking themselves instruments of eternal justice, risk their lives and liberties to strike a blow against that monstrous iniquity which is the British Empire. I consider an individual Irishman who, conscious of his country's wrongs, determines to strike her oppressor and to this end sacrifices his position, and if necessary his life, is a hero braver and nobler even than the soldier who, supported by his comrades and fenced around by the iron wall of military discipline, faces death at the order of his chief. It is against principles to ask others to go into danger which I do not share with them and for this reason I cannot allow it to pass uncontradicted that I am instigator of Welland canal explosion.

VESSEL BROKE IN TWO

Narrow Escape of Seven Hundred Excursionists from Death.

Newburg, N.Y., July 13.—The steamboat Emeline, of the Newburg-Haverstraw line, with seven hundred excursionists on board crashed into the Third street dock here at twenty minutes past eight o'clock on Wednesday last. The passengers' escape was almost miraculous, for the boat ran for about ten feet on the pier, broke in two and her after part now rests in thirty feet of water.

The excursionists were taken ashore from the boat over the roof of a building against which the boat had struck, and then to the ground by ladder. Some dropped from the roof and were caught by bystanders, many men having been at the pier waiting for their families.

The keel was broken amidships, the copper torn from the bow and the boat commenced to fill at once. The pumps were kept going until the water extinguished the fires and the after part commenced sinking. The tide and wind swung the boat up stream and this caused the boat to take water more rapidly.

The steamer Adirondack passed at twenty minutes before ten, and her swell caused the craft to go to the bottom. The hurricane deck aft is under the water. The bow stands ten feet in air. Indications are that the boat may slip back from the pier and become wholly submerged before morning.

ENGLAND'S AWFUL PRICE

Conquest of Boers Cost 46,123 Officers and Men.

London, July 14.—The week's casualty list issued by the War Office to-day brings the total British casualties in the Boer war up to 43,122 offices and men.

The list issued to-day showed that during the week ending July 7 there were killed, wounded or captured 16 officers and 123 men; accidental deaths, 3 men, died of disease, 4 officers and 124 men; invalided home, 72 officers and 1306 men.

RUSSIA'S DEMAND ON SULTAN.

Declares Porte Must Instruct Consuls in Caucasia to Vise Passports of Armenian Refugees.

Frankfort, July 13.—A Frankfort Zeitung special from Constantinople says; "The Russian embassy today handed the Porte a note demanding that the Porte command the Turkish Consuls in the Caucasus to vise the passes of 3,000 Armenian merchants who wish to return to Turkey. The total number of Armenian fugitives in the Caucasus is 40,000.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

WOMAN SHOT DEAD.

Killed while Taking a Revolver from her Child.

Buffalo, July 15.—One of the saddest accidents reported to the Coroners in months occurred about 11 o'clock this morning when Mrs. John Karien of 228 Guilford street shot and killed herself in her home with a 32 calibre revolver.

About 10:45 o'clock this morning a little daughter of the Kariens, about 16 months old, was playing about the house an date noticed the door of the safe partly open. She peered into it and saw the revolver lying there. She started to pick it up.

The mother happened to be nearby and saw the child take hold of the weapon. She ran to the safe and took it away from her and started upstairs with it to put it out of the child's reach.

On the way up the stairs the revolver was accidentally discharged and a bullet fro nall struck the mothe rin the left breast and penetrated her heart. She gave a gasp and in an instant was dead.

Mr. Karien was not home at the time of the accident. An old woman who was in the house heard the shot and ran to the stairway. She was horrified to find Mrs. Karien dead.

—Lindsay's fire alarm system was inspected by Messrs. Scott and Smith, of the Bell Telephone Company and pronounced useless. The town is now wrestling with the question of a new system.

—A Westwood correspondent writes to the Norwood Register and says:—"The Salvation army band, of Peterborough made a raid on Westwood on Monday night last. They arrived in town between eight and nine o'clock, and opened up with a concert, assisted by Westwood's celebrated talent. On account of it being so poorly advertised, there was very small crowd. I hope when the Westwood people have another concert they will get out posters and make it known. Dr. Oliver acted as chairman for the occasion.

BOXERS AT WEN CHOW

St Petersburg, July 14.—The latest offical advices received here regarding the spread of the revolution movements in Manchuria add but little material information. On June 24 an edict of the Emperor of China was intercepted. It ordered the Chinese troops to unite with the Boxers. Subsequently the govenor of Moukden informed the chief engineers that the railroad line must be handed over to the Chinese, and that all Russians must permanently leave Manchuria. The engineers' protests and urgings that governor ask for the assistance of the Russians at Port Arthur to annihilate the Boxers did not avail, and the Chinese troops continued to mass until the rising culminated in the murders and attacks on the railroad and towns already reported.

A dispatch from Shanghai says that a large number of Boxers have appeared in the country around Wen-Chow, and are threatening to murder all foreigners, their servants and native Christains .They are distributing badges and banners. The members of the foreign community in Wen Chow, chiefly missionaries, arrived safely at Ning Po to-day.

Wen Chow is a treaty port 220 miles south of Shanghai.

THE FLAG INCIDENT.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir,—There is a good deal of feeling amongst all creeds regarding the raising the flag of St. John's on July 12th. Had party tunes been omitted from the musical programme the day would no doubt fall into the class of festive occasions, etc., but when we realize that the soil of Africa is wet with the blood of loyal Irish Catholics, the raising of the flag to the music of "Croppies Lie Down" assumes a new phase. It is to be hoped that it was done thoughtlessly for otherwise the proceeding was in unfortunately, bad taste. It is to be hoped that the spirit of common citizenship and goodfellowship now rapidly rising in Canada will not be destroyed by the mistakes and prejudices of a few on either side.

Yours, etc.,
PROTESTANT.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Some one wrties in an evening paper, apologiznig for hoisting a flag on the 12th of July. "Protestant" is a might poor sample of the creed, if he thinks an apology is needed for raising loyal colors on the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne.

LOYALTY.

APPRECIATED.

I, Silas A. Millegan, Mayor of the Town of Midland and Chairman of the 12th celebration committee have much pleasure in thanking the Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons of Peterborough and their employees in the careful and courteous manner in which they performed their contract; also for decorating the line of march three days previous to the celebration. We consider such decorations as before stated to be a good advertisement and the cause of bringing a number of strangers to see the flags, mottoes, etc. which were numerous and well placed.

We heartily approve of that style of decoration over the old and cumbersome arches both for appearance and cleanliness.

S. A. MILLEGAN,
Mayor.

ACTIVITY AMONG CADET COMPANIES

Boom About to Occur in This Branch of the Canadian Defence.

WILL HAVE REAL RIFLES

The Ministers of Militia and Education are in Correspondence

There will be a great boom in the formation of military cadet companies in the High Schools and Collegiate Institutes during the coming year.

Negotiations are being carried on now between the Minister of Militia and the Minister of Education regarding the better arming of the cadets. It has been arranged that some of the rifles which will be discarded by the Department of Militia shall be placed in the hands of the High School cadets. Mr. Harcourt is of the opinion that imitation rifles are useless for the purpose of drill. The discarded rifles, however, will be of as great service for the cadets as Maxim guns would be.

The Minister of Education also favors a uniform of khaki for the cadets.

At the present time the Government gives a grant of $50 to cadet companies, and this may be increased.

There are cadet companies in the following places, Aylmer, Barrie, Brantford, Chatham, Collingwood, Dundas, Galt, Goderich, Guelph, Hamilton, Lindsay, London, Markham, Morrisburg, Mount Forest, Norwood, Napanee, Niagara Falls, Orillia, Owen Sound, Peterborough, Petrolea, Port Perry, Renfrew, St. Catharines, Harbord street, Toronto; Jarvis street Toronto; Jameson avenue, Toronto; Vankleek Hill and Woodstock.

Chemong Park Hotel.

The Chemong Park Hotel has a great number of guests and all the surrounding cottages are en fete. A bus line leaves Peterborough daily at 7 30 in the morning, and in the evening on the arrival of the 5 30 train from Port Hope that brings the Rochester, Buffalo and Toronto guests. The bus connects every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning with the Ogemah and we are in hope that next week the Ogemah will call here morning and evening every day. Many of the Park guests would like to go to Burleigh and Buckhorn if they could return the same day, and all this local trade is being sacrificed by the present way of running. The fishing is good. A series of hops will be commenced shortly, and several excursions are contemplated.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

ARRESTED AT PORT HOPE

Wm. Greenie was arrested in Port Hope on Saturday on a charge of cruelty to animals. It will be remembered that information was laid against three young men, about two months ago, by Mr. R. J. Wolsenholm, charging them with abusing a horse belonging to him. Only one appeared, and he was compelled to pay about $14, all told, for his conduct. The other two although served with papers, failed to appear, and the police have been on the look-out for them ever since. A police officer will go to Port Hope today and bring Mr. Greenie up, and he will apear at the Police Court to-morrow.

At the police court Saturday morning Fred Baker and John Swanton were fined $2 each for vagrancy. A similar charge against Thomas Tully was dismissed.

Joseph Neilist had a wages case of $1.85 against Noble Graham in police court Saturday morning. The amount was paid and the case dismissed.

—An Assyrian and his wife, a Peterborough lady, have been airing their troubles in police court for a couple of mornings and have decided to dissolve the union by simply separating.

CHINESE REGIMENTS ORDERED SOUTHWARD

A General Anti Foreign Rising Will Take Place Throughout China

ALLIED FORCES WERE BEATEN AT TIEN TSIN

Their Attack on the Nativa City Was Repulsed With Heavy Loss and Powers May Seek a New Route—Discontent is Spreading in the Meantime

London, July 3, 35 a.m.

Up to this hour there has been no further news regarding the report massacre at Pekin from any source In the house of Commons last evening beyond an admission that there was no grand for hoping that the report was not true, William St. John Brodrick, parliamentiary sec., of the foreign office had nothing to Communicate. Telegram from Shanghi and Chee-foo indicate an increasingly serious state of affaire it is alleged that the foreign oConsuls at Shanghi have cabled their government that there is urgent need of more warships to protect that part. Owing to the menacing attitude of the Chinese of the temptation to shooting the vast pteres of merchandise recently accumulated there. It seems that the Chinese have already threatened to fire the great oil tanks on the Pautung side of the City. From Chee-foo comes the report that the intere adultmale population, of the provinces Chihli, Shansi and shooting are marching to defend Pekin. In the conviction that the Powers mean war, there is litle doubt that afurther Check of the allied at Tein Tsin would be the signal for ageneral Anti foreign rising throughout China. The Japanese offical are still confident of their ability to reach Pekin before the roads become impossible but the European Commanders believe an advance will be impossible before September.

Perhaps the most serious among the many reports from Shanghai is the rumor that since the massacre at Pekin five Chinese regiments have been ordered south with instructions to make Ching Hang Ho at the head of the Grand canal. The objective point for the south ward extension of the boxer movement. The Times says it is taken for granted in diplomatic circles that when the Chinese crisis is settled. Great Britain will retain the right to nominate the inspector of customs.

Washington, July 16.—The Navy department thismorning received official confirmation from Admiral Remey of the reverse of the allid forces at Tien Tsin in the morning of the 13th The despatch is dated Chee Foo July 16, and says:

"Reported that aclliied forces attacked native city morning, 12th Russians, right, with 9th nfantry andmarlines on the left leases, allied forces large Russains 100 including artillery colohel; Americans, over 30; British over 40 Japanese 58 including Col. French 25, Colonel Liscum, Ninth Infantry, killed; also Captain Davis marine corps; Captain Lemly, Lieuts Butler and Leonard wounded.

"At seven in the evening th callied attack on native city was repulsed with great loss. Returns yet incomplete: details not yet confirmed.—Signed, Remey."

MET A DEADLY FIRE

Allied Forces Lost Over 100 Killed—Chinese Marksmanship is Accurate.

London, July 16. — The Evening News prints a despatch dated at Shanghai to-day giving a detailed account of the attack of the allied forces on the native city of Tien Tsin, reported in the despatch to the Associated Press dated Tien Tsin July 13.

According to the Evening News' despatch thealliedforceswere rpulsed and dmpelled to retreat with a loss of more than 100 killed, the British losing forty and the Japanese sixty. The Americans and the uRssians also suffered heavily. Among the Americans killed were Col. French, od the Twenty fifth Infantry, and Col. Liscum of the of the Ninth Infantry. A Russian colonel of artillery was also killed.

The despatch says that the Chinamen fought with great desperation, and that their marksmanship was accurate and deadly.

HEAVY AMERICAN LOSSES

The Forces Were Caught in an Exposed Position and Suffered Severely.

Tien Tsin, July 13, via Che Foo, July 15, and Shanghai, July 16.—At two o'clock this afternoon seven thousands of the allied troops were attempting to storm the walls of the city. The attack began at daylight. Its success is doubtful. The Chinese on the walls are estimated conservatively at 20,000. They are pouring a terrific hail of artillery, rifle and machine gun fire upon the allied Americans, Japanese, British and French troops approaching from the west and Russians from the east.

The Americans suffered terribly. As the Associated Press representative left the field the chief surgeon of the Ninth Infantry saidit was a conservative estimate that 25 per cent. of the Americans had been hit. Colonel Emerson H Liscum is reported to have been mortally wounded while walking in front of his troops.

Officers declared that it was a hotter fight than Santiago.

REBELLION SPREADING

Foreigners' Perils at Pekin Increase—Quiescent Provinces Now Becoming Disaffected.

London, July 16 — "Revenge to-day, mourning to-morrow," is practically the universal cry of Europe, but it is for theindredible barbarities that are reported to have marked the last sehe within the legations at Pekin. Nothing is clearer than that the anti-foreign conflagration in China is rapidly permeating hitherto quiescent provinces and though it is recognized that every day which leaves Pekin in the power of the mob increased the perils and difficulties of the situation, nothing comes from the diplomatists of Europe to show that the powers have overcome the jealousies, resulting general impotency, to which is commonly ascribed the sacrifice of the handful of women, children and men comprising the international colony in Pekin

Nothing has been received to-day that adds to the information previously obtained regarding the massacre. The only ray of light extricable from the Pekin messages appears to be the statement that Ching and his followers did their utmost in defence of the Legations. The rebels however, are evidently greatly in the majority, and the few loyalists are helpless before the hordes who have joined and are daily joining the blood-stained camarilla who have usurped authority at Pekin.

The fate of the capital appears to threaten othertowns like Ti en Tsin, Chee Fu, and even Shanghai. The defeat of the allied forces at Tien Tsin seems to place that town in desperate straits, and if retreat to Taku should be necessitated observers consider that it would be likely to decide the policy of wavering Viceroys.

The departure of Admiral Seymour from Tien Tsin and the movement of warships toward Shang Hai Kuan on the Gulf of Liao Tung are taken to indicate this route may be adopted for an advance on Pekin, which is distant 170 miles from Shan Hai Kuan.

The members of the Chinese Legations this morning still assert that they have no information concernign thefate of the foreigners in Pekin.

A LURID YELLOW STORY

New York Paper Says the Allied Forces Shot Their Own Wounded.

New York, July 16 — The desperate straits in which the allied forces have been in Tien Tsin are described in a cable to the Journal and Advertiser, dated from the beleaguered city, July 8, via Shanghai July 15. The message describes the garrison as fighting hordes of Chinese day and night unable to drive them off, and of suffering repeated defeats.

The despatch says;—"When Admiral Seymour in his retreat found himself so hard pressed that he was unable longer to carry his wounded with them, he asked them which do you prefer, to be left to the mercies of the Chinese or to be shot by your own comrades?"

"As Admiral Seymour put the questionm the tears were runnni gdown his cheeks. "We prefer death to torture. Shoot us now, that we may die like men," was the piteous response of the helpless soldiers.

"A firing squad was told off. The little allied force stopped and beat off with gunfire the Chinese horde that surrounded it. A few merciful volleys from the rifles in the hands of friends, and the fanatical Chinese horde was cheated of victims for its torture, and the sufferings and fears of the unfortunates were brought to an end in an honorable death under their own flag.

"The fury of the Europeans against the Chinese on account of the latter's mutilation of the dead and torture of the living knows no bounds.

"All the wounded, and the prisoners who fell into the hands of the Chinese were frightfully tortured.

"The bodies of two marines who were captured by the Chinese wer recovered The eyes had been hacked out, and the cheeks, arms and legs cut off"

POISON FOR HIS WIFE

A Story That Sir Claude Macdonald Had Long Been Prepared for Such a Tragedy.

New York, July 16.—According to a cable to the World from London, Robert Yerburgh M. P., is quoted as saying that he knew that Sir Claude Macdonald, the British Minister at Pekin, long had had in view the possibility of some such tragedy as seems to have occurred.

"Sir Claude," said Mr. Yerburgh, "pledged his wife to shoot her to prevent her from falling into the hands of the natives, and provided her with a quick poison to be used in case of his inability to fulfill his pledge."

ALLIES' VICTORY AT TIEN TSIN

The Forces of the Powers at Tien Tsin are Holding Their Own—They Drove off the Chinese

London, July 16, 3.30 a.m.—Admiral Seymour's despatches give the latest news regarding the situation at Tien Tsin. The operations on July 11 were a brillant success. The Japanese cavalry, and a mobile mounted battery did splendid work. Four hundred Chinese were killed and six guns captured. At noon the settlements were again vigorously shelled from the native city, and the hospitals and other buildings were hit. The moral effect of the successes of the allied forces upon the Chinese is believed to be very great.

Allies Win at Tien Tsin.

Two Japanese transports have arrived at Chee Tu and landed a commander and marine regiment, stores, field pieces and ammunition. It was reported that the hCinese had been defeated at two new positions commanding the river communication with Tien Tsin.

The Foreign Office announces that the British Council at Shanghi reports that the whole foreign community from Wenchow have been safely landed at Shanghi.

It is stated in official quarters that the Governor of Shansi and Honan have joined the anti-foreign movement. The Counsuls have telegraphed to them requesting them to continue to protect foreigners in their provinces and saying that if they do not do so they wioll be answerable under treaty obligations.

Big Army Gathering.

The situation at Tien Tsin seems to have improved, but there is no prospect of an advance movement for a month or six weeks, or until reinforcements have been received on a large scale. These additional forces will include nearly 50,000 troops from India, Germany, France and Italy. Russian troops are already in motion, but there is no offical estimate of the strength of the army which will be employed. It will be the largest combined European contingent ever in the field. Japan has arranged to send 22,00 troops, and possibly will increase the force to 50,000 or 60,000. There will be over 100,000 European and Japanese soldiers in China before the end of September, and this number may be increased to 150,000.

Retribution will be their mission. There cannot be any possible means of securing adequate reparation for the slaughter of the Minister and four hundred to nine hundred foreigners. The partition of the empire at the end of the campaign will be arduous and costly, and is the natural sequel to the crime against foreign nations.

TELLS OF GERMAN POLICY

MINISTER OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS' OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

Count von Buelow Declares That Germany Will Unite with the Powers in Restoring Order in China, in Establishing a Form of Government, in Securing Redress for Misdeeds, but will Oppose Any Plan for the Partition of the Empire.

Berlin July 16.—Count von Bulow the German Minister of Foreign affairs today publishes over his own signature a long review of the Chinese disturbances, which concludes;

"The aim we pursue is the reestablishment of the safety of persons and property and the employment of German subjects in China, the deliverance of the foreigners in Pekin, the re-establishment and maintenance of settled conditions under a regular Chinese government, with expiation and satisfaction for the misdeeds committed.

"We desire no partition of China; we seek no separate advantages. The imperial government is firmly convinced that the maintenance of a good understanding among the powers is prerequisite to the restoration of peace and order in China, and will continue to act in accordance with this conviction;"

European Situation Serious.

Count von Bulow states that the Ministers on Jan 27 last demanded energetic measures against the Boxers. It is evident however that the Ministers underestimated the strength of the movement until communication with the coast was cut off.

This unusual mode of enlightening the country regarding the policy of the government indicates that the government believes the international situation to be highly inflammable.

After critically reviewing the Japanese army an dnavy the Tageblatt says: Russia, wil lbe able for many years to oppose Japan with equal forces. Japan, allied with England, o aneasily dominate the Orient.'

German American Treaty.

The Foreign office has not yet been accurately informed regarding the commercial agreement signed at Washington, states that Germany had no special concessions beyond the most favored nation privileges which America already enjoys Count von Bulow's representative said; "I am unable to say whether the agreement will bring Germany any great practical advantages, the importance, perhaps being mainly theoretical and political."

ITALY'S PLANS IN CHINA.

MILITARY EXPEDITION TO SAIL FROM NAPLES WEDNESDAY.

Two Thousand Men with Two Hundred and Twenty Rapid Fire Guns to Be Added to the Allied Army Assembling in the Far East—American Policy Generally Commended, but Fear is Expressed That Russia Will Have Her Own Way.

Rome, July 16.—Italy is taking the most extraordinary interest in the critical situation in the Far East. Politics has been almost entirely forgotten. The general sentiment in governmental circles is that Italy should do her part in restoring order in China as one of the powers of Europe. The Italian expedition which is to take part in the Chinese campaign consisting of 2,000 picked troops is being outfitted at Naples from which port it will sail next Wednesday.

The Italian troops will go supplied with every requisite for a long and arduous campaign. They will carry with them 220 rapid firing field guns. This unusual proportion of the rapid-fire guns is deemed necessary by the character of the fighting likely to take place in China, the rapid-fire gun being especially useful in dealing with the large unorganized mobs which make up the Chinese army.

The Count of Turin will go to Naples Wednesday to personally represent King Humbert in bidding the troops God speed.

The aMrquis Visconti-Venosta, Minister of Foreign Affairs, responding to-day in the Chamber of Deputies to an interpellation regarding the intentions of the government as to China, said;

"The Cabinet has no political intentions toward expansion or intrigue in China. Its programme is to maintain perfect accord between Italy and the other powers. A fleet and some troops represent the participation of Italy in the common task.

"We cannot leave entirely to others the protection of our national rights, nor are we disinterested in the work of mutual interests and civilization which the powers are seeking to carry on in China."

American policy in China is warmly commended in official circles. Tribuna today says, however, that the Chinese government expects to use the American policy for its own selfish ends in settling with the powers looking to the United States to prevent the partition of the empire. Tribuna doubts the ability of the American government, hlowever, to influence Russia in preventing the latter's designs upon northern China.

KILLED HIS WIFE AND THEN HIMSELF

An Old Man, Seventy Years of Age, Commits Both Murder and Suicide —Terrible Tradgedy Enacted Near Cayuga

Cayuga, July 16.—Th epeople of this comunity were startled on Saturday morning when they heard of the horrible death of James Swick and his wife, an old couple about 70 yearsof age. The old man first killed his wife and then put and end to his own existence. The scene of the tragedy is at a farm house in East Seneca about four miles from the village of Canfield andten miles from Cayuga. The old man has acted strangely for some time past, but the family thought little about it. On Friday at noon their son Harvey went to the field to cut wheat leaving the old couple alone in the house. When he returned at night a dreadful spectacle was present to him; th mother was lying dead with her head horribly bruised, apparently by a hammer, and the father was lying with his head almost shot off by means of a shotgun in his own hands. Death must have came almost instantaneously to him. There were signs of a struggle between the old man and woman, as her throat showed finger prints, he then completed his work by means of a hammer, as her head was badly battered. The hammer was found under the house, where the old man had put it after doing his terrible work. Then he completed his own destruction as already described. Mr. Kerr, coroner, accompanied by Mr. C. W. Colter, Crown Attorney of Haldimand, went to the scene of the tragedy Saturday evening and held an inquest, but no new develepments were brought out. Suicidal tendencies are in the family, as one of his brothes killed himself several years ago. They were well-to-do farmers, and have a family grown up. There was a doubt funeral on Sunday afternoon, when the old couple were laid away.

380 FOREIGN VAGRANTS ARRESTED BY BRITISH

In Consequence of the Discovery of a Plot to Create a Riot at Johannesbury

10,000 BOERS ASSEMBLED WEST OF PRETORIA

They Have Many Guns With Them—Boer Raiders Creep Close to the British Lines and Engage in Sniping—Invasion of the Orange River Colony by Van Reenan's Pass

Pretoria, July 16.

Three hundred and eighty vagrant foreigners have been arrested at Johannesburg in consequence of the discovery to a plot th create a roit and to join a Boer commando with which they have been in communication. The foreign consuls have been notified. The suspect will be liberated if the consuls will answer their good behavior.

New York, July 16.—A dispatch from Pretoria, dated July 14, says the Boers continue massing from ten to twenty miles outside the Magaliesburg range, Mnear Pretoria. Their laagers now extend from the Delagoa Bay Railway across the Warmbath line westward.

The enemy's total strength is probably about ten thousand men with many guns. The inaction of the British main army has given the enemy confidence. The Boer raiders creep closer and do much sniping.

London, July 16.—With a preserverance and courage which no record of history can excel and which emulate the characteristics of the English race itself, the Boers still continue their struggle against the greatest army Britain ever put in the field. Lord Roberts has been stalled in Pretoria forf ive weeks, and his prospects of moving foreward are no greater than in the first day of the occupation. The compulsory pause he is making is due to a variety causes, the chief of which is undoubtedly the presence of De Wet on his line of communications to the rear, with the addional impediments of scarcity of stores and horses. The dogged courage of the Boers has impelled them t omake another stand against the invader, and already ten thousand men are said to have assembled in the vicinity of Pretoria, determined to force the British into the field while laboring under disadvantages. The lofty Magaliesburg range, about forty miles west of Pretoria, is to be the Tugela of the Transvaal, and here the enemy are entrenching themselve and have thrown out forts or a distance of twenty miles, members of which keep close to the British lines and cause many isolated cases of damage of life and property with and occasional raid of the nature of that which cost Lord Roberts a portion of the Scots Greys and Lincolns. The brightest spot on the horizon is the Orange River Colony through Reenan's Pass by a forcef rom Natal. Should this invasion succeed De Wet would be entirely cut off. The column operating against him would have a direct line of railway to the sea, and the defeat of the last remnants of the Boer armies in the Orange River Colony would follow. A body o fsome 40,00 0or more men would thus be released and could throw their weight into the balance against Botha at Pretoria, with a result which could not be long in doubt.

New York, July 16.—At 1 o'clock this morning Mr. Isaac N. Ford cables The Tribune regarding the South African situation. He says "Lord Roberts despatch yesterday contained one statement which seemed to indicate progress in the clearance of Orange River oClony, and in bringing the South African war to an end. This was the fact that troops were moving up Van Reenan's Pass. If this pass has fallen into the possession of Sir. Harrismith will speedily be occupied, and the transport difficulty will be diminished for retaining the operations in that quarter.

"Not only is Harrismith the terminus of the railway leading to Ladysmith, but it lies behind Bethlehem, close to the mountains. Its occupation by the British will complete envelopment of Dewet's forces, which are among the hills near Fouriesburg, close to the Basuto frontier, and with General Buller's Ladysmith reserves in Van Reenan's Pass General De Wet's forces will be shut out from their only line of retreat, and their surrender may be brought about more speedily than has been expected.

WHAT IS BOTHA'S OBJECT?

He is Evidently Trying to Relieve Pressure on De Wet.

London, July 16.—General Louis Botha's operations around Pretoria seem to have been planned with care and intelligence. He probably realises that General De Wet is laboring under great difficulties in the Orange Free State, and wishes to do all he can to relieve the pressure upon that general. Military critics believe that General Botha, judging from his dispositions, will give Lord Roberts much trouble in maintaining his communications and averting the capture of his outlying garrisons north of the Vaal. While so large a proportion of his army is occupied in the attempt to surround De Wet, the Boers constantly threaten the railway between Pretoria and Laing's Nek.

General Buller manages to frustrate their designs only by vigilant and persistent scouting. British forces are now being pushed through Van Reenan' now being pushed through Van Reenan's pass for the purpose of advancing against the Free State burghers from the east.

President Steyn remains in the field east of Senekal, where it is reported 10,000 Boers occupy favorable positions. A few days ago London expected the Federals would speedily surrender, but now one hears only talk of a prolonged campaign.

BOERS IN A BAD CORNER

Steyn Has Given Up All Hope Since Loss of Bethlehem.

Senekal, Orange River oClony, July 15.—Gen. Rundel's rapid advance has, it is said, forced the Boers into an obviously bad corner. President Steyn is reported to have given up all hope at the loss of Bethlehem, and would have surrendered, but Gen. De Wet threatened to shoot him, and it is believed he was imprisoned in his own laager.

Capt. Driscoll, of "D" Scouts, who went alone to Zeringkrantz to view the Boer position, was surprised at breakfast by four Boer scouts. He picked up his rifle and commanded them to surrender or he would shoot. The four surrendered, although Driscoll was ten miles away from the main body of the scouts and close to al arge Boer force.

FOUGHT ALL DAY LONG

Strathcona Horse Driven in by Heavy Rifle Fire.

London, July 15.—A report from Platkop says that the British engaged the Boers all day long. Scouts and mounted infantry arriving north located the Boers, a thousand strong, occupying the ridge from which they were driven yesterday. oCl. Thorneycroft's men held the ridge facing them. Members of the Strathcona Horse were driven in, temporarily, on the right by the heavy musketry fire. After a stubborn resistance the Boers forced the British to bring the howitzers into action. The infantry deployed for a general advance, under Gen. Clery's direction. The Boers opened fire in all directions, shelling with the guns posted on the British right. The mounted infantry, in the face of a severe fire, attacked the Boers. A gun posted on an entrenched kopje four miles to the east forced the Boers from a number of ridges, detached parties in the centre, while a gun on the right was withdrawn through a ravine towards the entrenched hill. Platkop is near Witport and north of the Natal to Pretoria railway line.

TO UPHOLD ENGLAND'S FLAG.

Indian Troops That Great Britain Will Send to China.

London, July 17.—The Indian army has not had long to wait before being called on to tender help to the British empire. The expedition to China will be a slight solace to it for having to mark time while the game of war was hotly played in South Africa. The expeditionary force which is to be sent out will number 5,000 men of all arms. With the exception of the field battery of artillery, it consists entirely of native regiments.

But these regiments have in their ranks many races and many sects and creeds; stalwart Sikhs, Rajputs of high lineage and the bluest blood of Hindustan; fiery Pathans from the wild borders of Afghanistan; mild-eyed Tamils and Telingas from the ricefields of Madras; Sikh, Hindu and Mohammedan—aye, and Roman Catholic, for Madras Sappers usually profess this creed, though now and again a Protestant, a Nonconformist and even an American Methodist finds his way into the ranks of these splendid Indian engineers. This contingent is thoroughly representative of India as a whole. Its departure will stir up a spirit of envy throughout the native army; it will start multitudinous prayers for a large development of the Chinese crisis and the consequent need for many more troops.—London Daily Mail.

TRADE WITH CHINA.

The disturbances in China appear to be seriously affecting its commercial relations with the outside world. The United States has only recently become serious competitor of Great Britain in that market but the American exports to China have reached considerable proportions in the last few years. However, the export trade has been completely stopped for the present. Last year the United States exported over $10,000,000 worth of cotton cloth to China, and 41,000,000 gallons of kerosene oil, besides quantities of flour, sugar, window glass, lamps, clocks, woollen goods and machinery. As shipments have now ceased the New York merchants engaged in the trade think there will soon be a cotton an dkerosene famine in China.

The trade of Great Britain with China is much larger than that of the United States, and a complete stopage of it might very materially affect the general prosperity. If order should not soon be restored the consequences might be somewhat serious. India, as well as England is intereste din Chinese trade. The Indian government derives a very large revenue from the exports of opium to China an dif that trade should be checked by the revolution it might temporarily embarrass the finances of British India.

Canada's exports to China are so limited that this country will suffer little direct injury.

When order is restored many reforms will no doubt be effected in China. The country will be opened by railways and the trade with the outside world will no doubt increase enormously. Canadian manufacturers should prepare to take advantage of the situation. There is no good reason why Canada should not derive as great benefit as any other country from the opening up of China. Our ports on the Pacific are nearer to China than those of the United States an dour Atlantic seaports are as advantageously situated for trade with China as the Atlantic ports of the United States. We have the shortest transcontinental railway, and the grades are easier than on the American routes. All that is required is capital and enterprise to develop a great trade between Canada and China. Now is not the time to begin shipments, but Canadian manufacturers should keep themselves well posted upon the Chinese situation an dbe prepared to push trade in that direction as soon as order is restored.

"BROTHERHOOD" OF MAN.

We still civilize through the agency of the canon. In the pauses of the shot we discuss art, literature and science, we have even the new philosophy of humanitarianism. We talk of brotherhood, but we give prizes for the invention of the most destructive weapons, and we hide the secret of the new arm or the new powder with jealous care, for it is our firm intention to test it upon our neighbor! We are polite and high-minded in the reviews; we have the peace conferences which excite the hope of the world; but always one may hear the tread of armed men, and always mean to use force in the last resort. Nothing can be prophesied in regard to China. Events are moving rapidly in that extraordinary country, which expresses, in all its official acts, an immense contradiction. During the war with Japan only two out of some twenty-three provinces knew that anything unusual was taking place. One feels that it is always the unexpected that may happen. The greatest dread in China is silence. The life may be lost, the dynasty may be overturned, the high tragedy may be enacted,—all in the profoundist silence. It was only yesterday that China acknowledge the existence of other nations. She was sole. She ruled the universe. She had been from of old; her records were lost in antiquity. She had been classic, she had her high philosophies; her wise men had given off their treasures; she had that splendid symbolism which exalts what is trival and mean. The west used to take off its boots in the presence of the Emperor. Of late years [illegible] and [illegible] ed [illegible]. [illegible] was [illegible] ed, but China let it to be understood that she merely agreed to tolerate the [illegible] such a nation with cannon, and [illegible] cannon is the denial of the principles to which the West is supposed to conform. And truly the cannon is a civilizer, and it may be through the [illegible] that a new era shall be opened up for China. In the [illegible] there is mob rule an dassassination, murder and pillage, and the mind looks in that distant region for one of those towering cataclysms for which it has been prepared by the silence and mystery and necromancy of the east.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's answer to Mr. Lariviere in the House Saturday indicates that the premier considers the school question as legally dead, and that he isn't in the grave-digging business.

Civilization has long had laws prohibiting the sale of whiskey to red men, and civilization just about now begins to wish it had had a law in force a few years back that would have prevented enterprising white gunsmiths from disposing of millions of Mausers and thousands of Krupps to the Chinese.

The Czar, it is announced, will re-arm the Russian field artillery with three-inch rapid fire guns, at an expense of $61,000,000. About the time he gets the bill of it he is expected to summon another peace conference.

Off the Track

This means disaster and death when applied to a fast express train. It is equally serious when it refers to people whose blood is disordered and who consequently have pimples and sores, bad stomachs, deranged kidneys, weak nerves and that tired feeling. Hood's Sarsaparilla puts the wheels back on the track by making pure, rich blood and curing these troubles.

Constipation is cured by Hood's Pills. 25 cents.

Dr. Borden's Emergency Rations.

Montreal, July, 14.—The correspondent of the Montreal Star who met the returning Canada inlnvalids at Father Point and accompanied them on the Parsian to Quebec, finally disposes of the question of the value of Dr. Borden's emergency rations. He says:

During the course of my interviews I ran across a member of the Canadian Mounted Rifles. I found that he had with him a can of the famous emergency rations, supplied by the Dominion to the second contingent. When asked as to the value of the stuff he laughed and said: Why we had to throw it away and get an English article, as it was utterly worthless as an emergency ration. A number of the cans were opened but the boys would not eat their contents and so they were thrown by the wayside. The great majority were destroyed unopened. The powder was unpalatable even when eaten in the for mof porridge and was also entirely valueless as a tissue producing food. I am taking a box home just to show my people what the Government gave us to live on when unable to secure any other kind of food.

The boys of the first contingent, I found had been supplied with an English emergency food and had not seen the Canadian article. There were, therefore, unable to express an opinion concerning it. The boys have little use for Canadian khaki. The uniform supplied the contingent by the Dominion Government, they say, went to pieces shortly after the regiments arrival at Belmont. The cloth was poor and the tunics were badly made. They were finally used for cleaning the rifles. Col Herchmer, who went out with the Canadian Mounted Rifles, is also a passenger on the Parsian. Beyond a brief description of the passage over he declined to be interviewed. He utterly refused to say anything in regard to the action of Maj. General Hutton in relieving him of his command.

PROTECTION FOR EVERY WOMAN IS FOUND IN DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

"I am the mother of four children," writes Mrs. Euphemia Falconer, of Trent, Muskegon Co., Mich. "My first two babies were still-born, and I suffered every thing but death. My friends all thought I could never recover. I was reduced to 109 pounds. When I was three months along for my third child I was taken with hemorrhage or flooding and came near having a miscarriage from female weakness. For two months I was under the care of our doctor, but was getting weaker all the time until one day I happened to come across one of your little books and I read it through, and the next day I sent and got three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one bottle of 'Pellets.' I improved so fast I continued to take your medicine until baby was born, and he is healthy and all right. My health has been good ever since. I now weigh 165 pounds."

Short Story of the Day

A Double Change of Opinion.

He was a minister of the Episcopalian fold—an "Anglican priest," as he would have expressed it—and he believed most ardently in the wisdom and advisability of a priesthood.

"The church demands and should receive absolute singleness of devotion from her priests," was the way he stated the matter to his friends.

She was an artist firm in the belief that a real devotion to Art admitted of no other loves or devotions.

"One cannot serve the gods and at a family altar," was her manner of stating the case.

They met upon the transatlantic steamer coming over, and the inevitable happened.

He had been in England, studying the semi-monastic orders of the Anglican Church in that country. She had been sketching in France and Germany, closing her trip with a flying visit to London and Liverpool. He was from New York; she was from Chicago. Their principles were exactly alike, only they didn't know it. But it only took them 10 days to discover this fact.

He was attracted to her because of a certain high pureness of face and bearing which set her far apart from the merry, charming, but decidedly flirtatious other women who sat at her table—and his. She came to the conclusion that he undoubtedly "had something to him," because of the quiet reserve of his manner. A long acquaintance with Art had taught her that it is the face—as the picture—which holds something in reserve that usually proves worthy of study and cultivation. Besides, the high vest and large silver cross, which stamped him as a ritualist among ritualists, and, therefore, most likely a believer in celibacy, made her feel perfectly, delightful, safe in enjoying his company. Mirable Anneston often found it necessary to be extremely careful in her intercourse with the other sex. She was a pretty girl and decidedly charming; since she did not intend to marry—or thought she did not, which amounted to the same thing—it behooved her to be careful how she raised false hopes.

Rupert Hazard—Father Hazard, as he preferred to be called—felt correspondingly safe in talking with Miss Anneston, because self-consciousness seemed to be so entirely lacking in her make-up. They began by talking about art, literature, and the deeper problems of social economics. They didn't begin to talk of love, even in the abstract, until Liverpool had been left behind for seven days. The young woman who had made and broken two engagements in that time led them in this direction unconsciously.

Neither of them was a gossip, but the thing seemed so incredible— to people who hadn't crossed the ocean often enough to become accustomed to this sort of phenomena—that they couldn't help thinking of it, having been informed of the fracture of the second engagement by their respective stateroom stewards— and several other persons. As the young woman, apparently well on the way toward a third deep-sea engagement, passed by the sunny corner where they were comfortably discussing the condition of the poor in London, New York, and Chicago, Mirable spoke out suddenly.

"Doesn't it seem strange that people will play and trifle with the most sacred and holy things in life?" she said, with musing tone.

Rev. Rupert Hazard came out of his reverie concerning the good work which the church was destined to accomplish among the poor of his own parish neighborhood and sighed.

"It does, it does," he returned, seriously.

This was the opening wedge. From love in the abstract to the question of love of a more ordinary and personal aspect was but a little step. (It never is.) A day later they were telling each other why love was not for them. Two days later each knew that the other had decided never to marry. Three days later the Accomplished Traveler, overhearing a fragment of their conversation, smiled sympathetically as she promenaded on.

"Do you know," the young clergyman was saying, "that, while celibacy has always seemed almost necessary for the priesthood to me (it had seemed absolutely necessary until a few days before.) I fail to see how an unmarried and perhaps lonely, existence will cause you to paint better pictures."

"Why!" and the girl's tone was earnest as it was astonished. "I don't see how you can think otherwise. Art demands all the best of one, and no second-rate or second-hand devotion, if one is really to serve and minister to the beautiful. But it has always seemed to me," she added, meditatively, "that an unmarried minister has lost a fine chance, at least, of getting close to the heart of his people. I wonder which of us is right—or neither, or both?"

Then came the big storm, and after that all things looked different. Mirable was anything but a coward, but she couldn't help feeling a little nervous as the great ship trembled and staggered and rolled under the force of the tremendous waves. The young minister, whose faith was of the real and assertive kind, soothed and reassured her as she sat, trembling but silent, in the music room looking out at the angry waters. The girl was duly comforted and strengthened, and the pleasant feeling of half dependence kindness lasted even after the sun had decided to shine again. And the young minister had also learned something while the storm was raging. It was with a really meek and humble heart that he assisted her to the upper deck, just as soon as this was possible, and stood by her side as she took mental notes of the waves and their form and color.

"Mirable," he said presently—he had learned her name some days before—"I have a confession to make to you. I have found out—the Lord has taught me—that my views upon the question of celibacy have been mistaken. I now agree with you that the clergyman is better with a wife, and I hope—I hardly dare hope, but still I long to—that you will be my wife, some day, by and by."

They were quiet alone on the rocking deck. The weather was still too rough for others less interested in art—and one of exponents—to venture out. The girl, meditating, found that she, too, had changed her opinions in regard to general matters.

"If I tell you," she said at last, as bravely, as shyly, "that I no longer believe that love and marriage lessen one's chances of becoming a great artist, you must not fancy that it is because I am ready to say yes to the question you may want to ask me, possibly, sometime. But it has seemed to me, lately—."

"Dear one, let me ask you that question now," the man at her side broke in, impulsively. "Will you, dear child and sweetheart, promise to become my wife?"

Again the girl was silent, thinking. She no longer believed as she had said, that an unmarried existence was necessary for the highest art, but still—she thought of the picture she was longing to paint, the wonderous thing of graces, nymphs, perhaps even bacchanals—and wondered how it would do for a minister's wife to paint and exhibit this thing, with love in the balance—

She turned to him, smiling.

"I will not promise now," she said quietly; "It is far too early and we know far too little of each other for me to take any such promise, for one thing, and besides, I have a picture I must paint first, it will take me until well on into next summer. (All this happened last autumn.) And you must not write to me, nor ask me to write to you, until the end of June anyway. Then, if you want to risk the trip on such slight encouragement, you may come to Chicago, and—if you care to ask me that question again—I may possibly think about it."

Last Saturday he came, and next autumn her studio will be in New York instead of Chicago, and there will be a new name upon the door.—Chicago Tribune.

China's Military Strength.

China's military strength is persistently underestimated in current reports. The statement made in the House of Commons on Monday last by Mr. Wyndham, Under Secretary of War, should convince the doubters that the allegations concerning the poor equipment of the Chinese troops are based on misinformation. Since April, 1895, according to Mr. Wyndham, 71 guns o position with 11,740 rounds of ammunition, 282 field guns with 49,400 rounds, and 297 machine guns with 4,332,400 rounds of ammunition, have been supplied to China by British firms, and a German firm has supplied China with 460,000 Mauser rifles and 3,000,000 rounds of ammunition. Scores of thousands of Chinese have been instructed during the same period in military tactics by German, Russian and British army officers, and these European drilled veterans have in turn imparted their knowledge to an unknown but undoubtedly enormous number of recruits.

The losses inflicted by the Chinese on the foreign contingents at Taku, Lanfang, Yangstun and Tientsin and the inability of the foreigners hitherto to gain a decisive advantage show that the Celestials have been apt to pupils. Anybody who believes that an expedition to Pekin is going to be a military promenade will be undeceived. The opinion of the Japanese Admiral, who insisted that an army of 100,000 men would be required to hew a path through China's legions from Taku to Pekin is more sanguine estimates of his European colleagues.

Dear Sirs;—It gives me great pleasure to give you my testimonial for the really great merits of Ozone. Our little boy two months old, had bronchitis very bad. INVESTIGATION SHOWS WISDOM

I make the absolute claim that Rob Roy Mining Shares are one of the least risky things you can invest in!

Strong language, as mining is usually classed as a speculation, and rightly so—if a lot of good common isn't used!

Still I fearlessly say that these shares are safer than nine tenths of the monetary risks you daily run—in horses or cattle, for instance!

I have seen the properties, know the men at the head of affairs (well known London men they are too!), have my own money up, and am prepared to give you the benefit of my experience if you want it!

You have $100, say, that you want to invest if you can find a safe and profitable place for it. Well there's nothing going that I know of better than Rob Roy stock at .15 per share!

If this interests you and you mean business, drop me a line, and I'll gladly tell you what I know.

In any event you don't HAVE to buy.

Altogether likely these shares will be taken off the market inside of a few weeks.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in having the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the Rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed, and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our company owns, clear of incumbrances, the following claims: The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main trunk line of the great Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, and also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

Magnetawan River

The beauty of Muskoka lies as much in its rivers as in its lakes. The Magnetawan is situated sixty miles north of Gravenhurst, at Burks Falls, on the Grand Trunk Railway, and opens up another an entirely new region to steamboat navigation, to the tourist, and particularly the sportsman, who can get with comparatively little trouble to a district which has hitherto been accessible only to those with ample means and time.

The very heart centre for sport, for rod and gun. Its rivers and Lakes can be ascended and descended in canoes amid the best of sprot, while the eye is fascinated by the fresh and unspoiled wilderness of its forest haunts. Tickets and all information from Looks Well.

Local apple buyers speak well of the appearance of orchards throughout this district, and unless something unforeseen happens, there should be a large crop. The fruit all looks very healthy, and many orchards are almost free from the destructive bore. This is greatly accounted for by the liberal use of the sprayer. We hope to see both buyers and farmers have a successful year.

Fraud in Drugs.

The chief analyist of the Inland Revenue Department has received several complaints that grocers and even druggists are substituting sodiu mnitrate for potassium nitrate, which is commonly called saltpetre. Like all other salts of potassium and sodium the nitrates are very similar, but the sodium nitrate, sometimes called Chili nitre, is cheaper and unsuitable for many of the uses that saltpetre is put to. Prosecutions under the Adulteration Act will follow.

Parties desiring a copy of the Portfolio "Glimpses of South Africa in Peace and in war" can now be supplied with same at ten cents a copy. The Portfolio ends with No. 18 and to get them all makes a nice large book, but those who only care to have a few numbers as a momento of the war would do well to take advantage of the reduction of price at an early date. The Joke That Failed.

"Say," said Mr. Dan Burritt the other day, "here's a good one."

"What is it?" asked Mr. Ed. Mosley.

"Well, one man says he is better off than his rich neighbor, for, although the neighbor has three lawns, the man has a lawn mower."

"Yes?"

"Well."

"Well, suppose he has?"

"But don't you see? The man has a lawn mower—lawn more—see? He has a——"

The life insurance adjusters and the coroner got a hurry call that same day.

REPORTERS' ROUNDS

Local Happenings Picked Up Here and There by the Times.

—New potatoes are now in.

Rice Lake fishing is particularly good just now.

—A color-blind man has no business to play poker.

—Some pugilists achieve fame, but it's in a round a bout way.

—When you can drop a nickel into a phonograph talk must be cheap indeed.

—Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and the world laughs at you.

—The G. T. R. is receiving tenders for the construction of 500 coal cars of 80,000 capacity.

Bad blood is a bad thing to inherit or acquire, but bad blood may be made good blood by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

—Lindsay Council has asked the Minister of Militia to give the town four cannon with which to ornament their park.

If you desire to move in good society, all you have to do is to join the chess and checker club, which the members of the Golf Club propose to organize next fall.

—Mr. Andrew Fawcett, of Ashburnham was wearing a happy face yesterday. He received many congratulation on being the father of a pair of twins.

—The fares received on the Steamer Esturion and Manita on Dominion Day, amounting to $21 75, were donated to the Lindsay County Hospital Fund by the President of the T. V. N.

—The two-horse electric motor installed for driving Mr. Harry Long's ice cream freezer, was supplied by Mr. P. Alexander, the Electrician, Brock street. A patent controller for regulating the speed is a very convenient and handy device.

—The mayor and town council of Brockville are having a statement prepared in connection with the purchase of the plant of the Brockville Light and Power Co., giving the facts pointing to the benefits to be derived by the town owing the same.

—Farmers are complaining that sparrows are doing a great deal of damage to the wheat this year. The birds rest on the stalks and their weight bends or breaks them. Then they pick the grain from the heads. In some fields considerable damage has been caused in this manner.

Tramps and thieves and their nefarious business flourishing in these festival days when travel and outdoor life are imperious requirements and locking up the house an irksome and easily neglected duty. The householder who puts on an extra pressure of vigilance in the summer season need never buy a gun for purposes of desperate retaliation upon ubiquitous and elusive housebreakers. The police do their best; but security from robbery, like charity, begins at home.

—A sage contemporary makes this excellent observation. "If your boy does not progress in school as well as you think he should, before censuring the teacher make an observation along two lines; first, ascertain whether he smokes cigarettes, and second whether his reading out of school is of a kind to help his work in school. Cigarettes and dime novels are the curse to many a boy's life, and parents should realise it before it is too late.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

—Rev. Dr. Torrance and family leave today on an extended vacation.

—Mr. W. H. Brooks, of the Carleton House, Young's Point was in town yesterday.

—Mr. Thos. Wilson, of Homewood Ave., town, has returned from the Northwest where he has been for sometime.

—Mr. Thomas Duncan, who has been visiting his parents, on Macdonnell street, left for his home in Concinnati yesterday.

Messrs. H. E. Wood, Alex. Gibson, Rev W. L. Armitage, W B Conway, Robert Munro, Lakefield and Dr. Beattie, will represent the countyl odges at the Masonic Grand Lodge, which is in session this week at London.

Mr. W. O. Stevens, son of ex-mayor Stevens of Napanee, and brother of Mr. George Stevens, Ashburnham, has been in town for a few days. Mr. Stevens is an accomplished pianist and gave some private exhibitions of his superb skill on the piano while here.

The Rat Portage News says; Hon. J. R. Stratton M.P.P., Provincial Secretary of Ontario is in town. He was shown over the town this morning, and this afternoon he was given a trip on the lake to the Sultana mine. His attention was to the lowness of the water in the lake and means were suggested to him by prominent men to prevent a recurrence of the trouble now being experienced by steamboat men. Mr. Stratton promises to urge upon his colleagues immediate action in the matter. The Provincial Secretary is on his way west to British Columbia, where he will visit all the leading town before he returns. Mr. Stratton declined to be banquetted here as his visit to the locality was of a private nature.

A Touching Incident of War.

Miles away from succor, near the road, lay a British Tommy, with glistening eyes and burning fever, his head propped up on a deserted sand hill, and the hot sun of noonday pouring into his upturned face, writes a correspondent from South Africa. "They told me, sir, the wagons 'ad pick me up. But I hain't seen no wagons, sir." "Yes, I feel bad; I've mortal pains, sir, in my back and head." Poor devil, he had no water and no food; not that the latter mattered much, for he was too far gone to eat. We left him water, and cheered him up a little with the hope that wagons would pass by.

All night long, dead on the empty veldt, saturated with the heavy dews and chilled to the marrow, with biting winds of darkness, and now under the scorching sun of day. He did not know if they would find him alone, so far away, and yet he answered uncomplainingly—"Yes, sir; I'm glad of that, sir!"

"Adds" as News.

The successful advertiser assumes that his advertisement is a part of the news matter of the paper. His aim is to present facts about his business which somebody wants to know, and to give to his announcement the same appearance of freshness that other news possesses.

AT THE POLICE COURT

Several Cases Disposed of Monday Morning.

At the police court, Monday, Charles McManus was charged with the theft of a saddle from Mr. F. R. Jones. Through his counsel, Mr. E. A. Peck, he pleaded not guilty, and elected to be tried summarily. The case was enlarged a few days.

Gill Peck was up on a charge of vagrancy. He was given six months in jail.

The Pinch case came up this morning pursuant to remand. The accused was represented by Mr. E. B. Stone. Considerable evidence was taken in the prosecution's endeavor to show that a disturbance had been committed, as contemplated under the Statute. The Magistrate's sentence was $5 and costs.

Tom Coursey was fined $3 for disorderly conduct.

Readable "Ads."

If any considerable proportion of newspaper readers skip an advertisement it is because the announcement is less attractive than other parts of the paper. A little study of the art will enable the merchant to prepare a readable advertisement; and readable "ads" are always read. Everybody reads the Times.

Pigeon Creek Bridge.

On Friday last, Warden Foster, County Councillor Anderson, County Engineer Belcher, Ald. J. B. Oke, chairman of the Joint Committee Peterborough Town Council, and County Councillor Switzer, of the Victoria County Council, drove out to inspect the work that is in progress at the Pigeon Creek Bridge. They found that the bridge is in fair condition, and 5500 feet of new plank is being laid. Last year 700 feet were laid, so that only a small portion will be required to be replanked next year. Alderman Oke happened to enquire of a farmer named Millage, who lives three miles on the other side, of this bridge, what use he received therefrom. The reply was that out of 25 years' crop he had marketed 23 of these in Peterborough, and the remaining two only in Lindsay, although the Lindsay market is nearer to him. Ald. Oke thinks that this is a very good instance of the benefit that has accrued to Peterborough through the maintenance of this bridge, the cost of which is only 5-18ths to the town.

Born Again.

A good story is told about the late Mr. Borrowman, who for some years filled the editorial chair of this great family journal.

One day a gentleman called at the office and said to him—

"Sir, it is announced in your paper that I am dead."

"Well," replied the editor, "if it is in our paper it is correct."

"It is not correct, for here I am alive," rejoined the other.

"Well, it can't be helped," said the editor.

"But I expect you to contradict it," said the injured man.

"No, I cannot do that," said the editor, "as we never contradict anything that appears in our paper. I will do the only thing I can do. To-morrow I will put you in the list of births."

FACTS ABOUT FLOUR

Made White by Leaving out the Part Which Helps Digest.

Modern methods of milling separate the parts of the wheat berry that contain the diastatic element, and furnish only the white flour made up almost entirely of starch.

One of the principal elements is needed to digest the starch, has been left out in the process. It therefore the person who eat much white bread is almost sure to have intestinal troubles, for the starch does not digest properly and must, of necessity, decay, and cause all sorts of trouble.

Grape-Nuts food, on the contrary, is made up of the entire wheat and barley, and the processes of digestion as shown in the human body, are copied as exactly a possible, in a mechanical way, by the use of moisture, time, and warmth. No chemicals of other ingredients are used, but the simple methods scientifically arranged.

In this way the starch of the grain is transformed into grape sugar, and the Grape-Nuts food, which appears in a granular form, shows on the outside of the little granules, glittering specks of this grape sugar, which is not put into the food from the outside, but is a result of the change of the starch int ogrape sugar, which works out to the surface, very much as the sap of the hickory or maple tree will frequently show in the shape of white sugar on the sawed-off ends of logs.

A handful of Grape-Nuts held to the light will show the little glittering particles of grape sugar. It is naturally and scientifically predigested, therefore the food agrees with the weakest sort of a stomach. It must not be used in large quantities at one meal, for it is concentrated, and overfeeding of even the choicest food is not advisable.

Being perfectly cooked at the factory, the food can be served instantly either dry or wet, cold or hot. When wanted hot, hot water, milk or cream can be poured over it. There is a definite, distinct and undeniable gain in nervous energy, and vitality when Grape-Nuts food is used.

Sleeping North and South.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In your "Letter Box" department a few days ago somebody gives an explanation why we should sleep with our heads to the north. The explanation seems likely, but those of your readers who are interested in such questions as this would hardly accept one man's opinion as conclusive proof of the question. As long as your correspondent does not quote scientific authority he must allow us to question his explanation. Since this is, or at least seems to be, a question of more than ordinary importance, kindly allow me to ask your correspondent to explain and prove to your readers more fully: 1—That electric currents exist in our bodies. 2—The course of these currents. 3—The physiological result of interference with these currents. References to scientific literature on this subject would add considerably to all explanations.

The Evening Papers.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am frequently amused on reading the local evening papers on political matters. Only the other day the George street sheet had an article on the emergency food scandal, and the Review prints the following as reply—"It (the Examiner) gives editorial prominence to an article in the Toronto Star, a paper organized to do the scavenger work for the Grit party in Toronto. The editor of the Examiner knows that the article is a tissue of falsehoods, and that the conclusions arrived at are diametrically opposed to the evidence. The fact that the Government with a nominal majority of 50 could only muster 14 majority on the question is enough to give the lie to all such articles by Grit editors. Let them explain that phase of the situation before they start picking the evidence to pieces."

This is pretty tough language to use against a contemporary—especially a contemporary whose editor is credited with writings its articles on the Mayoralty campaign, as it is said the Examiner did for the Review in the McWilliams—Kendry election. This is a funny world we live in.

CHINESE COMPLETELY ROUTED AT TIEN TSIN

Forty Guns Bombarded the Chinese Position—Eight Chinese Guns Captured—Celestials Driven Out of the Arsenal—Allies Lost Eight Hundred Men in the Battle

London, July 18.

A [illegible] serious collision have occured between the cossacks and the Chinese troops on the boundary between Eastern tributary and Manchura. Owing to the provocative conduct of the cossacks toward the 255,000 Chinese employed in the construction of the Russo Manchuran railway. In one of their collisions two Russian officers and sixteen men were killed. The boxer movemetn has extended to Manchura and they have destroyed much of th eraliway.

Paris, July 17.

The Vicar of Southern Honan, telegraphs that he was attacked in his residence at Nanyang four. The Vicar of Nortu ern Honan announces that the religion establishment at Siang yan were destroy ed andthat the insurrection appeared to be spreading southward.

London, July 18.

The Chinese minister in St. Petersburg has disavowed th eevents in Manchura on behalf of his government and promised to make seriots. Representations to Pekin regarding the consequences that will follow if the hostilities here do not cease. There is little further news from China [illegible]. The attack on the native city of Tien Tsin was followed up so swiftly that the Chinese never had time to re-organize and once their lines were broken their retreat Rapidly became a route. According to a despatch from Shanghai to the Daily aMil dated yesterday. A massacre occurred on July 8 at Taiyucon Fu capital of of the province of Chansi forty foreigners and 100 natives convicts being killed. The Daily telegraph has the following from Canton dated July 16 In aninterview with the foreign consuls to-day Li Hung Chang, said that his mission to Pekin was two-fold to save the lives of the foreign ministers and to arrang ethe best possible terms of peace with the allied powers.

London, July 17.—The Daily mail to-day gives the Associated Press the following dispatch from its Shanghai correspondent, under date of July 17.

"The allied troops resumed the attack upon the Chinese walled city of Tien Tsin on the morning of July 14, and succeeded in breaching the walls and capturing all the forts.

"The Chinese were completely routed and the allies took possession of the native city and its defences.

"The total loss of the allies in the engagements of Thursday, Friday and Saturday were about 800 killed or wounded. The casualties were greatest among the Russians and Japanese.'

Washington, July 17.—Admiral Remey this morning called the Navy Department that the city and forts of Tien Tsin are in the hands of the allies. His list of killed and wounded is somewhat fuller than yesterday's report, but still more entirely complete.

This despatch follows. "Chefoo, July 17.—To-day hope to get wounded from Tien Tsin either in hospitals at Taku or aboard Solace. Communication very uncertain. Following casualities apparently. Marines—Captain Davis, killed. Captain Lemly, Lieutenants Butler and Leonard wounded. Army—Col. Liscum, killed; Majors Reagean Lee, Captains Noyes, Brewster and Bookmiller, Lieutenants Naylor Lawton, Hammond, and waldron wounded.

"Total killed and wounded reported, 775; Russian and Japanese loss heavy. Out total loss reported, 215; about 40 were marines, but number believed to be exaggerated. Have officer on shore especially to get authentic number and names which will be promptly telegraphed. City and forts now in the hands of allies. Admiral Seymour returned to fleet; ranking ashore is Admiral Alexieff, at Tein Tsin.

Tien Tsin, Friday, July 13.—In today's combined attack upon the native city over fourty guns bombarded the Chinese positions. The fighting was most determined, and the allies losses were heavy. Eight Chinese guns were captured and the Chinese were driven out of the western arsenal after a fierce cannonade.

A strong mixed force is now close to the walls, and it is expected that an assault will be made to-morrow.

London, July 17.—"Though the Government has no positive information in regard tothetterrible calamity at Pekin it can hardly dare hope that the reports re inaccurate.' These words, used by the British Under Foreign Secretary in the House of Commons last evening, express the exact condition of the official mind in regard to the reported massacre at Pekin. They still leave the situation in doubt, for it must be borne in mind that the only basis for them are statements from Chinese sources which have time and time and again proved unreliable. Moreover there is a clear motive on the part of the Chinese for wishin to give the impression that the ministers are dead. With no hope of saving the lives of Europeans inPekin the march upon that place would not be undertaken within if the celerily that it would be were there such an important object to be attecked as their recue. Should the allies actually accept the gresome fate of the legations as a reality the imperial city may be saved for the present from the presence of an alien army and the Chinese Government may make an attempt to restore order from chaos in the hope probably having done so they may greet the vanguard of the advancing invaders with the news that Pekin is quiet and that the foreigners are scathless. This is of course mere supposition.

There is another aspect oft he question which is of some importance. This is presented by the London Standard in the following words. "Those who recall the entreachment at Cawnpore, or the siege of the Residency at Lucknow, will have no difficulty in picturing to themselves the nature of the situation, and will pray that, the glorious episode with which the name of Sir Henry Lawrence is undissolubly linked will find its parallel in the international defence of the compound of our Legation against the surging crowd that beleaguers it." So that the time of relinquish hope has not yet arrived, and the fates may yet have in store for us the announcement of the safety of the Pekin Legations.

At Tien-Tsin the allies are making good progress and have ousted the Chinese from the native city from which their guns were workinggreat havoc upon the camp of the foreigners near the foreign concessions. The victory appears to have been one of great moment, entailing the capture of many Chinese gunst hough with heavy loss to the attackers. As soon as sufficent soldiers can be bathered together anadvance upon Pekin will in all likelihood take place, though as the rainy season have by this time converted the country into a huge morass the route followed will probably be by the river, the troops being conveyed in a flotilla of small boats.

TALLEST OF ALL LIVING MEN.

European Scientists are Interested in a Resident of Minnesota.

The biggest man living is Lewis Wilkins, who is know arousing great interest in the scientific circles of Europe. Wilkins was born on a farm near St. Paul, Minn., in 1874. When he was about ten years of age he measured 6 feet in height and now has grown to the tremendous height of 107 1-4 niches—just three-quarters of an inch less than nine feet—and weights 364 pounds.

There have been other tall men and women before Wilknis, and scientists have striven in vain to account for these freaks of nature. Only lately plausible story was put forward by a French physician, Dr. Marie, who says that giantism is nothnig more or less than a disease. This disease generally occurs in patients between the ages of 18 and 28, and is called "acromegally" (from the two Greek words meaning "enlargement of the extremities.") If the patient is not attacked until after he is 18 the ends of the bones in the arms and legs are enlarged and prolonged slightly, but if this disease has attacked a child at or soon after birth giantism is the result. The bones are prolonged all along their length, grow unnaturally and the result is a giant.

When you see a big man it is therefore a question whether he is unusually strong or whether he is a sufferer from acromegaly. All giants have not been acromegalic, according to Dr. Marie. He mentions two giants in the French army who did not belong to this class. One was Charles Freuet, a cavalry soldier, who was 6 feet, 11 inches, and another was Marnat, a drum-major in the Nineteenth regiment of Infantry, who measured 6 feet 9 inches.

Perhaps the greatest giant who ever lived before Wilkins was Charles Byrne, an Irishman. He measured 9 feet 2 inches His skeleton is still preserved, proving beyond question his enormous size. He was probably acromegalic.

Other giants are Constatine, born at Zurich, in Switzerland, 8 feet 1 inch; Harald, born at Leipsic, 7 feet 5 inches, and Lady Emma, 8 feet 1 inch.

A TERRIBLE STRUGGLE IN THE FAR EAST

An American Scientist Talks on the Situation of China.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN TO FIGHT

The Present Mixup Sure to be Followed by a Terrible War Over the Spoils—Japan and Russia Certain to Come Together.

New York, July 18.—Since the great civilized nations have been drawn into conflict with the Chinese, no one has watched the swift astounding march of events with keener attention than President T. C. Mendenhall of the Polytechnic institute Worcester, who for a period of several years was a professor in the imperial university of Tokio, the great seat of higher learning in the island empire. Not only on account of the knowledge of the country is Dr. Mendenhall interested, but by reason of the fact that the young men to whom he taught physics are of the generation that now is furnishing the officers and will govern and driect in the great struggle with Russia, which all Japanese believe is the destiny of their country.

That they are not far wrong in their expectation Dr. Mendenhan feels assured, the more so as the drama unfolds and Russia begins to enact her part.

Dr. Mendenhall said yesterday he admires the excellent qualities of the Japanese as a nation, and he sees some worthy traits in the Chinese, but either race is a long way behind the whites in capability for Sustained and Disciplined Effort.

The splendid rise of Japan as a nation out of the eastern darkness into the blaze of civilization is one of the most instructive spectacles in the history of nations. Within one generation the Japs have rushed to the front, and are a factor that has to be reckoned with when the Caucasian would coerce and divide China.

But the very youth of Japan, in a civilized sense, and the temperment of her people do not yet fit her for a prolonged struggle with her great rival on the shores of Asia. The expansion of Japan commercially, if not in a military sense, on the continent of Asia, runs counter to the ambition of Russia and the inevitable clash may come any day. When it comes, Dr. Mendenhall thinks the Japs will find fighting the Muscovites a different thing from chasing the Chinese. He said Japan is likely to make a at the outset, but the czar can throw, resources so much greater into such a war that Japan may not be able to hold her own. That such a conflict will come sooner or later is Dr. Mendenhall's conviction.

As to the issue with a foe so stubborn and unyielding as Russia, Dr. Mendenhall says the temperment of the Japanese is likely to count decisively. The Japs have remarkable dash and quickness, and for an onset are likely to accomplish notable things. How they will fare when pitted against the iron discipline and stoical endurance characteristic of the Russians, not even the Japs' best friends dare to predict.

Dr. Mendenhall says the Chinese have estimable qualities, such as a high moral sense, according to their lights. They are superior, physically, to the Japanese, many of them being powerful men. It is with reason that the statesmen of Europe view with apprehension a genuine patriotic uprising of the Chinese, for their numbers, if organized adequately, and overflow into adjacent parts like a deluge. But, Dr. Mendenhall says, the statements of China's lack of cohesion have not been exagerated, and strenuous conflict is likely to dissolve the slight bands of patriotism, if so it can be called, that holds the sections together for any common end. The western nations, if they hold together cannot fail to gain their point and perhaps largely increase their power over parts of China.

Would Swamp All Comers

The most significant phase of the situation is the possibility of war between Russia and Japan, in which case Japan will need the help of her western friends. Great Britain, it seems to Dr. Mendenhall, is showing herself by no means eager to enter into the game in China, but should the Russians and Japanese get into a struggle, England may be forced to make common cause with Japan, and a coalition against Russian aggrandizement may be necessary in the Far East as it was at the middle of the century in Europe.

It is distinctly unfortunate, in Dr. Mendenhall's opinion, that the United States has been forced to be a party in even the slightest degree to the portentious action on Chinese soil, and he hopes to see this country evade the entanglements of European politics as soon as withdrawal is honorable.

LONDON PRESS AROUSED

Paper- All Declare Prompt Action is Imperative—Times Takes the Stand That of All the Powers Russia and Japan are Best Fitted to Subjugate China, and That the Latter Country Should be Assigned to the Task—Punishment First, Then the Problem of Government.

London, July 18.—The London papers speak in no uncertain tone of this [illegible] of the [illegible] as regards China.

It is freely admitted that the problem is fraught with all possible gravity, and it is even intimated that, while the subjugation of China's millions is a tremendous task, it may be only one of the terrible conflicts that the world is to witness.

The editional views of the leading papers are appended:

Says Japan Must Act.

DAILY TIMES — Retribution for this shocking iniquity, if it has, as can hardly be doubted, been perpetrated, must inevitably be exacted. The honor and the interests of the whole civilized world are at stake, and punishment cannot long be averted. The powers indeed have all been doing their best to send adequate reinforcements, but that these have not been sufficient has throughout been plain. Russia or Japan alone command sufficient resources in the immediate vicinity to make an early move and to strike effectively an organized body of troops under a competent leader, Russia's own powers in Manchuria is seriously threatened. Japan, however, having her hands free of the present complications is prepared to undertake in earnest the work of acting as the vanguard of the civilized powers. No power can raise any legitimate objection to this course.

Empire s Fate at Stake.

DAILY MAIL—We shall know how to take our part in this affair without endangering the greater interests of the empire, which were never more at stake than at this moment.

Retribution is Inevit ble.

DAILY TELEGRAPH—Wrongdoing cannot elude its Nemesis. The iron law of the old Greeks remains and may take on form and shake. We by the retribution of nations which no more than individuals can juggle with [illegible], the plan distinctions of good and evil. Ruthless selfishness that chooses the bad part in the face of all mankind will lose in the end. So long as the ancient stars are set in the heavens the sordid influences for which the dictates of honor and humanity were stifledwill be held to scorn. The far East will show a working out of retributive justice, alike for the crime of the East and the shame of the West.

China Must Behave.

DAILY STANDARD— We cannot doubt that her Majesty's government is fully alive to the responsibilities cast upon it, and is preparing tosend a force to China which will be commensurate with the effort of the other powers. The political and commerical interests of the British Empire in the East dictate that China must either be made to govern itself decently or must be partitioned among the powers. No other policy must even be considered.

Chinese Must be Crushed.

DAILY CHRONICLE—The Chinese at Tien Tsin must be crushed and Pekin must be captured, even if it be necessary to destroy what will then remain to be designated as the government. It is possible to say that the powers might invite the southern Viceroys to acquiesce in its disappearance and set up independent sovereignty for their own domains, while northern China might have a separate administration of a more or less dynastic character. Such a policy means a revolution from which diplomacy may shrink, but the powers cannot afford to shrink from coping with the gigantic evil which threatens the existence of all their interests in China.

Lesson for the Powers.

DAILY NEWS—Le two hope that, with the common danger now confronting them, the powers may learn wisdom in dealing with China and strengthen the habit of common action. In this is the only hope of compensation for the terrible blow that has befallen Western civilization.

MUNICIPALLAW AMENDED.

Municipal Candidates Must Fyle Declaration of Qualification on Day of Nomination or Day Following—Other Important Changes.

Among the amendments of the Municipal Act, which were made at the recent session of the Ontario legislature the following are of local interest;

Municipal candidates in cities, towns and villages shall on the day of nomination, or following day before five o'clock, file with clerk their declaration of qualifcation, in default of which their names shall be removed from the list of candidates.

Municipalities may pass by-laws to grant aid to certain industries, under conditions laid down by the act, which by-laws will not need to be confirmed by thel egislature, as was required heretofore.

The maximum number of electors in a polling and sub-division, may now be 300 instead of 200 as formerly.

Cities, towns and villages may pass by-laws for preventing persons from throwing any dirt, filth, glass handbills paper or other rubbish, or the carcasses of animals upon any street, road, land or highway.

Villages are given the same power as cities and towns to provide for the construction of granolitic, stone, asphalt or brick sidewalks and the powers which cities towns and villages have are extended to include pavements.

Townships may again be divided into wards. When the majority of the electors of a township petition the council to divide the twonship into wards the council shall within one month pass by law dividing the township into four wards so that the number of electors in each ward shall be as nearly as may be equal. When a township is divided into wards one councillor shall be elected for each ward, and the reeve by the general vote.

BOERS ARE RETIRING TO THE NORTHEAST

They Hold a Position in a Deep Valley Which Is Surrounded by Hills

MOUNTED RIFLES FIGHT WITH GENERAL BOTHA

Assisted Gallantly in Holding the Boers in Check Near Pretoria Strathcona Horse Suffer Losses—Two of Them Wounded and Three Captured

Witkop, July 17.—General Rundle yesterday marched away from Biddulphburg eastward after the Boers.

The position in which they are is a deep valley surrounded by hills, but accessible by five roads. These routs are known respectively as Wit nek, Slabert nek, Reitz nek, Naauwpoort, and Commando nek. The latter is opposite the Seventeenth brigade position at Ficksburg. The colonial division this evening moved on in front of Wit nek.

Two of the routs are thus closed. If the columns operating to the north succeed in closing the other three, President Steyn, with Gen. De Wet and the whole Free State army, will be absolutely cooped up.

London, July 17.—Members of the Royal Canadian Regiment of Infantry now in England, having been ivalided here from South Africa, but who were present at the engagement near Bloemfontein, in which Col. Otter was wounded, say that their commandering officer, seeing that there was not other way to prevent his men advancing on the enemy's position, which it was impossible to take, rode in front of the regiment in order to get them to halt. Then he was wounded. Pte. Latimer, who was afterwards killed, rushed to Col. Otter's assistance, when thel otter cried out, "Back, man, you will only draw the fire."

Pretoria, July 17.—After marching through Pretoria the Canadian Mounted Rifles were selected to assist in the movement for rounding up Gen. Botha's force. We came up with the enemy soon after crossing Piner River, June 11th, and immediately engaged, under instructions to hold him there. The position occupied by the Boers was one of singular natural strength, and the purpose was to cut off all their avenues of escape and compel them to surrender. The field in which the Canadian Rifles lay was very stony, and the men built themselves shelters during the night, so that on the following morning they were able to smoke their pipes and cook their meals in comparative comfort, while the enemy drenched the position with shell and rifle fire.

The program of our lads was to hold their for the most part, but occasionally give their antagonists a liberal dose of lead, intimating that they were still on hand and proposed to stay and hold the position. During Monday and Tuesday, the 12th, the failure of Gen. French's ammunition wagons to come up caused serious inconvenience. When his artillery ceased operations on Monday night, only 28 rounds of ammunition remained. It was thought that the wagons would come up during the night, but they did not. It was not deemed safe to use up the little remaining ammunition, so not a shot was fired by our artillery until 4.30 in the afternoon. The absence of artillery fire naturally made the enemy bold, and it was momentarely expected that they would attack out position. When the first boom of our guns was heard, at 4.30, there was a general feeling of relief. During the night however, the enemy had slipped away by the one uncovered avenue of escape.

The only casualties among our men were. Trooper Frost, of Calgary, mortally wounded, and Harry Baines, badly bruised by a flying stone. Capt. Macdonnell, of D. Squadron, was unfortunate enough to shoot himself with his own revolver by accidentally striking the hammer against a stone. The bullet entered his left side, passed through the liver. It was at first thought that the wound would prove fatal, but later accounts give good hopes of recovery. The Canadian Montreal Rifles acted magnificently during the two day's fighting.

London, July 17.—A dispatch from Standerton, South Africa Republic, of yesterday's date, says that as a result of desultory fighting for some days the Boers are retiring gradually to the northeast before Gen. Clery's forces The Boers have pom-poms and other high-velocity guns.

In the fighting referred to the British have these casualities. Two of Thorneycroft's mounted infantry were wounded, two of Strathcona's Horse were wounded, and Major Sangmeisters of the Naval Volunteers, who was attached to Strathcona's Horse, was also wounded. Three members of Strathcona's Horse were captured.

Pretoria, July 17.—General Hamilton with a new brigade of infantry, Hickman's Mounted Infantry and artillery, including some Elswick guns, has beaten over the Boer position from the Pyramid hills to Waterval. The Boers fled eastward in great haste, leaving their breakfast cooking on their camp fires. The British had a long march, but there was no fighting.

Further east, the Boers shelled the kopjes where they had previously been held at bay by the British cavalry, they thinking the latter was still there.

Gen. Hutton on the southeast and Gen. Smith-Dorrien on the northwest have both driven the enemy back.

LONDON FEARS FOR PRETORIA

Botha Fighting North of the Vaal in Effort to Save De Wet's Army.

London, July 18.—All the news from South Africa indicates that the Boers in the Transvaal are making a supreme effort to relieve the pressure on Dewet's army in the Orange Free state. The latter appears to be in serious peril, being surrounded, and the only thing that can help him is a diversion north of the Vaal River.

Lord Roberts reports that fighting has taken place east, southeast, northwest and southwest of Pretoria, while the Boers are further harrassing Sir Redvers Buller.

The audacity of the new move is shown by the fact that the Boers are fortifying within almost artillery shot of Pretoria.

There is no mistaking the serious concern in London lest Gen. Botha succeeds in retaking the capital or quite suffice to prolong the war much longer than was apparently anticipated.

A VICTORY IN BRITAIN'S THIRD WAR

Horrible Practices of the Natives in Making Human Sacrifices Caused Not Only the Present War, but Previous Ones—Sir Frederick Hodgson's Gallant Exploit in Escaping from the City

Fumsu, July 18.—Kumassi has been relieved by the column under command of Colonel Willcocks.

Despite the strenouns resistance and reckless daring of a wild horde of 30,000 Ashantes in revolt, who barred the way to Kumasi, Colonel Willcocks has kept his promise and relieved that place by July 15th. In thus doing he has established for himself a reputation as askilful and persevering soldier and as one who keeps his word.

The siege of Kumassi did not extend over a great period of time, but the shortiness of provisions, and the great odds with which the garrison had to contend, made it one full of hardships and exciting incidents. For over two months the town was completely invested. It was time and again assaulted, but each time the attack was repulsed with loss. Finally, provisions ran so short that on June 23rd, the British Commissioner, Sir Frederick Mitchell Hodgson, and Lady Hodgson, with several officers and their wives, accompanied by 600 native soldiers, escaped through the cordon surrounding the town, leaving behind them Captain Bishop with but 100 native soldiers as a garrison. At the time Colonel Willcocks gave an undertaking to personally relieve Kumasi by July 15th, under any circumstances. After untold hardships Sir Frederick Hodgson and his party reached the coast. He considered his escape 'one of the most marvellous on record." Owing to weakness the native cariers were unable to sustain the weight of their burdens and the whole force wandered through the plantations without provisions, finding barely enough to keep them from starvation.

The advance of the relieving party was necessarily slow. The country was almost impassible, and the foe was most tenacious in their resistance. Owing to the smallness of the force, several severe repulses were experienced. On July 3rd, Colonel Burroughs' regiment attacked Kopofu, but failed to capture it, being driven off with 30 casualties. But persistence has won the day, and once again the empire has been spared the humiliation of the surrender of a town held by British soldiers against undisciplined mob.
